

INSTALLMENTS

Information from UT Arlington Library

Vol. 2, Issue 10, Oct. 2014

Focus on Faculty
Wednesday, Oct. 8, at noon
6th floor - Central Library
In honor of Breast Cancer Awareness month, Dr. Samir Iqbal, associate professor of electrical engineering, will discuss high-speed cancer screening using nanotechnology tools.

The Friends of the Library
Friday Oct. 10, 7:30 p.m.
6th floor - Central Library
You are invited to a presentation by Andrew W. Hall on his book, Civil War Blockade Running on the Texas Coast.

MavsArt
Opens Oct. 8 with a reception at 4:30 p.m. For more information go to: <http://libguides.uta.edu/mavsart>.

UTA Libraries announce the UTA FabLab opening on the first floor of the Central Library. The lab will help students explore digital manufacturing tools, prototype new ideas, and learn from peers and industry mentors. Equipment includes 3D printers and scanners, computer-aided cutting tools, and plotter printers. No appointment necessary and help is available.

Ninth Virginia Garrett Lectures
The Price of Manifest Destiny: War and American Expansion, 1800-1865

October 16 - 19

UTA Libraries Special Collections
Presentation topics will range from the Corps of Topographical Engineers after the War of 1812, to the cartography of U.S. expansionism in the antebellum period, to the cartographic connections between the U.S. War with Mexico and the Civil War, and more. To register, email khouston@uta.edu by October 13.

A Special Collections exhibit in conjunction with the lectures will be on view from Oct. 1 - Feb. 7.

Librarians are available in the Learning Resource Center (LRC) in Pickard Hall on Mondays and Wednesdays from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. (with the exception of test days and holidays.)

Vetzone Mentor

Heather Scalf is available to assist current or prospective students who are military veterans. She is available Mondays between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. and Thursdays between 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. in 514 Central Library. She can be reached at scalf@uta.edu.

PRIDE WEEK

October 6 - 10

www.uta.edu/lgbtqa