

JAMES THOMAS SHANNON SKETCHBOOK INDIVIDUAL SHEETS

Page 5

“Castle De Peño, Mexico” [Fortaleza de San Carlos, a.k.a. Castle de Perote, a.k.a. Castle of Perote]

Page 6

“Castle De Perote” [Plan of the Fortaleza de San Carlos, a.k.a. Castle de Perote, a.k.a. Castle of Perote]

Page 7

“View of Coffre de Perote from Jalapa and Quarters of the American army after the Battle of Cerro Gordo”

Page 8

[Three Separate Sketches: Shepherd and Sheep, U.S.-Mexican War Camp Scene, Hanged Figure]

Page 9

[Two Sketches of heads: “Roman Headdress” [Roman Bust], “Man” ]

Page 13

“Burial Place of Capt. Walker who was Killed at the Battle of Huamantla on the Way to relieve the Penna. Battalion Besieged at Puebla” Inscription at left: “Brave Walker fell, Amid Triumphant shouts of victory. Dies without a groan, without a struggle.”

Page 23

“Revenge though sweet at first / Bitter ere long back on itself recoils”

Page 24

[Street scene in San Angel near Mexico City showing the quarters of the 1st Pennsylvania Regiment]

Page 25

[A ruined bridge -- possibly the one destroyed by Mexican guerrillas at Plan del Rio along the National Road between Mexico City and Veracruz]

Page 27

[Double-arched stone bridge or aqueduct]

Page 28

“Ranche” [Plaza of a Mexican Town]

Page 29

“Sketch of Popocateptle [sic., Popocatepetl] and the White Lady [Ixtaccihuatl], Snow Mountains In Mexico”

Page 31

“A Monestary [sic., Monastery] on the Rio Del Rain”

Page 33

[Masonic Aprons]

Page 35

[Well and Landscape]

Page 36

[Cattle, Horse, or Mule Pens?, Horse or Mule Collar, Pack Harness?]

Page 36[Verso]:

[Panorama of Puebla or Mexico City?]

Page 37

“Sketch of Vera Cruz and the Castle of San Juan De Uallo [sic., Ulúa] from Fort Santiago”

Page 37 [verso]:

[Three Estates in Pennsylvania?]

Page 38

[Convent of Churubusco and the Tête du Pont?]

Page 39 [Verso]:

[Perspective View of Puebla]

Page 40 [Verso]:

[Building Interior with staircase]

Page 42 [Verso]:

[Indian Warrior with Bow and Quiver, Overlooking Lake or River with Canoes] “By Jas. Thos. Shannon”