Analysis Questions for Deep Ellum: A Portrait of a Community

1. What does the chapter tell you about African American life in a segregated neighborhood?
2. How does the historian describe African Americans?
3. How is the neighborhood described? Is it safe? Clean? What activities are going on?
4. Does the writing show a point-of-view about the African American residents and the area they are describing?
5. Would you characterize the description as racist by today's standards? Was it racist for back then?
6. If you did find it to be racist at any point how does this writing reflect a change in attitudes from then to now?
