

Reveille 1981

The University of Texas at Arlington Arlington, Texas Volume 64

About this photo: The Mays moved into their new home in the fall. This multi-purpose athletic facility provided UTA with more than 18,000 seats, lanes for track and field sports and brand new turf where the team and Maverick Band can practice and perform. See related stories, pages 164 and 166.

Where the buffalo groans... Polemical protests, promises typify year

"Bad craziness," that's what gonzo journalist Hunter S. Thompson would have called 1980. A year characterized by tension. America changed its mood. Or maybe it just admitted to itself what its mood really was.

A new perspective was spawned from a growing sense of frustration, rooted in places and things we called Vietnam, the Mayaguez, OPEC, busing, reverse discrimination, the Panama Canal and a score of other fuzzy-familiar names.

Yeah, we may have forgotten the names, but no way we'd forget the hurt. No way.

The final slap that sent U.S. pride reeling and prompted many Americans to reach for their six-shooters came from an obscure country halfway around the world. It was a place jam-packed with wild-eyed crazy zealots who followed some nastylooking old preacher-coot known as the "Eye-o-toll-ah." His homeland was a country that used to be a U.S. friend — "Eye-ran."

Boy, we learned more about that place (Eye-ran) than we ever really cared to. A few of us began to learn something about ourselves, too.

We made sweeping changes in November, and for some reason we were genuinely surprised. But we shouldn't have been surprised. Nope, that's the last thing we should've been. We should've seen the signs. If anywhere, we should've seen the signs here — at the citadels of knowledge and enlightenment.

The signs were obvious long before we flicked on the 10 o'clock news Nov. 4.

The signs, the signs. "O tempora! O mores!" a Roman exclaimed a long time ago.

The students were serious. Frustrated. Disappointed. Too many broken promises for too many young people who were all too pragmatic.

"WE don't care what a few dull-witted liberals like you have to say!" one Shorthorn letter writer said in response to a TYpOs cartoon concerning Ronald Reagan's landslide victory. Imagine, a four-panel cartoon strip provoked the mighty "WE."

Enough of the quixotic dreams and noble passions of Camelot. It was time for a change, time for EVERYBODY to get THEIR acts together — for God and country. Supertramp's prediction became hauntingly true: "Now watch what you say or they'll be calling you a radical, liberal, fanatical, criminal. Won't you sign up your name, we'd like to feel you're acceptable, respectable, presentable, a vegetable!"

"The Logical Song"? Why not?

The national-global tensions were bad, but we contended some some fairly hot moments here, too.

We had a new stadium, but a frightfully too familiar football team, crusading to an all too familiar 3-8 record. Maverick Madness? Was it madness to hope for a dream come true? Maybe we were just too anxious — like the student who ran an anonymous classified ad for a new head football coach. Maybe we derailed our dream?

Left: Pride, mixed with tension and anger, typified the mood of 1980-81. Above: There's a sign in the University Center that says "No studying between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m." Nap time? Perhaps.

Below: Team spirit and hard work were predominant, but the effects were disappointing. See related story, p. 166.

No more paper tigers; no more Camelot

Charges of police brutality arose when campus police apprehended a homecoming bonfire devotee. A Shorthorn news photo showed seven officers meting out justice to a single student.

Campaign '80 showed its colors on campus when a Shorthorn misquote of State Rep. Lanny Hall turned his reelection bid for the district 32-C seat into a tooth-andnail fight. His New Right opponent used the mistake in full-page newspaper ads even after being informed of the Shorthorn's error.

UTA saw the formation of the Gay/Lesbian Association. Napes across campus bristled at that one.

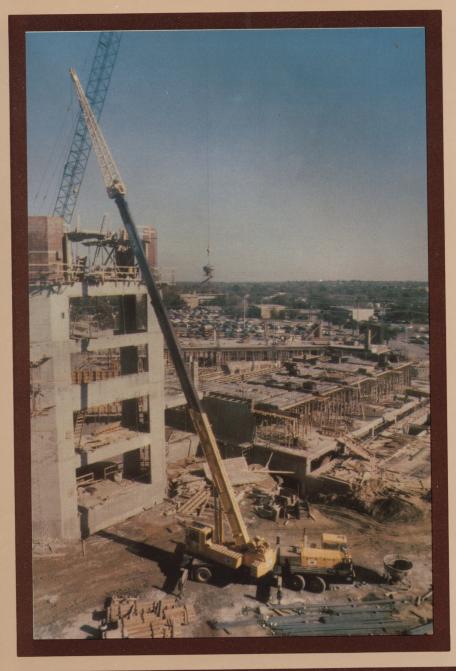

These developments reinforced the conservative mood that grew on campus. No more paper tiger. America got a new set of choppers in November — boy did they bite.

Our attention shot from issue to issue, in hit-and-run-fashion. The rise of the Religious New Right worried some, made others happy. The Philadelphia Phillies won the World Series. We were told that in an election year if the National League won the series, a democrat would be elected president. So much for that theory, any odds on old Indian curses?

Yes siree, we were a new breed in 1980. Some weird product of the "me" seventies. Cool, beautiful and blow-dried — personalities and all. We John Travoltaed ourselves out to a disco beat and talked about patriotism, nationalism and assorted other isms.

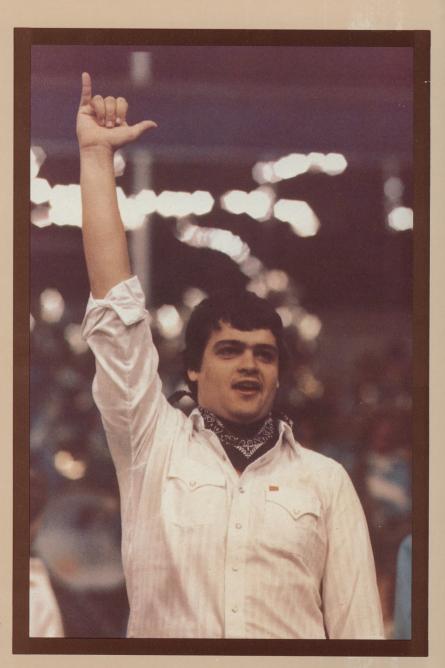

We were a new breed that was more enticed, more intrigued, more fascinated and obsessed with trying to discover "who shot JR" than we ever were with who shot JFK, or who might really be buried in Lee Harvey Oswald's grave.

We helped create a society that said planned obsolescence was another term for progress. Bad craziness? Maybe it just hasn't gotten weird enough. Maybe. It's up to us to make a difference.

Left: Construction has been a part of campus life since the early '70s. Below: Clouds don't inhibit the social groups from laughter.

Right and below: School spirit was kept alive at the games by such groups as the Saddle and Spurs and the Cheerleaders.

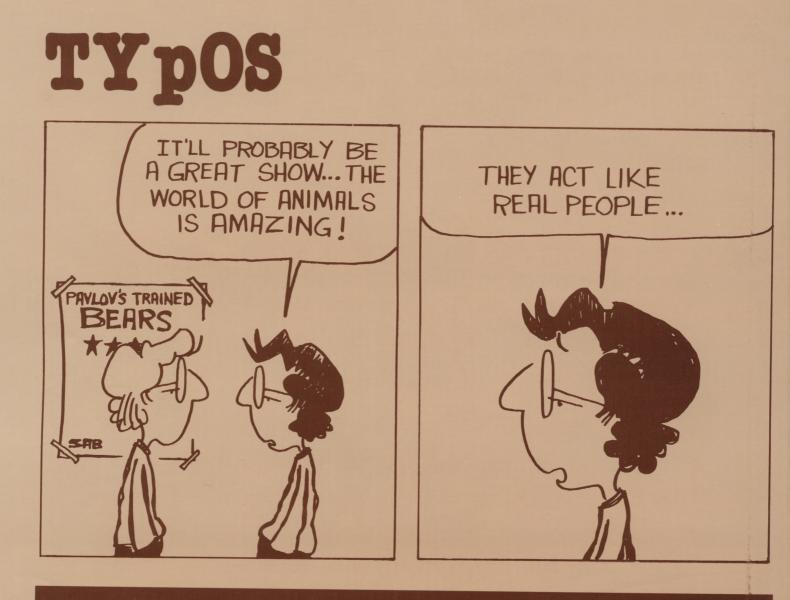

Above: Controversy darkened the Homecoming Bonfire as students were arrested and police were charged with brutality.

Below: Although getting an education received less attention this year than anything else, students survived and the world kept turning.

Photos by Tricia Miles Story and art by Dick Collier

by Richard Collier

Features

Long lines, shorter tempers bring fall registration blues

Registration: the pox of college life. It's more than simply registering for classes, though anyone who's made that scene might say, "isn't that enough?"

Registration is the Bookstore and lines. It's Financial Aid and more lines. It's moving into a new dorm or apartment. It's weird class codes, parking fees and held packets. Registration is money and/or the lack of it. Registration is any number of other seemingly-minor-until-they-happen headaches.

Glenn Martin, English graduate student, has worked the English department's desk at registration several times.

Registration wasn't bad for the fall, he said, but a minor change in procedure might make things easier on the student. "Instead of listing classes by course number," Martin said, "list them by time."

"Put the open sections that are available under the time slot that they're open." This, he said, would help a student rebuild his schedule if a section should be closed out.

Closed sections are probably the single most encountered stumbling block during registration. Mike Jordon, senior management, had to rebuild his entire schedule because a class in his major was closed.

"My biggest criticism (about having to restructure a schedule)," Jordon said, "is you have to decide your fate in 10-15 minutes if a section is closed."

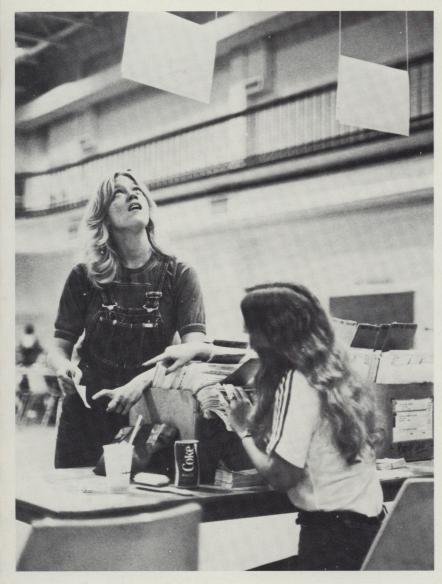

Restructuring a schedule at the last minute is in itself a catch-22 situation: Do it too fast and you could end up with schedule conflicts and the wrong classes, take too long and you might find a different section that you needed closed.

"Financial Aid put me through some changes, man," Simon Cornell said, shaking his head.

The senior radio-tv major stood in one of three hour-long Financial Aid lines after registering. There his Financial Aid was assessed, and he was sent to the Bursars Office. He stood in line for another hour. The Bursars Office said they couldn't cash his voucher because no one had signed Cornell's loan assistance forms.

Above: The 20,166 that registered in the fall set a record for UTA. Photo by Miguel Casanova. Right: Michael Lane Trautman's job was to entertain. He may have been the only thing students could laugh about during registration. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Back to Financial Aid, and a forty-five minute line.

Financial Aid looked at his loan assistance forms. They said they were sorry but they couldn't sign his forms because they were incomplete. Where were the rest of Cornell's loan assistance copies they asked.

"They're still with the person who took my fees at registration," Cornell said. Blank stares and apologies from Financial Aid. "We can't complete your loan assistance form without all the copies," they said.

Back to registration.

At registration Cornell admitted he was beaten. He managed to find someone he knew in the hierarchy there who helped him cut through red tape and get the forms signed. A move that wasn't on the up and ups, but then this was war.

Back to the Bursars Office, and another wait of indeterminable length — time didn't seem to matter anymore.

"I picked up my check, got that sucker cashed and paid rent," Cornell said.

Left: Laura Hamilton may have experienced an identity crisis during this registration. But, don't worry Laura, you're number isn't really up. Photo by Marian Massey. Below: Those last minute decisions ... Photo by Marian Massey.

Registration

Dormitories are another aspect of the registration process. Lisa Collins, junior nursing, moved to Brazos Hall at the beginning of the fall semester. "It's exhausting because there aren't any elevators," she said. That exhaustion can be relieved, however, via a moving party. The idea's a simple one: the movee supplies the beer and dinners and the movers supply the extra muscles.

The most common problem of moving into a dorm, Collins said, was the lack of room. The closets are smaller than you thought, there aren't enough drawers, there are only two wall sockets in the whole place for the desk lamp, clock radio, stereo, portable TV, electric blanket . . . and, suddenly you flash on the thought: "oh-mygosh-I-hope-my-roommate's-a-batteryfreak!"

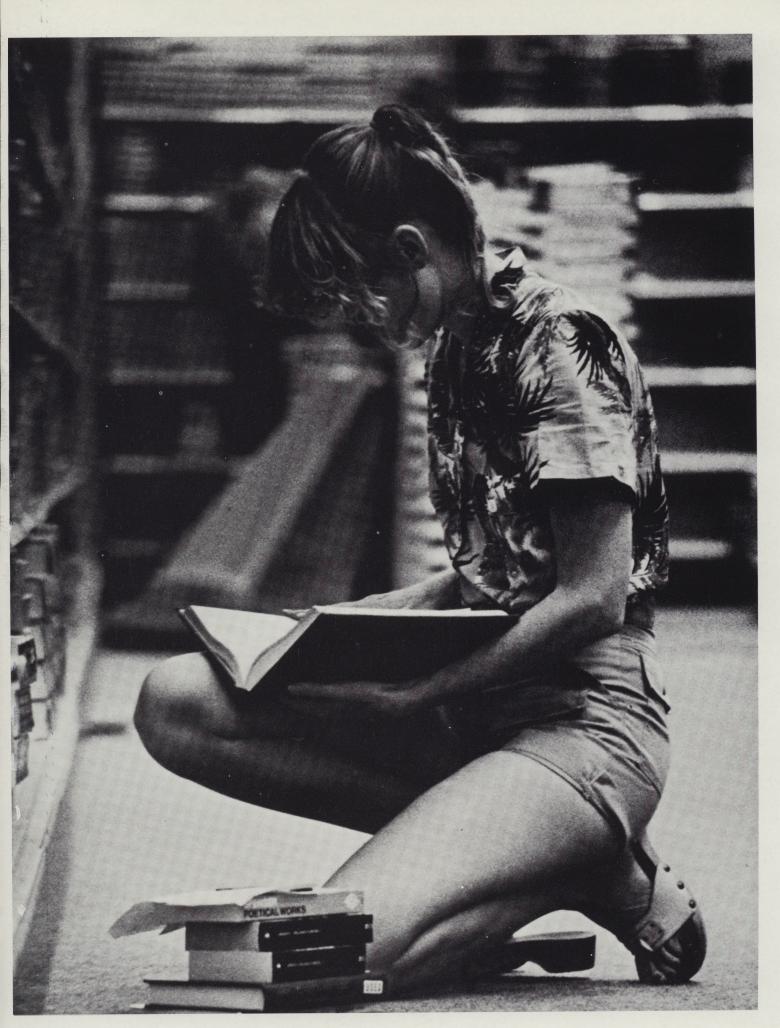

Moving into a dorm can be a lonely time. You probably don't know your roommate, you're away from family and friends, and everything you own is in a bunch of boxes. "When you're having to move, you're not settled — that's when it's lonely," Collins said.

In the dorm you get used to new things fast. You take showers instead of baths, you learn to sleep through loud stereos, loud conversations — loud everything. Because you live in a small space, you get more organized. It's a matter of survival: organize or perish.

Right: Pens and paper are not enough for an education today. Photo by Craig Fujii. Below: The average bill for a full coarse load of books is sometimes upwards to $75. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Above: Jennifer Riggs pauses to leaf through a required text. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Registration

"You find yourself putting things in their place to the extent that when you go home you keep doing it and wonder why your mother isn't as organized as you are," Collins said.

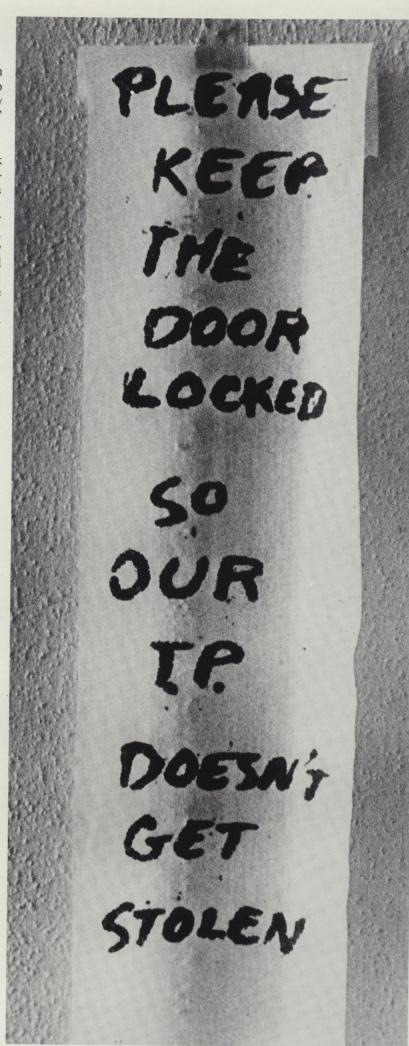

Textbooks: Hardback or paperback objects that are seldom cracked, often boring and always over priced. They inhabit a place called the University Bookstore.

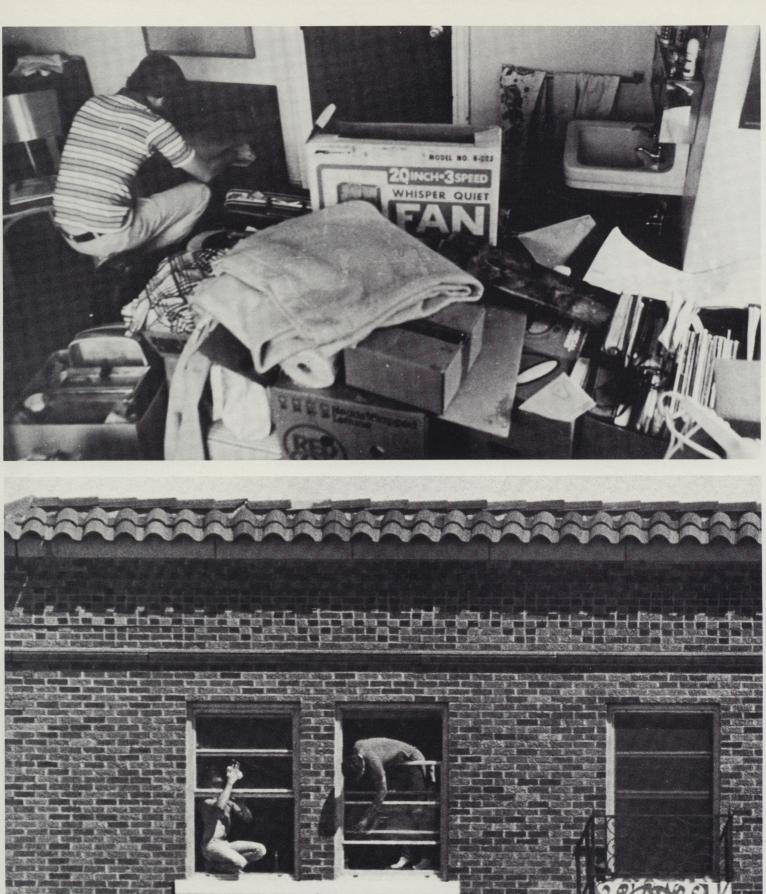

You can go to the Bookstore before your first classes and buy your books early. With any luck the instructor will actually follow the course numbers that correspond with the books you bought. More often than not you'll have bought at least one wrong book or a book you didn't need.

If you buy books like most people after the first class — you'll encounter some of the 2,250 people (average per first three days of classes) that are doing the same thing. You'll also find lines, electronic price label reading devices that rarely perform the task they were designed to perform — speeding up the lines — and you'll also find that at least one of your required texts isn't available because of all those people who bought books early and are now finding out they bought the wrong book, or because the book wasn't ordered.

Murphy's law states if anything can go wrong it will. Registration and all its facets are no exception. — Dick Collier

Right: Dorm students were rubbed the wrong way this fall when the Housing Office quit supplying dorms with free toilet paper. Photo by Bruce Davis.

Top: Once everything's in place, there may be no room for students. Photo by Jerry Heaton. Above: Students participate in 'spring cleaning' this fall on the men's ramp at Brazos House. Photo by Bruce Davis.

Right: If you're going to buy a plant, you've got to find the right shade of green. Photo by Bruce Davis.

SAB, a few green thumbs and Rembrandt

College students can't live off studying alone. There comes a time when bleary eyes need a break from textbooks and a body needs someone to talk to. SAB attempted to remedy that problem by sponsoring two fine art print sales and a plant sale.

Two have-prints-will-travel companies visited the campus in early fall offering good taste and class for between $1.75-$8 a crack.

The Imaginus and Sinclair Exhibitions of Fine Art Reproductions set up shop in front of the Rim Rock and offered selections ranging from Picasso to Rembrandt.

The Imaginus company arrived after stops in Canada, Australia and other points within the United States. More than 700 different prints featured a wide spectrum of artwork.

The Sinclair exhibition followed a few weeks later with a higher priced selection of reproductions for the more discriminating connoisseur of imitations.

If imitations weren't your bag, there was a chance to get a "real thing." Plants.

The Rio Grande Ballroom looked nothing like its namesake after SAB imported more than 3,000 plants — 40 varieties from the J and H Greenhouse, a Florida company.

The jungle-like environment offered small potted plants, hanging baskets and flora that looked suspiciously like trees.

A video monitor outside the Rim Rock presented first floor occupants with a primeval-looking hint of what was going on upstairs.

As far as all three sales were concerned, however, business was slow.

A representative for the Imaginus Company complained that business was off. Jeff Sorenson, SAB program adviser, said the plant sale went slower than previous years, although up to $5,000 worth of plants were sold. After deductions, the profits will go into the Student Activities fund, he added. — Dick Collier

Left: A plant's eye view of Barbi Gerloff. Photo by Marc Wallis. Below: Good taste knows no bounds. The Imaginus Company offered prints ranging from Cubism to the early Renaissance. Numbered prints, signed by the artist were also available. Photo by Marian Massey.

'All-Niter' supplies food, fun and flesh

University Center was crawling with frolicking partiers in late September during SAB's annual All-Nite Fair. Though the rain kept some at home, 2300 students, faculty and guests braved the weather to partake in the various amusements.

You could throw darts at likenesses of the Ayatollah Khomeini, Ronald Reagan, Jimmy Carter or John Anderson. You could get kissed, get married, get divorced or get a massage.

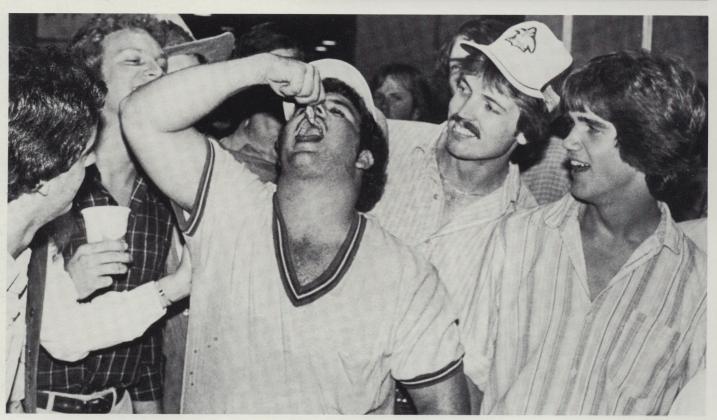

You could have your picture taken or have your caricature drawn. You could watch a belly dancer or a La Bare of Arlington stripper. You could listen to the music of Kim O'Conner, Cactus Cowboys, Vintage or Joe City.

Or you could just relax and eat anything from hamburgers and German food to goldfish — and drink. And you didn't have to drink alone. The geology department sold oyster-shell drinking buddies for those with a soft spot for rocks and minerals.

The fair, which lasted from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m., was sponsored as a pre-celebration for the UTA versus SMU football game. — Dick Collier

Right: Chandler Pollard takes a break between 'hits'. One of the sideline entertainments included two welltrained hit women available for a small fee. Photo by Don Corzine. Below: Jim Singleton, Mike Cullins and friends look on as Scott Harms downs a few live goldfish. Photo by Don Corzine.

Left: Rene Merolla strikes a happy pose as Don Prince artistically draws her caricature. Photo by Wade Gates. Below: Some donned new faces for the merriment. Photo by Don Corzine.

China youth accents stage with splendor

The Youth Goodwill Mission of the Republic of China, making its sixth U.S. tour, performed at Texas Hall near the end of September as part of China night.

President Wendell Nedderman used the occasion to announce the formation of an alumni chapter in Taipei, Taiwan.

Before the show started, Nedderman told the near-capacity crowd that there had always been a "very close relationship between UTA and the Republic of China."

He said he received a telegram three days before the show informing him that the alumni chapter in Taipei would be established the same day as the Youth Goodwill Mission's performance.

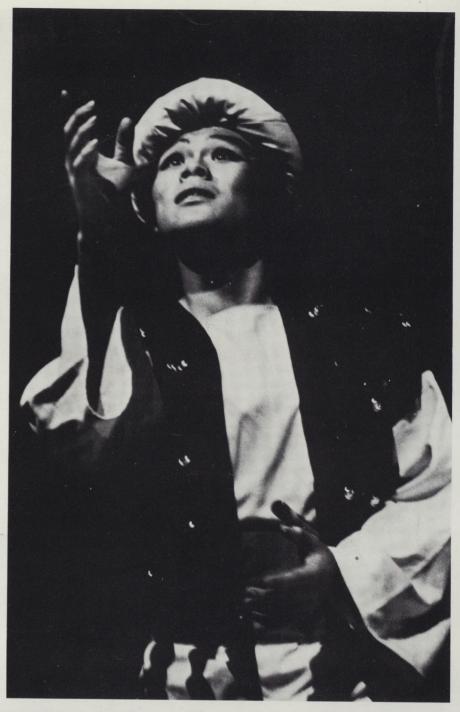

Alumni Association Director Tom Moore said later that the Taipei group was the first foreign alumni chapter established by UTA. The project had been underway for about a year. The performance, the same night as the announcement, was a fitting tribute to those ties.

Ads had run in Taiwan newspapers to contact graduates who had gone back home, but keeping up with everyone was an impossible job.

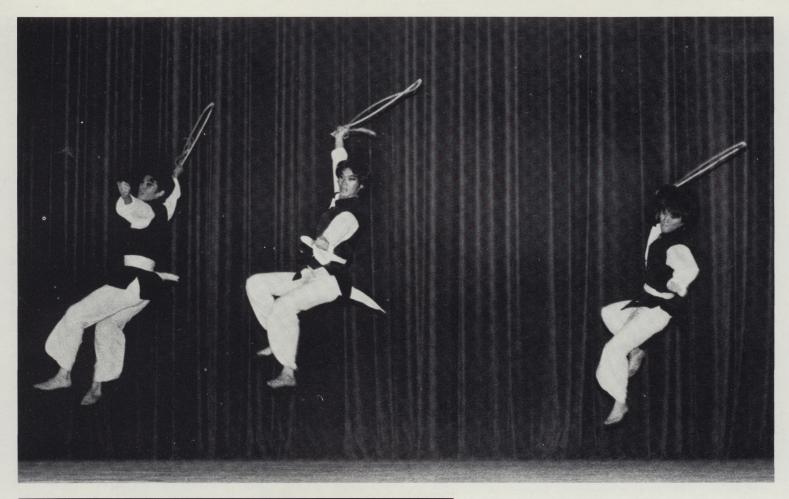

After Nedderman's brief introduction, he presented each member of the goodwill mission with a UTA jersey.

The Chinese Student Chorus performed during the first half of the show, singing as a group and also breaking into smaller units for duets and solos. All songs were performed in Chinese.

Right: A youth depicts a scene from Chinese history in a short skit. Photo by Bruce Davis. Below: Swirling silk sweeps across the stage in the night's most breathtaking scene. Photo by Bruce Davis.

The Youth Goodwill Mission, consisting of 14 college students from Taiwan, performed a one-hour show called "An Adventure of Chinese Songs and Dances."

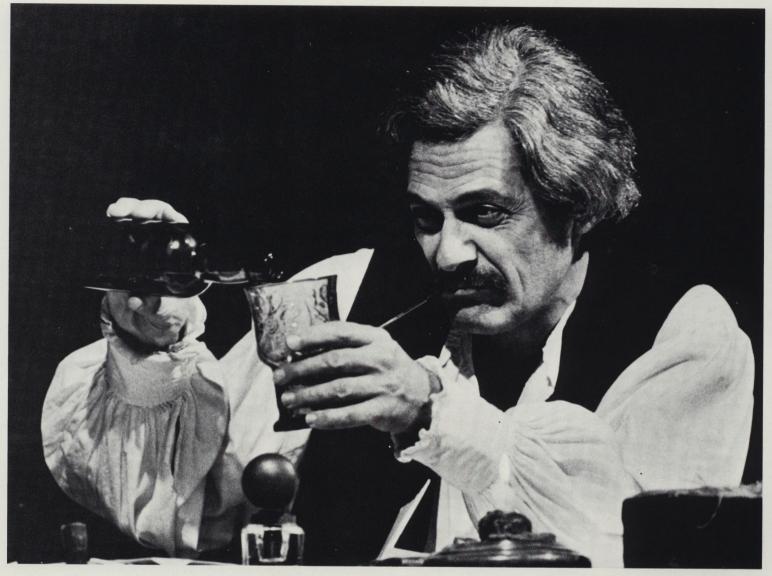

The dancers proved extremely skilled and agile, depicting various scenes from Chinese history with their short skits.

A scene depicting a maiden rowing her boat on the river was possibly the most breathtaking of the night. A huge silk cloth was waved up and down in front of her to symbolize the river and her slow, graceful choreography fit the mood of the taped music perfectly.

Other scenes showed men and women in a courting type activity, flirting with each other as they rode imaginary horses across the stage. Some of the darker moments from Chinese history, such as the peasants being thrown off the land, were also represented with haunting dance steps. — Jon Weist

Above: Members of the tour displayed extreme skill and agility on stage. Photo by Don Corzine. Left: During the scene "Swallow, Oh Dear Swallow", an actress portrays some of the beauty in Chinese history. Photo by Bruce Davis.

Photo by Bruce Davis.

'A Condition of Shadow' illuminates Poe

Edgar Allan Poe was a man of light and shadow; a writer obsessed with man's dark intentions, yet possessed of a brilliant wit that often cut through the bitterness.

Both sides of Poe were evident in "A Condition of Shadow," a one-man show, sponsored by the SAB/Forums Council, starring Jerry Rockwood as the genius who inspired more late shows than any other writer. Rockwood filled the role with empathy, reading Poe's tales and enacting scenes from his life in a quaint Southern drawl that brought to mind the storytelling of Mark Twain.

This Virginia planter's voice gave a folksy air to the play's lighter moments. It also had an impressively cutting edge when the Poe character turned serious.

Often sarcastic, Rockwood's Poe exploded into rage when he recalled making rounds to various publishers during the nadir of his career. Poe only made $4 off "The Raven" during his lifetime and in "Shadow," he was repeatedly turned down, although his masterpieces were offered for mere pennies.

Unable to take the constant rejection, Rockwood, as Poe, shrieks, "I am a god!" leaving the audience shattered.

Rockwood expertly glided through mood changes most of the night, though his reactions were occasionally too quick to be credible. Perhaps he was acting to the unfortunately small crowd of about 70 people attending his performance at the A-1 Classy Theater in November.

Another hindrance to Rockwood's classy portrayal was the annoying incidental music provided by Thomas Witt. With Rockwood's talents, the underlying score seemed redundant.

It's unfortunate that Rockwood's depiction of Poe wasn't witnessed by more people. Those who attended felt the full scope of emotions as they traveled the rocky path to Poe's soul. — Michael Phillips, Shorthorn writer

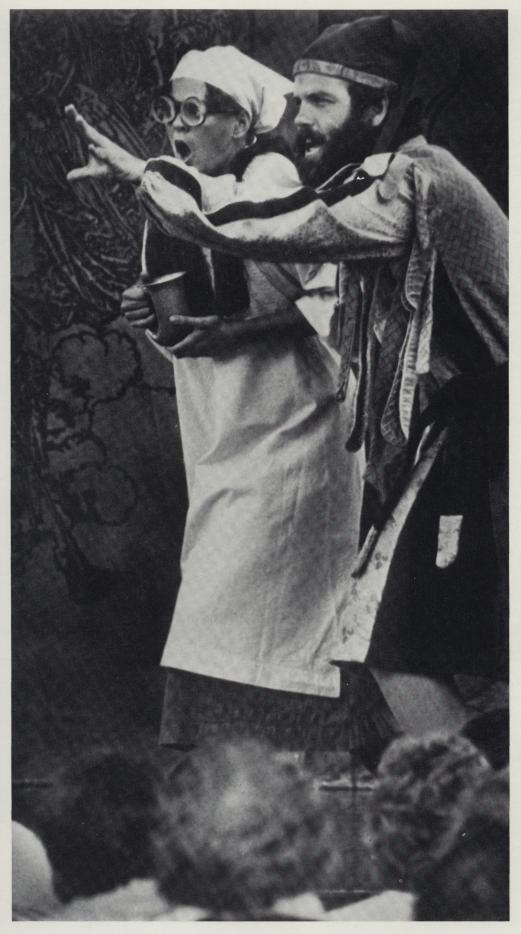

Photo by Bruce Davis.

BSU presents comic troupe, street gospel

They came from California. They dressed in tawdry clothes that clashed with the blue jeans of those who gawked. One had her face painted green.

They talked to people they didn't know. And they weren't embarrassed when noses were snubbed at them. They laughed, and they asked others to follow them.

They led their followers to a stage in front of the library. Then they put on a show.

"It's a modernized medieval morality play," said actress Pat Freeman, "sort of a wild, slapstick comedy."

"Street plays are a great way to spread the gospel."

Such was the mission of the Lamb's Players, a San Diego-based street troupe sponsored by the Baptist Student Union in October.

In their lunchtime performance, the troupe followed Everyman's search for truth. He chased the truth and fled death. Everytime he ran, Satan diverted him with the occult, lust, man's wisdom. Finally Everyman's friend, Everyperson, led him to Jesus Christ.

"We believe in what we're doing," said Freeman. "A year ago I was a theater major at Samford University in Alabama, and I heard about the Christian troupe and I wanted to share what I know. This is the only Christian troupe I've found with evangelism."

Colacito was in college in Michigan when she joined the group.

"I want to stay here as long as possible," she said. "Or rather, as long as the Lord wants me to stay."

"We are an interdenominational group; we are a family. We never have any type of squabbles, never. We are just so unified." — Roxanne Gibson, Shorthorn writer

WomanFair wrestles with old identities

Improving women's role models, teaching women teamwork and destroying stereotypes were a few of the objectives at the third annual WomanFair.

The mid-October event, sponsored by the South Central Women's Studies Association, featured about 90 seminars, films and other performances designed to improve communication between women and give them a better sense of where they are in society and how they can improve their positions.

Eight subjects were explored during the two-day event, those being: women innovators; women and the arts; physical, mental and spiritual health; economics; families; women in politics and majority and minority women.

But the event's centerpiece was the presentation of a film-in-progress by actressturned-director, Stella Stevens.

Stevens, who has starred in "The Poseidon Adventure," "The Ballad of Cable Hogue" and the NBC-TV series, "Flamingo Road," has been filming a documentary, "The American Heroine," for the past two years.

The movie, when complete, will provide role models for many women, one of WomanFair's objectives. Stevens said she sees "heroine" as another word for "saviour" and wants to remember women who "saved us in a thousand ways and taught us to grow up and be what we are."

The project started two years ago with a crew on loan from the UTA film program. In return for the crew, Stevens acted in a student's film.

Unfortunately, the showing of "Heroine" didn't turn out exactly as expected.

The movie wasn't in a final print stage and consequently the film and sound tracks were on different reels, which meant a special type of projector was required. About halfway through the screening in Texas Hall, a tube blew out on the sound reel and the rest of the movie went unseen.

"You might know that it would go now, that was the scene that always got the best response," Stevens lamented later.

Most of what was shown featured women in Appalachia, and the part on screen when the tube blew featured a woman who lived in the mountains and carried a gun with her everywhere she went.

Above: Balloons, books and records were abundant during the third annual WomanFair. Photo by Ben Hatch. Right: Joy Sansom, seated, talks to Woman-Fair attendants about various opportunities opened to women. Photo by Ben Hatch.

Left: Linda McBee voices her opinions during the workshop. Photo by Ben Hatch. Below: Dolly I. Thiem from Tarleton State University conducts a workshop on non-sexist awareness for parents. Photo by Ben Hatch. Bottom: Louise Green and Lola Musgrove read examples of literature written by women which were provided for study during the conference. Photo by Ben Hatch.

WomanFair

Other women included those who made and sold quilts for a living and one who worked alongside her husband in their lettuce-growing business.

Most of the women were skilled in certain crafts.

A woman in the audience suggested that what were considered arts if men did them were called crafts if done by women. Stevens said she didn't know if that was really true and added that, in Hollywood, you either can do it or you can't. Sex has nothing to do with it.

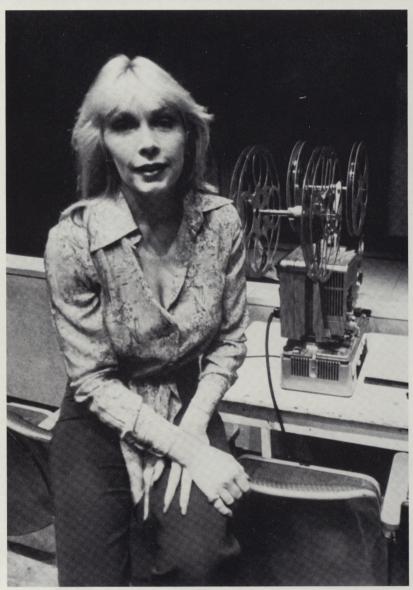

The film's purpose, Stevens said, was "to show a unity and a flow between these women and that they can all do everything, and to show a unity of the arts and crafts."

WomanFair was attended by approximately 1,500 persons, including several men. It served as a "rejuvenation" for interest in lagging women's issues, said coordinator Jeanne Ford.

Ford added that she felt good about the. way it turned out, but also said, "It's important that we all keep working at it so we don't waste 51 percent of the talent in this country." — Jon Weist

Above: Several performances conducted during WomanFair highlighted women through history. Photo by Craig Fujii. Right: Actress-turned-director, Stella Stevens, presented her film "The American Heroine." Photo by Bruce Davis.

Left: Barbara Chiarello. Photo by Ben Hatch. Below and bottom: A children's dance company performed Mexican dances for Woman-Fair participants. Photos by Ben Hatch and Wade Gates.

Ghostly gang raises money for research

Dracula's been around here a lot lately, coming up in the communications department production and then surfacing about three weeks later at the Delta Upsilon Haunted House on Halloween night.

But this time, Dracula brought friends, notably Lizzie Borden, Frankenstein and the Wolfman. And what's more, we discovered that all these monsters had a heart (in various places) about the whole affair.

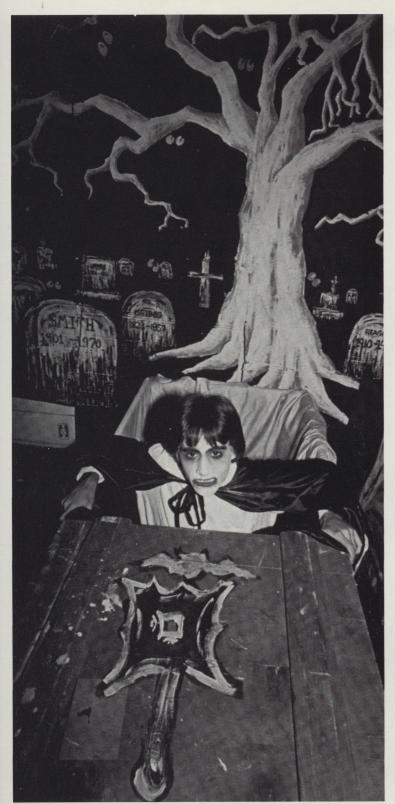

Money raised by the DU Haunted House went toward cancer research, as it has for the last 11 years, after a fraternity brother died of cancer.

Two-and-a-half weeks of work went into fixing up the House. Narrow hallways weaved through the lower floor, and visitors had to pass through black plastic curtains between rooms.

Right: A close-up of a Jack-O-Lantern brings out the ghoulish mood of Halloween. Photo by Wade Gates. Below: Students raisin' hell at the Dry Gulch costume party. Photo by Bruce Davis.

DU guides had a story line to tell for each room, and the rooms were something out of "Theater of Blood." There was the hatchet room with a man hanging on a meat hook, a railroad tunnel with a moving train to scare people into the next room, and a torture chamber, complete with guillotine. Heads did indeed roll.

Dracula made his appearance near the end of the trip, lying in a coffin on the porch. People could reach in and take candy, if they weren't afraid of coming back without their hand.

While people waited to enter the house, monsters looked on from the window. There was a chainsaw massacre on the lawn.

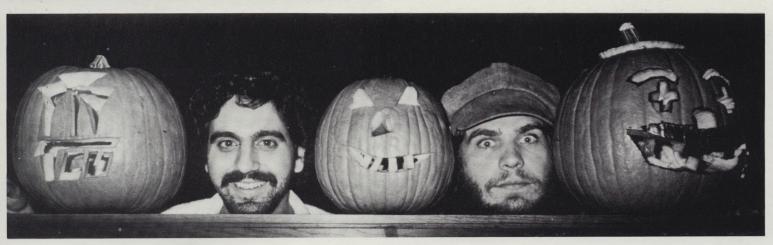

While all this was going on, the Dry Gulch was having its annual Halloween party, one of its biggest events. And, while the Dracula and Wolfman characters were good and Haunted House effects interesting, the Gulch seemed to be where all the weirdos ended up.

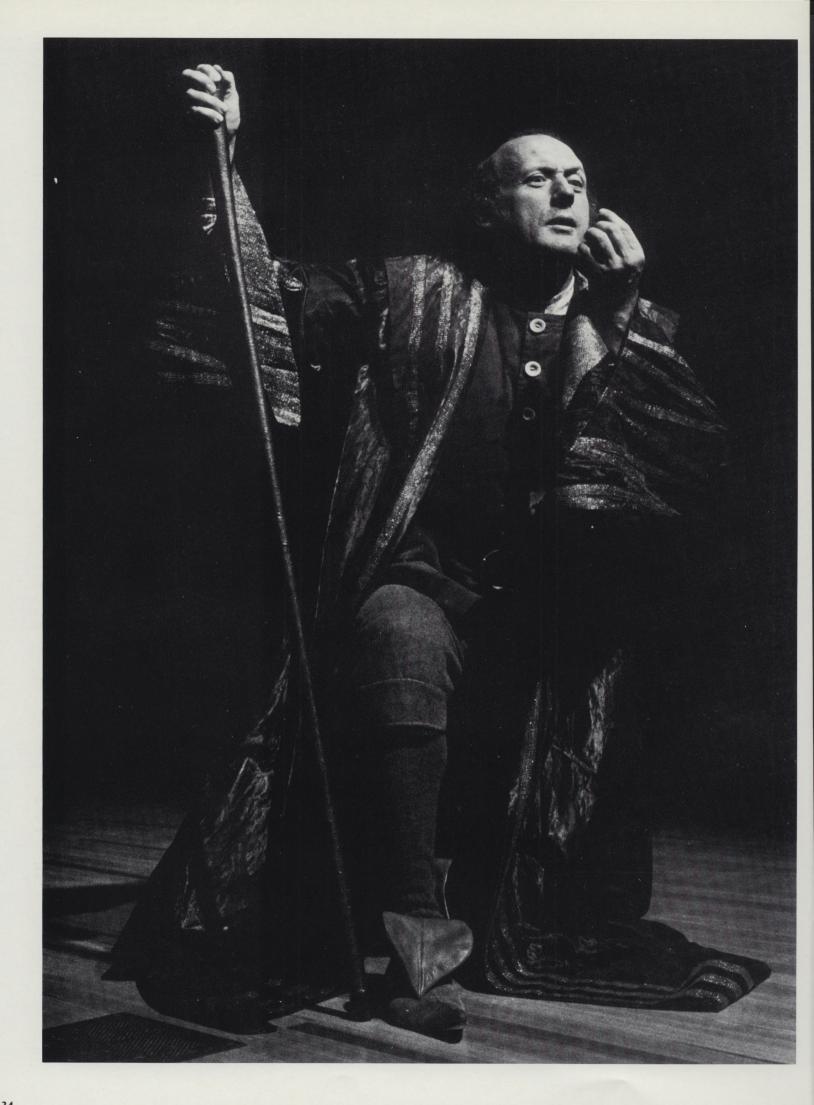

Unless they were watching Ralph Bashki's "Wizards."

"Wizards" follows a similar storyline to the Tolkien trilogy, except that the characters aren't rooted in any specific fantasy land.

But that's all right. There was enough fantasy for everyone Halloween night.

Left: Dracula (Robert Dillon) comes out for a bite. Photo by Donna Bagby. Below: Will the real Gary Cox and Randy Clemons please stand up? Photo by Wade Gates.

Fantasy Week rings of Tolkien's influence

Visions of hobbits and demons, both real and imagined, filled Fantasy Week.

Clearly, J.R.R. Tolkien was the winner, with an exhibit of "Lord of the Rings" miniatures all week and a one-man performance of Tolkien's masterpiece by Rob Inglis in the A-1 Classy Theater.

Using changes in his voice and stance to indicate different characters, Inglis managed to go through Tolkien's entire 1080 page book in two hours using only the sparest of props.

Relying upon the audience's imagination to help his performance, and giving everyone their interpretation of the show, Inglis managed to keep the approximately 200 persons in attendence listening closely for the duration of the show's two hours.

Whether he was slithering over the lecturn in the guise of the detestable Gollum — which was his most effective characterization of the night — or glancing upwards as a hobbit would, Inglis created the Shire's imaginary world vividly.

When it was necessary to speak directly to the audience, as when Inglis wanted to tell the photographers to wait until after the show to take pictures, he stayed in character while walking along the edge of the stage and speaking. "Please turn off those mechanical contraptions that are unknown in the Shire," he said. "We can take pictures later but right now you might scare off the hobbits."

Occasionally the scene changes didn't always work; the lighting wasn't timed exactly with Inglis' speech. And in the early going he seemed to have trouble both pronouncing the words and remembering what they were.

But it was a minor distraction and he got over the jitters in a hurry, settling down to his task with obvious relish.

Inglis, who has done other one-man shows, said this one was especially gratifying because of the age range of people attending.

At a conference he did in England, Inglis said that a little girl fell down the stairs as she was coming in and appeared to be badly hurt. But she immediately got up and found her seat, staying for the entire program just so she could discuss the "Lord of the Rings" after the lecture.

A former Australian journalist who took up the stage because he wasn't entirely happy with the structure of journalism, Inglis writes his own shows and travels as often as he can with his wife, who accompanied him on this tour.

He said he felt the most powerful part of the show was the ending, when Sam, after the terrible ordeal involved with the Ring, just sits down at the table in his house and says simply, "I'm home."

Fantasy Week was sponsored mostly by the SAB Forums and Art Councils, although the Films Council was responsible for the showing of "Wizards" that weekend.

Lone Star Comics & Science Fiction also set up shop during Fantasy Week, selling collector's comic magazines and bringing several games for display.

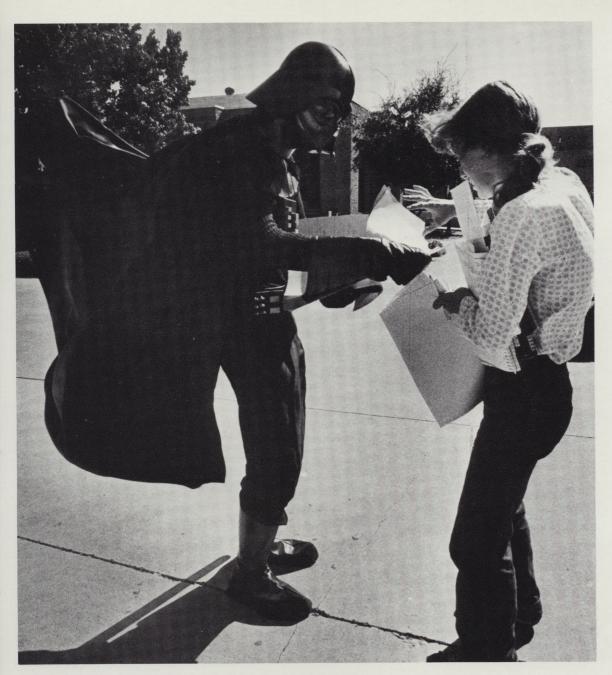

Darth Vader could be found wandering around the campus discussing the state of the universe with anyone who asked. — Jon Weist

Left and above: Rob Inglis portrays a character from J.R.R. Tolkien's Trilogy. Photos by Wade Gates.

Right: Miniature fantasy figures from private collections are exhibited in University Center Gallery during Fantasy Week. Photo by Don Corzine. Below: A dwarf and an orc duel to the death. Photo by Don Corzine.

Above: Darth Vader visits campus during Fantasy Week. Photo by Bruce Davis. Left: A savage snacks on a member of the track team at the DU Haunted House. Photo by Marc Wallis.

Campaign '80 The Old Right comes back in muddy political landslide

Campaign '80 marked a significant change in America's attitude. The political pendulum swung from left to right, leaving liberals and moderates alike bewildered and shaken.

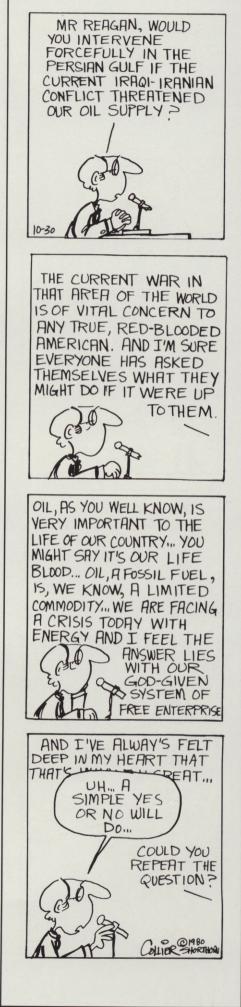

The finely tuned machinery of the National Conservative Political Action Committee, Christian Voice, Religious Roundtable, Moral Majority and a score of other fundamental Christian politicalaction groups brought "the fist of God" down upon the skulls of liberal Democrats across the country through a massive rightwing media blitz.

Ronald Reagan's conservative landslide buried President Jimmy Carter's re-election bid, and helped topple liberal Senators John Culver of Iowa, George McGovern of South Dakota, Birch Bayh of Indiana, Warren Magnuson of Washington, Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, John Durkin of New Hampshire, and Frank Church of Idaho.

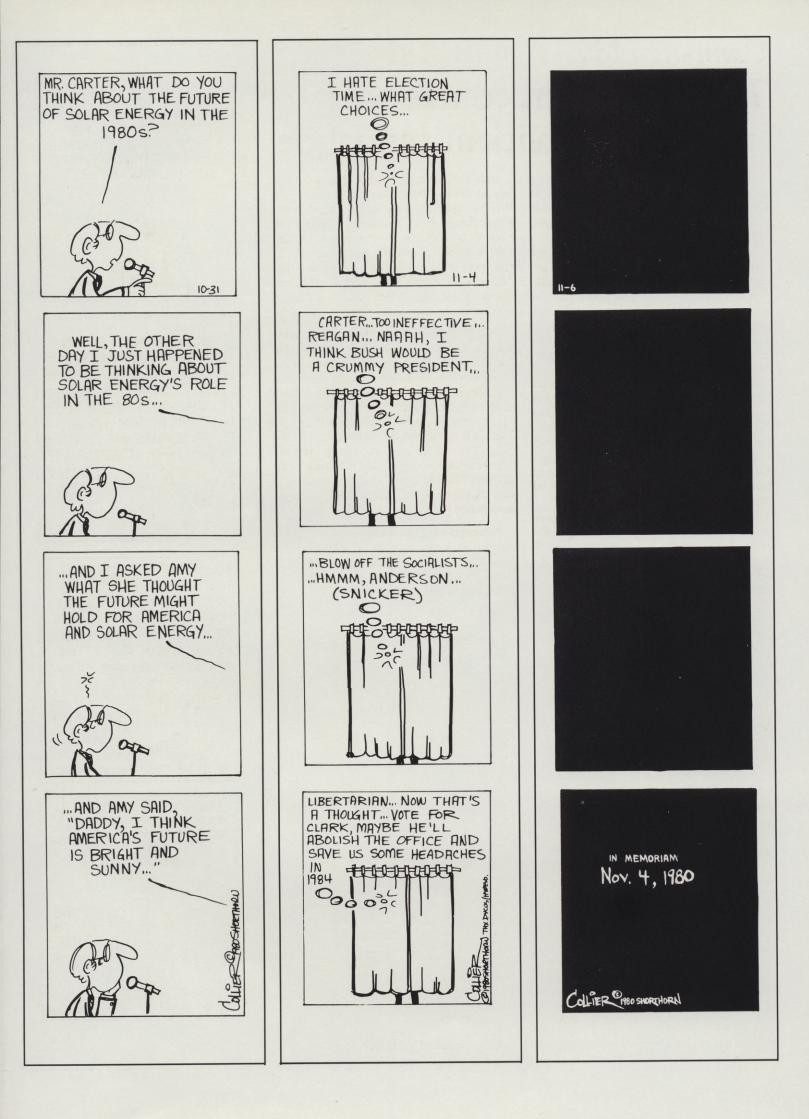

In the wake of this conservative revival, the Republicans not only made significant gains in state races, but also in the House of Representatives. More importantly the G.O.P. itself controlled the U.S. Senate for the first time in a quarter-century. Locally, conservative Republicans didn't fair as well. House Majority Leader Jim Wright fought off a major threat from Republican Jim Bradshaw, who was backed by oilman — "madman" Eddie Chiles. Martin Frost trounced Republican challenger Clay Smothers — another "Chosen One" of Chiles, and Jim Mattox narrowly defeated Republican Jim Paukin for a second time.

The Shorthorn was drawn into the campaign's vortex when it became embroiled in the District 32-C State Representative race between incumbent Lanny Hall and Republican Jan McKenna. A Shorthorn news story misquoted Hall's views concerning marijuana, saying he supported the legalization or decriminalization of the drug. The McKenna campaign played off the misquote — even after having been informed by the Shorthorn that the paper was in error — in flyers and full page newspaper ads.

Nonetheless, Hall managed to pull out a narrow 500-vote margin of victory. The Hall-McKenna race was typical of most races in Campaign '80: hard fought no holds barred and a little "muddy."

Story and art by Dick Collier

Historical 1st characterizes Homecoming

Four words can sum up Homecoming week: bonfire, parade, football and history.

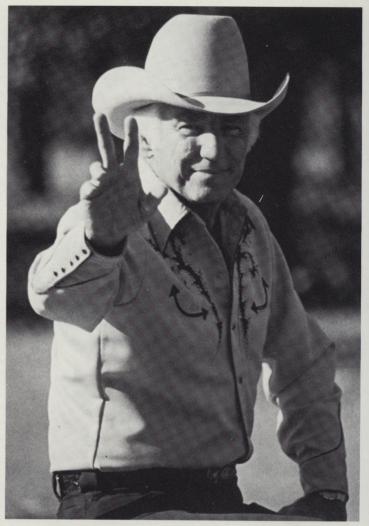

History. It's tough to lay claim to a page of history, yet that's what Wanda Holiday and Rodney Lewis did.

Holiday became the first black student to be elected Homecoming queen. Lewis, also a black student, became the first UTA Homecoming king ever. Their elections were the result of a well orchestrated push by organizations such as the Voices of Christ, the NAACP campus chapter, the Black Students Organization, Alpha Phi Alpha, Alpha Kappa Alpha and the Pakistan Student Organization.

The organizations all nominated two candidates, Holiday said. Then representatives from each group decided on her as a nominee.

"Minority students should feel more involved in the university," Holiday told a Shorthorn reporter after her election. "We wanted someone who the minorities could vote for, but I plan to get involved in other activities. I don't want to be just a representative for the minority students."

Right: Actor Morgan Woodward, head of this year's alumni fund drive, was grand marshal in the Homecoming parade. Photo by Wade Gates. Below: Images of the West silhouetted against the Homecoming bonfire. Photo by Bruce Davis.

Homecoming week was riddled with ups and downs. It began on a positive note, Nov. 5, with the Freewheeler basketball team downing Houston's Rollin' Cougars 45-37 in Texas Hall.

The next day, a student arrest at the annual bonfire brought charges of police brutality against the campus police. An investigation by campus police, and one by a 3-member committee appointed by President Wendell Nedderman, found no brutality, but placed the officer on probation and put a letter of admonishment in his personal file.

Nov. 7 saw more typical Homecoming events — an alumni Tennis tourney, battle of the bands and yell practice.

The Homecoming parade Nov. 8 sported approximately 60 entrants and was marshalled by actor Morgan Woodward, the man with "no eyes" from the movie "Cool Hand Luke." Entrants ranged from the International students who carried flags from their homelands and wore native dress, to the Shriners who darted about in go carts.

Later that afternoon, after Holiday and Lewis were announced as Homecoming queen and king to the 7,156 fans at the UTA-SW Louisiana game, the Mavs staggered to a 30-13 loss.

Fortunately, history will remember Wanda Holiday and Rodney Lewis instead. — Dick Collier

Left: Homecoming king and queen, Rodney Lewis and Wanda Holiday. Photo by Wade Gates. Below: A graduate of the UTA clown class participates in the parade down Cooper Street. Photo by Don Corzine.

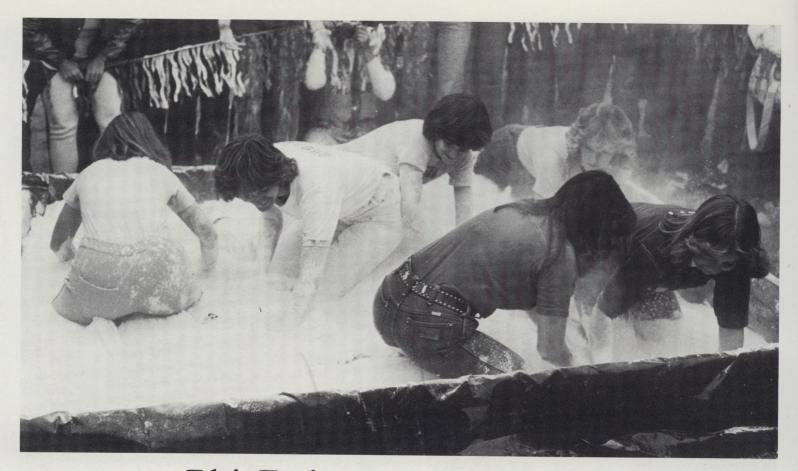

Right: Rusty Vaden, shown with his two children, was one of five 1970 cheerleaders to return here in November. Photo by Donna Bagby. Below: The Marching Band entertained crowds during halftime. Photo by Marian Massey.

Left: Military might was displayed on the ROTC Homecoming float. Photo by Marc Wallis. Below: President Wendell Nedderman and Chip Moody, Channel 4 anchorman, address alumni at the formal Homecoming dinner/dance. Photo by Wade Gates.

Phi Delts sponsor 12th winter games

The olympic flame once again sputtered at the 12th annual Phi Delta Theta Winter Olympics as female athletes tasted the thrill of victory and the agony of musical tubs.

The Tri-Delts came in first place with Zeta Tau Alpha in second and Delta Zeta in third. Alpha Chi won the Spirit Award.

Competitions included a spoon-dig, a tricycle race, musical tubs, a basketball jump, a pie throw, an egg tag, an egg toss, and a beauty contest in traditional Greek togas.

Above: Contestants must find their sorority spoons in over 400 lbs. of flour. Photo by Don Corzine. Right: Nothing like a pie in the face on an overcast afternoon. Photo by Don Corzine.

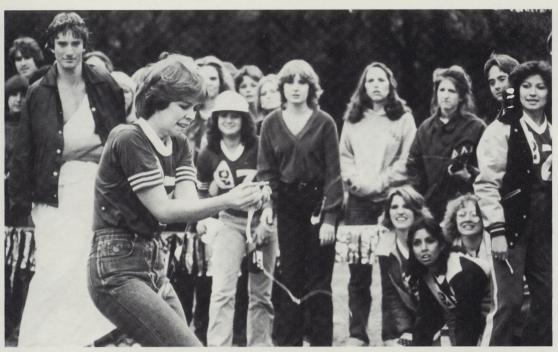

Top left: Not exactly a Ben 'Her', these girls push for the finish. Photo by Don Corzine. Top right: Ed Gray looks a little leary about the egg being taped on his forehead. Photo by Ben Hatch. Above: Musical chairs, Greek style? Photo by Don Corzine. Left: This contestant probably wishes she were at home in the shower. Photo by Don Corzine.

Right photos: Eating under pressure — this girl will probably need some Rolaids. Photos by Wade Gates.

Above: Sometimes even a good catch ends in a mess. Photo by Don Corzine. Left: Balance, strength and aggression are advantages in this competition. Photo by Ben Hatch.

The concluding saga of a dog and his boy

He has coal-black eyes and a better disposition than most people. One of his favorite pastimes is riding the Carlisle Hall elevator and visiting his friends there. He sleeps through English classes and crushes coke cans with his teeth. Women think he's cute.

His name is Blackdog, a 13-year old canine of dubious ancestry, although it would be safe to say he has a little traveling salesman in his genes.

Blackdog, now a UTA alum, was the resident free spirit here. Blackdog is one of those dogs that wouldn't know a backvard or a leash if one came up and bit him on the nose. The one thing Blackdog does know is his buddy, Clyde Melville, a humanities Ph.D. graduate.

Blackdog and Melville know each other well. Their relationship goes beyond the old 'boy and his dog' story. They're buddies, you see.

Melville found Blackdog while he was living in Austin. Perhaps Blackdog found Melville — it's hard to say. Nevertheless, one day Melville looked out his back door and there, on his porch, was this black dog looking back at him. He was a skinny alley dog. His fur was matted and covered with mud.

"I didn't want him," Melville said. "I didn't even like dogs."

Melville repeatedly tried to get rid of the grungy stray that seemed to have adopted him, but the dog just kept coming back. It had to be an omen. Destiny.

In one last attempt to give the dog away, Melville decided to wash him down. Maybe if he cleaned the dog up, he'd be a little more appealing and someone would take him. It worked.

"After I washed him and dried him off, he got all fluffy," Melville said, turning a little red "and he didn't look all that bad

That was ten years ago. Kismet.

Blackdog got his name for obvious reasons. Melville's Austin friends would ask, "is that old black dog still hanging out back there?"

And, of course, the old black dog was. The name stuck.

Blackdog goes where Melville goes, and when he can't because of various stuffy social norms, he waits patiently on the outside — outside the Gulch, outside the Student Center, outside theaters.

Occasionally, Blackdog's patience wears thin and he'll strike out on his own. He may visit some friends in Carlisle Hall, riding up and down the elevator there until it stops at the floor he wants. Melville then has to hunt for Blackdog, stopping at every floor until he finds out who Blackdog is visiting. More often than not, Blackdog is with the secretaries on the second floor who ply Blackdog with doggie treats and massive doses of cuddling and attention.

Blackdog, safe to say, is no fool.

Blackdog has sat in on more than the average student's share of English classes. Sometimes it seemed he knew the language better than his human counterparts.

One day, during a Modern American Poetry class that Blackdog was sitting in on, the instructor began to read some of his own poetry. The professor had gotten through about eight lines when Blackdog got up, walked out from under a desk, threw up, glanced at the professor and students and walked back to his spot under the desk.

The professor stopped reading, folded up the poem and put it away. "Well," he said, "I must admit that's concise criticism if I ever heard it."

Although Blackdog may have expressed some strong opinions in the English department, the department still has rescued him from the clutches of the dog pound a couple of times.

Below: Blackdog and owner, Clyde Melville.

It's a dog's life: living in a zoo of bipeds

Melville had a special dog tag made for Blackdog that said, "I am a student at UT-Arlington," and put the English department's phone number on the tag.

The pound caught him one day, called the number and said if someone didn't claim Blackdog, he would be dispatched to the big kennel in the sky. Members of the English department took up a collection and bailed him out. They kept him in Carlisle until Melville could come and get the wayward pooch.

In 1977 Melville and Blackdog traveled to Cuernavaca, Mexico. Melville wanted to learn Spanish. Blackdog was looking for a good time. They both got what they were after.

Blackdog loved Mexico. "He could go into any bar," Melville said. "They were so grubby and they didn't have those ordinance inspectors who check for hair in soup and stuff. Blackdog liked the gals (canine type) down there, too. They're kinda easy."

You see, Blackdog likes to go where the "girls" are loose and easy, and he had found a veritable gold mine south of the border.

"I caught him running around with some real 'dogs'" Melville said, shaking his head. "They'd have mange or be missing an ear or a leg. I'd go out with a stick and yell at him, 'Stop that! You're embarrassing me!"

Now if all this sounds a little strange, well, it is. Blackdog's devil-may-care attitude is evident to anyone who frequents the Student Center. Sprawled out under a tree or on the cool tiles in front of the SUB, Blackdog watches, in dull amusement, the zoo of bipeds that parade before him.

One day, during the winter of '79, Melville left his classroom on the second floor of Preston Hall, took the elevator to the first floor and found everyone there bundled up in mufflers and jackets.

It was freezing cold.

"I looked for Blackdog, and he was lying on the rubber mat of the automatic door opener. The door was stuck open and wind was whipping through the halls. No one moved him, they just walked through the other door," Melville said. Blackdog was there, waiting as usual, enjoying the breeze and watching the parade.

Below: Blackdog is known for his biting criticism of the Shorthorn.

Story by Dick Collier Photos by Craig Fujii

Left: He crushes Coke cans with powerful jaws in a single bound. Below: It's a dog's life — and he wouldn't have it any other way.

The Library, not bound by usual volumes

With everything the university has to offer, there's one place in particular that has something for everyone — the Library. The Library's automatic people counter registers an average of 4,000 people per day using the facility.

Several special collections are housed in the Library. Most nobably, the Jenkins Garrett Library which has one of the largest collections of books and documents dealing with Texas history and the Mexican-American war. The Library is highlighted by an 1836 printing of the Texas Declaration of Independence, and two of the most complete sets of Republic of Texas currency and sheet music.

The Cartographic History Library is also housed in the Garrett Library and contains thousands of rare historic maps and atlases. The oldest map is dated 1493. The maps are recorded on slides for quick reference and to help speed up the location of the original.

The Robertson Colony Collection is a fairly recent acquisition. The collection contains journals, documents and the like dealing with early Texas history and the Robertson Colony which extended from Waco to Austin.

The university archives are the official depository of the Texas AFL-CIO, and also hold important source materials documenting labor movement history in Texas and the Southwest.

If you're interested in Yucatan, Mexico, the archives have the principle holdings of three archives in Merida and almost all extinct Yucatan newspapers on 1,063 rolls of 35 mm microfilm. The collection equals 1.5 million pages of documents. A similar project consisting of 132 rolls of microfilm has just been completed in the Archive National de Honduras.

The Multi-Ethnic Cultural Collection, is a circulating reference library covering the political, social, cultural, economic and intellectual history of American Indians, Blacks and Mexican Americans. The collection includes circulating books, reference tools, journals, newspapers, microfilm, governmental documents, pamphlets, audio text cassettes and art.

The Library currently houses 740,000 volumes and adds another 35,000 per year. It carries 3,400 current periodicals, binds well over 3,000 of those and puts the rest on microfilm. The five Xerox machines in the Library zip out about 25,000 copies each per month. That comes to $6,250 of ingested nickles.

At the beginning of the spring semester the Library instituted a new computerized central processing unit — a mini computer that reads a zebra code off the student's library card and the book he or she wants to check out. A laser beam reads the codes and registers the student's name, the book and date. The Library can then determine whether a book is checked out or on the shelves and how many volumes of a book are available. Books can be reserved through the computer which will send the student a notice telling him the book in question has been returned and is being held.

By 1982, computer terminals that will provide a bibliography for any subject and that will tell students whether a book is checked out or on the shelves will be located on each floor.

A computerized information retrieval system already exists which is connected to approximately 150 data bases. The system can search the data bases and locate articles in various periodicals on any given subject. — Dick Collier

Below: By 1982, the card catalog system could be replaced by computer terminals on every floor. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Left: Mary Fagan examines one of the 700,000 volumes belonging to the Library. Photo by Craig Fujii. Below: The Garrett Special Collections, composed of antique books and manuscripts dealing with Texas history, was donated to the Library along with a $167,000 foundation grant to establish a Cartographic History Library. Photo by Ben Hatch. Bottom: Extensive changes in copyright laws have not appeared to shorten lines at the Xerox machines. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Fragile forms create crystal wonderland

Crystal frigates sailing off to nowhere. Translucent swans of crimson and blue captured forever in icy silence. Windmills befitting the dreams of Don Quixote.

Dreams sculpted in glass.

Shane Stead, from Rye, Tx., visited here in October. For the last five years, he's traveled to colleges across the country selling his art. Stead has been working his craft for 24 years.

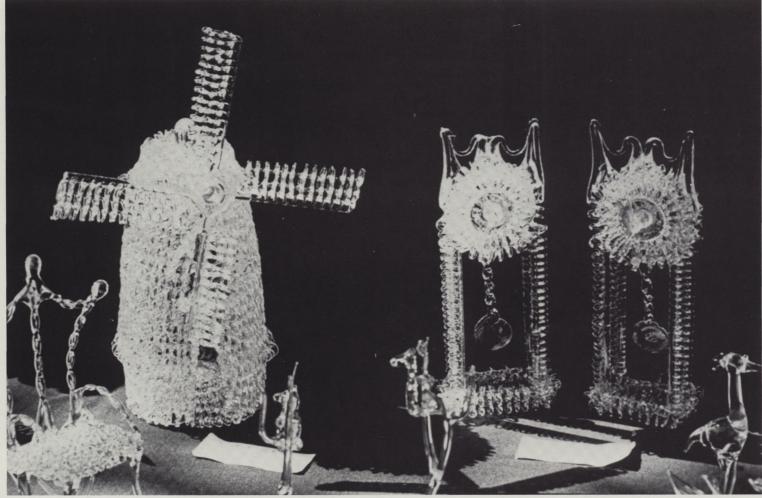

The artist paid a 20 to one ratio in trade for pre-1965 silver coinage. He said the most popular items he made were test-tube babies and pregnant pigs. — Dick Collier

Right: Shane Stead displayed his talent on the University Center Mall for a week in November. Photo by Ben Hatch.

Left: Articles of blown glass have become quite popular in the '70s and '80s. Photo by Ben Hatch. Below: Stead told photographer his most unusual order was for blown glass earrings of a coffin. The gift was for a mortician. Photo by Ben Hatch.

Nurses await finished work on new home

Everybody needs a home and the Coordinating Board believed the College of Nursing was no exception. They allocated $14 million toward the building of that home in the campus' north-east section, along Campus Drive and West Street.

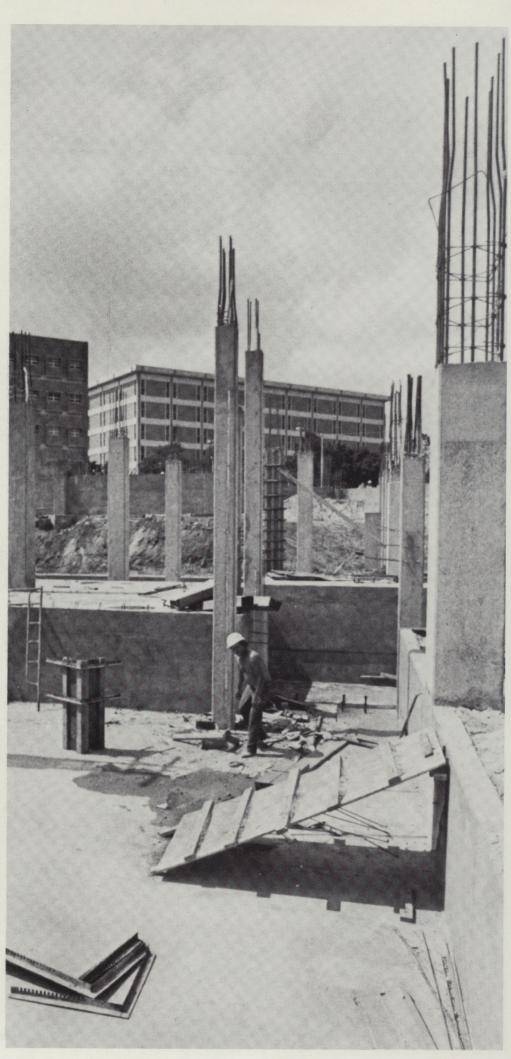

While the skeleton of girders, pipes and exposed concrete foundations grows and takes form, the 525 nursing students and 53 instructors continue their trek to classes scattered across campus and throughout the Metroplex.

Presently, the students meet in the Library basement, the Health Center and in area hospital space shared with Texas Christian University, Tarrant County Junior College and Southwestern Union University at Keene.

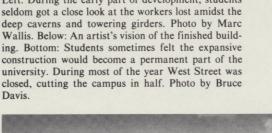

The expected completion date for the building is September 1982 and everything with the exception of clinical work will be done there.

The College of Nursing, which graduated 208 nurses in 1979, is second only to Texas Women's University's four campuses. — Dick Collier

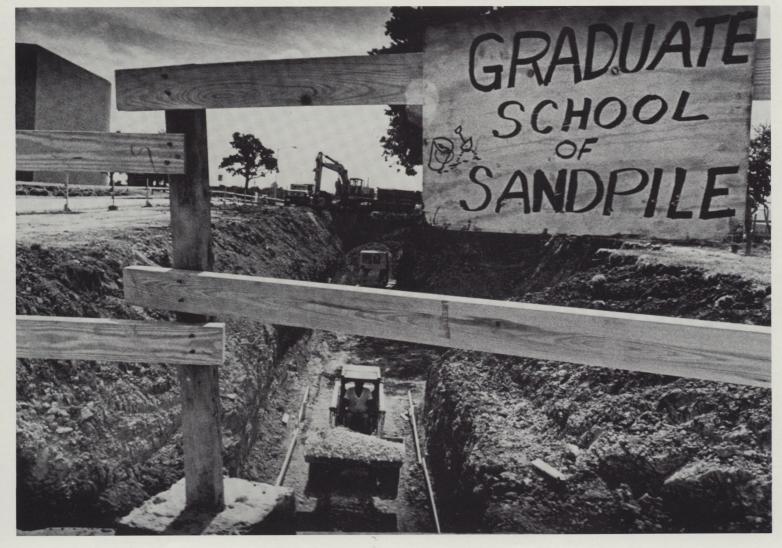

Right: Construction of the new College of Nursing began in April. Photo by Bruce Davis.

Left: During the early part of development, students seldom got a close look at the workers lost amidst the deep caverns and towering girders. Photo by Marc Wallis. Below: An artist's vision of the finished build-ing. Bottom: Students sometimes felt the expansive constraints would become a promount part of the construction would become a permanent part of the university. During most of the year West Street was closed, cutting the campus in half. Photo by Bruce Davis.

CurtainCall

Symphony recovers from rocky beginning

The Houston Symphony came off to a stumbling start during their September concert at Texas Hall. Fortunately, the athletic conducting of C. William Harwood whipped the orchestra into a performance of consistent respectability and occasional brilliance.

Renditions of Aaron Copland's "El Salon Mexico" and Maurice Ravel's "Rhapsodie Espagnole" were marred by flat trumpet solos and missed openings. Eventually, the work of the first violin and string section pulled the symphony's act together and by the final note of "Rhapsodie," the audience showed its first sign of life, giving the orchestra an energetic ovation.

This enthusiasm worked to the Symphony's disadvantage during a performance of Robert Schuman's "Second Symphony." Occasionally, the audience would break in between movements with distracting applause. Harwood handled these interruptions with a calm dignity and glided through the program finale with an orchestra that was playing together for the first time.

The gentle, morose melodies of the piece's first two movements hardly prepared the audience for the explosive ending which featured booming bass and percussion. By this time, most had forgotten the slipshod work that had marked the beginning of the evening.

The Symphony was handicapped slightly by the acoustics of Texas Hall, which frequently rendered the woodwinds inaudible. Furthermore, sections of the orchestra seemed to be competing with each other. Harwood had trouble integrating the various parts into a musical unit. The situation wasn't helped by the selection of material, which padded the program with tedious, Baroque-style interludes.

Nevertheless, the concert was kept moving along by the young Harwood, who led the symphony with a gymnast's vitality. Taking springing leaps across the stage whenever he took the stage, Harwood himself was a valuable entertainment package.

The Symphony's performance may have annoyed perfectionists and probably didn't interest newcomers in classical music: Regardless of their inconsistency, the Houston orchestra did show signs of skill that, with a little bit of polish, might proper them into the ranks of the great orchestras. — Michael Phillips

Photo by Don Corzine.

Wilde's wit relived in brilliant program

Legends never seem to get the credit due them while they're alive, and Oscar Wilde was certainly no exception.

Put in jail because of homosexual relations with the son of a British Lord, the brilliant playwright was forced to spend the last years of his life exiled in Paris.

"Diversions and Delights," a one-man show featuring Vincent Price (a legend who might get his due recognition) played to an almost-full house at Texas Hall in mid-October.

Price stayed perfectly in character throughout the two-hour show. In that time he displayed the wit of Wilde and showed the great sadness of the man at the same time.

The situation Price was supposed to be in, a lecture at a Paris auditorium in the last year of his life, never really took place. But if it had, there's reason to believe Price's interpretation wouldn't have been too far from the truth.

Wilde was a remarkable man, far superior intellectually to those aristocrats he occasionally hob-nobbed with. His caustic remarks about the way people went about their daily lives were always offending someone, but he somehow managed to get away with it.

The first half of the show was taken with a short reading of one of Wilde's poems and a rambling discourse on all manner of things.

Price-Wilde described how ignorant Americans were in many respects. He recounted the tale of a man who ordered the Venus di Milo and then sued the railroad that shipped the famed statue because the arms were broken off.

And the railroad paid in full.

Occasionally, Price would stumble and hold his ear and mumble something about how horribly he was treated in prison. But he quickly dismissed it and said he didn't wish to burden the audience with his troubles.

Drinking absinthe, a bitter liqueur, Price raged when the glass was empty and he couldn't get any more, finally stalking off the stage in anger. That signaled the end of the first act.

The show's second half was much more serious as Price-Wilde, becoming progressively drunker, began venting his hostility at the injustice of jailing him because society didn't approve of his love affair.

It was during this act that he evoked complete sympathy from the audience. He succinctly described how he was brutalized in prison and how one jailer, upon seeing that a young boy imprisoned with Wilde was hungry, gave the boy some of his own food and was fired because of it.

Price gave a sterling performance, especially considering he had a cold. He managed to work the sniffles into the act however, and if anything, it made the show more effective.

Price's point was made over and over again. Oscar Wilde was a man ahead of his time. As Price plainly showed, he was a man that exceeded the norms of his time also. — Jon Weist

Photos by Miguel Casanova.

MUMMENSCHANZ

Silence is golden, the old saying goes. The Mummenschanz mime company proved this cliche true with their performance at Texas Hall Feb. 12.

Sponsored by Curtain Call, the show lived up to its name. "Mummenschanz" is a German word for a game of chance, and indeed the audience does not know what to expect from the soft-spoken trio on stage.

The mimes used their limberness to demonstrate the expressiveness of the human body. Wearing costumes on their faces and sometimes on their bodies, the performers transformed into snakes, monkeys and creatures born of fantasy at a moment's notice. It was hard to imagine these outfits disguised humans.

The show's first half dealt with the animal kingdom and the evolution of man. This theme offered moments of surreal beauty, particularly when a jellyfish made of red and green mesh floated soundlessly above the stage. "Oohs" and "aahs" rippled through the audience as Mummenschanz did Jacques Cousteau one better.

Other moments were lighter. At one point, a clam stuck a thick, red tongue at the audience and smacked its hungry lips. The children, scattered throughout Texas Hall, enjoyed more basic humor like this.

For the adults, there was a more complex routine featuring a creature with six heads. These heads vied with each other for control of the body, two of them becoming lovers dealing with a jealous third party in Punch 'n' Judy fashion.

Playfulness continued into intermission. In the lobby, original Mummenschanz cast recordings (two sides of chuckles and cheers) were offered for sale. Meanwhile, wearing a square black mask, Claudia Weiss (one of the mimes) mingled with the audience and invited them to provide her with facial features of ribbons and tape that she soon bound and gagged herself with.

Deeper themes — greed, miscommunication, jealously — were tackled in the second act with the aid of toilet paper props and clay masks that transformed before the audience's eyes.

The toilet paper sketch, and a bit where the mimes drew facial expressions on writing pads placed on the front of their masks, drew the biggest responses of the night.

Not a sound was heard during the two hour show other than the audience's enthusiastic laughter and applause. By evening's end, speechlessness had become epidemic. Many had seemed stunned by the deaf mute dance they had just witnessed. Often profound and always fascinating, Mummenschanz's silence was beyond reproach. — Michael Phillips.

Folk ballet weaves dazzling cultural story

History has patterns, they tell us. Individual pieces are just pieces of a whole, a splotch of color through which the connecting threads are woven.

The Ballet Folclorico Nacional de Mexico — Mexico's national ballet company uses the form and movement of folk dance to recreate that country's colorful and varied past.

The company — which performed here for Semana Chicana in early April moves quickly through the set pieces. Even the slower, more ritualistic scenes hold the attention as the dancers glide in graceful arcs.

In contrast, the wild, foot-stomping "Zapateado," with gleaming white costumes whirling through space, jolts the viewer into full attention. The backup band's rhythmic Spanish trumpets blare in the background.

The Texas Hall display carried the audience on a dazzling journey through Mexico's diverse culture, from the lyrical Wedding Dance of Michoacan to the gaiety of a "Jalisco" Fiesta.

Mood and concrete subjects alike were part of the ballet's magnificent tapestry, which wound tighter and tighter until the viewers just had to burst out in thunderous applause. — Jon Weist

Above: A demanding variation of Fiesta Veracruzana, La Bamba, is performed, by tying a long ribbon into a bow with the feet. Photo by Don Corzine. Above right: A shunea carries a jical pestles painted with brightly-colored blooms during the Oaxacay Tehuantepec. Photo by Don Corzine. Right: Dancers perform the "Jalisco" a lively dance in triple time with fast, intricate footwork. Photo by Don Corzine.

Murphey lends personality to performance

Not everyone can just walk on stage with two other guys, pull up stools and start singing without a word to anybody.

But Michael Murphey did.

No dazzling light tricks or elaborate sets accompanied Murphey during his October performance at Texas Hall. It was just Murph and guitarist Mike Hearn and bassist Rick Fowler come to town to pick for the folks.

Talking to the audience between most songs, Murphey revealed a dedication to his fans' enjoyment that few performers display.

The best of his music is rich in visual images and instantly appealing. He so obviously enjoys the tunes (and the performance) that his attitude is infectious.

Although it doesn't sound that way, Murphey's music leans more toward jazzblues or folk than the country-pop of his only bona-fide hit "Wildfire." It's intensely personal music, triggered by incidents and heartfelt observations of the world we live in.

Much of what Murphey performed wouldn't work on radio and doesn't always work on recordings. Songs like "Desert Rat," "Wild Bird," and "Boy From the Country" are quiet, slow-moving works with a heavy lyrical emphasis. The impact is lost on vinyl. In concert, however, Murphey's force carries his music and the recordings sound better the next time through. The three-man acoustic approach disarmed the audience, being a unique effort by today's standards. The crowd was at Murphey's mercy throughout.

Without the near-instant intimacy, Murphey could've never opened with a slow tune like "Alleys of Austin."

During the 24-song show, Murphey made only one foray from his stool, moving to the piano for "Calico Silver." Otherwise, he traded jazz licks with Hearn or pushed the song with his banjo playing.

Although most of the show was devoted to Murphey's favorites and his popular tunes, he managed to sneak a tune called "Still Taking Chances" in between "Backsliders Wine" and Hearn's "New Mexico Rain."

An able songwriter who hasn't had much success with his own songs, Murphey nevertheless performed those that have helped others. One was "Cherokee Fiddle," a tune Johnny Lee recorded on the "Urban Cowboy" soundtrack. Another was "Texas Morning," recorded by B.W. Stevenson several years ago, a song that has become one of Murphey's most requested songs.

But Murphey performed both adequately, and when "Carolina in the Pines," "Cosmic Cowboy," and "Wildfire" were all slammed in to close the show, he left to a deserved wave of applause.

Predictably, the encore was "Geronimo's Cadillac." Murphey has deep feelings about the Indians' plight and it's obvious he still believes in "Cadillac," singing it with a great deal of conviction. He even managed to get the generally reserved audience singing and clapping along at the end of "Cadillac" and the next song, "On the Goodnight Trail."

Murphey ended the show walking up the aisle, making sure everyone was singing, then running down the other side to take the stage as the song ended.

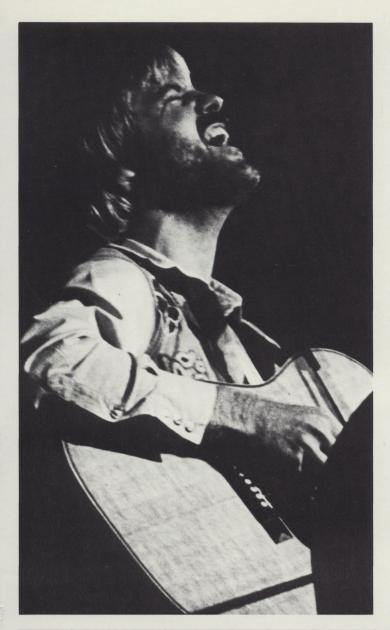

It seemed a bit out of place for a man who'd been talking to the crowd for three hours from a stool, but Murphey was so involved in his performance that it didn't seem trite.

Steve Fromholz's opening set was difficult to follow. His dry jokes, novelty songs — such as "Dimmy Jean's Pork Puke Sauce Linkages" and "The Ballad of Violet Flecks" — and his deeply moving "Texas Trilogy" barely exposed Fromholz's considerable talents.

Both performers caught the crowd's mood perfectly, maintaining an excellent rapport throughout the show. While some of this might have been because of the sparse instrumentation, it's mostly a tribute to Murphey's and Fromholz's warmth and honesty — the ability to hold a crowd in these times with a decidedly un-trendy show. — Jon Weist

Photo of Steve Fromholz by Don Corzine.

Photos of Michael Murphey by Wade Gates.

Sound problems fail to slow Walker show

He's got what could charitably be called a gravelly voice, and he's certainly not a choice physical specimen. So why do people pay to hear him slide from one note to the next and miss guitar chords?

Because Jerry Jeff Walker has charisma.

Of all the words that have been applied to the New Yorker-turned-Texan over his recording career, charismatic usually isn't one of them. But he's got it.

The grin, for instance. You can't tell if he's making fun of all the poor suckers out in the audience who paid good money to hear him sing off-key, or if he's just having a good time.

Well, you can't tell unless he tells you. And that's just what he did during this late April concert at Texas Hall. After struggling through sound problems and steadfastly ignoring repeated shouts for "Pissing in the Wind," Walker casually dragged his lanky frame to the mike, leaned on his guitar, grinned his grin, and said, "Hell, I'm glad I came. I'm having a good time."

And so were his fans, although his fourpiece band was loose to the point of dissolving a few times. The group bulled through "Gettin' By," "Redneck Mother," and "The London Homesick Blues" before any semblance of musical togetherness was established on stage.

No doubt this was due, at least in part, to the fact that the mix in Texas Hall was terrible. Walker couldn't hear himself sing and the audience couldn't hear much of anything except his drummer. When it was time for Bobby Rambeau's lead guitar solos, everyone wondered what happened to the music until a spotlight drifted over to Rambeau and confirmed that, yes, he was still there.

The mixing problems never were settled completely, but by the time Walker finished plowing through "Jaded Lover," he'd picked up some elements of cohesion. On Guy Clark's classic "LA Freeway" the band meshed perfectly.

From there on out things never got quite as bad as the opening few numbers, although during a couple of songs the band drifted into a beat that apparently only they could hear.

Of course, perfection doesn't dominate Jerry Jeff Walker's shows, it's not supposed to. His voice sometimes slides so low in the register that his words are indistinguishable, but it's something we've come to expect of him. The apparent looseness on stage is an extension of Walker's slender physique — all elbows and knees, that appear as if they'll come flying apart at any moment.

Despite all this, or maybe because of it, Walker's slow songs seemed all the more touching and honest. He's so relaxed most of the time that you can't believe he'd lie when he says that "Nightrider's Lament" is his "most favoritist cowboy song ever."

"Lament" went over particularly well during the show, although it missed the organ layers and background vocalists of the recorded version.

Nothing, however, was missing from the finale. The foot-stomping rhythm of Walker's "Hill Country Rain" conveyed everything that needed to be said about where Jerry Jeff's sentiments lie. It's possibly the most eloquent statement anyone's ever made about central Texas. It captures the spirit of the place that many miss.

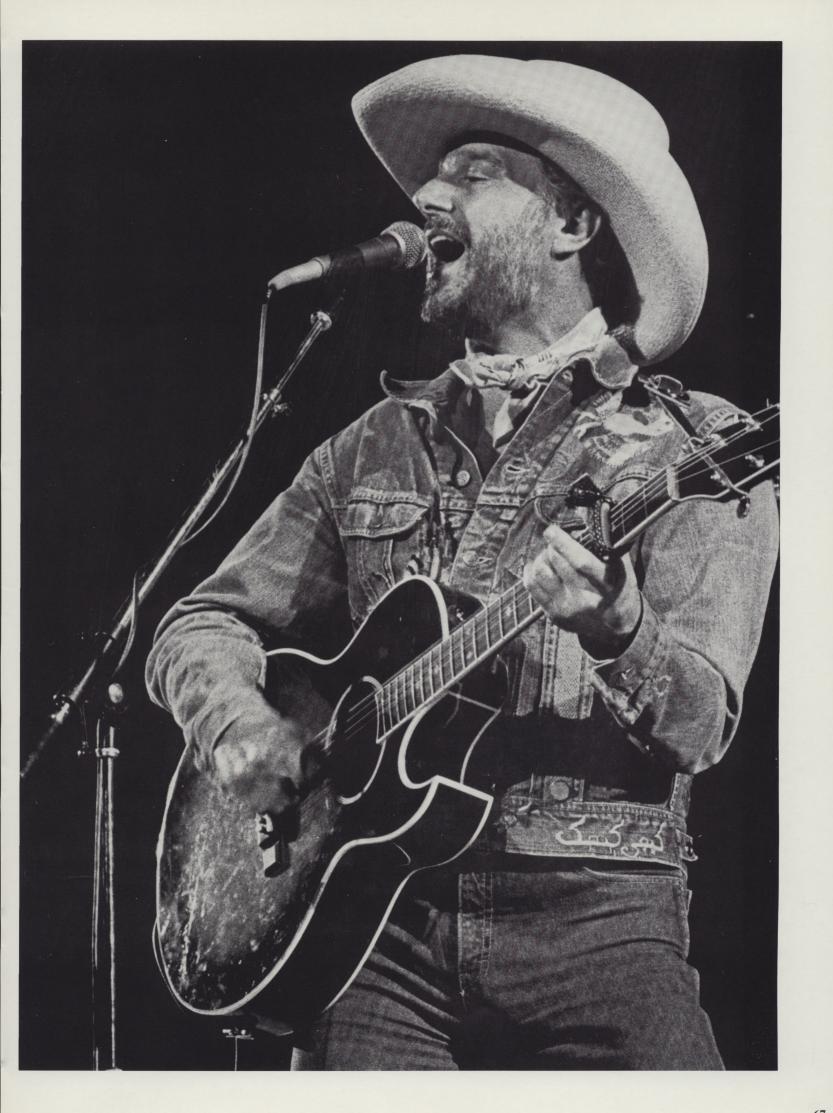

"I got a feeling,

It's something that I can't explain.

Like, dancing naked,

In that high hill country rain."

Sounds good Jerry Jeff, sounds good. — Jon Weist

'Visitors' bear gifts and joy

Christmas. We all know the story; the birth of Christ, the animals in the stable and the three wise men. But sometimes the old stories and themes are lost amidst modern-day tinsel, neon and super-store Santa Clauses.

Apparently, the music department found something appealing in the old stories and in mid-November graced the stage with the opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

"Amahl" is the touching, slightly sentimental story of three wealthy travelers and the magic they bring to a poor house in which they spend the night during their journey to follow the mysterious star.

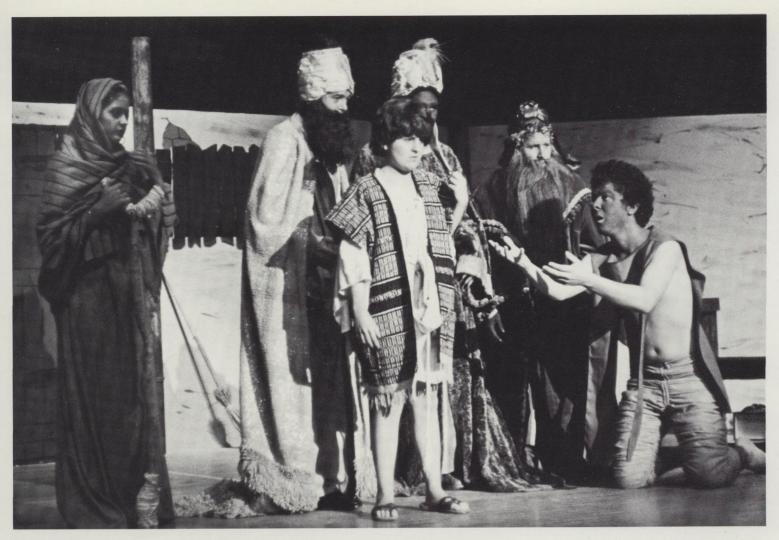

The trio's names are familiar — Kasper, Melchior and Balthazar — and their mission is obvious. But it's not the theme of the story. Gian Carlo Menotti's one-act opera focuses on the three wise men and their encounter with the crippled Amahl and his mother. "Although the kings are kindly, there is a struggle within the viewer to bridge the chasm between the very rich and the very poor," said music assistant professor James Conner, who directed the opera. The music was provided by the UTA/Arlington Symphony under the direction of music assistant professor Daniel Hornstein.

Nancy Reed sang Amahl's part and Sara Price played the boy's mother. Together with Oscar Diaz as King Balthazar, Jeff Heaton and Less Hunter alternating as King Melchior and David Whorton and Lewis Clemons alternating as King Kasper, they managed to tell the story with grace and style without resorting to straight narration. — Jon Weist

Right: Les Hunter as King Melchior. Photo by Wade Gates. Below: Daniel Hornstein conducts the UTA/ Arlington Symphony. Photo by Wade Gates.

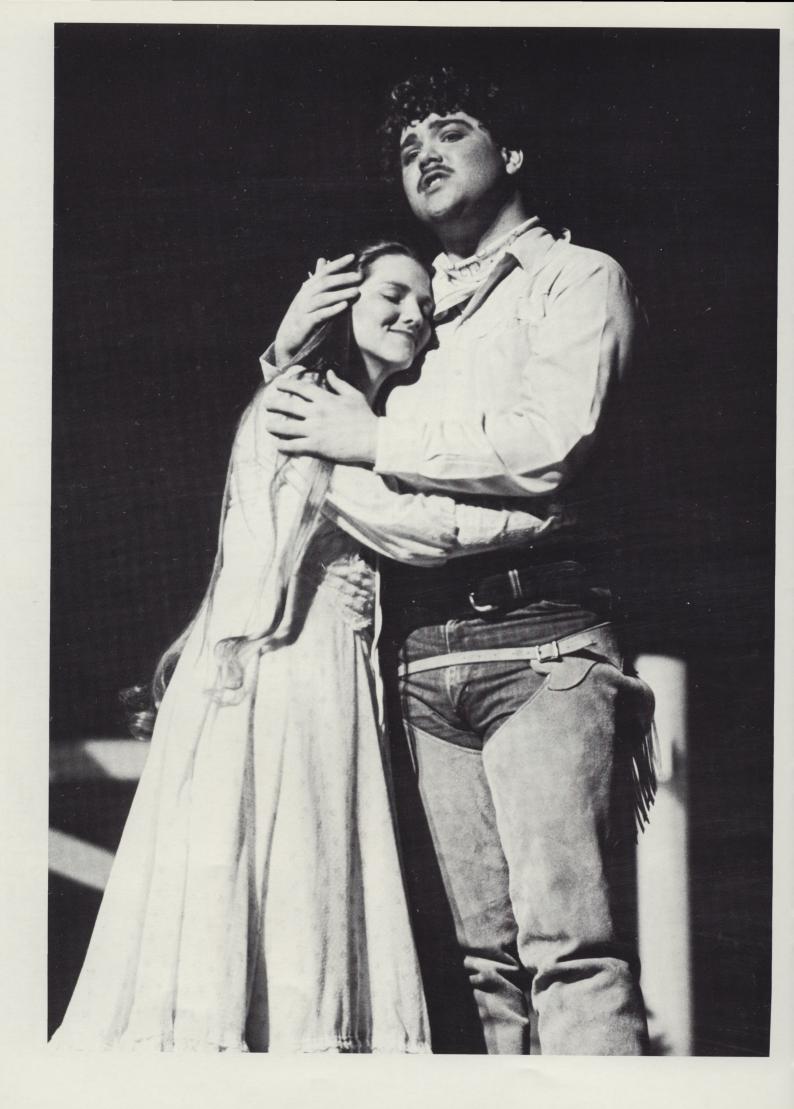

Above: Page, Clayton Cunningham, approaches Amahl for a touch. Photo by Wade Gates. Below: Amahl and page with three Magi. Photo by Ben Hatch.

Breezy 'Oklahoma' captures frontier spirit

The corn oil flowed freely during the Lyric Theatre's opening-night production of "Oklahoma," but no one seemed to mind the saturation.

Most presentations of Rodgers & Hammerstein's musical take themselves far too seriously, and "Oklahoma" becomes a tedious exercise in love-thy-neighbor cliches.

Not so with this version.

The sappy, homespun humor and frontier logic confront the audience head on. The cast telegraphs every punchline but always delivers with enough spark to keep the show moving.

Director James Connor coached his actors well - they capture the essence of the serious parts without turning "Oklahoma" into a morality play.

Although most of the performers had a tendency to mug, the way the show is presented the overacting doesn't matter. The only fault in the performances that wouldn't go away was an inconsistency in accents, ranging from some-where in the deep South (Georgia or Alabama) to the horribly overplayed tones of "Dallas."

But it was a comparatively minor problem, because you know "Oklahoma" is a musical, and the simple, direct approach lets everyone know this show was structured completely around the musical numbers. The acting sequences often appear to be necessary transitions between production numbers.

And musically, this thing is a killer. Every cast member displays considerable vocal talent, the only problem being that James Gudat's Will Parker and Clayton Cunningham's Andrew Carnes can't be heard over the orchestra.

In contrast, Dana Coleman and Ado Annie electrifies the stage during "I Cain't Say No" and "All er Nothin." These are the two most exciting musical performances, although "The Farmer and the Cowman" scene displayed the night's best ensemble work; the choreography came together whereas in the first act it was a bit sloppy.

At the show's beginning, the almost total lack of subtlety was irritating. But once the first scene ended, one realized that it's the best, most refreshing way to do the country's most overdone musical. Fran Larkin's portrayal of Laurey deviates slightly from the other performances, exhibiting a reserve that fits the confused, sensitive character. Given the shadings she allows Laurey, Larkin stood out as the show's star.

Larkin wasn't the show's only good spot by any means. Jeff McAdams and Coleman brought their colorful roles to full intensity, giving the spice needed for characters that, if misplayed, easily could flatten several scenes.

Maybe it was opening-night jitters, but there was some noticeable gaffes that can't be excused — performers blowing lines and forgetting lyrics. But once one got into the spirit of "Oklahoma," there weren't any bad performances. A couple of performers seemed stiff, but only momentarily.

Wendell Williams' Curly, who had a considerable amount of stage time, was exactly the happy-go-lucky cowboy he needed to be, a cer-tified good ol' boy. Williams also displayed one of the show's best voices, especially on "Oh What A Beautiful Morning" and "Oklahoma." The play's timing varied only slightly from beginning to end. Unfortunately, at almost an hour and a half, the first act seems unbearably long. With the limited maneuvering room on the recital hall stage, the tech crew did the best it could to allow maximum space for the performers and still show different sets.

The efficient use of the stage was excellent, and there's probably no way around the first act's length, but toward the end the spectator is apt to be glancing repeatedly at his program to see how much longer Act I will go.

By the time the cast delivers "Oklahoma's" title song, though, the wait seems worth it. Although the orchestra had some tuning problems during the first act, the ensemble was in sync when the ending came.

"Oklahoma" was presented by two different casts in April. — Jon Weist

Opposite page: Fran Larkin and Wendell Williams shine in Oklahoma performance. Photo by Miguel Casanova. Below: Almost all the cast get in on this action as they strain to hear the young lovers' conversation. Photo by Miguel Casanova.

Satirized play gives Count biting chance

"When our Dracula gives the hickey, ladies swoon."

Maybe not every time, but that was his intention when director Charles Proctor set about putting together the communication department's production of "Dracula" from Bram Stoker's classic horror novel.

The October production kicked off the department's theater season with Ron Quade as the Count and Allison Hassell as Lucy Seward, Dracula's object of "love."

Joe Kongevick's set design was best performer, however. Shades of black dominated the stage as the bat motif was taken to its extreme. Door handles were bat wings and a huge bat, not immediately recognizable, hung over the entrance to the Seward's living room, where most of the action took place.

Above: Lucy Wells (Ava Graham Spencer) is startled by the appearance of Dracula's image (Ron Quade) in the mirror as she attends Lucy Seward (Allison Hassell). Photo by Craig Fujii. Right: Dracula's slave Renfield (Greg Pugh) in a moment of repose. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Wonderful performances by Quade, Ava Graham-Spencer as Miss Wells, the maid, and Greg Pugh as Dracula's slave, Renfield, helped the production overcome its early flaws and sent it into a third act that was beautifully executed. Quade and Hassell delivered change-of-mood lines perfectly, which only helped produce the desired campy effect.

Although the show had to be trimmed considerably for the stage, since certain scenes would be too short to warrant the extensive set changes required, enough of the story was told to get the idea of what was going on by the end of the first act.

The first act started a bit rough because of the confusion in the story line. It seemed to start in the middle. Robert Kruger as Jonathan Harker and Miles Varner as Dr. Seward are discussing some strange experience as soon as the curtain goes up, and with all the shouting going on, it was difficult to tell what the problem was. The arrival of Dale Wilcox as Abraham Van Helsing, the famed Dutch vampire hunter, helped clear up much of the mystery and set the stage for the final showdown between Dracula and the his perennial nemesis.

Left: Count Dracula and his next victim. Photo by Craig Fujii. Below: Dr. Seward (Miles Varner), Jonathan Harker (Robert Kruger) and Abraham Van Helsing (Dave Wilcox) confront Dracula. Photo by Craig Fujii.

'Dracula'

Kongevick's special effects were wonderful, especially the parts requiring Dracula to turn into a bat.

After a shaky start, everything was fine. The show had just the right amount of camp and it came through pretty well, except for the confusion of the first act. "Dracula's fangs just needed a bit more sharpening." — Jon Weist

Right: Lucy Seward puts the bite on Jonathan Harker as Abraham Van Helsing looks on. Photo by Craig Fujii. Below: The Count reels away as Abraham Van Helsing attempts to ward him off. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Left: It looks like romance is in the air for Lucy Seward and the Count. Photo by Craig Fujii. Below: Dr. Seward looks on as Abraham Van Helsing and Jonathan Harker get ready to make a point with the Count. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Nazi era seen within humor of 'Cabaret'

The rise of the Nazi era in Germany isn't the stuff of which light musicals are made.

"Cabaret," however, isn't supposed to be a light musical. Rather, it's got a message, and a powerful one at that. The communication department's November production of the John Kander and Fed Ebb musical got the message across pointedly, and managed to have fun with the story's lighter side.

The closeness of the Studio Theatre and the brilliance of Joe Kongevick's multifunctional set only helped to draw the audience in as American writer Clifford Bradshaw (James Healy) falls in love with Sally Bowles (Connie Speer) and then proceeds to be disgusted by the fascism he sees rising even among his closest friends.

The show's master of ceremonies (Tom DeNolf) plays an omniscient role, gliding through the production to point out the subtler shades of what is ultimately not a very happy story.

DeNolf had the part down pat, getting less and less frivolous with his delivery as the darker sides of Ernst Ludwig (Jayson Phillips) and the hooker Fraulein Kost (Ava Graham-Spencer) begin the show.

The show revolves around the relationship between Bradshaw and Bowles, with the others adding a background that eventually becomes more important than any other love story.

Bradshaw wants to write a book and Sally isn't really sure what she wants to do. Mostly, she likes to go to parties and spend time with Cliff in their room in Fraulein Schneider's (Monika Yentzen) boarding house.

As Bradshaw, (Healy) delivers one of the show's better performances, holding up his end of the dialogue and action even when Speer didn't always pull through.

Mostly the character interaction was good, with Spencer and Phillips adding the appropriate amounts of frivolous sensuality and meance respectively. Spencer managed to steal every scene she was in. Phillips, from the start a shady character, emerged as a fervent Nazi promoter. His acting was superb during a fight scene in the Kit Kat club between himself and Bradshaw.

The most important element in "Cabaret" is the music, and it was good. Healy and DeNolf handled their musical parts well, and Phillips displayed a wonderful baritone in his brief singing role during "Tomorrow Belongs to Me," a beautiful song that was about the beauty of Nazism.

Right: "Cabaret" was taken from a book by Joe Masteroff, based on the play by John Van Druten and stories by Christopher Isherwood. Photo by Bruce Davis.

Left: Sally Bowles (Connie Speer) gives a performance for "Cabaret" audience. Photo by Bruce Davis. Below: The chorus line. Photo by Bruce Davis.

'Cabaret'

"Cabaret" isn't an easy show to do, especially in the limited confines of the Studio Theatre. Working with only partial sets and a wonderful four-piece band that was the show's most consistent aspect, the troops did a credible job. The show had some notable lapses and the choreography wasn't terribly good, but it was nevertheless an enjoyable production.

And what's more, it made its point with stunning impact. — Jon Weist

Above right: Behind the scenes. Photo by Bruce Davis. Right: Choreography was by Persis Womble, Jackie Troup Miller and Buddy Harris. Photo by Don Corzine.

Left: Glamour and gloss dominant in satire. Photo by Bruce Davis. Below: Bowles and Bradshaw (James Healy) face one another seriously in a personal confrontation. Photo by Bruce Davis.

Right: Lisa Greene joins the frivolity during the February performance of "The Physician in Spite of Himself." Photo by Wade Gates. Below: The sun brings a new day to the Moliere production as the cast breaks for lunch. Photo by Wade Gates. Opposite Page: Lou Diamond Phillips drops a line while attempting to seduce Yolanda Huerta. Photo by Wade Gates.

Director adds 'absurd' look to 'Physician'

From the look of the set, the "Magical Mystery Tour" bus had made a stop at the Studio Theatre and dropped off its more flaky occupants.

A magical show was exactly what the cast of "The Physician in Spite of Himself" delivered opening night in February. Director Jac Alder gave a 300-year-old French farce the sound and flurry of a Timothy Leary bender, making "Physician" the most imaginative communication department production of the year.

Even taking a seat proved a weird experience. The cast, wearing clown makeup and Goodwill costumes, hung from the orange scaffolding which composed the entire set. Synthesizer recordings of "Hey Jude" and "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band" buzzed in the background as actress Kati Porter demanded that spectators hand her their programs, which she proceeded to color in crayons.

This was just an appetizer in a feast for the eyes and ears. A whistle called the players to their positions, beginning a nonstop performance in which the actors never left the audience's amazed gaze. Rather than stepping off after their lines were delivered, members of the troupe leapt on the scaffolding, chipping in cheers and laughs for their fellow performers.

With this whirlpool of insanity filling the stage, the audience sometimes had trouble keeping up with the speed-of-light dialogue provided by Alder's adaption of the Moliere play.

The main character, a woodsman named Sganarelle (Lou Diamond Phillips), gets into a row with his wife Martine (Porter) about whether she was a virgin at the time of their wedding. "I was chaste," she insists.

"You were chaste, but I was caught," Sganarelle shoots back. Puns like this are delivered so quickly and so well that one must grin even if the natural reaction is a groan.

Phillips' portrayal of Sganarelle, a con man who gets himself passed off as a doctor, charges the show with a Groucho Marx energy. His scenes with wet nurse Jacqueline (Yolanda Huerta) and his confrontation with Martine at the beginning of act one, in which he slips into a hilarious Muhammad Ali impersonation, make the show foolproof.

In fact, the performance was remarkably free of missed lines or out-of-place reactions, given the difficult script and bizzare staging. The casting was nearly perfect and the actors gelled so well one got the impression of a well-practiced improv group.

The best thing about "Physician" was that risks were taken and no one was afraid to look silly. At one point Lucas (Don Mahand) says that his search for a doctor to cure his master's mute daughter has been fruitless. Naturally, the audience gets pelted with fruit. That this scene carries off is a credit to the entire production.

The funniest part of the play may have been the intermission, when cast members sold drinks and popcorn as Michael Hasty leveled jokes at the audience like, "Why did the punk rocker cross the street? Because he was stapled to the chicken." Not a single chance for a laugh was missed.

Alder's theater of the absurd allowed for audience participation at the maximum. With such free format, something creative was bound to happen. What happened was a mystery tour, and everyone on board seemed to enjoy the trip. — Michael Phillips

'Teahouse' brilliant as closing production

We learn in astronomy that the moon doesn't change much from month to month no matter what we think we see. So, why would the August moon be any different from the others?

Well, it isn't really, but ancient customs have made it sound like it should be. And, in the communication department's late April production of "Teahouse of the August Moon," the moon indeed seemed to be different.

John Patrick's play exposed the folly of the American occupation forces in Okinawa trying to force customs and values on the natives after World War II. In what is essentially a traditional morality play with a bit of a twist, the Americans learn that, despite their regulations outlining every step, the red, white and blue doesn't always have the answers.

Captain Fisby (Marc Dunkelberg) is ordered to the village of Tobiki to instruct the natives on democracy and teach them the American way of life. Since Fisby doesn't speak Japanese, he inherits the interpreter Sakini (Lou Phillips) from Colonel Purdy (Jason Phillips). As one might expect, the interpreter gets everything he wants because he knows the people and their customs. This knowledge becomes indispensable to Fisby when he's ordered to make the village productive by raising crops. By teaching the people agricultural skills and the majority-rule system, the Americans hope to overcome the centuries of tradition that have made the Japanese women geisha girls and the men slow-moving philosophers.

The conflicts in Patrick's play are direct, the old versus the new, one culture versus another culture. But, with Dunkelberg as the amiable Fisby, a toned down, more bumbling version of "M*A*S*H's" Colonel Henry Blake, we're given the perfect character in which to watch the two value systems synthesize.

Fisby's acceptance of the Japanese ways, and his realization that the Americans in charge of the occupation are narrowminded fools who don't understand that their system won't work everywhere eventually bring him into direct conflict with the high command. When he takes the building materials sent to make a school and instead builds a teahouse, in which the poor villagers can feel proud, Purdy orders it torn down and Fisby dismissed as Tobiki's commandant.

As Colonel Purdy, Jason Phillips tried too hard to convince the audience that he was a Texan. He was more of a caricature than a character, and his overblown accent colored every scene. Nevertheless, he solidly represented the black side of this black and white tale, carrying out orders without giving their impact on the villagers a thought.

Dunkelberg's White Knight interpretation of Fisby was, by contrast, strikingly effective. He was so laid back one wonders if he was even aware of what was going on around him. But his acceptance into Japanese culture was total, facilitated mostly by his interpreter, Sakini. It was Sakini, after all, who explained why the villagers do the things they do and hits upon the eventual source of the town's revenue.

As Sakini, Lou Phillips stole the show. He was a jovial, flippant servant who, by knowing when to push and when to back off, became more of a master than Fisby. But, Phillips also knew how to appear distracted, and when the Army ordered the teahouse torn down, Phillips was a saddened, depressed man who knew he couldn't take on the whole U.S. Army.

Director Charles Proctor's supporting cast performed admirably in "Teahouse," taking on the role of villagers quite well. Their Japanese was at least passable, and their stage movements suggested ensemble acting at its best.

Joe Kongevick's set may have been his best, especially the teahouse. With a stream running beside the building, the set suggested splendor while showing simplicity.

As the communication department's closing production of the school year, "Teahouse of the August Moon" shined as bright as anyone could possibly have hoped for. — Jon Weist defended the PLO's actions as "fighting for freedom," and the right to their homeland.

Opposite page: A rather ticklish situation for Captain Fisby (Marc Dunkelberg) in "Teahouse of the August Moon." Photo by Craig Fujii. Left: Sergeant Gregovich appears out of control as he is wheeled away. Photo by Craig Fujii. Below: Two wrestlers meet for battle while the village looks on. Photo by Craig Fujii.

<section-header><text><text>

"Palestine existed before the Hebrews," he said. "We were there and lived with them in peace for 200 years. We existed and shall exist forever."

Ayyad listed PLO gains in the United Nations, including an observer and 250 resolutions adopted in their favor — the most important being number 3236 - recognizing the Palestinians' right to use any means necessary to recover their autonomy. - Janet Neff, Shorthorn writer

Photo by Ben Hatch.

House majority leader attacks media flack

Ignoring the upcoming election, House Majority Leader Jim Wright said a "few kind words" about Congress before a political science class and overflow crowd in mid-October.

Wright said the words were necessary to offset the media attitude that "the only kind of news is bad news."

"We do commit errors and we do have some problems," he said, but people should not let the press "paralyze our faith or blind us to some of the good things in this country."

Though the public is well-informed by the press on issues like Abscam and Watergate, he said, they are kept in the dark on Congress' good points.

Though the 25-year Congress veteran admits that it is not "an undiluted collection of saints," he said, "if I didn't think it (Congress) was a worthwhile institution, I would not want to be a part of it."

The presidency, "the most awesome, oppressive office on earth," also got Wright's sympathy. "I feel sorry for anyone who is president of the United States," he said.

"I don't want to be president," he added. "Not that there's any groundswell goading me to be president."

The press makes the presidents look bad, he said. It "had us believing that Gerald Ford was a stumble bum, when he really was very athletic."

President Carter is made to seem indecisive, he said, and "I have seen him make hard decisions."

Carter did a "historic first" in Mexico, said Wright, when he addressed all members of the Mexican government and a television audience in "very acceptable Spanish."

"The Mexicans loved it," he said, "but how many of you knew about it?" Wright seemed surprised when a sixth of the audience raised their hands.

The press, he said, was busy playing up the "unfortunate phase" Carter used in a toast. "I think he's a decent man, an intelligent man doing the best he can," Wright said.

Wright smoothly handled audience questions, including one from a strident Middle Eastern man questioning the United States' attitude toward the Iraq-Iran conflict.

The man asked Wright why the United States was encouraging other countries to attack Iran.

Denying that the United States was promoting attacks, Wright said: "You are a visitor in our country and we are happy to have you here. I hope you appreciate the opportunity of being in our country where you have the right to give an opinion with no one attacking you." — Karen Rayl, Shorthorn writer

Photo by Donna Bagby.

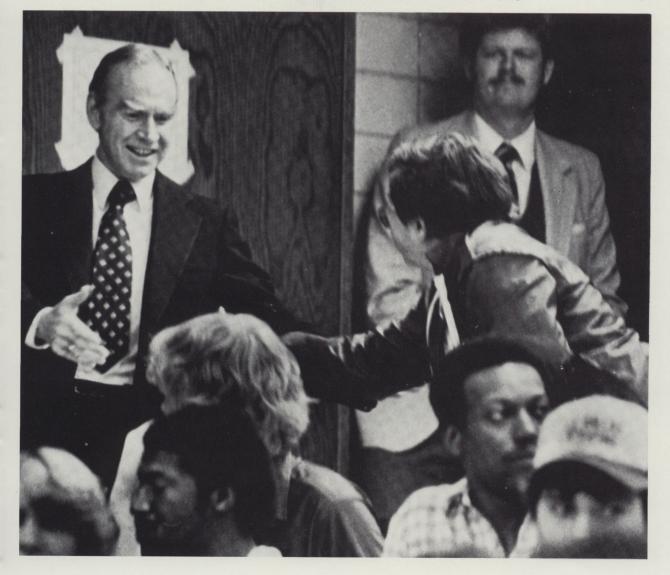

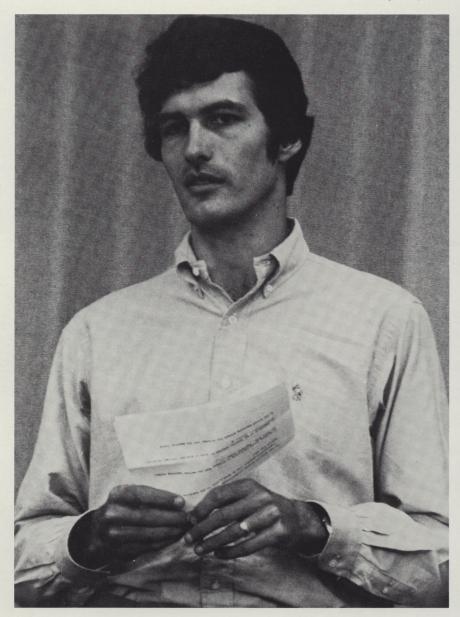

Photo by Craig Fujii.

Journalist dons cloak, uncovers art thieves

Hobnobbing with some of the biggest art thieves and drug smugglers of Europe, Texas Monthly associate editor John Bloom had a real life cloak and dagger adventure. Bloom told his tale of brushes with customs agents and Mafia hit men to reporting students in an address in mid-September.

Bloom undertook his assignment when contacted by Barry Wilson, a front man for laundered money and stolen goods, who wanted to tell his story to the world. Bloom went undercover with Wilson, posing as a rich Texan interested in buying stolen art.

The identity of Bloom and the U.S. intelligence agent assigned to protect him were discovered by the mobsters. A cat and mouse chase ensued, with the intelligence officer coming within seconds of being killed. Bloom's adventures became the cover story for the September issue of Texas Monthly. His contact, Wilson, has gone into hiding. Commenting on the ex-con, who almost shot himself and the intelligence officer when he thought his life story wouldn't make it to the presses, Bloom said, "he is the nervous type." — Jon Weist

Exiled Ginzburg still fighting for freedom

Life in the Soviet Union is hard. It's a place where freedom is a precious commodity, and the price many Soviets pay to get a little more of it is, paradoxically, the loss of freedom altogether.

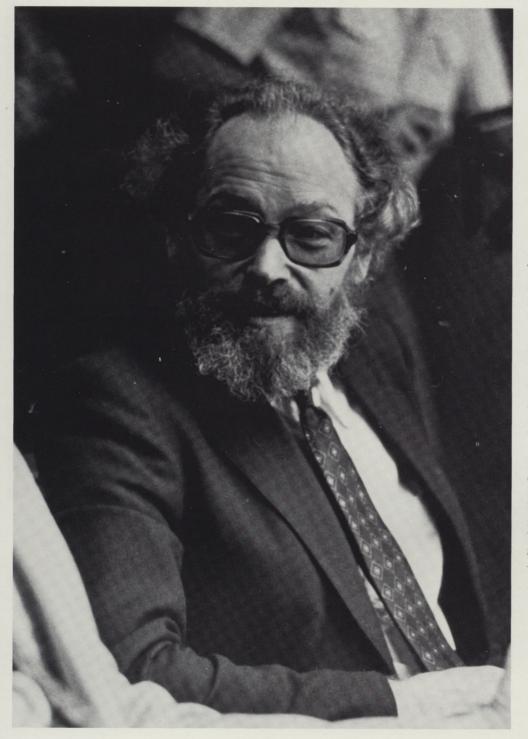

Alexander Ginzburg, a Soviet dissident journalist, has paid the price for freedom many times.

The exiled Ginzburg spoke to a sparsely filled Texas Hall in early October, and said that if he focused on the number of human rights in the Soviet Union, it would be the shortest speech on record.

"Human rights don't exist in the Soviet Union, which has suffered through 40 years of a Cambodia-style terrorism." That terrorism, Ginzburg said, cost the Russian people 66 million lives.

Ginzburg chronicled his own activities in the Russia's human rights movement, and said his story began in the late 1950s when he started publication of "Syntax," a poetry journal. The magazine was pecked out on a typewriter and carbons distributed to other dissidents who repeated the process until there were hundreds of copies in circulation.

The journal was an uncensored collection of poetry by various authors. Three issues of "Syntax" were published during a period of four months before the government arrested Ginzburg and closed the operation. Ginzburg spent the next two years in a labor camp and subsequently became the catalyst of a Soviet free-speech movement.

Upon his release, Ginzburg worked as a sewer cleaner but remained an activist. Not until after he got his hands on the court transcripts of the trial of dissident writers Andrei Sinyavsky and Yuli Daniel was Ginzburg again thrust into the maelstrom of the Soviet human rights struggle.

Ginzburg wrote a book based on those transcripts and with its publication in the West under the name "White Book," he was arrested for a second time. Released in 1972, after five years imprisonment, he was exiled to Taursa, a city some 65 miles south of Moscow.

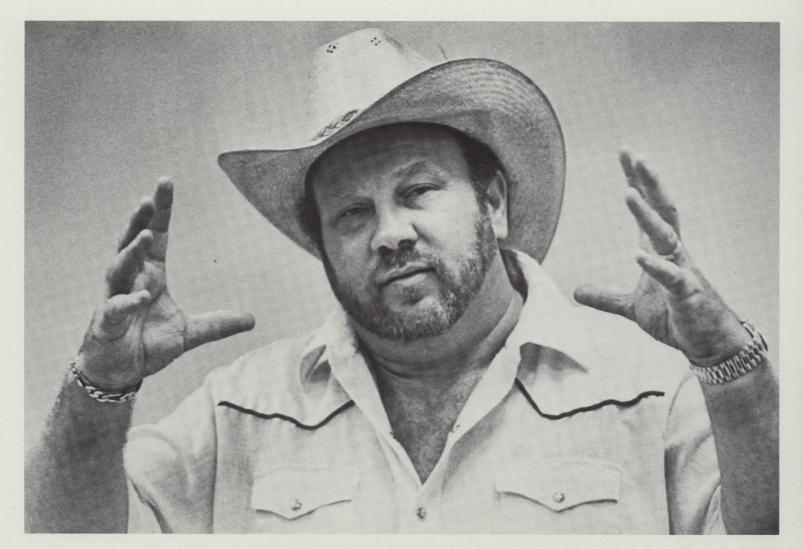

There he met Alexander Solzhenitsyn. The two men founded the Russian Social Fund in an effort to restore human rights in the U.S.S.R. Ginzburg said, "We formed the fund to aid political prisoners and to remind our people about kindness." Kindness was a gesture not often seen in communist Russia, Ginzburg implied, saying, the Russian people "have behaved like animals" during the Soviet reign.

Soviet authorities kept a watchful eye on Ginzburg and finally arrested him again in February, 1977 after he helped establish the Moscow Helsinki Watch Group. The group, formed in 1976, monitored Russian compliance with the human rights provisions of the Helsinki Accords signed by the Soviet Union the year before.

Ginzburg's last time in prison, he said, gained the attention of Amnesty International, The International League of Human Rights and the Alexander Ginzburg Defense Committee. He was released and allowed to leave the Soviet Union with four other dissidents in a trade for two convicted Soviet spies in the United States.

Although Ginzburg has suffered many hardships, he has finally gained the freedom he sought for so many years, but he has not abandoned the people he left behind. Ginzburg contributes his time and money to the Soviet civil rights cause. "There's never been a greater interest among my people in human rights" he said. — Dick Collier

Photo by Marc Wallis.

Rocking boats doesn't rock Bucky's boat

Always-controversial sports agent Bucky Woy visited UTA in September leveling verbal blasts at everyone from other agents to the sacrosanct Dallas Cowboys.

Woy, who represents, among others, Bob Horner, Joe Greene, Jack Lambert, Efren Herrera and UTA ex Derrick Jensen, is known as one of sport's toughest negotiators but says he doesn't go looking for trouble.

"I don't start the problems," he said. "I inherit the problems."

He ripped fellow agents for actions he says probably cost him money — signing college players before their eligibility was up.

"I'm not the type to sacrifice my principles," he said. "There's players driving around in Lincoln Continentals and living in $1,000-a-month apartments. Where do you think they're getting that? The alumni's not paying for it. The agents are."

Woy's celebrated run-in with the Cowboys stemmed from Herrera's contract negotiations. He and the all-pro kicker wanted to up the pact from $32,000 to the $85,000-100,000 range. Herrera eventually wound up with the Seattle Seahawks when the Cowboys refused to budge in the negotiations. Dallas General Manager Tex Schramm later said he wouldn't "touch Woy with a ten-foot pole."

"They didn't like anybody coming in and rocking the boat, and I'm rocking the hell out of that boat," Woy said. — Mike Hashimoto

Photo by Bruce Davis.

Aiming to form a 'common world culture'

Closing your eyes and letting your mind wander, you could have been in an Ivy League college auditorium.

A quiet feeling filled the room as Dr. O. B. Hardison addressed 200 students and faculty in late October.

Hardison is director of "the greatest collection of Shakespeare in the world," as he explained the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C. The collection, begun by oil executive Henry Clay Folger, is the second greatest in the world — second only to the British Library — in numbers of books printed in English.

Clean-shaven and tanned, Hardison spoke with an Englishman's stiff upper lip.

Hardison's visit coincided with the opening of "Shakespeare, the Globe and the World," a traveling Folger exhibit. The exhibit was in Dallas for three months at the Museum of Fine Arts.

Hardison talked on his role as director of the library, but he also reminisced about his teaching days in North Carolina. In his first graduate class was the man who introduced him to the filled auditorium in College Hall, Thomas Porter, UTA liberal arts dean.

Hardison was named one of 10 teachers of the year in 1965; he found his face on the cover of Time magazine. He said he was a winner by default, being the only possible choice to fit the qualifications not already met by the other nine teachers.

Shakespeare has now become Hardison's speciality, as much as it was Folger's. The library's founder "felt that Shakespeare's great use of the English language was a vital influence, whether in English-speaking countries or not, in what we would call today the concept of 'roots'," he said.

Hardison represents not only the library's past but also is the incarnate vision of what he wants the library to become.

"Culture is only meaningful as it is human, living in the present, working in the current culture," he said. Because of these beliefs, Hardison wishes to create "a common world culture," which is made possible by growing communication methods.

"There are many diverse uses of Shakespeare. Freud made the connections between Hamlet and his Oedipal complex, so Shakespeare and psychoanalysis are brought together by Freud," he added. A detective story emerged from a researcher's investigations at the library, uncovering the truth of the third murder in "Macbeth."

"I had forgotten all about Marvin after I hadn't seen him in a couple of days," he said. "A few days later, a package arrived on my desk. I opened it and there was 'Bullets for "Macbeth" ' by Marvin Key."

The Folger collection covers the entire Renaissance period in England and continental Europe, but Shakespeare has become the major focus of the traveling exhibit.

What seems to be happening is a rediscovery of culture through Shakespeare, and as Hardison pointed out, it's not only a national, but a global, cultural awakening. — Eric Smith, Shorthorn writer

Photo by Donna Bagby.

Living in the present, looking to the future

Black poet Nikki Giovanni hasn't changed her revolutionary message of the '60's, just the words.

"The next revolution will have to be emotional," she said at a press conference prior to her February speech in Texas Hall. "We have to try getting along. It's not sufficient to deal with an us and them mentality."

Giovanni's main concerns, both in her speech and press conference, emphasized the future of mankind, not the difference between the races.

She said that mankind is greedy, selfcentered, and "an experiment that is not on key." For a brief period, between '54 and '72, a light shined she said. But she added that mankind's present self-centered attitude will go "to hell on a short stick."

"If we are not on earth for each other, those of us that call ourselves human," she said, "what is the purpose of human life? How can we justify human beings on earth after a million years if everybody comes down to 1981 still wearing sheets on their head like they discovered something new? That went out 100 years ago."

The mother of one son, the 37-year-old poet, now lives in the "illiterate neighborhood" of Lincoln Heights, Ohio.

Dressed in sweater and slacks, Giovanni was relaxed and confident.

Asked about the tonal change of her poetry, she said, "It is not that we changed. The country has caught up with us.

"It used to be a radical thing to say the FBI is spying on us. Now everybody knows that."

Many reviewers had called her new message "mellow." "We (writers) are not the best arbitrators of what is being said about us," she said. "I don't have to consider others' opinions."

She said if writers and other artists worried about what the press said, they would become like Richard Nixon. "Trying to control the press."

This brought up the topic of politics and the fact that her recent adult poetry book "Cotton Candy on a Rainy Day," 1978, isn't as political as the '60's poems. Her latest book of poetry, "Vacation Time," is for children.

There wasn't much to say about Carter, she said, and there probably won't be much to say about Reagan.

"I voted for the Reagan Administration and was delighted to see Carter got safely back to Plains.

"Four more years of Carter would have been four years too many."

Several black columnists have feared the black population would suffer under the Reagan Administration. Giovanni didn't think so.

"Look at the things that happened under Carter," she said, mentioning the race riots in Florida, North Carolina and the slayings of 17 black children in Atlanta, Ga. "Reagan will be no worse than the other 40 presidents."

In reference to the problem of black youth of today, Giovanni said, "Black kids are looking for the easy way. Books are the only way to the future."

Many of the youth between 17 and 27 are not living in the present and not looking toward the future, she said.

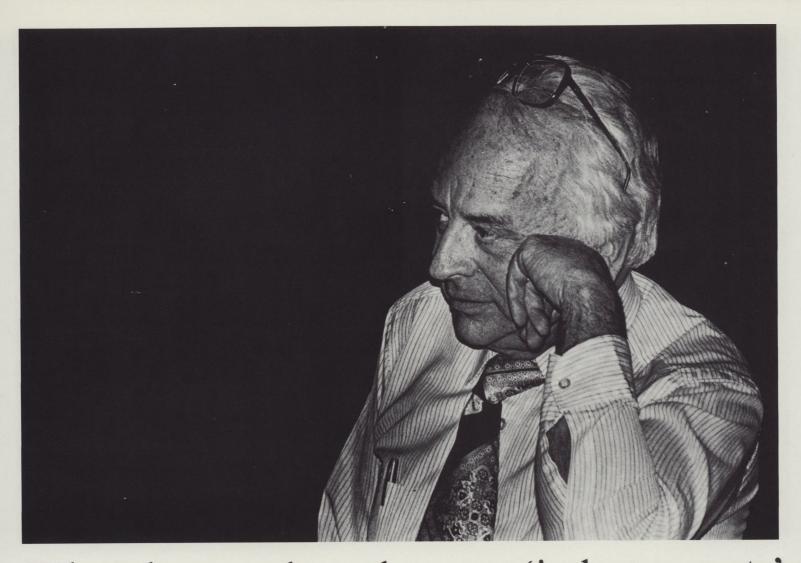

"Lack of education is the main problem," she said, citing Houston Rocket's Moses Malone, who has trouble "putting three words into a sentence."

She said such black athletes bring this on themselves by concentrating on athletics, not academics.

Challenging the claim that the black youth of today don't have a hero or idol to pattern themselves after, she said, "They don't have to have a role model."

"Leaders are easy to come up with," she said. The problem is getting the people. "They don't want to follow," she said.

As an afterthought, she said that she doesn't know of anyone "crazy enough to lead the black people." — Sharon Egiebor, Shorthorn writer.

When love and sex become 'indoor sports'

The end of monogamy. It's an idea that found an audience back in the mid to late '60's in a book called the "Harrad Experiment."

Robert Rimmer, the author, reiterated that idea and a few newer ones to about 200 people in the Fine Arts Theater here in March.

Rimmer sitting on the lip of the theater stage criticized today's sexual environment as being worse than in the '60s. He didn't find fault with permissiveness however, but in a lack of values. There is a difference between the two according to Rimmer.

Rimmer said sex has changed from an act of love to an "indoor sport." He attributes this to the change of priorities in America's youth. Priorities have shifted from the humanities to career goals, Rimmer said, and therein lies the problem.

"In today's society, sex and love are no longer synonymous," he said. "Today sex is for recreation. We need to recreate sex into something with feeling and beauty. If not, we will all go down the tubes." To support his claim that monogamy is a dying social norm, Rimmer pointed to the 50 percent divorce rate and the increasing number of single-parent families, in America.

The growth of technology and the expanding role of women will also play a part in changing the roles in monogamous marriages.

"Since most married women can now support themselves," Rimmer said, "they no longer feel it necessary to put up with the penis-power traditions of the past."

In light of these changing roles, the decline in stable marriages and the everincreasing cost of living Rimmer advocates group marriages.

Rimmer said he recommended a long courtship for such groups to help everyone establish a good mental rapport with each other. "The women must like the men and the men must like each other. We all want something more than marriage can give, we need something or someone we can play off against." Rimmer added this couldn't be done until people recognized each other as loving and decent people.

Rimmer shifted the subject to that of "vid-sex," a self-patented term for pornographic movies recorded on video discs and replayed in the home. Rimmer felt vid-sex — the subject of his next book — was inevitable, with society's obsession with sex and the growth of the video-recorder market.

Vid-sex would have its good points along with the bad, nowever.

Rimmer saw the vid-sex discs as possible ways of training both young and old in methods of contraception as well as exposing people to stories on loving sexual relationships. On the dark side Rimmer said that the discs could also offer violent and hateful sex which could damage society.

Censorship wasn't the answer here. Rather, he said loving sex should be "sacramentalized."

"It's a joyous communion between two people. After all, you can't go any farther," Rimmer said. — Dick Collier

Starvation beats swallowing this junk

If the movies of the last year had been and Bakshi's was by no means the dirtiest. food, fans everywhere would be suffering acute cases of malnutrition. It wasn't a lack of food so much as it was food poisoning — a big fat tuna with mercury all the way through it.

The few choice morsels - "Tess," "Ordinary People" - that managed to entertain without insulting seemed crowded to the side of the plate, overshadowed by the scrumptious-looking feat of chocolate-pie flicks such as "Stir Crazy" and "A Change of Seasons." Once you bit in, it was all whipped cream, no substance. The picture on the outside of the box was the most attractive feature.

The filling seemed to be missing from several of the most promising movies. Ralph Bakshi tried to create a musical "Everyman" in his animated "American Pop," but the mix wouldn't hold together. Bakshi took potentially rich ingredients and threw them together. Perhaps more importantly, he didn't convey a sense of what it's like to enjoy music, which his characters supposedly did. It's like writing "The Joy of Cooking" and spending the whole book complaining about cleaning the mess in the kitchen.

But Bakshi need not suffer alone. There were plenty of messy kitchens to go around,

The entire genre of horror films sunk to new lows with such garbage as "Happy Birthday to Me," "Terror Train" and "Friday the 13th, Part II" generally stinking up the place. Gone was the subtlety, humor and sensuality of the real scare flicks. Movie-makers seemed content to show senseless, graphic violence for two hours and then concoct a ridiculous scheme to have the killer bumped off in the most grisly fashion available. It's like the rarest of steaks without the flavor, nothing is left but the blood.

Horror fans weren't the only ones skipping meals. An almost complete dearth of palatable comedy films made the public accept Neil Simon's "Seems Like Old Times" as salvation. Simon's flick, and the return of Gene Wilder and Richard Pryor together in "Stir Crazy," typified the comedy fans were forced to swallow. Bland, totally lacking in even the smallest subtleties, both movies relied on gestures and slap-stick, television-situation-comedy material that might have been funny on the big screen five years ago.

Much better was the light, unassuming "Melvyn and Howard." A lyrical feast that skipped gracefully through the aspirations of middle-class, blue-collar America.

"Melvyn" succeeded by keeping a tight focus on real people and letting the laughs fall without prompting.

Although a few other movies hinted at humor, their servings were small and mixed with other spices that had to be swallowed concurrently with the laughs. Chief among this group was Woody Allen's "Stardust Memories."

"Memories" moved people all right, but not the way it was designed to. Allen took out years of frustration on his fans, and then turned the product over to them to accept. If the movie had been a restaurant, Allen's waiters would have been pouring water in people's laps and hitting them over the head with trays when they changed an order.

It's not that "Stardust Memories" wasn't funny, it had a depth of humor that surpassed many of Allen's previous successes. But it was all directed at unseen people, the fans and the critics, and one couldn't laugh unless he accepted the primal screaming along with it.

As bitter as "Stardust Memories" was, however, it was at least acceptable because Allen was dealing with something his fans could relate to.

Perhaps the most wretched comedy event

.. or how I survived the films of 1980-81

of the year was "Tribute."

A film starring Jack Lemmon as a dying Broadway press agent who tries to make up his past neglect to his son, "Tribute" knew no shadings at all. If it wasn't drowning in tears it was pouring on the sweetness. • Onions and sugar were the only ingredients used, and for it Lemmon received an Oscar nomination that probably wouldn've been better served going to Robert Duvall.

But the fans seemed to ignore the rotten parts of these dishes. Indeed, the fast food junk invariably made more money than the carefully prepared meals. Witness the success of the insipid "Flash Gordon" or the ridiculous "Any Which Way You Can." To even suggest that these movies had redeeming value is tantamount to treason. They were candy bars, 100 percent junk food. Yes folks, Clint Eastwood rots your teeth.

After tripe such as this, toothpaste sales must be going through the roof. The way people gobbled up the mindless fare, it's easy to see why finding seats for "The Great Santini" or "The Getting of Wisdom" was no problem.

There were, however, gourmet meals that were a bit too extravagant. Michael Cimino's "Heaven's Gate" opened for a week and was pulled because it was the worst movie the critics had ever seen. He re-cut it and released it in early March, but it was simply a smaller version of the same disaster.

The films that did make contact were, on the whole, small, intimate gatherings that didn't cost much to make and were, in there own quiet way, much more powerful because of their smaller scope than the epics.

Robert Redford's "Ordinary People," shot with a small but intense cast, turned out to be one of the best statements on relationships in middle-class America that anyone has ever made. It was certainly the best film of the past two or three years. Redford didn't try to grandiose moral implications or excessive production values. He kept his camera in close, and the audience was treated to a powerful display of interacting human emotions.

The year had notable successes. "Tess" marked Roman Polanski's film-making return, and "Inside Moves," although not consistent, made its point and established John Savage as a force to be reckoned with. "The Great Santini" took a long look at the family of a military man and showed us a side of army life we certainly weren't exposed to before.

The middle class took it on the chin again in Alan Alda's "The Four Seasons." Personality conflicts tried to mirror real life, but the film unfortunately degenerated into one endless argument before it finished — the main course was all right but dessert didn't quite take hold.

The only real gourmet treat so far was Nicholas Malle's "Atlantic City," a slowmoving, deceptively simple film starring Susan Sarandon looking as lucious as ever and Burt Lancaster in his best role in a decade. "Atlantic City's scope was considerable, but Malle told the whole story through two or three people and made it a joy to experience.

The year's menu was expensive. But, reading it from the right, it wasn't worth the trouble to prepare. Horror and comedy films took easy ways out, re-churning formula television ideas and covering everything in blood. The socially oriented films were lean.

With remarkably few exceptions — the Oscars this year included almost every film worth mentioning — the season produced a few blockbusters that didn't deserve the money, and a lot of bad teeth and stomach aches for the patrons. — Jon Weist

The Iceman (didn't) Cometh

Why they call it spring registration nobody knows. It happens during the winter, a time of ice storms, slush and general nastiness.

This year was different. Winter never really made it.

All we got were some light rains, short sleeves, a little outdoor excitement and tons of spring fever.

Maybe nobody's perfect, but, boy, this winter almost was.

Opposite page: Soaking up a summertime dream. Photo by Marian Massey. Left: "Sailing takes me away to where I always heard it could be." Photo by Craig Fujii. Below: The snow and ice that never came. Photo by Marc Wallis.

The Host

Story by

Photos by Craig Fujii and

ages

Dick Collier Dick Collier

For fourteen months Americans watched a media drama unfold upon their television screens and in their newspapers. Not since Vietnam had we been brought so vividly events affecting the country from halfway around the world.

The news media shaped our perception of Iran into one of a nation packed with old religious zealots and militant students.

Certainly somewhere out in video-Iran there had to be a rational person. But the cameras and news accounts showed us time and time again chanting hordes casting vulgarisms at America — at us, and into our very living rooms, yet.

Our emotions traveled along a sinewave. Behind every hill hid another valley. We grew tired. And we grew angry. Justifiably angry. In some cases righteously angry.

angry. What follows is a hostage history of important dates during the 14 month kidnapping of 52 Americans.

Feb. 11, 1979: Ayatollah Khomeini's forces take Iran.

Nov. 4: 400 student militants storm the US embassy in Teheran. Sixty three American diplomats and marines are taken hostage. (Ten would be later released by Iran.)

Nov. 10: President Carter orders deportation proceedings of Iranian students living illegally in US.

Nov. 14: Carter freezes Iranian assets within the US.

Nov. 29: Mexico says the Shah is no longer welcome to return after he left the country for surgery. Dec. 3: Khomeini is voted leader for life by a 60-1 margin.

Dec. 15: Shah flies to Panama.

Jan. 1, 1980: UN negotiator Kurt Waldheim arrives in Teheran to try and obtain the release of the hostages.

Jan. 28: Bani Sadr — who has argued for a quick release of the hostages — is elected president of Iran.

Mar. 23: Shah flies to Egypt for medical help and to escape possible extradition from Panama.

April 7: Diplomatic relations are severed with Iran.

April 24: USS Nimitz launches the illfated rescue attempt. Eight Americans die. US Secretary of State Cyrus Vance resigns in protest over the raid.

July 11: Richard Queen, a consular officer, is released and found to have multiple sclerosis.

July 27: The Shah dies of cancer in Cairo.

Sept. 22: Iranian-Iraqi war erupts.

Nov. 4: First anniversary of hostages' seizure. Reagan buries Carter in a landslide victory.

Jan. 18, 1981: US and Iran reach an agreement over the hostages' release.

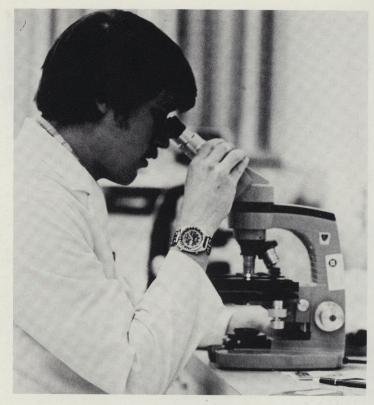

Jan. 20: Hostages leave Iran after 444 days in captivity.

Jan. 25: Former hostages arrive in US.

Postscript: Someone once said that they could forgive but never forget to which was remarked that forgiving without forgetting was like not forgiving.

Perhaps, in the light of the abuse and mistreatment suffered by the hostages, America should do neither. — Dick Collier

Above right: Mike Ponder, medical technologist, works in the lab. Photo by Marc Wallis. Right: Nurses Betty Parker and Ruth Clarkson discuss a patient's case. Photo by Marc Wallis.

New psychologist increases health services

The Health Center has grown in size and services since its first operating day. It used to be housed in a building near Lipscomb Hall which is now a parking lot. Fourteen years ago it was moved to the present site. There were two doctors who worked a twohour day when Lois Burchfiel came to work at the new building. "There was one office clerk and I was the second," she said.

The Health Center has four doctors, eight nurses, two lab technicians, a pharmacist and several office clerks today. Yearly they see about one-third of the student body and that percentage is increasing.

Dr. Neil Dishon is a "working physician." He is also the Health Center director. "There is a wide range of diseases treated here," Dishon said. "We even had a case of typhoid fever."

Dishon performs the center's minor surgery needs such as removing cysts or warts. X-rays, medication, lab work and immunizations are some services offered. Inpatient care is no longer available because the demand is insufficient.

"The beds were only full one time when we had a flu epidemic," said Ruth Clarkson, a veteran nurse. "Most nights we just sat by ourselves in this lonely building."

Another service offered is psychological counseling. Usually a university has one full-time psychologist for every 1000 students enrolled. As it is Dr. Gloria Price works 20 hours a week and has one intern who works three days a week. Next year the service will be expanded to full-time.

Price has long brown hair pulled off to one side with a barrette. The most striking feature about her, during the time of the interview, is that she is seven months pregnant. When you first meet her, you get a feeling of a very happy person and a friend who cares. Since she already has one child at home she likes this job for the hours. Price said this university is different from other universities that she has counseled in the sense that the students are so diversified in their ages and social situations.

"There is a wide variety of problems: sexual, insecurity, depression, marital, and parenthood," Price said. "My husband who is also a psychologist gets jealous beauase I get to counsel such a wide variety of cases." When she comes across a psychotic or schizophrenic case she refers it to a local psychologist.

Price is a doctor who is genuinely concerned for her patients. During holidays she will give her home phone number to patients who need it.

"My philosophy is that each individual is important as anyone else. Each person needs to be taken seriously and be happy."

The Health Center is more than another building on campus. It is a place of personal care and interest. A special type of relationship exists between the nurses and their patients.

"After being a mother and grandmother, you begin to know what type of care is needed besides medication. Sometimes a home remedy can solve the problem," said Nell Davis, head nurse.

"Faces are not forgotten by the doctors," Dishon said. "I may not be able to remember a name, but I remember the problem." — Carla Adams

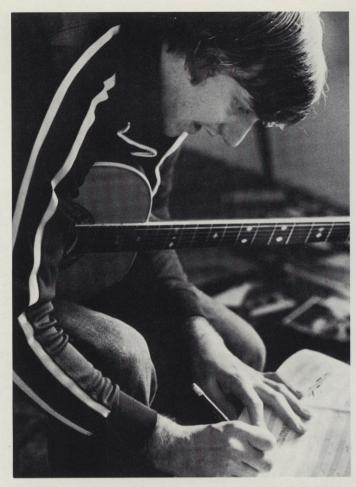

Above: Dr. Gloria Price. Photo by Marc Wallis.

Lifestyle of strumming sometimes gets lonely

John's life is lonely at times, sitting in his apartment listening to tapes of famous musicians over and over again, trying to reproduce the licks and runs they play. He is up late hours going over his theory and composition books, writing and rewriting music until it expresses his ideas and feelings.

John Eubanks is the guitar player for the UTA Jazz Orchestra. What you hear on stage and on their albums is the result of many hours of daily practice, long weeks of study and a lifestyle devoted to developing musical ability.

A native from Louisiana, John began playing guitar only one year before entering UTA. He has been studying music under the university's music staff and performing in one of the three jazz bands. In his spare time, John plays for various religious congregations and sits in with groups at local night spots. — Photos and story by Marc Wallis.

Dry Gulch bolsters ailing campus nightlife

At 4:30, the first rush of the day begins at the Gulch. The crowd orders beer and nachos, more beer and pizzas, more beer and sandwiches. Settled down in the television pit, the all-time favorite comes on — M*A*S*H.

This is the first crowd that makes up the ever-changing face of the Dry Gulch. Night students come in to have a quiet moment, friendly conversation and something to psyche them for an upcoming test or help them unwind after a test.

The space cadets and courageous astronauts sit in a darkened side room with a video screen glowing in front of them. Asteroids fly haphazardly through space. Aliens threaten to land and take over an imaginary world. The moon's surface waits to destroy an unsuspecting ship.

Over $3500 are spent in this room monthly. That's a large price to pay for adventure.

The Gulch sponsors country-western nights, rock and roll bands, punk rock, home-grown comedy, some nightclub acts, the UTA Jazz band and parties for every holiday that is reasonable to celebrate.

Country-western fans come in with boots, cowboy hats and leather belts ready to consume massive amounts of Coors and Lone Star beer. When Tanya Tucker sings, "When I die just let me go to Texas," she has a whole room singing with her. The Cotton-eyed Joe and a little two-stepping is the rhythm of the evening. When they have all left for the evening, the Gulch still rings with the echoes of Willie Nelson singing, "Momma, don't let your babies grow up to be cowboys."

The fans of punk rock are perhaps the most interesting and innovative of all the crowds that come to the Gulch. The guys wear silver jackets and dangling turquoise earrings, while the girls present tattooed shoulders, badly cut and bleached hair and daring compositions of makeup. They're great consumers of beer and strenuous dancers. Groups of people pogo on the floor, bouncing off each other and not really caring. One night an ambitious fellow slithered over the floor, the tables and the chairs like a snake. The band awarded him for his enthusiasm by pouring a pitcher of beer over him.

When the UTA Jazz band comes to the Gulch, a more cultured crowd accompanies them. It is not often that you are able to hear an internationally known band for free. Customers mellow with wine and music. They hear tales of emotions, places, and instruments competing for recognition. The evening starts with a bang and ends with a final encore that meets the approval of all.

The parties that are given at the Gulch are usually more entertaining than other parties. Halloween is a time when fantasies can be lived. A gypsy girl or a French cancan dancer serves beer while a gunslinger checks IDs at the door.

Even the manager comes dressed as a military man ready for a future war. Mummies dance with witches, vampires escort clowns. A Southern gentleman passes out money (fake, of course) to all the lovely girls telling them that their looks alone are worth a hundred bucks and — by the way, why don't they leave that slob they're with and join him for a drink?

Disco still rules the Gulch weekends. The Greeks arrive in their jerseys or alligator shirts. Dresses with slits flare up and show a leg to spectators. Guys stand around the dance area nursing a beer, inspecting the girls and trying to work up courage to ask for at least one dance. The girls sip wine coolers and grape malt ducks wondering when that guy who has been watching them for the past half hour will ask them to dance.

Sometimes it seems like it is one big game played by all but never won by any. One day they will all fade to the beat of a song that never ends in the flash of a mirrored ball. — Carla Adams

Left: David Abernathy matches wits with a hungry video game. Below: Lynx lead singer David Newell attracts the attention of dancer Lana Westover. All photos by Wade Gates.

Gulch manager keeps on serving beer. . .

Joe Brennan has been the manager of the Dry Gulch for three years. He had retired from the Navy and was ready to take a break, maybe continue his education. A friend told him of the position opening and he decided to send his resume for fun.

To his surprise he got the job.

Joe has owned or managed clubs for 15 years. He has associate degrees in food service management and dietetics. At the present time, he is working on his major in administrative dietetics.

As you enter the Dry Gulch, the blackboard has a newspaper article and picture of English associate professor Maurice Carlson picketing. Across the picture is the phrase "The Noisy Minority" and below it is a note: "This man wants to close up your Gulch. He has 90% of the students' support."

"I've never met Carlson and he has never come down here," Brennan said. "He doesn't bother me in the least. What does bother me is when people force their opinion on others. That is how wars have started since the Roman Empire."

"I tell you what. A lot of places will close up at other universities before this one will."

One of the reasons that Joe enjoys working for the Gulch is the employees. He just can't say enough about them. "I must be a helluva guy because I've hired some swell people."

Still the employees need a gentle reminder of rules and procedures. On the cooler in the backroom is one of those reminders:

> This cooler ain't an outhouse so keep the damn thing clean. Love, Joe

"That sign was meant from truck drivers to college students. I clean the cooler up and the next day it looks like the crapper. So in order to get their attention I have to say keep it clean or I will break thy neck."

The Gulch's business has increased every year and probably will continue increasing. Every year they have a 1000 potential new customers.

Joe feels that the Gulch should be an experience for the students where they learn about the effects of abusing alcohol. Among peers and colleagues is the best place where the conversation is more education-oriented.

"We've had a few incidents with drunks but nothing unusual. Peer pressure helps keep students in line. Friends tend to keep an eye on each other."

Some nights Joe will stand in front of the office with a drink in his hand and watch the people. He keeps an eye on the customers and employees.

"People say I never smile, but I'm always smiling inside." About this time he looked up and smiled.

"There's a friend of mine from Hawaii. I have to go kiss her on the ear," he said and off he went. — Carla Adams

Photo by Wade Gates

While prof takes it to the state legislature

"Dry Dry Gulch sought" "Carlson declares war on beer, wine" — Shorthorn headline, Nov. 14, 1980 "O judgement, thou art fled to brutish beasts, And men have lost their reason! Bear with me, My heart is in the basement

there in the Gulch,

And I must stop till it come back to me." — Glenn E. Martin, English graduate teaching assistant. Shorthorn letters, Dec. 5, 1980

The war began quietly around Nov. 14 when English associate professor Maurice Carlson decided it was time to dry gulch the Dry Gulch. Carlson, who believes books and beer don't mix, inaugurated a solitary protest outside the campus bar in 40 degree weather. Clad in a hat, overcoat and gloves he delivered his message to the student body with the help of a handmade protest sign: "Boycott the Dry Gulch."

Carlson's motivation stemmed from a Gulch memorandum recommending student-teacher conferences in the pub, and a Shorthorn story detailing the status of hard liquor on campus.

The lonely protest resulted in a Shorthorn letters to the editor skirmish. While pro-Gulch sympathizers won victories in creativity and imagination, Carlson was winning the media war.

By December, Carlson's crusade was picked up by the UPI and calls expressing support from as far away as London, England reinforced Carlson in his drive, however quixotic, to close the bar. Letters from across the country including one from a University of Arizona system regent sent words of congratulations.

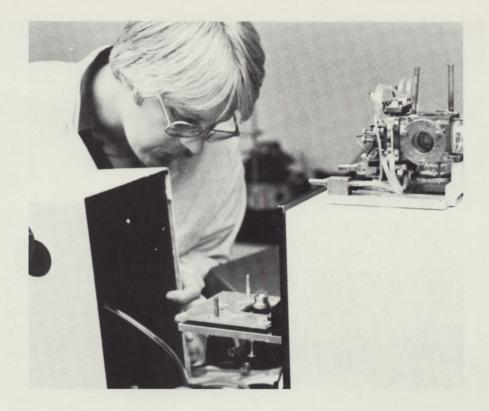

As the spring semester began, Carlson changed his strategy. Seeking the aid of State Rep. Bill Ceverha, District 33-P, Carlson planned to have the representative introduce a bill which would prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages on campus during class times — anytime before 10 p.m.

As things grew curiouser and curiouser, Carlson, dressed in black graduation cap and gown and armed with more homemade anti-Gulch signs, protested for the cameras of Channel 5 Action News.

Pro-Gulch forces — in the guise of the Dry Heave Hefting Association, the campus drinking club — met days later in emergency meetings to decide how to handle Carlson's drive to dry the Gulch.

They decided to forget. — Dick Collier

Photo by Wade Gates.

Sciences advance despite construction woe

With science advancements reaching God-like tendencies, the Science building built in 1949 was becoming mortally dangerous; a faulty ventilation system, malfunctioning fume hoods and poor fire detection system were only part of the problem.

The ventilation system was pressurizing classrooms instead of hallways. New motors needed to be bought, fans replaced and the ducts cleaned.

Out of 58 fume hoods, 50 hoods did not meet up to safety standards. New motors needed to be bought, fans replaced and the ducts cleaned.

Emergency lights didn't exist in the basement. Better fire and burglar detection was necessary along with a complete sprinkler system.

Reconstruction was a necessity.

The trouble areas were taken care of with $3.7 million of funding.

During all this remodeling, students still attended classes. The basic chemistry lab experiements were conducted by lab assistants instead of students. Science majors could become involved with a research project under a faculty member. One student who worked with Andrew Ternay on the fourth floor had to postpone an experiment because of lack of water pressure; it was all being used by organic chemistry students on the third floor.

Interruptions were common.

Some classes were canceled for painting or reconstruction work. Benny Ferro's physics class was delayed for 15 minutes because of a jackhammer being used. "The teacher was talking away, but no one could hear him," he said.

The light fades . . .

In the basement, a green glow diffuses over Hutch as he adjusts the lens of a cow's eye. The light sparkles in Star Trek fashion. Molecule by molecule, he seems to be disappearing.

Ramanspectroscopy is a light-scattering effect using lasers much like what makes the sky blue. Under the physics department, George "Hutch" Hutchinson and his lab assistant, Don Larson, have been working on the project since August 1980. It is funded by a grant from the National Institute of Health.

Hutch hopes to verify the work of Ron Schachar, an ophthalmologist, in the energy quantification of differences in spectra of cows' lens. Through the comparison of two spectrographs, one of a normal lens, the other of a cataractous lens, the mechanism of cataracts hopes to be discovered and maybe provide a prevention.

"Most people are bewildered by physics and the laser lab because they don't understand it," said Hutch. A magician's lab seems to exist at times with tables that automatically readjust by air, holographs floating in space, and a tremendous laser piercing through metal.

The construction of the Science building has caused some problems. "Research goes on in the midst of crisis." Hutch laughs, "But we have to be very careful." The Ramanspectrograph's optics can be ruined by a spoonful of dust.

A tiny speck of dust begins to glow ....

"Twinkle, twinkle little star. How I wonder where you are?"

The stars shine in UTA's new planetarium now. Just have a seat and see a dirty night in Arlington or a country evening.

Too tame? How about fireballs and meteor showers instead? Ten years of star paths can be compressed into 30 minutes.

Renovation of a one-time cattle show barn, then lecture hall to planetarium costs approximately $225,000. The Spitz 512 projector costs $85,000 alone. It is able to project up to 2,354 stars.

Ulrich Hermann, physics professor, runs the console that contains all the special effects. A learning device that allows constellations to be pointed out and allows the sun's path to be tracked is still not the real thing.

"We point out the constellations here," Hermann said, "but you have to be outside at Veteran's Park to learn the constellations."

"Up above the world so high, like a diamond in the sky." — Carla Adams

Opposite page: George "Hutch" Hutchinson works with a ramanspectroscopy, utilizing lasers for optical research. Photo by Don Corzine. Above: Physics Professor Ulrich Herrmann, and Physics Associate Professor B. C. Thompson in front of recently acquired planetarium projector. Photo by Bruce Davis.

Above: Ms. Black UTA of 1981 — Vanessa Robinson. Photo by Craig Fujii. Cynthia Brown, a runnerup in the pageant. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Black History Month sets record straight

Billing it as Black History Month but focusing on the present and future, the university set aside February to honor a culture long ignored by those who've chronicled the nation's past.

Together with all other campus organizations, the Black Student Organization booked events ranging from a gospel music festival to speeches by a black newscaster, from a one-time revolutionary poet to a Tarrant County Municipal Court Judge.

Initiating the activities with a speech entitled "Striving to Keep the Dream Alive," assistant professor of history Thavalia Johnson said that black culture should be studied more deeply. Past historians have been too condescending with the culture.

"Black history as an academic study is still in its infancy," Johnson said. "Myths were created because the first (American) historians wrote about blacks from a racist or paternalistic point of view."

Johnson dismissed the argument that blacks were illiterate and left no sources. She said historians either failed to dig deep enough or overtly ommitted any facts they might have uncovered.

Concentrating on the present, a Fort Worth judge injected a political message.

"Supporting President Reagan's (economic) programs would be asinine," said Judge Mary Ellen Hicks. She said the proposed funding curtailments of social programs initiated during the 1960s demonstrates the administration's ignorance of blacks' problems.

Rekindling memories of the civil rights struggles two decades ago, poet Nikki Giovanni lashed out at current self-centered attitudes and resurgence of hate groups like the Ku Klux Klan. "If we are not on earth for each other," she asked, "what is the purpose of human life? How can we justify human beings on earth after a million years if everybody comes down to 1981 still wearing sheets on their heads like they found something new. That went out 100 years ago."

The poet, according to some, defied her past revolutionary activism by voting for Reagan in the last election. She defended her position saying the country had changed over the years as well. It's time to emphasize the future of the mankind, she said, not the differences between the races.

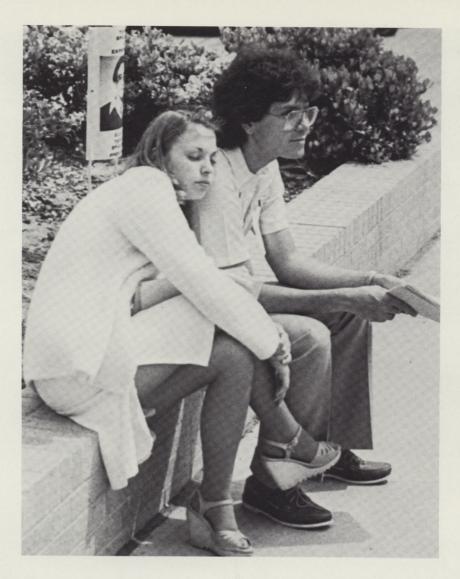

Capping off the month, senior Vanessa Robinson won the Miss Black UTA pageant. Cynthia Brown was runner-up in a five candidate field. Robinson's victory earned her a $300 scholarship to be divided into two semesters. — John Moritz, Shorthorn Writer

Opposite page: Pam Moore, Channel 5 anchorwoman, one of the many speakers during Black History Month. Photo by Craig Fujii. Above: The United Voices of Inspiration from Texas Wesleyan College sing at the Collegiate Gospel Choir Music Festival, part of Black History Month. Photo by Craig Fujii. Left: Soloist at the Gospel Choir Festival in Texas Hall. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Sun heats, Dry Gulch cools SC elections

Almost as soon as the sun peeked over University Center, the young politicos armed with signs, handbills and balloons — gathered in the mall to hawk votes in a carnival atmosphere.

Not until 40 hours later would election officials announce that Jodee Sharp gained the Student Congress presidency by 215 votes. But the early part of election dayone was marked by ebullient optimism. Candidates and well-wishers donned their best duds and laid in wait for the passing students.

"Hi, have you voted yet?" they asked, thrusting pamphlets toward potential supporters.

Some took the literature. Others, annoyed or amused, walked on. Still, the electioneering continued undaunted. One hopeful hired a golfcart to circle the mall. Another issued coupons good for free beer at a downtown pub. Lacking a soapbox, one more mounted a bench to extol his virtues.

After voting, students received stickers to prove their participation. Those not wishing the franchise, but having business in UC, borrowed tags to escape the everstumping polls. Others viewed the ritual from windows in nearby buildings.

Day-one progressed and the temperature topped 80. Hairdos wilted and pamphlets became modified fans. A Ms. UTA aspirant jettisoned her shoes.

Still, the perspiring flesh-pressing remained at full throttle until the evening and the process was repeated the following day.

With 30 minutes left in the second and the last day of voting, most of the officeseekers planted their placards near the trees and retreated to their homes or the Dry Gulch to wait for results. It was dark and few people passed the area.

The presidential hopefuls — Sharp and Terry Bridges — kept up their vigils outside the Gulch. Both were within talking distance to one another though neither stood still. With rubbery legs, they looked like partnerless marathon dancers, each determined to wait out the other.

"Your enthusiasm is inspiring," said a passerby to no particular candidate.

The encouragement apparently sent a surge of adrenalin through Bridge's legs. He stepped lively to a man and performed a three-part handshake — first clasping the thumb, then the palm and finally the fingertips.

"Have you voted?"

The fellow nodded.

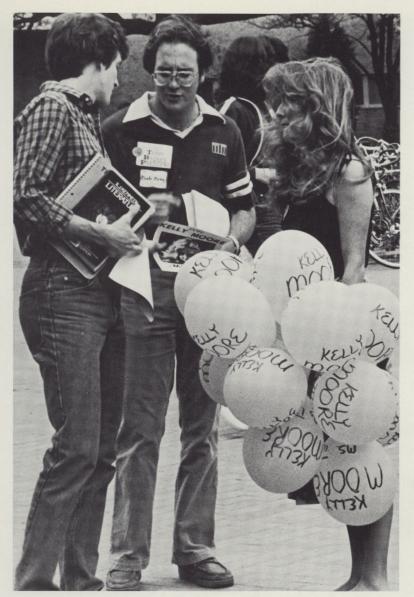

Sharp had better luck crossing the path of an engineering graduate student heading for a beer. The candidate listed her qualifications and pointed the gentleman toward the polls.

The persistence paid off.

Near 11 p.m. word hit the Gulch that the results were in. The candidates and the curious bounded the saloon's steps and gathered outside the UC.

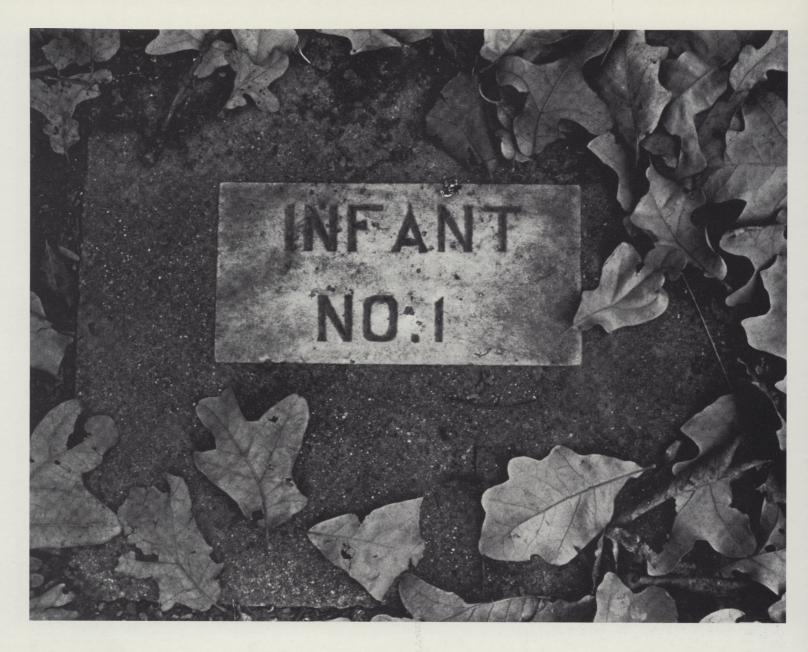

"I can't believe it. Look at me, I'm shaking," Sharp said when election officials announced the tallies. Later she expressed surprise at the margin. "I really thought it would have been a lot closer, maybe 10 votes one way or the other deciding the winner. I didn't leave the polls for one minute. I thought I'd need every vote I could get."

Bridges, too, misjudged the final numbers. "I'm disappointed," he said. "I wouldn't have minded losing if the results were a little closer. But sometimes it hurts more to lose a close election." — John Moritz, Shorthorn writer

Opposite page: Pascale Bollenberg, science representative, and Mike Chavez, Student Congress secretary, relax after two days of hard campaigning. Photo by Marc Wallis. Left: A prospective voter discusses the election with Terry Bridges and Kelly Moore. Photo by Wade Gates. Below: Posters spotted the grounds around the University Center, while Romeo Perez talks with a student. Photo by Wade Gates.

Memories of past still present at Berachah

No one comes here to place flowers on a grave; there are no mourners for these dead.

Here there are only enigmas. Seventyeight flat stone markers are the last remnants of hopeless lives which, in their day, some felt were better forgotten than remembered.

The cemetery is all that remains of the Berachah Industrial Home for the Redemption of Erring Girls, which closed in 1935. Surrounded by a cyclone fence, the plot hides away from the world in a secluded corner of Doug Russell Park, on the campus' southern end.

The graveyard's only visitors nowadays are the occasional passersby who stumble upon it, a few curious children and the vandals who ravage the tombstones and leave the area littered with beer cans and trash.

The Berachah cemetery was dedicated in March with a Texas Historial Society marker, the culmination of two years' work by architecture associate professor Gene Brooks and graduate students Lynn Manion and Jan Dolph.

Brooks and his students researched the Berachah home and compiled its history. They sent the information to the Tarrant County Historial Commission where it was considered and forwarded to the state commission.

The dedication not only recognized the home's importance in Arlington's history, but was an attempt to draw public attention to the cemetery.

The cemetery sits on a site once called Rescue Hill. It was there in 1903 that Rev. J. T. Upchurch opened the home. The property was eventually sold to the Christian Missionary Alliance after the home closed. In 1963 the UT system purchased the land after the legislature authorized an expansion of the school's boundaries.

The last structure of the Berachah home, the main building, was demolished 10 years ago when Doug Russell park was established.

The Berachah cemetery is all that remains of Upchurch's efforts. Not even the gravestones tell much of a story. They bear only one name — "Elsie," or "Laur Mae." Some stones are devoid of even a name, reading simply "Baby," "Infant No. 1" or "Twins No. 6."

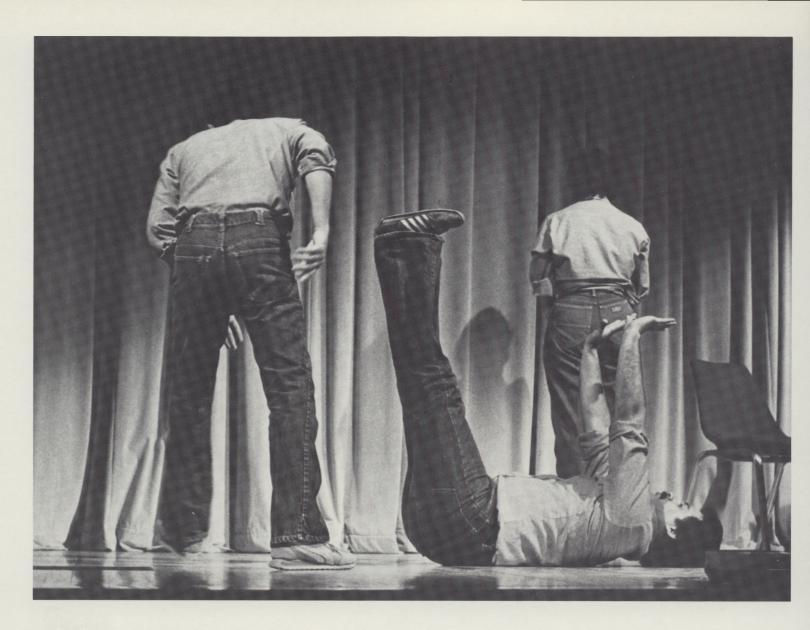

The historical marker was dedicated, fittingly enough, on a rainy day. Bennett Smith, a former chairman of the Tarrant County Historical Commission and Brooks unveiled the marker. Father Irving Mitchell of St. Alban's Episcopal Church delivered a brief invocation, and Dr. Wayne Duke, vice president for student affairs, welcomed approximately 30 people in attendance.

Afterwards, the crowd slowly dissolved, and the Berachah cemetery was alone again, lost somewhere in the past. — Dick Collier

Opposite page: Photo by Craig Fujii. Left: Eightyear-old Zabrina Smith reads a Berachah tombstone following dedication. Photo by Dick Collier. Below: Gene Brooks and Bennett Smith, former chairman of the Tarrant County Historial Commission unveil a plaque establishing the Berachah cemetery as a historical center. Photo by Dick Collier.

Heritage emphasized in Semana Chicana

Achieving success hinges on accentuating your strong points, television personality Rene Castilla said here in April.

"You will find that when you leave this world of make-believe, barriers will be thrown up at you," Castilla told a gathering sponsored by the Association of Mexican-American Students. "There will be backbiting and people will want to see you fail. But you must be resolved not to fail. You have to believe you're as good as I know you are."

Castilla, speaking as part of Semana Chicana, said Mexican-Americans are assimilating into society's mainstream without denying their heritage. But as long as those who are successful in high-visibility jobs can be easily numbered — then there are too few of them.

"First we have to capitalize on our strong points, whether it is broadcasting, accounting or whatever," he said. "If you try something but don't make it, don't think of it as failure, but as a lesson learned. Whatever you do, be the best there is at it. Only then will you see more brown faces in bank executive positions. Once there are so many, you won't be able to count them any more." Castilla, host of WFAA-TV's "Que Pasa?" said he did not realize the broadcast industry was closed to Mexican-Americans when he first pursued his career. Still, he denied being a television trailblazer for Chicanos.

He said a handful of "farsighted individuals" working behind the scenes convinced the station managers and corporate executives to employ Hispanics.

"Once the doors have been opened," added Castilla, who began his career with Channel 8 in 1968, "you have to show you are the best at what you do."

In addition to the television program, Castilla edits and publishes The Texan, a twice-monthly newspaper which began in February and is aimed at the Mexican-American community.

The newspaper is printed in English, Castilla said. Due to radio, television and abundant roadside advertising, most Mexican-Americans are more comfortable with that language.

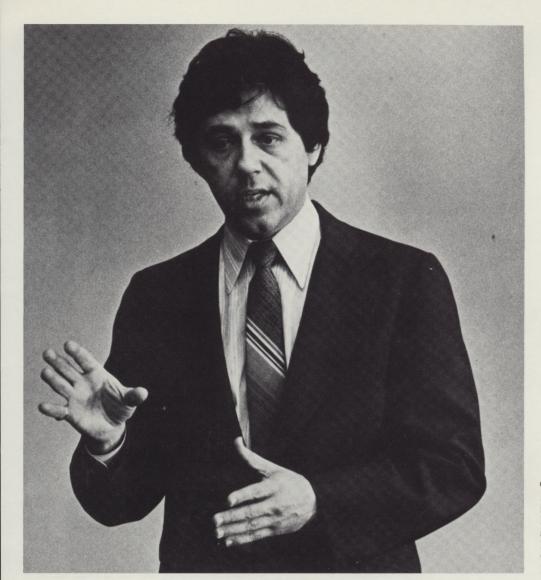

"One reason for starting the paper," he said, "was to make an impression" on the opinion leaders about our concerns. The way to do that is through the English language." "Though The Texan's circulation currently is limited to Dallas County, Castilla said he hopes to reach the Fort Worth area soon and eventually the Hispanic community.

"Someone who thinks he can speak for the entire community is mistaken," he said. "The leaders of the various causes should speak for those causes. But, I think we are too independent to have one person speaking for all of us."

He praised AMAS members for "supporting each other" but warned them not to fault Mexican-American students not affiliated with the organization.

"They might feel like they don't need your support now, and might need it when they go into the job market," he said. "But the first time they come go in for a promotion and all someone says to them is, You're Mexican? Tell me where I can find a good Mexican restaurant, they'll realize they need your support."

Other highlights of the week included the Ballet Folclorico (see page 62), guitarist Juan Hernandez, various speakers and a film entitled, "Tortilla Flat." — John Moritz, Shorthorn writer

Opposite page: Gerarldo Moreno, Victor Salazer and Irma Valdez performed "La Campania de Teatro Bilinque," "The Man Who Turned Himself Into a Dog." Photo by Don Corzine. Left: Rene Castilla encourages Mexican-American students to strive for success. Photo by Craig Fujii. Below: A Mexican art exhibit was presented in the University Gallery. Photo by Marc Wallis.

Right: Mike Coulter and Jacy Elkins, members of the percussion ensemble. Below: Gary Ebensburg directs the A Cappella Choir. Photos by Marc Wallis.

A beat of the drum and a little do, re, mi

The beating of a drum and the melody of a song are just a few sounds that are part of the music department.

The Percussion Ensemble, under the direction of Larry Rachleff, performed current, contemporary and classical music on and off campus this year. The group also served as guest performers at the Louisiana Percussion Symposium in March.

The future looks bright for the percussionists. "The ensemble is growing rapidly," said Rachleff. "They'll probably be recording and doing more out-of-town concerts in the future."

Fourteen members — the best of the university - compose the ensemble.

Another outstanding performance group on campus is the A Cappella choir. Under the direction of Gary Ebensberger, the choir performed 15 to 25 concerts during the year to area schools and across the Southwest.

Performing masterworks to folk songs, with heavy emphasis on classical works, the group served as guest performers in Little Rock, Ark. for the American Choral Directors Association Convention and performed in the spring for the Texas Music Educators Association Convention in San Antonio.

Outside of concerts and tours, the 60 member choir worked with the Fort Worth Symphony and Scola Cantorum.

"This is one of the strongest choirs," said Ebensberger. "The group has developed a good, regular consistency, which is an important growth factor."

Possible recordings and more concerts are foreseen in the future by Ebensberger. "Our recognition is wide-spread throughout the state as well as the nation — particularly in the Southwest region." — Diann Whaley

Left: Director of the percussion ensemble, Larry Rachleff. Above: Buddy Mohammed practices with the ensemble. Photos by Marc Wallis.

Frustrations, sentiments roused in protests

Springtime turns a young man's fancy to love. But the disenchanted, frustrated and just plain mad direct their efforts toward demonstrations.

Disenchanted at what they perceived as the Reagan administration's belligerent militarism, the Students Against the Draft rallied in opposition to the United States policy in El Salvador. They feared that stepped-up military aid and the stationing of Special Forces advisers in the Latin American country in response to Communist-backed insurgents might lead to another draft.

"The U.S. is repeating what happened in Vietnam by sending $25 million in aid, and more on the way," said SAD president Simon Cornell during the March demonstration. "These same steps were taken before combat troops were sent to Vietnam."

Cornell said the administration is initiating a police action in El Salvador. "As we all know, the politicians and the generals start wars and send the youth to go kill and die for them," he told the estimated 100 people.

The crowd, looking like a throwback to the anti-war demonstrations of the 1960s, donned faded jeans and carried hand-made placards denouncing military intervention. In addition to SAD members, demonstrators included the General Union of Palestinian Students, Iranian Student Association, Black Student Organization, Young Socialists Alliance and Students for a Libertarian Society.

Speakers charged the El Salvadoran government with disregarding human rights while exterminating leftist sympathizers. Young Socialist Floyce White charged President Napoleon Duarte's regime with "burning and burying people alive."

Not all participants were leftists. Eugene Snellings, sociology assistant professor and self-described conservative Republican questioned U.S. authority in Latin America. He also said other nations posed threats to world peace.

"I'm not for 'America right or wrong," Snellings said, "but I'm damn sure America's not wrong all the time. The Socialist bear is killing Afghans right now. It is poised on the Polish border right now. We're not the only ones wrong, folks. The Russians are wrong, too."

"No right-thinking person wants war. In El Salvador, I hope they get their freedom. But I don't believe we have the authority to go into that country and interfere." Frustrated by a string of unsolved murders of black children in Atlanta, 200 people of all races gathered in April for a candlelight vigil in front of the library.

"We hate to read about crimes that are made against adults," said President Wendell Nedderman. "But when crimes are committed against children, it makes the situation horrendous. These children were in the bloom of their lives."

The day before the vigil the 23rd victim had been identified.

"I hope to educate and open people's eyes to the Atlanta situation," said BSO president-elect Guy Stampley. "We ... should pray for the children and their families. We should pray for kids alive today that they will live good and healthy childhoods and become adults. We must work to put an end to this senseless killing."

The ceremony was capped with the planting of a young oak tree in the south lawn of University Hall. Stampley said the sapling would commemorate the children who have died and be a symbol of life for those still alive and of hope for those yet to be born. As he spoke, two children set the tree in place while a mother held a crying baby. — John Moritz, Shorthorn writer

Opposite page: Courtney Gibson and Amy Elizabeth Duke plant an Oak tree during the Atlanta candlelight vigil. Photo by Sue Pyle. Above: A row of concerned students burn candles in the memorial service held for the murdered children. Photo by Dick Collier. Demonstrators listen to speakers during a rally protesting U.S. involvement in El Salvador. Photo by Dick Collier.

Educators discuss role of today's universities

Within a computer-run society of highway billboards, television commercials, magazine and newspaper ads, men and women adorned in business suits seem to typify the new college graduates. A degree, at times, is the symbol of an education in how to make money through selling and buying.

Whatever happened to the classical education where sciences and arts were equals: is it considered useless in a specialized world?

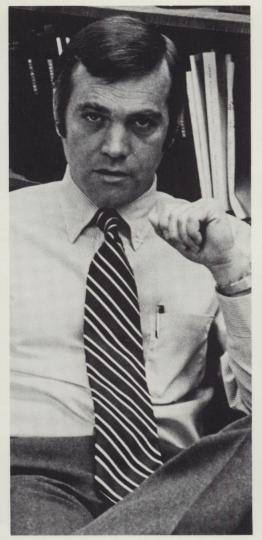

To find an answer, the academic deans and directors were posed that question dealing specifically with UTA. Their answers seem to point to a rediscovery of the necessity of a broad-based education. — Photos by Steve Dunning.

Some programs of study at UTA may be too specialized; I do not think that colleges themselves are too specialized. We now have a range of educational opportunities at UTA that has never been greater. Universities, like governments and religious organizations, undergo evolutionary change. At UTA programs are generated, lost, narrowed and broadened through a continuous trial and error process. The education that students receive must prepare them for both the specific and the general, e.g. a chemist must know something about chemistry. In the general sense, perhaps the best we can do is to be sure that our graduated can read and write, use the library, understand elementary mathematics, have some idea about local and world history, and finally, gain some basic concepts of how they fit into the complex world in which we live.

In addition to learning how science works, science students must master an evolving body of facts in their discipline. They also must learn methods and techniques of today's science and how to stay abreast of tomorrow's development.

> - Howard Arnott Dean of Science

66 I believe that university faculties have frequently responded to what they have perceived as demands from students and prospective employers/ professions for more highly specialized requirements for baccalaureate degrees. For students preparing to enter the teaching profession, I would prefer a traditional, broad-based baccalaureate degree as a prerequisite for admission to teacher education. A fifth year could then be dedicated to study and a teaching internship. Unfortunately, the practicing professionals in the public schools do not agree with me.

- Charles Funkhouser Director of Center for Professional Teacher Education

66 The world in which we live becomes more complex every day, and our lives are increasingly affected by events beyond local, state and national boundaries. This may be one reason why larger numbers of people seem to require interpersonal intervention by social workers who often serve as intermediaries between the individual and his/her family and the bureaucratized institutions in the society (i.e. schools, courts, hospitals and industrial and business concerns).

To understand those in need of this type and other services, the professional must have knowledge of their client's social and physical environments, the organization of their communities and its programs as well as their psychological functioning.

For this reason the Graduate School of Social Work curriculum emphasizes the "whole man in his milieu." Further, during the last three years we have broadened our course of study, not narrowed it; and our faculty are trained not only in social work but also in psychology, sociology, political science, education and law. We prefer students with a broad undergraduate background and encourage liberal arts majors to apply for admission to our graduate program.

- Paul Glasser Dean of Social Work

It is the philosophy of the College of Business Administration that our programs should be broad in nature but permit fields of concentration. Our programs should be broad enough to prepare the student for a lifetime career in business rather than preparing the student for only the first job. Yet the programs should permit enough specialization for the student to develop expertise in a particular field of study. The undergraduate program includes: (a) a broad curriculum devoted to study in the arts and sciences; (b) a strong core of business administration courses that provides a basic understanding of the business and market system and the environment in which it operates; and (c) an area of concentration containing course work beyond business core requirements in that field.

As a professional school, we are concerned with career preparation of our students. However, students will be better prepared for leadership roles in their business careers if their education is rounded with course work in the arts and sciences. For example, an understanding of history and of our political and economic systems seems essential for the college education.

Walter Mullendore
Dean of Business

66 I don't agree with the argument that education is becoming too specialized. Students can be prepared to function in any specific field, such as nursing, and still receive a well-rounded education. The philosophy of the School of Nursing includes a statement, "that undergraduate education in nursing, based upon studies in the arts, sciences and humanities, provides a foundation for a continuing personal, professional and educational development."

We believe that faculty and students share the responsibility for creating an educational climate which fosters intellectual inquiry, critical thinking and creativity, facilitates the development of each individual's potential; and reflects democratic values in changing ethics. We believe that education is a continuous lifelone process and that it is the responsibility of each individual. While nursing students are prepared to function in a specific field, they do receive a well-rounded education.

Myrna Pickard
Dean of Nursing

66 Asking a Liberal Arts Dean to address the problem of vocationalism in education is like asking Secretary Haig about the Soviet Union; the answer is fairly predictable. Unlike students in the recent past, this generation is very concerned about employment; its members have a sharp eye for the job market.

Taking advantage of new openings requires the ability to learn quickly, to communicate effectively, to think creatively. These qualities develop when the student is challenged with fresh ideas, when he/she is pressed to express complex and original insights, when he/she encounters a new perspective. In 1920 blacksmiths had to seriously consider a change in career, in 1950 file clerks had to consider data processing, what change will occur in the next few decades. The broadly educated will be able to adjust to the changing scene; the narrowly educated will be left behind. Long range career planning looks to the capacities of the individual and Liberal Arts is geared to their development.

> — Tom Porter Dean of Liberal Arts

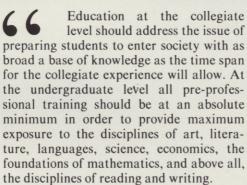

66 The university in a classical sense, perhaps, never existed. It surely doesn't exist in the United States at this time. The last attempt, I believe, was in St. John College in Annapolis, Maryland. It was contaminated with the study of mathematics which probably discouraged many of the scholars. The complete generalist could only exist in a time when there wasn't so much to generalize about.

UTA is indeed a cluster of college some of them perhaps vocational in the mind of a classical scholar. The judgement of scholars who specialized in ancient languages and ancient history might also be considered to be highly specialized along with those in the professional schools.

I believe the purpose of education is to exercise the mind and to tune the individual's ability to use logic and understanding in making decisions.

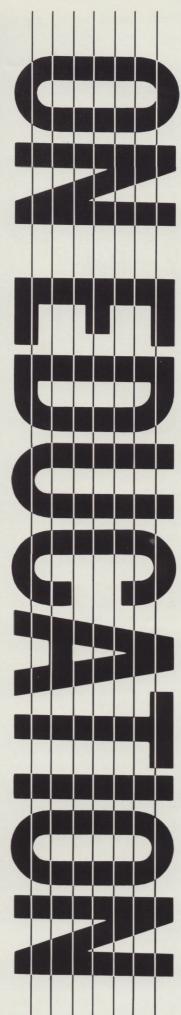

The expectation that one avenue of education — Greek, Latin vs. mathematics, engineering — is the one true road reflects neither logic nor understanding.

— Andrew Salis Dean of Engineering

We are doing a good job in teaching design at UTA, but if society is to benefit from the efforts and accomplishments of our students, the SAED should produce a whole person. The student acquires skills, but does the student fully understand? Can the student read "intelligently," write well, communicate clearly about what he is doing with his/her fellows in the real world? Each year, each semester, each class is part of a total experience which comes only once. To paraphrase Sir Winston Churchill, we shape our students and they in turn will shape society.

> - George Wright Dean of Architecture and Environmental Design

Visiting band offers students shot of relief

Opposite page: Doyle Murray and a student kick up a country step during the outdoor performance of the One Shot Deal. Photo by Craig Fujii. Left: Kip Dale and his bass. Photo by Ben Hatch. Below: Kip Dale, Marshall Trembley and friend perform together as advance advertising for the All-Nite Fair. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Celtic tradition celebrated by dance group

Upon the first of May With garlands fresh and gay They nimbly their feet do ply The Milkmaid's Life

(c. 1630)

The celebration of May Day (May 1) is an old but forgotten holiday. Forgotten, that is, by everyone except Jeff Collins, graduate teaching assistant, and some of his friends.

"We wanted to bring back a pagan holiday," he said. So with high kicks and girls bedecked with garlands they danced in front of the library. It was almost believable.

The costumes and music were right, but the lack of "real" instruments and a maypole left the atmosphere bare of the true spirit.

Collins became interested in pre-Christian holidays and the accompanying dances through his study of Celtic mythology.

A discussion in one of his classes resulted in the first party. There was fresh fruit, homemade bread and wine, but mainly there was the music and the dances. A few brave souls even danced on the roof with the glow of a streetlight in the background. The May Day dance was the next step in the revival of the old holidays, helped by the Renaissance festival, Scarborough Fair, near Waxahachie.

Collins and his co-patriots hope to form a group that dances and plays their own music. They will travel to shopping malls and children's groups spreading the gaiety of a time past. — Carla Adams

So ladies now we bid adieu May May-day, ever smile on you. The Chimney Sweepers' Glee Dr. J. Beckworth (c. 1795)

Jeff Collins and Kathrine Kneis celebrate spring by performing Celtic dances in front of the Library. Photos by Marc Wallis.

Right: The All-Nite Fair had a country-western theme this year complete with a lassoing contest. Photo by Craig Fujii. Below: Always a bride, never a bridegroom. Twenty-five cent marriages were plentiful. Photo by Craig Fujii. Opposite page: Whippedcream ammunition splattered the message that students were mad, too, Eddie. Photo by Marc Wallis.

Levis, roller skates, $2 and 16 kegs of Bud

She was dressed in her Levi's and boots but the t-shirt was the French disco style and the shirt tied at her waist was just an individual expression. It was a boring Friday night with no date so she decided to attend the All Nite Fair; it would kill a couple of hours.

Approaching the University Center, rock and roll came from the Table Top's windows. The rest of the singers and bands that evening would be country-western. The fair's theme changed each time as the participants' tastes fluctuated.

At the door, $2 escaped her hands and a red ANF imprinted itself on her hand. A UTA cop stood unflinchingly at the door — there was one at every door watching for trouble and, depending on level of intoxication, hidden or unhidden beer.

The evening was still young so there were few western fans wandering around. The booths were all set up and the various food scents mixed in the air. Dry Gulch employees stood at portable bars with cups stacked up around them. By the end of the evening 16 Budweiser kegs would be emptied by 1500 All Niters.

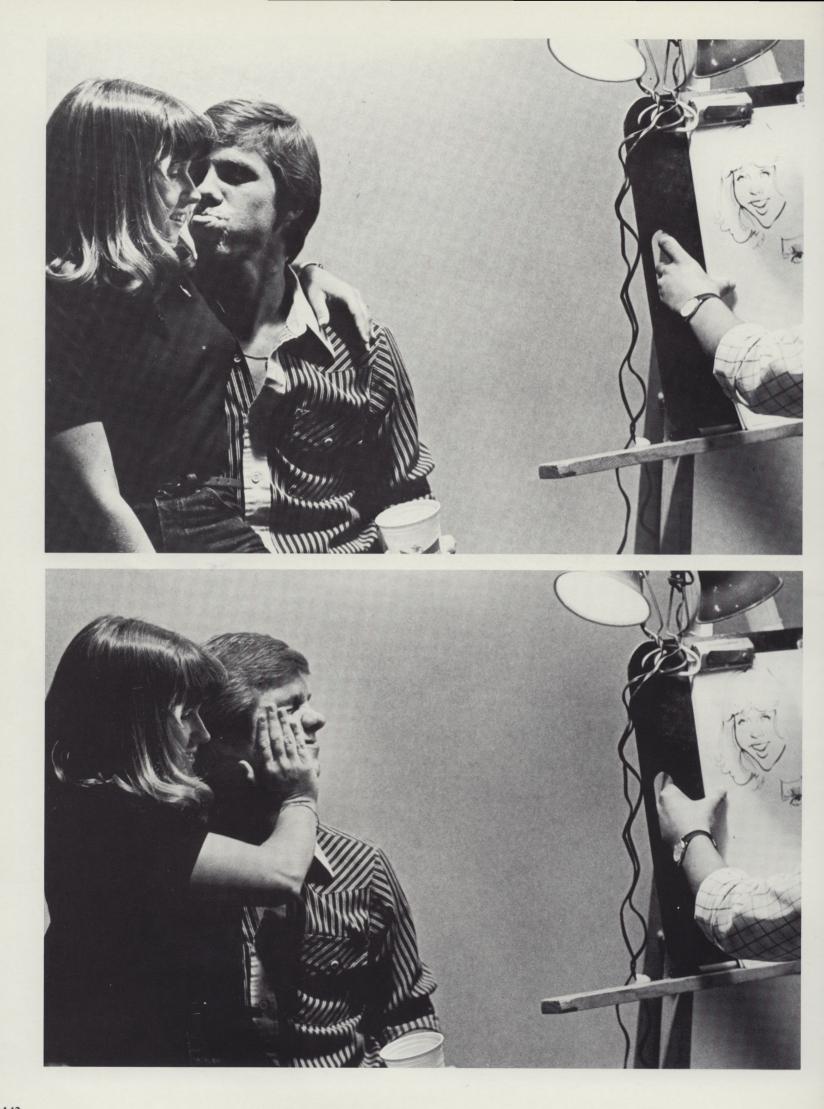

She went to the Rio Grande Ballroom and rented a pair of skates. Round and round the room, the pattern the same, the music changing. A couple moved in the middle, dancing on skates, rarely faltering. People gathered at the door trying to decide whether to take a chance. A boy cut in front of her, arms grabbing at the air for support. He crashed to the floor as everyone watched.

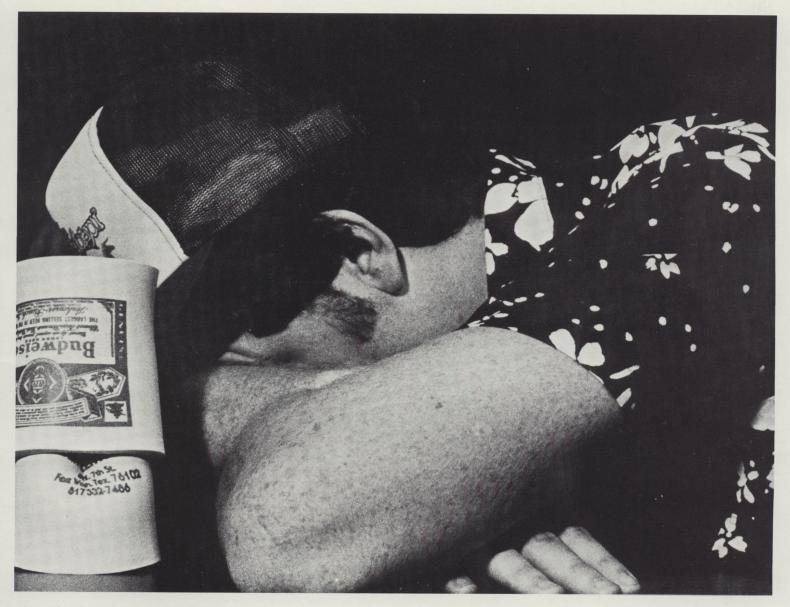

The crowds increased downstairs. A man using a cane hobbles by muttering "I can't believe they would put a cripple in jail." He was obviously a victim of the fair's jail where warrants were issued by "friends" and if lucky, bails would be paid by other friends. Over the PA system, announcements of the roping contest kept fading in and out. She stood by the wall, extremely tall in her skates. People stopped and grinned up at her, asking where she got the skates. One girl got to the point, "Where's the beer?"

The number of organizations involved with the All Nite Fair almost doubled this year. The variety of events and services offered were remarkable — there was an album throw, "Gilda Live", a kissing booth, and a caricature artist to name a few. "Clubs" consisted of a coffee house in the Caprock, a country and western disco in the Gulch, and La Bare of Arlington in the Red River.

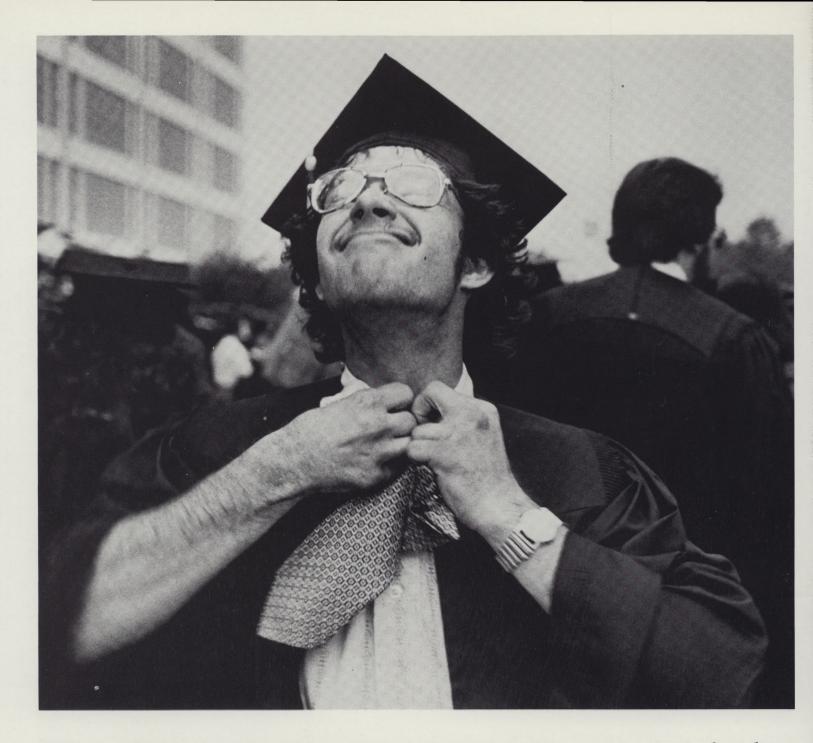

The evening was coming to a close and she was tired. Her feet had skated their limit. It wasn't such a bad way to spend an evening. In fact, she even looked forward to the next fair.

— Carla Adams

Above left and left: Two students find that having a caricature done is a joking matter, but it is still necessary to look at the artist. Photos by Craig Fujii. Above: The Fair was a bit too much for Ken Hoofard, who was resting in the Dry Gulch when a photographer's flash disturbed his dreams. Photo by Craig Fujii.

The future waits just beyond a handshake

Graduation. The final path in a long awaited dream — a dream of accomplishment. The reality of no more tests, papers, projects, reading assignments or any other educational requirements to face. Call it graduation or commencement, it means the same — freedom.

Between 900 and 1,000 students participated in commencement activities at the close of the spring semester. Approximately 350 graduates attended the evening ceremony featuring William H. Seay, chairman and chief executive officer of Southwestern Life Insurance Company of Dallas. UT Systems Board of Regents, Jon P. Newton, officially conferred degrees.

Individual recognition ceremonies were held earlier in the day by the separate colleges and schools with receptions for the faculty, graduates, families and friends following.

A special recognition was made during the College of Liberal Arts ceremony honoring posthumously Chester Bitterman, III with a Master of Arts in Linguistics degree. Bitterman was killed March 6 by anti-government guerillas in Colombia, South America where he was studying the language of the Carijona Indians.

Commencements addresses typified the changing of time and the outlook of the future. Illustrative images such as the origin of okra, 1930 Sears' catalogs and garden hoses painted the reality that times as well as the needs of society have changed and that these changes have brought advancement in technology and the environment.

Although academic regalia was required of all graduation participants, the presence of shorts, t-shirts, halters, swim suits and tennis shoes were not to be overlooked among the black gowns and mortar boards. — Diann Whaley

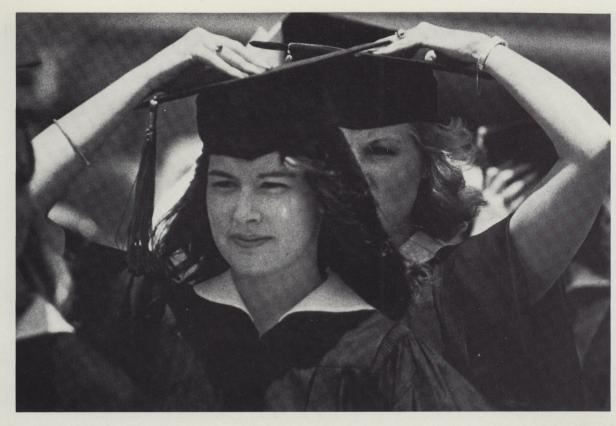

Pre-pomp primping and pleasant profiles are part of the procession. Photos by Bruce Davis. Opposite page photo by Donna Bagby.

Above: President Wendell Nedderman, (left) observes the ceremonies. Photo by Donna Bagby. Right and opposite top: The moving of the tassle is the final gesture of graduation. Photos by Bruce Davis. Opposite right: The last lecture . . . Photo by Bruce Davis.

Nho's Who

<image>

Gloria Gatlin Bender, (above), an industrial engineering student, was involved in Alpha Pi Mu and served as president of the Society of Women Engineers and secretary of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers. Bender maintained a 3.42 GPA.

The management department nominated graduate student, Rebecca Ann Beasley (above right). A business-management student from Fort Worth, Beasley maintained a 3.7 GPA and was involved in the Graduate Business Students Association.

The finance and real estate department nominated graduate finance student, Charles Leonard Bennett, Jr. Bennett (right), a native of Glennville, Ga., served as president and founder of the Graduate Business Students Association, organizer of the Finance Society, vice-president of the Interfraternity Council and Kappa Alpha fraternity social and rush chairman. Bennett was also involved in the Gymnastics Club, UTA Swim Team, the College of Business Dean Search Committee and was a cheerleader. Selected as the Outstanding MBA in Financial Management, Bennett maintained a 3.54 GPA.

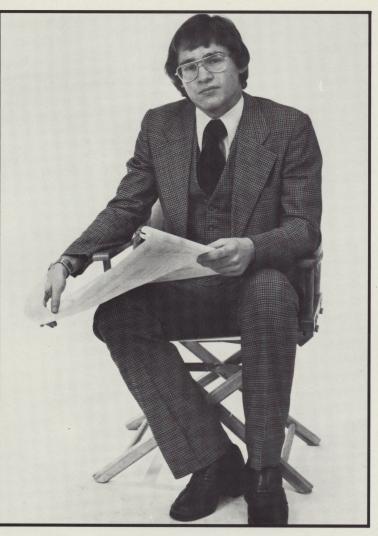

David E. Bryan, (above left) an elementary education/physical education major from Fort Worth, was involved in Alpha Chi, Kappa Delta Pi, the Texas Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, the Student National Education Association and the Circle K service fraternity. Bryan also served as president of the District II Texas Student Education Association while maintaining a 3.8 GPA.

Elizabeth Kay Bowles, (above) an architecture major, served as the scholarship chairman and chaplain of Delta Zeta sorority and was the American Society of Interior Designers' recording secretary. Bowles, from Houston, maintained a 3.2 GPA.

A graduate nursing student, Donna Lee Bertram (left), has been active in the American Association of Critical-Care Nurses, American Nurses Association and served as president-elect of the Outstanding Young Women of America. An Arlington native, Bertram maintained a 3.6 GPA.

Nho's Who

Mark B. Burzlaff, (above) an industrial engineering major, was involved in the American Institute of Industrial Engineers, Pi Mu Epsilon and the UTA Debate Squad. Burzlaff, from Burleson, served as treasurer and vice-president of Alpha Pi Mu, awards committee chairman and secretary of the Joint Council of Student Engineers and vice-president of public relations of Phi Eta Sigma. Burzlaff maintained a 3.46 GPA.

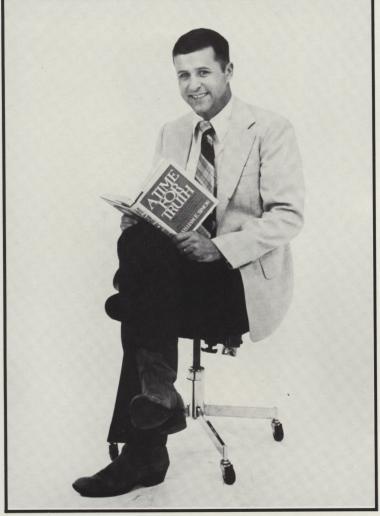

The communications department nominated Terry Nell Crumpton, (above right) a speech major from Fort Worth. Crumpton was the feature twirler for the band. She maintained a 3.2 GPA while involved in the UTA Concert Band and served as the scholarship chairman of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and Student Congress Liberal Arts representative.

Management major, Robert Caudillo, (right) was nominated by the marketing department. Caudillo, a native of Ennis, was active in SAB Fashions, Etc., Campus Kettle Dancers and Sigma Tau Gamma. He also served as president of the Business Constitutency Council, vice-president of public relations, social and recruitment chairman of Pi Sigma Epsilon and the American Marketing Association membership chairman while maintaining a 3.11 GPA.

Michael Robert Fish, (above left) a graduate civil engineering student from Dallas, served as vice-president of Chi Epsilon. A member of Tau Beta Pi, American Society of Civil Engineers and Alpha Chi, Fish maintained a 3.75 GPA.

President and past vice-president of the American Marketing Association, Business Constituency Council and Delta Delta Delta sorority social and reference chairman, Mary Ann Grisham, (above) a marketing major from Fort Worth, maintained a 3.0 GPA.

A native of Muncie, Ind., Norbert Joseph Hart (left) maintained a 3.95 GPA in economics while involved in Alpha Chi and Omicron Delta Epsilon. Hart also served as president of the Business Constituency Council.

A native from Dallas, Teresa Helaine Hirezi (above) maintained a 3.5 GPA in civil engineering while involved in the American Society of Civil Engineers, Joint Council of Student Engineers, Chi Epsilon, Alpha Chi and Tau Beta Pi.

A native of Fredericksburg, James Lee Heimann (above right) maintained a 3.54 GPA in mechanical engineering while involved in Tau Beta Pi and Pi Tau Sigma. Hiemann was also the track captain.

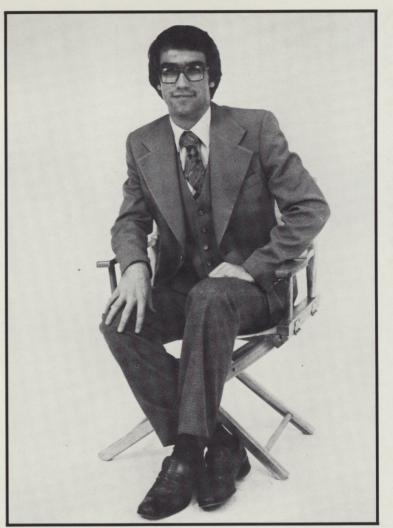

Teresa Anne Hodge (right) was nominated by the Center for Professional Teacher Education. Hodge, a native of Dallas, served as treasurer of Kappa Delta Pi and reporter of Physical Education Majors and Minors. She was also involved in Alpha Chi and maintained a 3.56 GPA.

Cynthia Ann Hoffman (above left) served as SAB Fashions, Etc. chairperson and Liberal Arts representative. Hoffman was also involved in Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Chi and Curtain call as a hostess while maintaining a 3.94 GPA.

Civil engineering major, John Russell King, (above) a native from Grand Saline, maintained a 4.0 GPA. King was involved in Tau Beta Pi, Chi Epsilon and Alpha Chi and served as president for the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Cari Lea Hyden (left) was chosen as Who's Who in journalism. A native from Arlington, Hyden served as president and vice-president of the Society of Professional Journalists/Sigma Delta Chi and editor of the Shorthorn, while maintaining a 3.4 GPA.

Nho's Who

Dennis J. Kallus, (above) an electrical engineering student from Waco, was involved in the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers, Student Congress, Eta Kappa Nu, Tau Beta Pi and Alpha Chi. Kallus served as president of the Joint Council of Student Engineers and maintained a 3.56 GPA.

Electrical engineering major, Douglas J. Mathews, (above right) served as president of Eta Kappa Nu and recording secretary of Tau Beta Pi. Mathews, from Carrollton, maintained a 3.79 GPA while involved in Alpha Chi and the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

A political science major from Dallas, Marilynn Mayse-Lundy (right) maintained a 3.6 GPA while involved in the Law Society, Young Democrats, Texas Veterans Association and the SAB Forums Council. Mayse-Lundy also served as president of Pi Sigma Alpha and vice-president of the Professional Black Women's League.

Robert Eugene McKinney, (above left) an accounting major from Irving, maintained a 3.83 GPA while involved in Beta Gamma Sigma, Alpha Chi, Phi Eta Sigma and the Business Constituency Council. McKinney also served as president, executive vice-president and administrative vicepresident of Beta Alpha Psi and treasurer of Omicron Delta Epsilon.

A geology major from Arlington, Julia Kay Odom (above) was involved in Alpha Chi, Sigma Gamma Epsilon, the Geology Society and Delta Delta Delta sorority. Odom maintained a 3.85 GPA.

Norma W. Montgomery, (left) an electrical engineering major from Dallas, was involved in Eta Kappa Nu and the Society of Women Engineers. Montgomery maintained a 3.4 GPA and served as chairman of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers and Tau Beta Pi treasurer.

Nho's Who

Chris Schaeper, (above) an economics major, was nominated for Who's Who by Activities and Organizations. Schaeper, a native of Dallas, served as president of the Law Society, chairman of SAB Forums Council, vice-president of the Pre-Law Society of Texas, Student Congress Liberal Arts representative and was a member of Phi Alpha Theta, Business Constituency Council, the Committee for Free Speech, Pi Sigma Alpha, Alpha Chi, Omicron Delta Epsilon, the Committee of Traffic Appeals and Young Democrats. Schaeper maintained a 3.86 GPA.

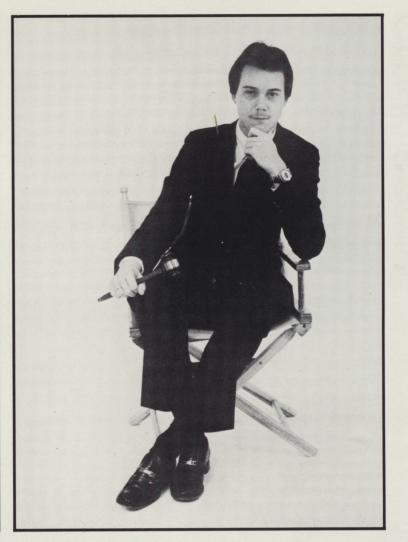

The communications department nominated Melisa Lyn Robinson (above right) as Who's Who in journalism. Robinson, from Arlington, was involved in the Society of Professional Journalists/Sigma Delta Chi, Alpha Chi, Order of Omega and Phi Eta Sigma while maintaining a 3.97 GPA.

The chemistry department nominated Paul Andrew Schkade (right) as Who's Who in biochemistry. Schkade, from Arlington, maintained a 3.5 GPA while active in the Science Constituency Council, the National Association of Jazz Educators and the UTA Jazz Orchestra.

Student Congress nominated Lydia Helen Trostel, (above left) a public relations and advertising student. Trostel, a junior from Arlington, served as Student Congress Student Affairs Committee Chairman, Phi Mu fraternity parliamentarian and Panhellenic president and vicepresident. She was involved in the President's Advisory Council, Student Publications Committee, Freshman Advisory Council and Order of Omega while maintaining a 3.0 GPA.

Student Congress nominated Gregory Clark Underwood (above) as Who's Who in marketing. Underwood, from Grand Prairie, served as Student Congress College of Business Administration representative, Freshman Class vice-president, Community Affairs Committee chairman and Phi Delta Theta fraternity rush chairman and chaplain. He was also involved in the Athletic Entertainment Events Committee and maintained a 3.1 GPA.

Neel O. Woods, (left) a computer science engineering major, was president of the National Association of Jazz Educators. Woods, from Arlington, maintained a 3.65 GPA and was chosen as the E-Systems' Outstanding Computer Science senior. Graduate nursing student, H. Lea Barbato, (right) a native from Denver, Colo., was involved in Alpha Chi, Sigma Theta Tau and Beta Beta Beta. Barbato maintained a 4.0 GPA and served as the nursing school class president in 1974-76.

Who's Who honorees not shown are Randy Barry Bramley — mathematics, Lourdes Hudson — international law/Student Congress, Jeffrey Allan Morrison political science/Activities and Organizations and Richard S. Weldon, Jr. — industrial engineering.

1980-1981 SC officers

In the 1980 April elections, Greg Miller won with 665 votes and Jodee Sharp received 544 votes.

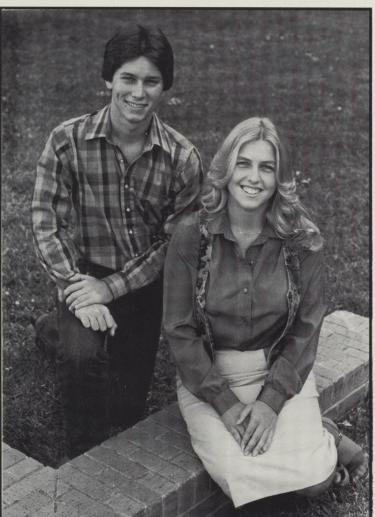

Miller served as Student Congress vicepresident in 1979-80 and represented the College of Business. Miller was also involved in the Business Constituency Council, Saddle and Spurs, Curtain Call, Interfraternity Council, Athletic Council, Order of Omega and Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Born in Milwaukee, Wis., Miller is a senior marketing student.

A member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and Fall 1980 Business Constituency Council president, Jodee Sharp served as Freshman Class vice-president in 1978, Student Congress recording secretary in 1979 and Student Congress vice-president in 1980. Sharp was also selected as an ambassador and Phi Delta Theta's sweetheart in 1980. Born in Des Moines, Iowa, Sharp is a junior accounting student.

Honors

1980-1981 Mr./Miss UTA

A member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and Saddle and Spurs, Jeanette Kolesar is a junior political science major. Kolesar, born in Indianapolis, Ind., also served as co-chairman of the Homecoming Parade Committee, Liberal Arts Constituency Council secretary, Student Affairs Advisory Committee and Athletic Events Entertainment Committee.

Hank Jacobs, a junior pre-dental major, served as Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity's fund-raiser chairman and co-chairman of the Homecoming Parade Committee. Jacobs, born in Dallas, is an Alpha Chi Omega big brother and was involved with Student Congress, SAB Traditions and Dry Gulch Productions committees, Freshman Advisory Council, Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Chi.

Freshman Officers

In the October elections, freshmen selected their class officers. Blake Seaton won the presidency with 144 votes. Laura Watson secured the vice-presidency with 178 votes.

A Sam Houston High School graduate, Seaton, is studying political science/prelaw. Seaton, born in Brady, is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

A member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, Watson is a Grand Prairie High School graduate. Born in Dallas, Watson is a student in liberal arts.

Both Seaton and Watson chose UTA for economic reasons and the "hometown" school image.

1980-1981 Ambassadors

Each fall, eight students are elected by the student body to serve as host and hostesses for the year. Selected as 1981 ambassadors were Mike Cadena, Suzette Chaires, Ed Gray, Mindy Kunze, Greg Odom, Carol Rye, Cathy Tabor and Chuck Wagner.

A junior speech major, Cathy Tabor is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, Alpha Chi honor society and is a little sister for Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. Tabor was born in Hillsboro.

Ed Gray is a Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity member and a big brother to Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Active with Student Congress and the SAB Traditions Council, Gray is a sophomore undeclared liberal arts student born in San Antonio.

Suzette Chaires is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority and the Saddle and Spurs spirit club. Chaires, born in Laredo, is a sophomore radio-television major.

Mindy Kunze is a member of Delta Zeta sorority and was involved in the SAB Fashions, Etc. Council. Born in San Jose, Calif., she is a junior marketing major.

A member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and the 1980 Student Congress recording secretary, Mike Cadena is serving as ambassador for the second consecutive year. Cadena is also involved in various campus committees including the Business Constituency Council. A sophomore marketing major, Cadena was born in Arlington.

Greg Odom, a sophomore marketing student, is a Phi Delta Theta fraternity member and a Student Congress representative. Odom was born in Lubbock.

Above right: Cathy Tabor, Ed Gray and Suzette Chaires. Photo by Marc Wallis. Right: Mike Cadena, Mindy Kunze and Greg Odom. Photo by Ben Hatch. Ambassadors not shown are Carol Rye and Chuck Wagner.

1981-1982 SC officers

In the April elections, Jodee Sharp won the Student Congress presidency with 804 votes. Bob King claimed the vice-presidency position, vacated by Sharp, with 952 votes.

Sharp's key issues for the 1981-82 academic year are to institute rape awareness programs, re-establish the W/F drop policy and fall commencement ceremonies and to increase student awareness.

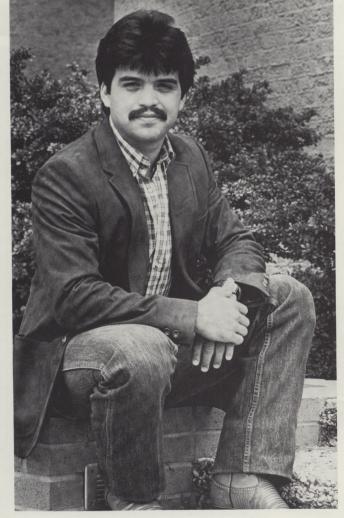

King, a sophomore business/pre-law student from Royal Oaks, Mich., served as freshman class vice-president, Student Congress business representative, Student Service Fee advisory council and freshman advisory council member.

1981-1982 Mr./Ms. UTA

Mr. and Miss UTA elections for 1981-82 were held in April. The student body elected Romeo Perez and Kellie Agan as the school's representatives.

A member and past vice-presdient of Kappa Sigma fraternity, Perez is a junior political science student from McAllen.

A sophomore electrical engineering student, Agan is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority and a cheerleader. She is not shown.

Right and below: Stadium construction began in January 1979 after months of deliberation, and was completed in September 1980. Photos by Bruce Davis (right) and Lee Baker (below, 1979).

Stadium opening breaks attendance record

The Lone Star State's fifth largest university became the owner of a $6.7 million multi-purpose athletic facility this year — christened Maverick stadium in opening ceremonies before the UTA-NTSU football game Sept. 6. The game, which the Mavericks lost 31-14, was televised on the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network cable television before a crowd of 18,033, a Maverick attendance record.

Stadium construction began in January, 1979, after months of deliberation. "The multi-purpose stadium adds a new dimension to the campus," said President Wendell Nedderman. "We deserve it. It was totally absurd to have one of the largest universities in the state playing football on a high school field." The stadium is a multi-purpose athletic facility with team dressing rooms, a weight training room, coaches' offices and an open area for receptions or meetings. Facilities include special levels with inclines to aid the handicapped and a modern press box designed to serve both print and electronic media.

Upon reaching an agreement to construct the facility, the University of Texas Board of Regents awarded a $5,851,000 contract to Walker Construction Co. of Fort Worth for parking lots, access roads and the stadium. Super Turf, Inc. of Garland was awarded a $348,296 contract for installation of the artificial playing surface, and a $148,438 contract to Cassey and Glass, Inc. of Corpus Christi supplied the Chevron 400 track circling the playing field. The artificial playing surface and track not only serve football and track, but field events, soccer and intramural activities. Two light poles located on the north and south sides of the stadium provide a light capacity of 70-foot candles. The scoreboard was donated by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. and Arlington Bank & Trust.

Seating capacity is 12,017 permanent seats with 1,850 reserved for the Maverick Club members and guests. Temporary seating of 5,044 may be added to the four corner areas and the south end zone for special events, making a total capacity of 29,000 potential seats.

Student Congress President Greg Miller called the stadium a long-needed, positive asset. "The location and easy access both play a big part, because students are willing to come to games now," he said. "I've been here four years and the NTSU game was the most exciting and spirited game I've seen. I think the stadium has definitely added a completeness to our campus."

Bud Elliott, Maverick football coach, said the stadium will add greatly to student spirit. "It was such a wonderful feeling for the team to enter the stadium and hear the students cheering," said Elliott. "The stadium and the turnout of the students at the game gave the players a lot of pride. It was great."

The ribbon cutting ceremony, prior to the first game, signified the stadium's completion. Attending the dedication were President Nedderman, Arlington Mayor S. J. Stovall, UT Systems Chancellor E. D. Walker, Board of Regents Chairman Dan C. Williams. Regent Thomas Law, Maverick Club President R. G. "Wick" Alexander, UTA Alumni Association President Bill Fleming and Student Congress President Greg Miller. — Diann Whaley

Below: Attendance at the opening game against NTSU set a record with 18,033 present. Photo by Bruce Davis.

Home provides no shelter from the storm

In many ways, the Mavs' 1980 football season read like a novel. Not a pretty story.

Fueled by a season-opening six game losing streak, UTA finished the year 3-8, the worst record since the 1974 team went 1-10. The whys and wherefores depend on your source.

More than a few players criticized the coaching. The coaches said a series of injuries and a lack of depth caused the downfall from 1979's stellar 9-2 mark.

For certain, the loss of 12 senior starters, notably quarterback Roy Dewalt and linebackers Willie Thomas and Cliff Odom, would be felt, but Coach Bud Elliott was a little more than optimistic before opening the gates.

Chapter one was set in brand-spankingnew Maverick Stadium, the long-awaited and sought-after home football facility. Built at a cost of 7.5 million, the stadium featured 15,000 permanent seats, a $100,000 computer message scoreboard and artificial turf.

Ouch. North Texas State, before a school-record crowd of 18,033, spoiled the stadium inaugural, whipping the Mavs, 31-14.

Chapters two through six read much the same way. If the offense played well, the defense faltered. The offense didn't play well often, and the defense was, well, sickly.

Northwestern (La.) State, in past years a guarantee win, rose up to smite UTA, 38-31, behind an incredible 603 yards total offense. Demon quarterback Bobby Hebert foreshadowed future Mav failures, hitting 18 of 30 passes for 364 yards and four touchdowns.

After the open date, UTA faced SMU at Texas Stadium in a game that figured to be a mismatch from the beginning. How does 52-16 grab you? Mustang QBs Mike Ford, Mike Fisher and Lance McIlhenny combined for 303 yards passing in 20 completions in 38 attempts.

A return to Maverick Stadium for three consecutive games against Missouri Valley Conference schools Drake, West Texas State and New Mexico State didn't change the plot.

Drake rolled to a 30-20 win, West Texas State crumbled the Mavs by 38-26, and New Mexico State walked away a 30-10 victor. For Elliott, enough was too much. "It goes back to what I told the team all week, this whole theme of being at our best when our best was needed," he said. "Realistically, this is a definite indicator of the way we'll play from here on out."

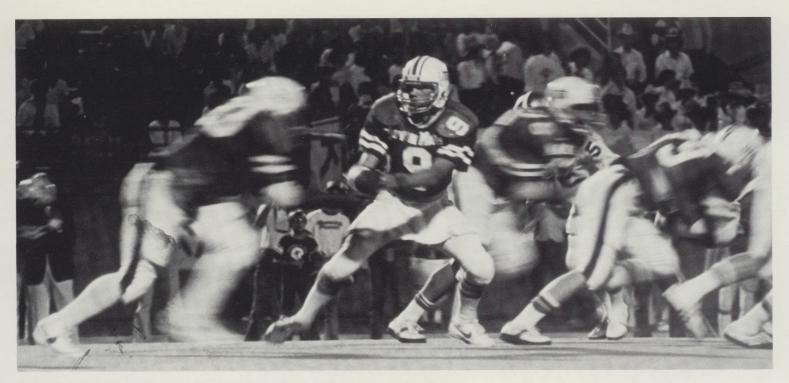

Elliott, normally calm and poised even in defeat, boiled over in frustration with his team — but didn't close the book on the season.

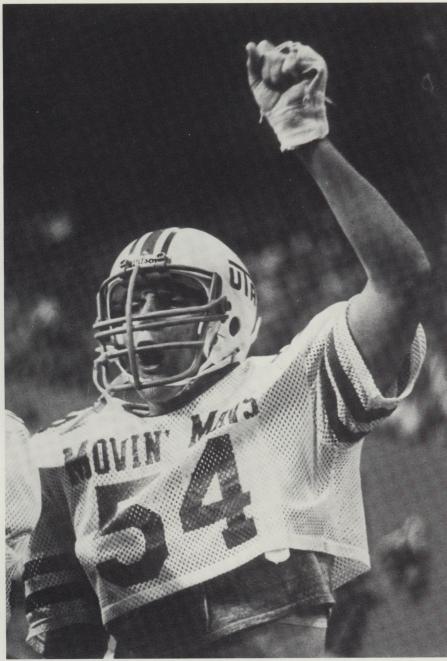

"In spite of all the miserable things that have happened, I still have hope for this season," he said. "We've got the (Southland) conference race starting now, and that's a whole new season."

The coach continued that message the next week, dedicating the squad to a "new season." Chapter seven against Louisiana Tech in the SLC opener could have been a turning point.

Tech's Bulldogs were 4-2 and had definite sights on the conference title with a 1-0 mark in league play. Like in any good novel, the protagonist can't experience a drastic change until an extreme has been reached.

Above: SMU's Eric Dickerson vaults to TD in front of UTA's Mel Maxfield (16) and Brad Mohon (68). Photo by Donna Bagby.

Consider this: the Mavs were 0-6, in someone else's stadium and suddenly trailing, 17-0, late in the first half. Metamorphisis. The defense held Tech to a field goal in the second half, and the offense rallied to post a 21-20 win.

The turnaround, though, lasted only a week. McNeese State, the eventual SLC champ, rode the passing arm of conference offensive player of the year Stephan Starring to a 31-17 win in Lake Charles, La.

The game turned on three long scoring plays and four critical UTA turnovers — all in the second half. Elliot began to have nightmares.

"I dreamed I'd died and gone to Hades," he said. "I was thrown into the cesspool of life. I struggled and struggled, but I kept sinking deeper and deeper. I could barely keep my head above the mess.

"I looked over, and there was another guy down there next to me. He said, —If you think this is bad, wait until the alumni come by with that motor boat."

Prophetic? Before the season was over, Elliott would feel the heat of rumor, as more than a few students and alums questioned his ability to lead the team.

Back at Maverick Stadium the next week, Southwestern Louisiana further fanned the fires with a 30-13 demolition of the Mavs before a meager Homecoming crowd of 7,156.

The second half, as had usually been the case, didn't sink UTA this time. The third and fourth quarters didn't even matter after USL ran up a 24-0 halftime lead.

Above: Life is a blur for junior QB Scott Logan (9) as he prepares to start the wishbone option. Photo by Wade Gates. Left: Marc Griffin still has that freshman enthusiasm, exhorting his teammates during the SMU loss. Photo by Ron Kneebone.

Football

Our weary protagonists had again reached a negative extreme. At 1-8 and with nowhere to go but up, UTA closed the home season with Arkansas State.

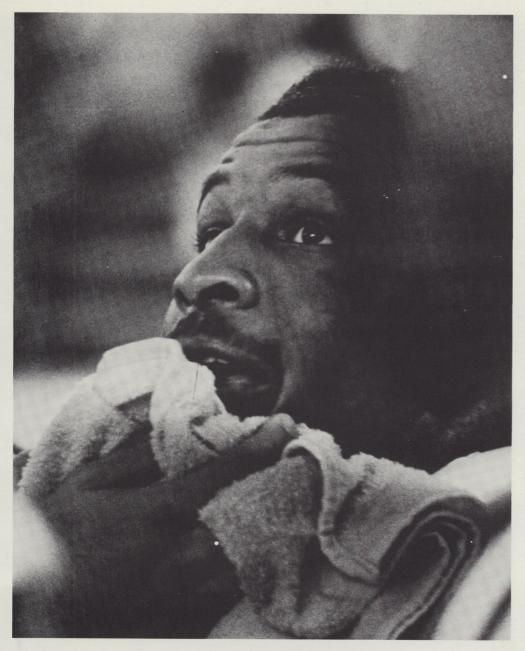

Coach Larry Lacewell's neophyte Indians proved what few believed possible. They were worse than the Mavs. UTA rolled to a 36-14 win, finally coming out on top in not-so-new-anymore Maverick Stadium.

Fittingly in this disappointing season, the final chapter was set in Beaumont, the home of rancid air, polluting oil refineries, constant rain and Lamar.

Day-long showers turned Cardinal Stadium into a mud wrestling pit. A nearby refinery pumped exhaust over and into the facility. As the night wore on, a thick fog rolled in off the gulf.

Above: Middle linebacker Bud McCluskey slows NTSU tailback Malcolm Jones as Mel Maxfield (16) moves in. Photo by Marian Massey. Right: Mav JV action against Oklahoma usually featured more fumbles than points. Photo by Wade Gates.

And the Mavs closed the year with a 44-27 win, meaning less except that it clinched undisputed possession of third place in the SLC for UTA.

Individually, tight end Gary Lewis, running back Phillip Jessie and linebacker Bud McCluskey earned first-team all-conference honors. Murray Francis, Greg Wright and Danny Stout were named to the league's all-academic team.

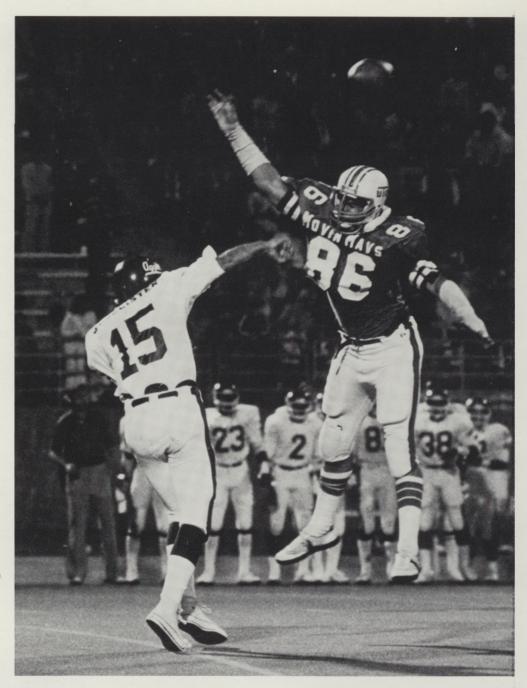

The book can easily enough be closed on this frustrating and sometimes bitter season, but it may serve to point out the inherent flaw in UTA's athletic philosophy.

The Mavs, with 62½ football scholarships, are playing a Division I-A schedule with Division II money. Elliott and Athletic Director Bill Reeves both said that if the program is to ever be consistently competitive in the SLC, more money must be committed.

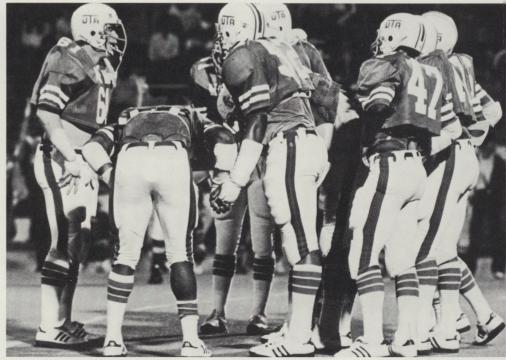

If not, this 3-8 disaster won't be an isolated failure. — Mike Hashimoto

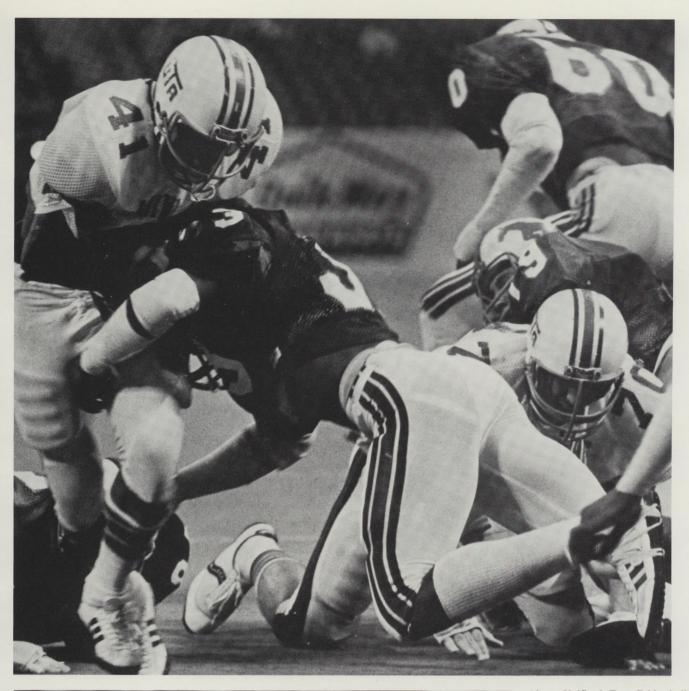

Left: Where does it hurt? Mike Brooks would say when you're 3-8 everywhere up to and including your pride. Photo by Craig Fujii. Below: Against SMU, everything looked fine for the Mavs until the ball was snapped. Photo by Craig Fujii.

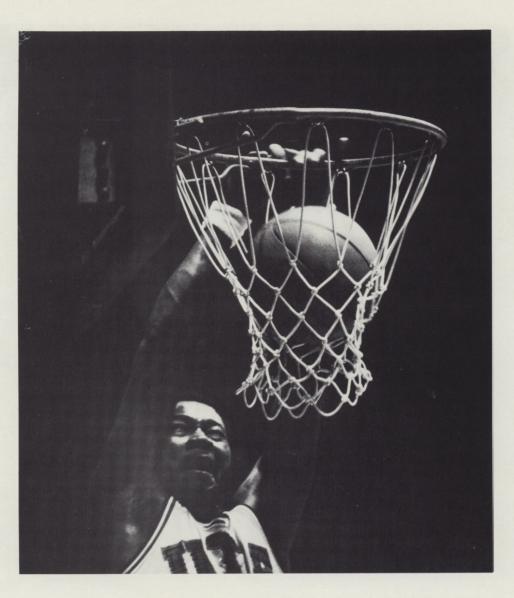

Right: NMSU QB Jamie McAllister throws past a straining Tim Alders. Photo by Craig Fujii. Below right: Captain Bud McCluskey (61) and the Mav defensive huddle to try and figure out where all those points came from. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Above: Halfback Tony Felder bulls over for a UTA touchdown in lopsided defeat to SMU. Photo by Donna Bagby. Left: Pensive guard Murray Francis: It was a long year for the seniors. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Basketballers bounce into national meet

It was an odd sort of year for men's basketball. There were no playoff victories, conference or national, to count. But there's no doubt it was the best season yet.

With a devastating offense and a quick defense, UTA set a record for most victories as a major college team with a 20-8 season. That included a prestigious bid to the National Invitational Tournament.

The highlight and heartbreak of the season was the NIT 74-71 loss. Heading into the game almost nine-point underdogs, the Mavs scratched and dodged the South Alabama Jaguars' shots to build an eight point lead at halftime.

Although the lead was whittled to five by the super-quick Jags, UTA was playing one of its most inspired games of the season.

South Alabama was one of the best teams in the tournament, and proved it by pulling ahead by one with six seconds left.

Handling the ball near the goal, Maverick Al Culton saw hot-shooting Melvin Polk standing all alone. But the ball and UTA's hopes slipped off into the netherland out-of-bounds with Culton's pass, handing the Jags the game.

The Mavs spent all of Southland Conference play chasing the Lamar Cardinals, falling to them twice during the season in close matches. But conference play lost some importance with the new SLC postseason tournament.

At least it looked that way until Louisiana Tech slipped into Texas Hall for the regular season finale. Lamar had fallen to the Bulldogs twice, and Tech was all that stood between UTA and a conference cochampionship.

Needing only to protect a nine-point lead with 10:19 to go in the game, the Mavs hit an incredible dry streak and fell 61-52.

Coach Snake LeGrand called it "our most disappointing loss of the season, no doubt about it."

The Tech loss pushed the Mavs into the post-season tournament to face McNeese, a team UTA had hammered in conference play 111-77 and 100-87. The Mavs were the nail this time.

Assistant coach Joe Cravens said the team was looking at the McNeese game as "a stepping stone to Beaumont" where the first-round winners would play for the championship.

The stepping stone became the turtle to snap UTA 79-75. McNeese played one of its best contests of the season and UTA played like a team that didn't want to be there.

Although Tech and McNeese losses put a damper on the conference, the team was brightened by the all-conference squad. UTA won two of the three special awards, with LeGrand taking coach of the year honors and transfer junior Culton newcomer of the year.

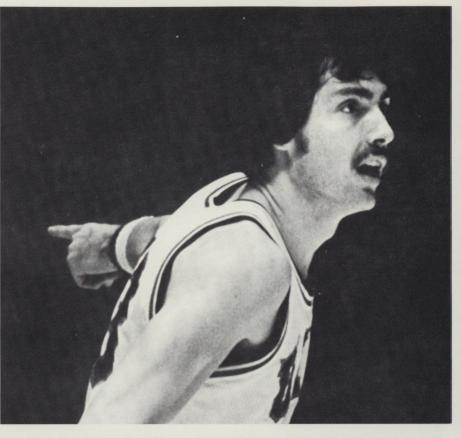

Culton was also picked first-team all-SLC. Polk and Ralph McPherson were named to second squad and Jeff Stewart honorable mention.

The team also gained some state notoriety by walking over three Southwest Conference teams during the season. TCU, SMU and Baylor all found places in UTA's victory column. — Rickie Windle

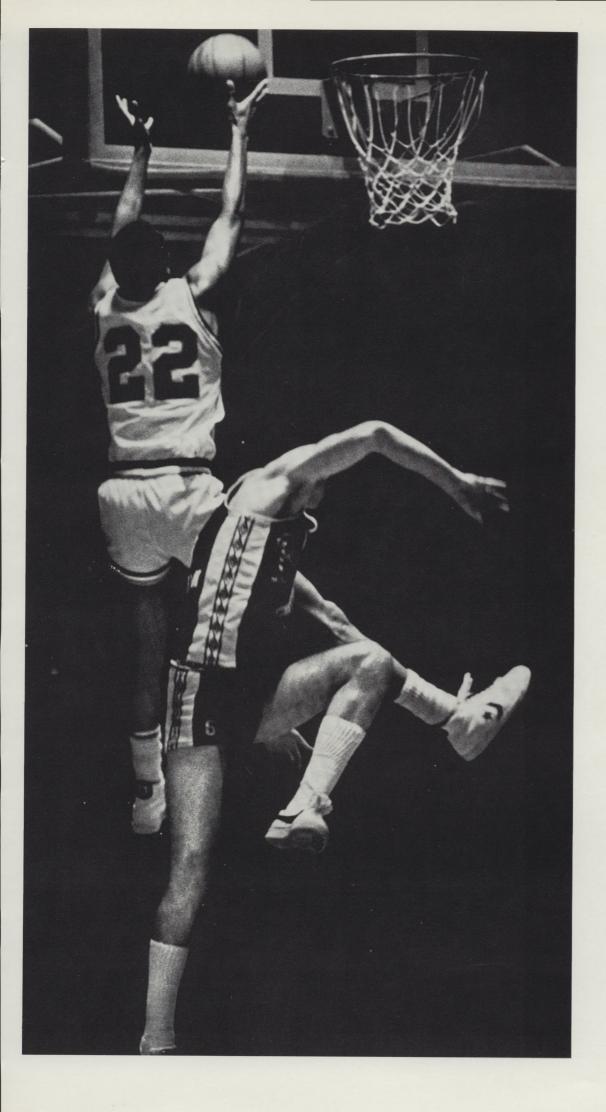

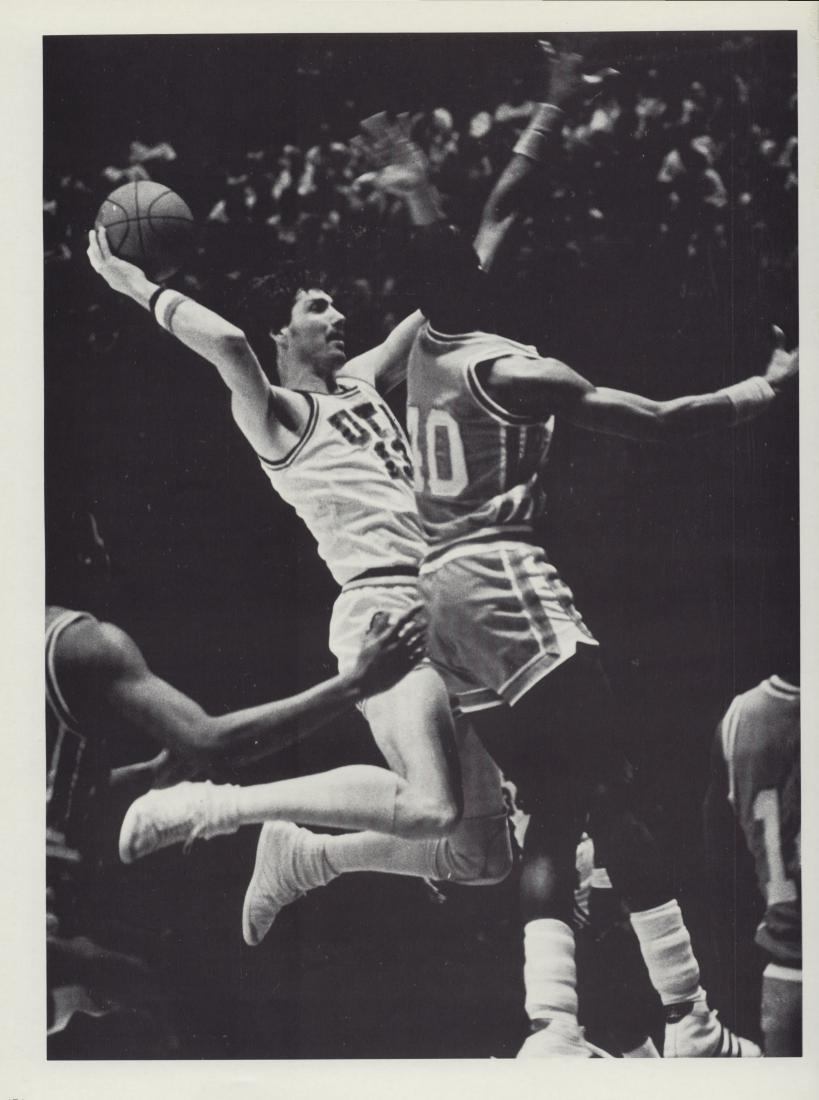

Opposite page: Guard Jeff Stewart puts one in the opposition's face, an action that brought rounds of "Stew" from Texas Hall crowds. Photo by Craig Fujii. Above: This year's winning season showed that all it took was victories to fill Texas Hall with loud home crowds. UTA set a single game attendance record in the middle of the season only to break it and set another later. Photo by Craig Fujii. Left: Al Culton comes down after doing a little skywalking and brings two points with him. Photo by Don Corzine.

Right: Ralph McPherson directs the defense while trying to maintain position under the basket. Photo by Wade Gates. Below: Guard Jeff Stewart turns on the afterburners to try and beat a McNeese Cowboy to a loose ball. Photo by Wade Gates. Opposite page: Mr. Basket, Melvin Polk, completely baffles an opponent and slides in for the two points. Photo by Bruce Davis.

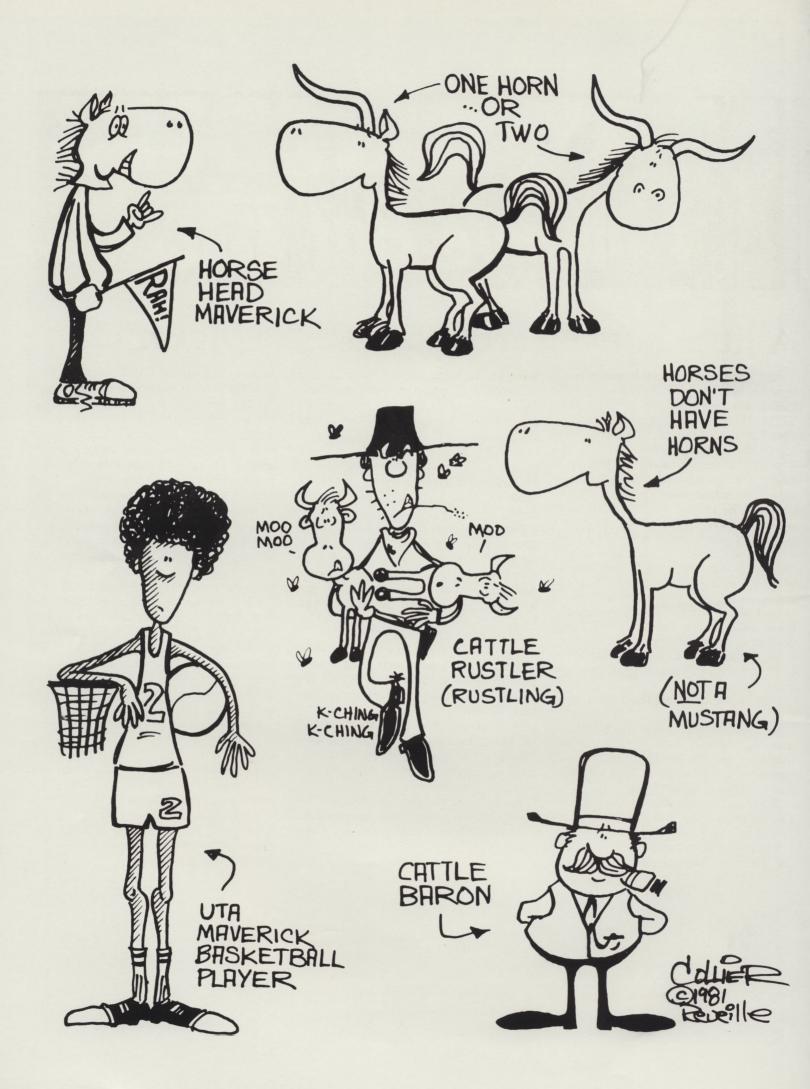

Opposite page: Ralph McPherson takes to the air and prepares for a jam against Louisiana Tech. Photo by Craig Fujii. Above: Coach Snake LeGrand provides his usual vigor in questioning where an official took his last vision test. Photo by Craig Fujii. Left: Louise Peppin sweeps away the first half mistakes and missed shots for the new period. Photo by Don Corzine.

May ERICKS Nowhere But UR!

A little horsing around with the Maverick

Just when you thought it was safe to cheer at a UTA athletic event, enter the Dallas Mavericks.

The Maverick here has long been the center of controversy and confusion. Arriving on the scene as a villian of sorts, the Maverick theme replaced the Rebels in 1970. The change tore school spirit to shreds and helped thrust the Maverick into obscurity. By 1979 no one was certain what the Maverick really was.

A lot of people thought Sam Maverick was the school mascot. A lot of people thought Sam Maverick was somebody at athletic events who wore a horse head. A lot of people thought the mascot was a horned horse. A lot of people thought the horse had one horn. Some said two. Some said horses don't have horns.

Some people thought the mascot was a cowboy and didn't know how the horse got into it.

A lot of people noticed there was a problem.

In 1979, The Athletics Events Entertainment Committee (A.E.E.C.) was established by President Wendell Nedderman to figure out who or what the Maverick was, and to reemphasize him or it.

What was found was that the mascot and the maverick are two different things — sort of.

The school spirit symbol is Sam Maverick. He's an historical figure — a cattle baron known for leaving his range animals unbranded. Hence, the word maverick entered the English language. The school's mascot is the Maverick, one of Sam's range animals.

It took a while for the findings to take hold. Initially the committee said Sam Maverick was a cattle rustler. By spring 1980 we were certain he was a cattle baron.

Now, how did all this confusion arise? It started in 1972, the year UTA moved its athletic events to Arlington Stadium. Back then Sam Maverick rode a real horse. Arlington Stadium officials said real horses weren't allowed on the stadium field.

Exit horse.

Gary Hill, who was Sam Maverick then, suggested Sam wear a horse head to compensate for the missing horse. Within two years no one was quite sure what was going on.

With the A.E.E.C. Sam Maverick was back in the saddle again, instead of looking like he should be under it. Unfortunately, that was also the year the Dallas Mavericks rode into town.

Norm Sonju, the man who brought Dallas major league basketball, bushwhacked Sam before he had time to develop a nice case of saddle sores.

Just as we were beginning to learn the name, it was stolen. Call it anything you want but stolen is the most accurate.

There were lots of excuses from Sonju like: we didn't know there was another area team with the same name. A lame argument considering an area campus populated by 18,000 people and a long flat football team building a 9-2 record.

Sonju's excuse finally evolved into the claim that we weren't really the Mavericks. This was a shocking revelation when you consider it took us 10 years to figure out that we were. Sonju's reasoning was that we were the "Movin' Mavs" or the "Mavs" while his team was the real "Mavericks." Sonju even had the bookstore infiltrated with "spies" to find out how many items said "Movin' Mavs" instead of Mavericks.

The Star-Telegram's sports pages supported Sonju's claim with the same argument, all the time referring to the Dallas Mavericks as the "Mavs" in their headlines.

UTA retaliated with bumper stickers proclaiming: "Mavericks, no where but UTA!"

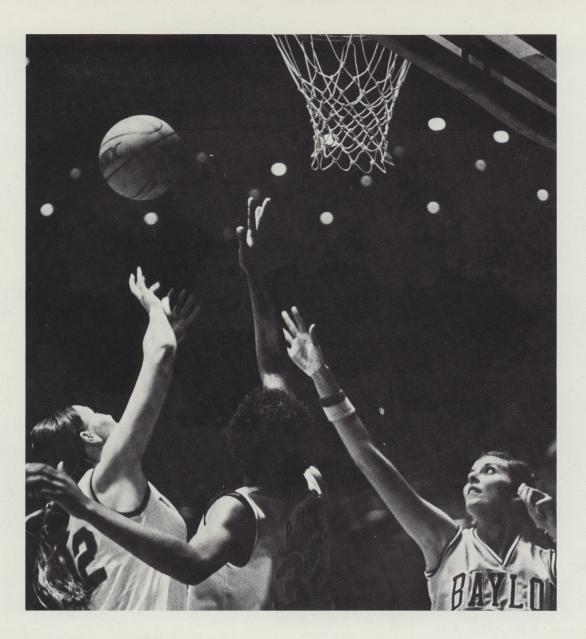

The Mavericks' trials and tribulations have subsided momentarily at least — we finally know what a Maverick is.

It's a Dallas basketball team that plays at Texas Hall and has a mascot that owns cattle and wears a horse head. Now wait a minute. — Dick Collier

Above: Guard Julie "Kansas" Coleman brings the ball down against the Oklahoma Sooners and sets the offense in motion. Photo by Bruce Davis. Right: Allison Gray comes in behind the pick of Linda Wright and tries for a basket. Photo by Ben Hatch. Opposite page: Linda Wright, bothered by a bad knee early in the season, battles for a rebound against the Baylor Bears. Photo by Donna Bagby.

Lady Mavs bounce back from slow start

The Lady Mavs basketball team was somewhat of a mystery. Like a boxer who had just taken a massive blow to the head and crumbled to the canvas, but at the count of nine sprang back up and delivered some killing blows, the team delivered some blows of its own.

After tripping along to a 10-15 record, the Lady Mavs weren't playing well, becoming somewhat of a doormat that set opponents salivating over a juicy win.

Suddenly, UTA dried up the opposition and took off on a seven-game winning streak that tied a school record.

The season started with Coach Connie Kelch almost in tears. Post Linda Wright began to have severe knee problems and it looked as if she might wear a redshirt in the stands instead of a blue uniform. Without the big player to pull down rebounds, Kelch knew she would be in trouble.

But Wright played — with a little pain and a lot of luck. And the team showed what they could be in a late-season game against SMU.

Despite the winning streak, that had just recently ended, the seeding committee for the state tournament did a Rodney Dangerfield routine and handed UTA no respect. The Lady Mavs were placed behind SMU, which just happened to be coming to town as the seedings were released. They left mumbling something about a women's basketball team scorned.

UTA fell behind by as much as nine points in the early going as the Mustangs had everything dropping. But the Lady Mays seemed to have a little extra motivation and pulled it even at 61 when the final buzzer came.

In overtime, the Lady Mavs seemed to know they couldn't be stopped and slapped the seeding committee and SMU 73-68.

But it was a last hurrah. The team slipped back into the old up and down style of play and could only pull out an 18-18 record. The true end came in the first round of state playoffs when Baylor put them down 84-68. But there was one humiliation left.

An extra game with Texas was on the schedule and after winning the state title, the Longhorns wanted to warm up for nationals with UTA. Kelch couldn't get out of it and a disinterested Lady Mav team marched to a 96-51 season-ending slaughter. — Rickie Windle

'Wheelers nab conference, miss nationals

In February the Freewheelers won their fifth state championship in six years.

That's where the good news ends and the bad begins.

The Freewheelers found that they were ineligible to compete in the National Wheelchair Basketball Association tournament to be held later that month.

"We really got shafted," Jim Hayes, director of handicapped student services, told the Shorthorn. "We sent in an entry for the tourney last June (1980) and got the news only three weeks before it's scheduled."

Hayes was told that the NWBA field would be expanded and that any team meeting NCAA standards could qualify for NWBA membership and be eligible.

Hayes said he'd been assured that the Freewheelers would not have to affiliate with the NWBA to compete. As late as January, the Freewheelers had not been informed of any problem.

Then in early February Hayes received a call. "They said since we are not a member of the NWBA, we couldn't win the title and we could compete only on an amateur status," Hayes said.

Affiliation with the association has its drawbacks, though. The NWBA rules prohibit playing for more than one NWBA team, and UTA has two players who also play for the Dallas Raiders.

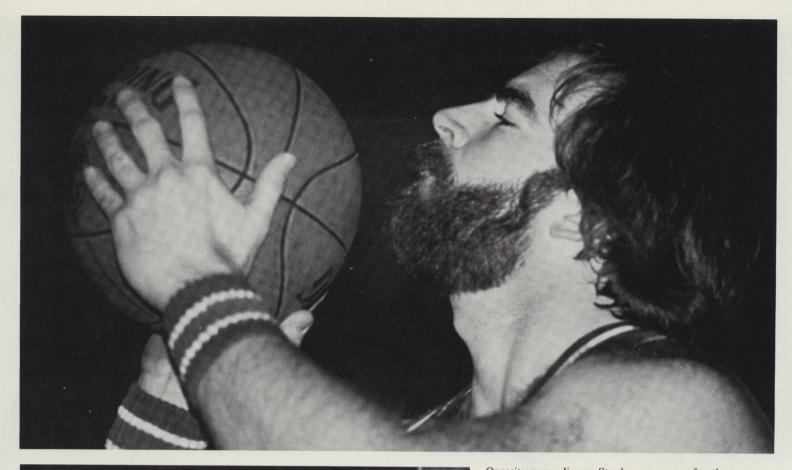

Also, the Freewheelers are in the Texas Intercollegiate Conference as are UT Austin, the University of Houston and Texas Tech. All of them are opposed to NWBA affiliation, hoping instead to work for NCAA recognition of wheelchair sports.

"We could affiliate with the NWBA today," Hayes said, "but it would tear up our conference, and we've worked long and hard building our conference up." The Freewheelers' reputation as one of the best wheelchair basketball teams in the nation may have been the reason the NWBA excluded the team. They are not alone.

"There are more teams not going than are going," Hayes said. "No team in our conference can go, of course, and teams like Kentucky and the University of New Mexico are in the same boat.

"If they want to play a tournament among themselves, there were four midwestern schools that participated in the "national" tourney which was held in Marshall, Minn. and call the winner the national champion, I guess they can. But I wonder how much credibility that the title will carry." — Dick Collier

4

Opposite page: Jimmy Strader maneuvers for the open shot in a conference game against Houston. Photo by Craig Fujii. Above: Strader draws a bead down the ball like a rifleman on a free throw. Photo by Wade Gates. Left: The team goes through strenuous workouts in the PE Building weightroom preparing for its conference battles. Photo by Wade Gates.

Lady Mavs skin Cougars in final 'burner'

The women's volleyball team seemed to spend the entire season trying to find some way over, under or around the Houston Cougars. In the end it discovered the only way was directly through.

The two teams were easily the cream of the Texas crop. They faced each other in the finals of state, regionals and nationals.

The Lady Mavs established their dominance in the national's game. Although the meet is arranged to try and avoid such rematches, it happened. The Cougars failed to answer the final bell in a seasonlong championship battle, falling 11-15, 16-14, 15-11.

"It was the best way we could end the season," coach Mary Ridgway said. "The game was a real barnburner — it was really close. The kids definitely wanted that match. It was the first time we ever finished above Houston at nationals."

The victory over Houston landed UTA in 11th place nationally, the highest ranked five-state region team.

It must have been a bittersweet match for Ridgway. Although her team defeated a top rival, it was the last time she would see several girls who had started for her after four years in blue and white.

Below: Women's volleyball coach Mary Ridgway. Photo by Wade Gates. Right: Lady Mav Lou Dunn spikes one into the Oklahoma defense. Photo by Donna Bagby.

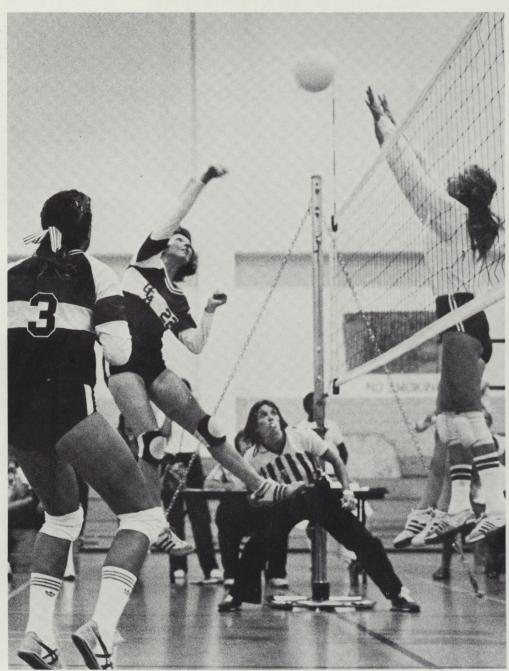

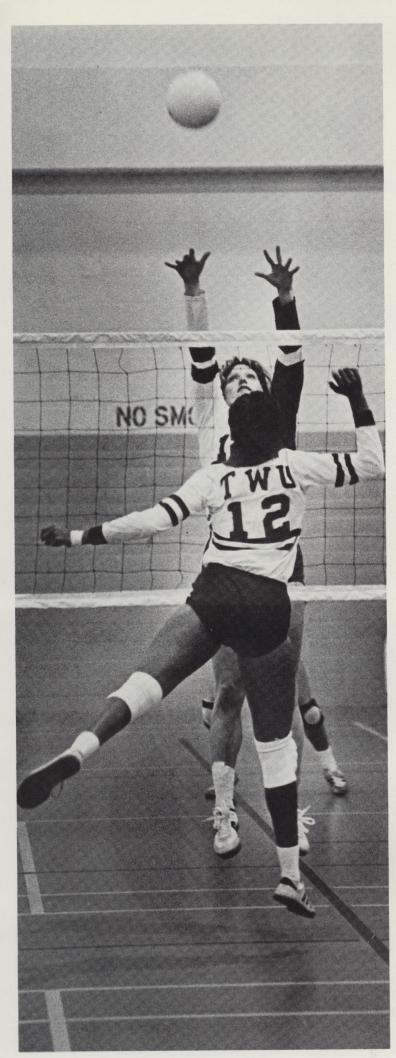

Julie LaRue, Kim Nieman and Teresa Smith all had outstanding years for their finales. Nancy Williamson was hampered by a shoulder injury, but was crucial in a regionals game with Houston that put UTA in the national tournament.

But she can look forward to a good nucleus. Terry Bagley proved herself to be the top setter in the region and began to show some offensive power in her sophomore season. Junior college transfer Carleen Abrams became a starter and team leader by mid-season. Spiker Theresa Noggler has yet to be totally stopped by an opponent in three years. Ridgway also has high hopes for freshman Stacey Youngblood, who showed flashes of spiking power in a back-up roll.

UTA finished with a 46-15 record, including three firsts, three seconds and one third in nine tournaments.

In its first year of official NCAA competition, the men's team refused to be outdone by the women. In an abbreviated schedule, the men were undefeated, claiming three tournaments and two dual meets.

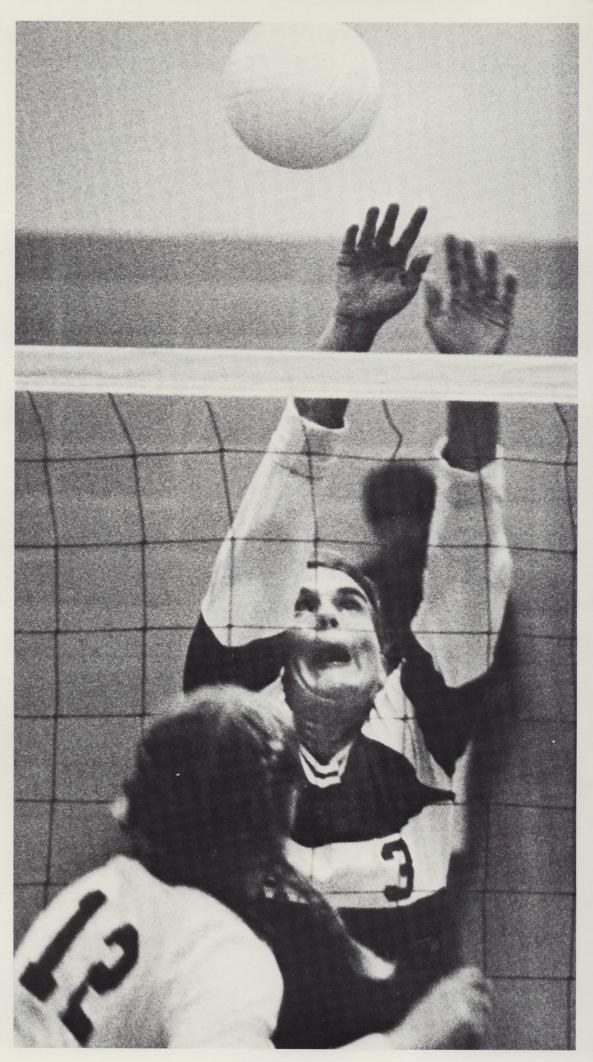

The team was led by Scott Hanlan's hitting, John Van's backcourt play and Andy Hallford's coaching.

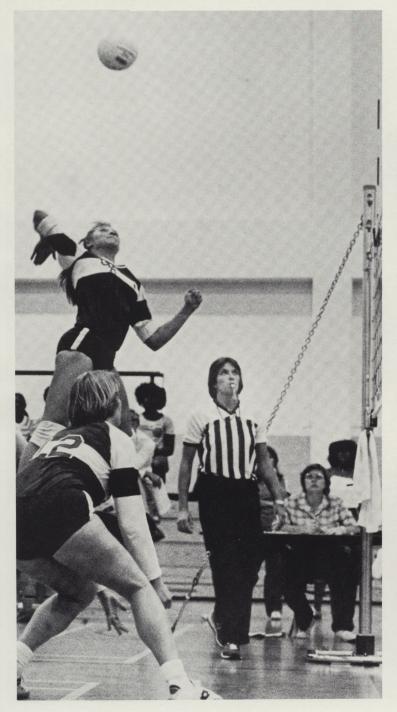

"I've never been as proud of any team I've been associated with," Hallford said at season's end.

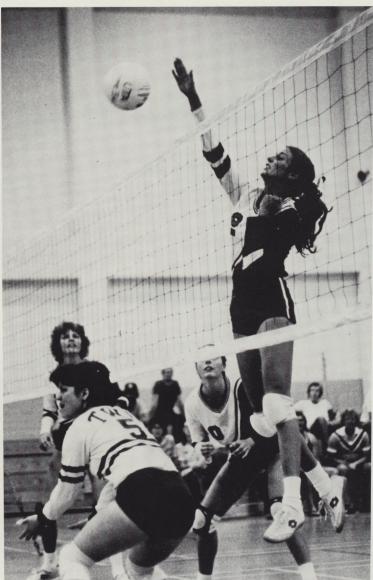

Men's volleyball was one of the sports promoted from club status to the athletic department's budget so UTA could remain in Division I of the NCAA. — Rickie Windle

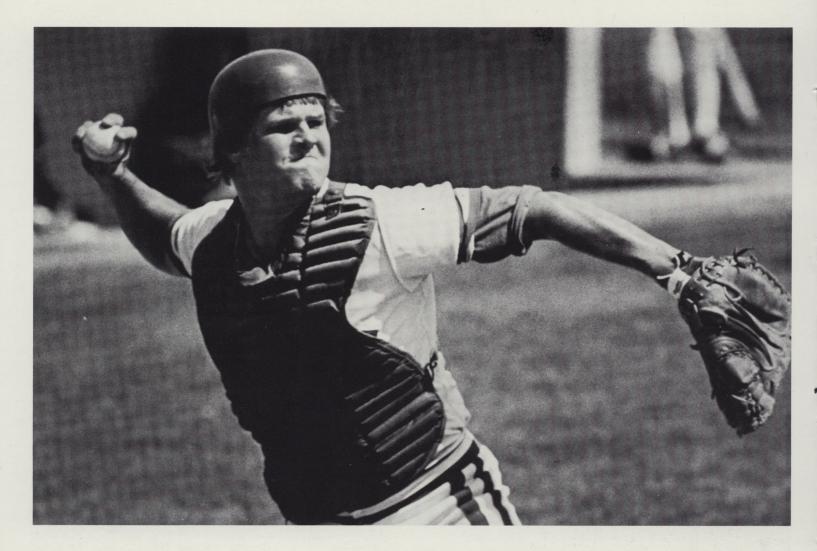

Left: Rising to the occasion against TWU. Photo by Bruce Davis.

Right: Lady Mav, Terry Bagley strains to block a spike. Photo by Donna Bagby. Below: Setting up for the kill. Photo by Donna Bagby. Below right: Lady Mav Kim Nieman drives home for the point to TWU. Photo by Wade Gates.

Lady Luck jilts baseball team for Lamar

The Maverick baseball team needed to collect a few more horseshoes and four-leaf clovers this year. They just couldn't get a break.

Last year, the Mavs were knocked out of the Southland Conference North Zone championship by a sudden game-ending homerun. This year they got a little farther, but it was the same story in the end.

After capturing the North Zone, the baseballers went into a playoff with Lamar for the conference championship and a place in the NCAA playoffs.

Losing the first two of the best-of-five series at Lamar, the home playoff game was a pitcher's duel. Lamar finally broke the deadlock in the seventh by scoring on shortstop Danny Smith's error.

In the bottom of the ninth, the Mavs managed to load the bases with only one out. Speedster Randy Thorpe was on third and David Abernathy was at bat.

Coach Butch McBroom called for the suicide squeeze where the runner breaks for the bag with the pitch and the batter tries anything to bunt.

But the UTA sign for recognizing the play is part of Abernathy's regular batting ritual. He gave the sign, but never picked up the play. Thorpe was nailed easily and Abernathy struck out to end the Mavs' hopes.

UTA reached the playoff by running over Louisiana Tech and Arkansas State. Conference play surprised many people as Louisiana Tech came to visit and was quickly demolished in four straight games. Considering the Bulldogs had just taken Arkansas State in four straight, logically it seemed UTA had the conference sewed up after only a few games.

But the road trip to Arkansas State turned out a little differently. The starting pitchers were thrown off rotation by a rainout day and McBroom had to go to his firemen in the relief staff. Those relievers were like gasoline to the Indians who exploded to take the series 1-3. A sweep of the Bulldogs at Tech would have given the Mavs the championship, but one of the largest crowds in years saw Tech pull one game out and postpone the UTA celebration. Arkansas State finally went down for the count to put the Mavericks into the final playoff.

All the UTA starting pitchers had good years, but Fred Wilburn, who threw a twohitter in the final Lamar game, was the stopper. He finished the year at 8-4. Mitchell was 8-1 and Curtis Kouba 6-3 to lead the staff.

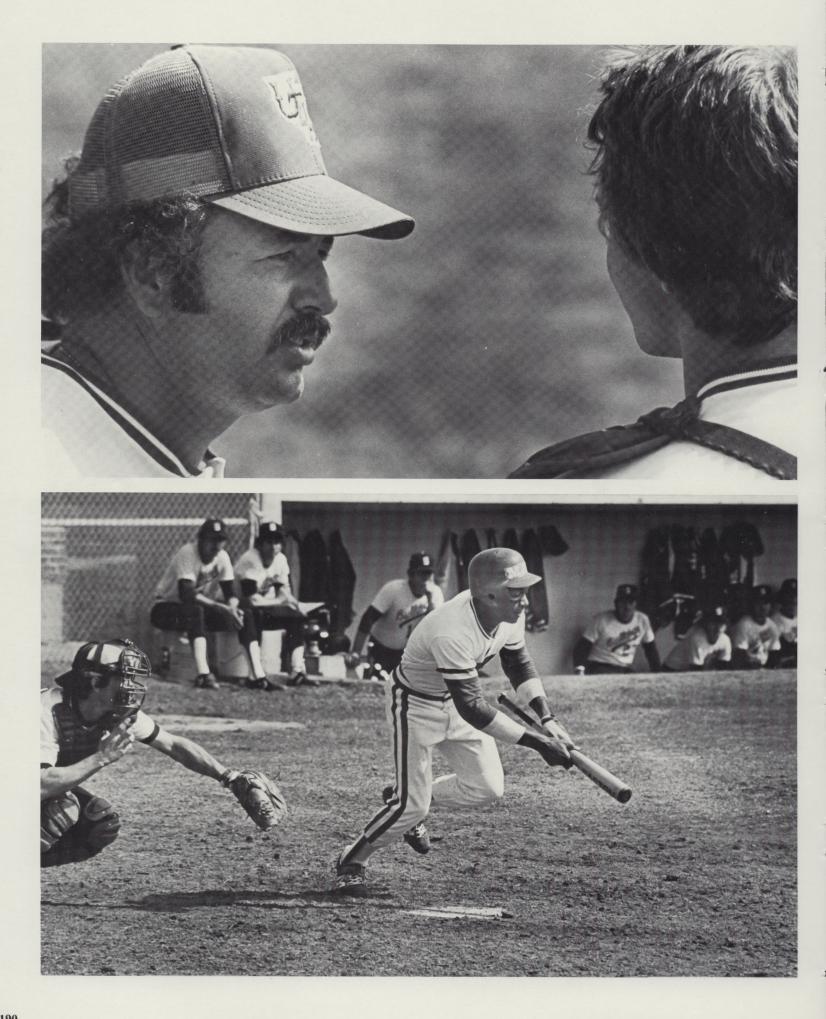

Randy Thorpe had an excellent year, setting a career NCAA record for stolen bases with 151. He also led the team in batting with a .355 average. His speed was a major factor in the Mavs outfield play. Curt Culbertson followed Thorpe in batting as a regular with a .313.

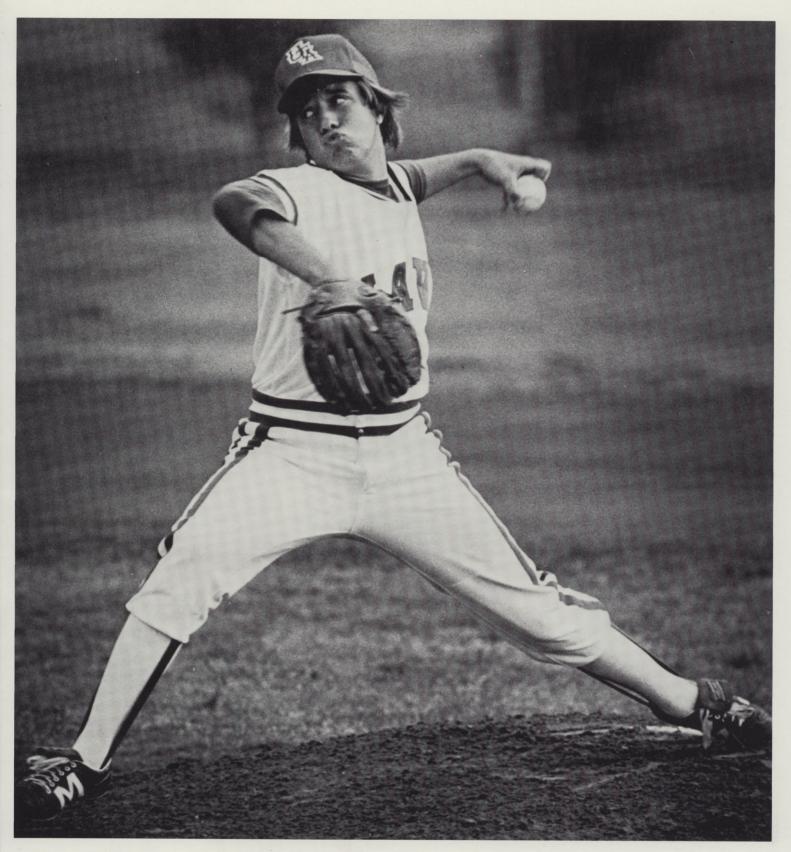

The team was obviously built around the large Arlington Athletic Center home. The Mavs were 30-8 at home and 8-15 on the road. — Rickie Windle

Opposite page: Catcher Ken Rose gets ready to fire one down to second and put an end to a thief's thought of advance. Photo by Craig Fujii. Left: Mike Crow takes a break in between one of the many doubleheaders the Mavs played during the season. Photo by Craig Fujii. Below: Freshman John Ford awaits the throw to just nick the runner and claim the out at first base. Photo by Wade Gates.

Above left: Coach Butch McBroom discusses the ins and outs of pitching with one of his catchers. Photo by Craig Fujii. Left: David Abernathy lays a bunt down the third base line and tries to fleet-foot it out. Photo by Craig Fujii. Above: Pitcher Jeff Swope puts total concentration in a throw. Photo by Sue Pyle.

Victory records tumble before softballers

Coach Randy Porter and his women's softball team set some high standards this season.

The team claimed a new record for most wins in a season with its 57. Porter nailed down his 100th victory in only his second year as the UTA mentor.

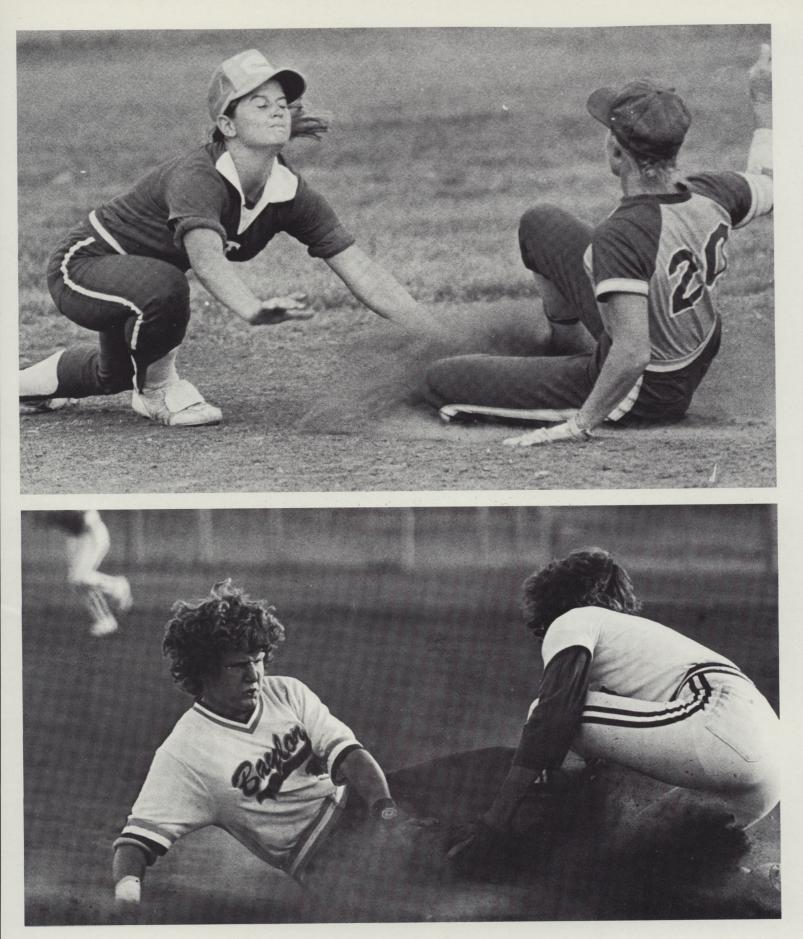

An outstanding fall helped the team to its mark with a sparkling 27-10. It tacked on a 30-24 spring ledger for the final 57-34.

Tracy Haynie led the pitching staff with a 22-12 record and a 0.73 ERA. Most importantly, she added 145 strikeouts. Kris Huitt also kept her ERA under one with a 0.80 and a 14-7 record. Debbie Brown rounded out the staff with a 20-13 mark and 1.26 ERA.

Jeannie O'Donnell easily led the offensive statistics with a .360 batting average and team-leading 90 hits. Outfielder Cindy Spradling led the RBI category with 46.

The team carried a .275 batting average with five players batting .280 or better. It also had a respectable .950 fielding average. — Rickie Windle

There were better teams in Texas than the Lady Mavs, but most of the time UTA made up for weaknesses in talent with determination and not being afraid to get down in the dirt and fight for runs, extra bases and outs. Opposite photo by Bruce Davis. Top photo by Marc Wallis. Above photo by Lee Laird.

Mav tracksters capture fifth in conference

The track season began with promise and ended with a rut.

The greatest promise was in Gilbert Smith's legs. Coming into his own as a world-class trackster as a junior, Smith turned the track world's head around with a second place finish at the NCAA Indoor Championships in the long jump, beaten out only by the super-talented Carl Lewis of Houston.

Smith proved almost unbeatable in the long jump, increasing his distance with each jump. He also began to come around in the 100-meter, running well enough to qualify for the outdoor nationals in both events.

But a track team is judged by team points. When the Southland Conference Championship came around, Smith contributed his points by taking first in the long jump and running a leg on the first place 400-meter relay team. Brian Gower also tossed in a first in the shot.

But in a finish that is beginning to haunt the track team, the Mavericks finished fifth in the conference.

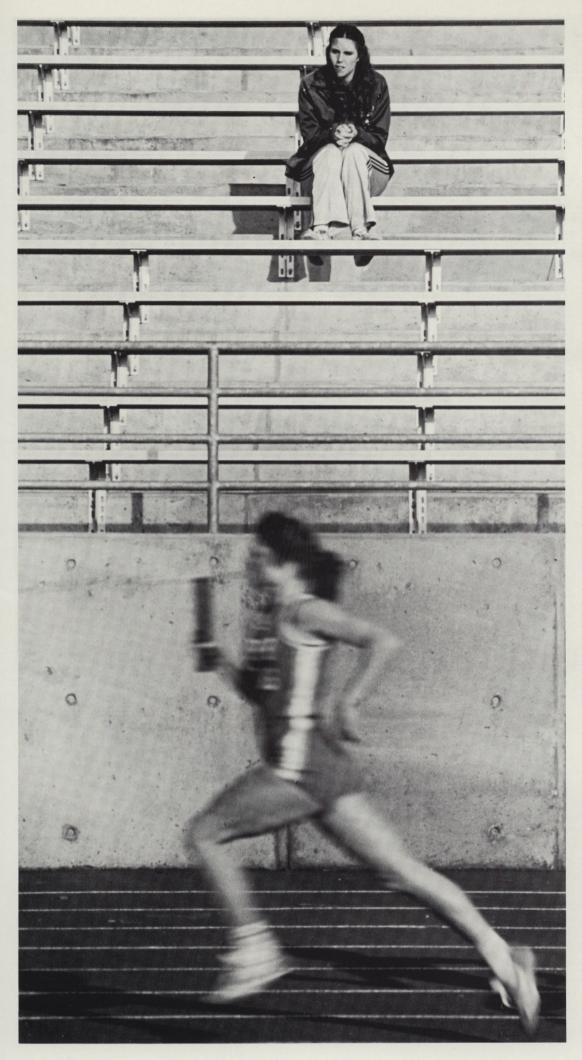

In addition to Smith's good showing, the 400 relay team of Anthony Gouldsby, Reggie Davis and John Love was impressive many times during the season, but lacked consistency.

Although the conference finish was disappointing, it was one of the better UTA teams, as evidenced by the school records that fell like dominoes during the season.

The women's team was a reflection of the men's in some ways, stronger in the field events than running. Dana Beckleman made a strong showing in the shot put, claiming two firsts. Theresa Smith was a bright spot in the long distance running events, but the women's program is still in its infancy at UTA.

The cross country team didn't fare any better than its shorter-winded counterpart. The Mavs finished last in the conference, with Larry Boatman's 14th the top UTA finish on the 10,000 meter course. He clocked in at 34.11. The team was hampered by a leg injury that slowed Don Taylor and forced him into 33rd. He had run competitively only twice before the conference meet. — Rickie Windle

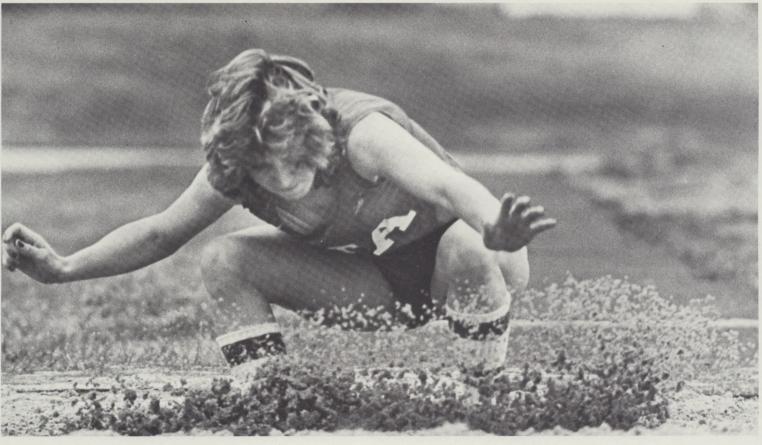

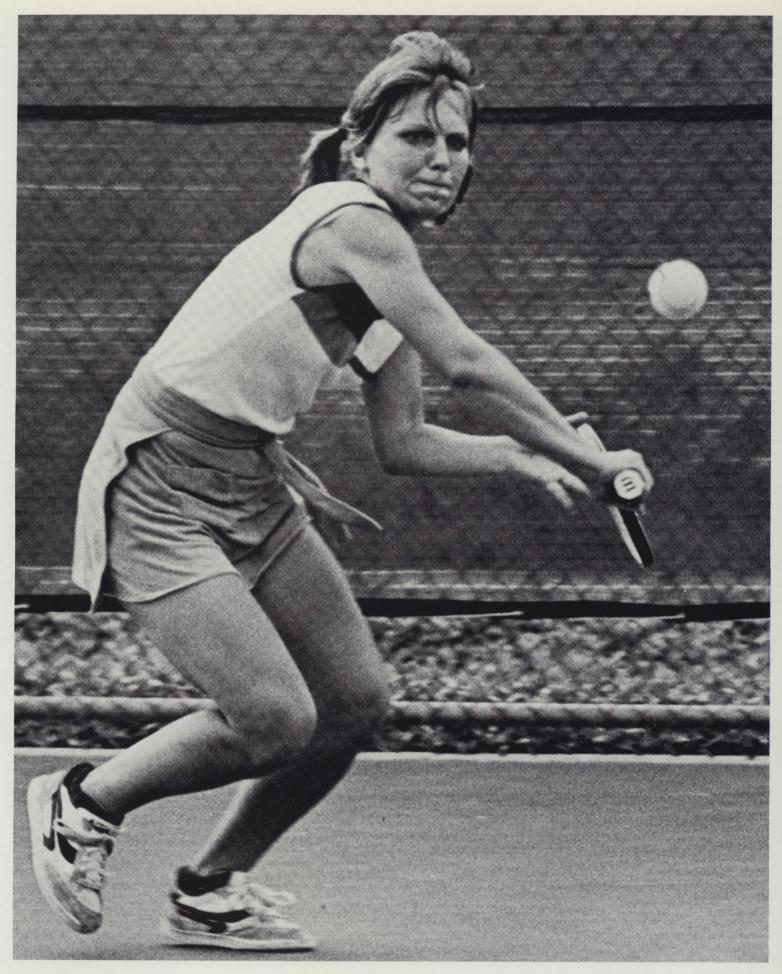

Left: Linda Wright watches as runner practices relays. Photo by Craig Fujii. Opposite page: Dana Beckelman strongarms the shot put. Photo by Wade Gates.

Barbara Drain puts forth her all in the long jump. Photos by Craig Fujii.

Trisha Miles and Steve Franklin work up a sweat on the court. Photos by Craig Fujii.

Netters finish last in first official season

When the NCAA expanded the number of sports it expected a school to support to remain in the top division, a natural choice for UTA was tennis.

The school already had an excellent facility in the Tennis Center and the sport is relatively inexpensive to support. It's also a sport the Southland Conference has a championship in. With those factors supporting it, Athletic Director Bill Reeves set the UTA Movin' Mav tennis team in motion for its first season.

Coached by Margie Pressley, the team mainly played much smaller schools such as the University of Dallas and McMurry. The young team was able to hold its own against that type of opponent, but when it came to conference, experience showed and the Mavs finished last.

Minor sports growing as athletics expands

Above: A pistol team member draws a bead on raising his score. Photo by Don Corzine. Right: Weightlifter Ed Urbina strains to heft a few extra pounds. Photo by Craig Fujii. Opposite page: George McMann pops one out of the grass and onto the green. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Errol Flynns fence swath to victories

All dressed in white, face hidden by a mask, the fencer waits for the call. "Fence!" yells the bout director.

No Richard Chamberlain antics here, but rather a carefully regulated sport based on courtesy. "Fencing is controlled aggression," said fencing coach Steve Vandenberg.

Though it is one of the 12 original events of the Olympics and a common sport in Europe, fencing is not popular in America.

"People expect to see swashbuckling adventure and it isn't like that," said Vandenberg.

Fencing is one of the newest sports here and one of the more successful teams this year.

With a small budget, they receive their equipment from the Amateur Fencing League of America for meets and use the P.E. department's uniforms. "The uniforms are not always adequate for meets," said Vandenberg.

When Lamar and Arkansas State came here for a meet, they had to stay with our fencers. Sleeping bags were wall to wall in Brazos dorm rooms.

Three days at a meet limits study time. Fencers from all teams pull out books and study. Sweats, foils, half-eaten apples, masks and bottles of Gatorade line the gymnasium walls. Little balls suspended on string are parried in Luke Skywalker fashion.

Fencing is a misunderstood sport that doesn't cater to spectators. It is a growing sport though with enrollment in P.E. classes increasing and therefore a larger number of possible recruits for the team.

"Everyone on the team should be back next year. I don't have any seniors," Vandenberg said.

The bout ends. A teammate unhooks the wires from the loser. A pat on the back and then all the padding is removed. Hot and sweaty, the fencer sits and watches the next bout. No bloodshed, just quiet concentration.

- Carla Adams

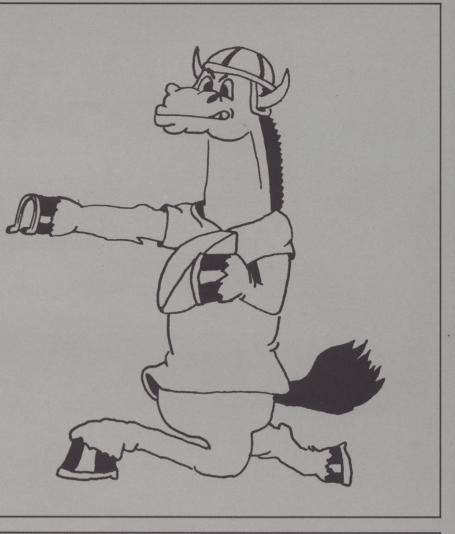

Right: This isn't a scene from "Attack of the Killer Bees," but just a UTA fencer assuming the position. Photo by Wade Gates. Opposite page: Although fencing can be a sport that resembles ballet, it can also become a little awkward-looking at times, too. Photo by Wade Gates.

Football

Overall Record 3-8

Opponent		UTA
NTSU	31	14
NW La.	38	31
SMU	52	16
Drake	30	20
West Tex. St.	38	26
New Mex. St.	30	10
La. Tech	20	21
McNeese	31	17
SW La.	30	13
Ark. St.	14	36
Lamar	27	44

Basketball

20-8 overall record, record for wins as a major college team —

Third place SLC finish, National Invitational Tournament team lost in first round

Coach Snake LeGrand — SLC Coach of the Year, Al Culton — Newcomer of Year and first team All-SLC team —

Melvin Polk and Ralph McPherson second team All-SLC, Jeff Stewart — Honorable mention —

Culton and McPherson team leading scorers with 15.4 a game, Culton leads SLC and team in rebounding with 9.8 a game.

Baseball

38-23 overall record, record for wins — North Zone of the Southland Conference champions —

SLC and school record set for most triples in a season (34) —

Most complete games pitched (34) — School record for most consecutive wins (11) most double plays (48) —

Randy Thorpe records: SLC and school record for career triples (16), career runs scored (190), career walks (176), NCAA career record for stolen bases (151), leading team batting with .355 average, named outstanding offensive player at UTA and NCAA All-District 6.

Women's Volleyball

Overall Record 46-15

11th place nationally, second in regionals

Three firsts, three seconds and one third place finish in nine tournaments played during the season.

Women's Softball

Overall Record 57-34 School record for wins in a season — Fall Record 27-10, Spring 30-24 — Second Place finish in regionals — Tracey Haney 22-12 pitching record with 0.73 ERA — Jeannie O'Donnell leading batter with .360 average — Cindy Spradling top RBI with 46.

Women's Basketball

Overall Record 18-18

Seven game winning streak that tied school record —

Defeated in first round of state playoffs — Top scorer and rebounder Carolyn Smith 12.4 points a game and 7.5 rebounds.

Participation growing in intramural sports

When ex-football coach Jim Garrett sponsored the first intramural event, a tug of war, he began 15 years of fun and games. More than 50 activities including parties, sports and festivals are offered through student and faculty-staff intramurals.

New events and sports are brought about by "listening and looking," said Doug Kuykendall, intramural director. "When several people come and ask for a particular sport, then we know there is enough interest."

A favorite event that faded with the energy crisis was college drag racing. There were over 200 cars from the metro area at the first race. UTA became national champions in college drag racing.

One sport that came about accidentally was broom hockey. The intramurals sponsored ice skating nights and more than 300 people showed up for the first night. Wanting to add another ice sport, intramurals decided to try broom hockey, a popular sport up North. "We thought we would be lucky to get eight teams," Kuykendall said. "We had 16 teams of 10-12 people the first season."

Broom hockey has become the third largest sport following basketball and softball. There are 70 teams on the men and co-rec leagues with the sport being offered the fall and spring semesters.

Racquetball became popular the day the Activities Building opened four years ago. "Everybody just went crazy over it," said Kuykendall. About 40,000 court reservations are made a year which is a small percentage of the 272,197 people that participated in intramurals last year.

Frisbee golf received its start when a company donated funds for the course. The Frisbee Club president designed the course. There were already club members playing the game using trees, stumps and signs. "Anyone can throw a frisbee some distance," Kuykendall said. "It's a very popular sport."

The first Coors Intramurals Festival in Texas was held at UTA last April. The festival rotates from school to school each year. Because the event was so popular this year there will be the first annual Coors campus Intramurals Fest. "It will be a lowkey games day that students can participate in between classes," said Kuykendall. Events will include an orange pass, a threelegged race and a frisbee toss.

Kuykendall hopes that there will be increased emphasis on co-rec activities and less on competition. "We would like to decrease factors that encourage aggressiveness," said Kuykendall. Intramurals also hopes to do away with trophies and points, and if possible officials. "We want people to play just to play."

I was sitting in the Brazos Dorm lobby looking bored when the dorm director came and asked me if I would like to play intramurals flag football. Since the only thing I had left to do that night was study, I decided why not. Something was up when the director said he had to leave and could I get a team together. After calling everyone in the dorm, I finally found enough people for a team. My blockers, providing they ate a big dinner, weighed about 200 pounds.

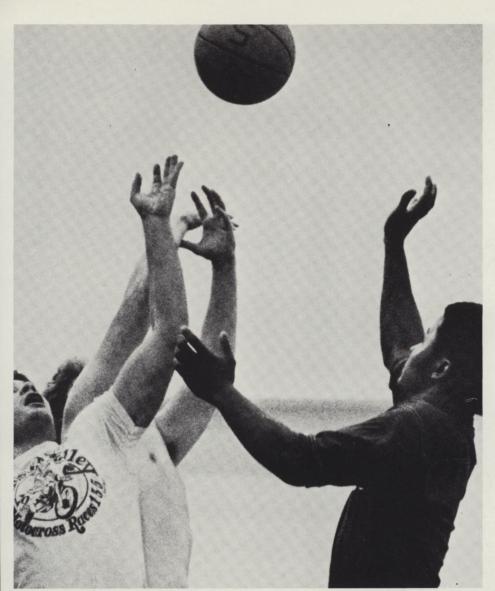

Miraculously we won our first game. Everyone was surprised that a dorm team could actually win a game. We had our new-gained confidence knocked down by the next team we played. As quarterback I completed nine out of ten passes. Unfortunately eight were to the other team and one was a desperation pass to the center who was ineligible.

The next sport on the schedule was softball, not to be confused with baseball. The dorm and independent league is usually made up of guys that wish they could be baseball players with a few individual stars.

The problem with the league is that half the scheduled games end up in forfeits. It seems when a team starts losing, they forget to show up, leaving the other team alone on the field. No win is less gratifying than a forfeit.

This doesn't seem to be the case in all the leagues, however, as softball remains one of the top three intramural sports. Apparently the teams that quit showing up don't remember the intramural slogan: The only loser is the non-participant.

Basketball is the biggest sport in intramurals as far as attendance is concerned. Basketball, unlike the other intramural sports, is not strictly for fun. The competi-

The court size and equipment change throughout intramural sports. Opposite page photo by Don Corzine. Left photo by Wade Gates. Below photo by Craig Fujii.

UT ARLINGTON ADLINGTON ARLINGTON

ompetition second place to enthusiasm

(cont. from pg. 206)

tion is fierce. Teams have winning on their minds and it seems anything would be done for victory. Referees should be paid double in this sport because some disgruntled player is always screaming.

The university playoffs are made up of the top two teams in every division. There are some first class players making a good basketball game as evidenced by the large amount of fans that attend.

Without a doubt, the best sport played all year is broom hockey.

What do you expect out of a sport that is played on ice while wearing tennis shoes and hitting around a deflated volleyball with a broom?

Craziness is the rule and not the exception. A player never leaves the rink without a few bruises, but because of all the fun you don't feel the pain, at least not until morning.

There are very few goals scored in the three quarters allotted, but when a point is made, the emotion is reminiscent of the U.S. hockey team's win over the Russians.

In my Adidas sports shorts suit, I step into the racquetball court with a racquet in hand, a glove on and eye protectors in place. I might not be impressive in action but at least I look good.

My opponent is a blond girl with a Playboy Bunny body. I'm not worried; these girls have no muscles.

Crouched low, the first serve comes by. Whiz! I stand up and look around. What's one point?

After five beautiful serves, the ball is returned. She misses. No sweat, it's my turn. I saunter to the line. Calm and cool the ball flies back to the blonde. BAM! On the return it hits me in the back. The pain is immense.

Throughout the series of three games, I find myself hit by the ball and my racquet several times. It seems I'm on my knees every other shot.

After the blonde shakes my hand telling me what a gracious loser I am, I hobble, head up, to the locker room.

Before the mirror I gaze at my red sweaty face. My knees are bruised and I have a racquet imprint on my right leg. A fun sport? You bet! We masochists love it!

"Got to keep running," my mind was yelling over the pain. After two miles in the 6.2 St. Pat's Day run, I was ready to quit.

I had trained for a month running two or three miles faithfully every night. A friend had told me that after two miles it would be easy. "Running is psychological," she had said. I didn't know nausea and muscle cramps were psychological.

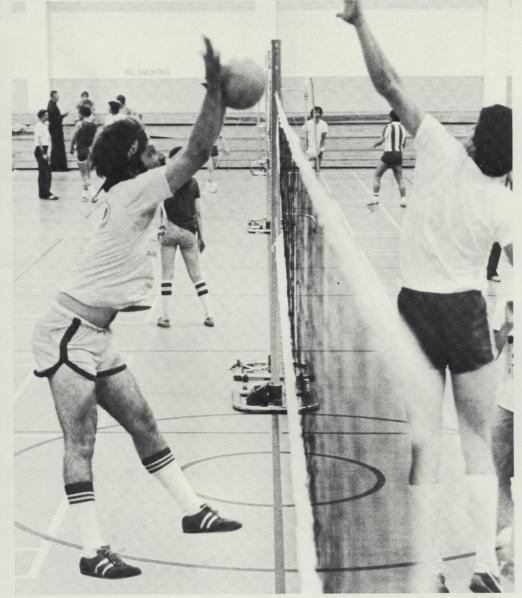

My thoughts tried to forget running baseball, school, running. This was not working. Work, food, water, sleep, pain, running. Psychology was not working.

Plod, plod. All of a sudden - zoom! Three wheelchairs passed me by. I wanted to quit. After passing them up a hill, they would fly by down the hill. Ah, well, it's you and me tennis shoes.

The end was in sight now. "Lite beer -FINISH" in big letters the banner overhead said. "Lite beer? I just ran six miles and you give me lite beer?"

My running career has ended now, at least for a while. Whenever some crazy urge to run overwhelms me, I just sit back and remember all the pain and heat. With a sigh, I smile, "Not tonight, no running tonight." - Carla Adams and Brent Southern

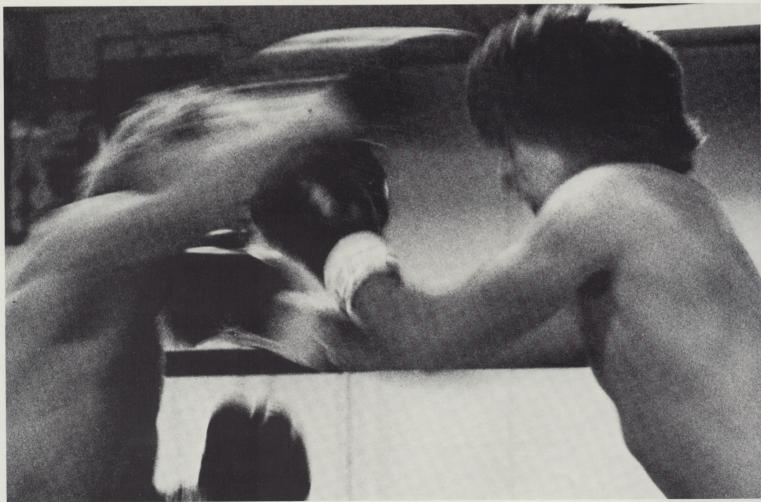

Singing in the intramural follies or playing volleyball — there is something for everyone. Opposite page photo by Craig Fujii. Above photo by Don Corzine. Left photo by Craig Fujii.

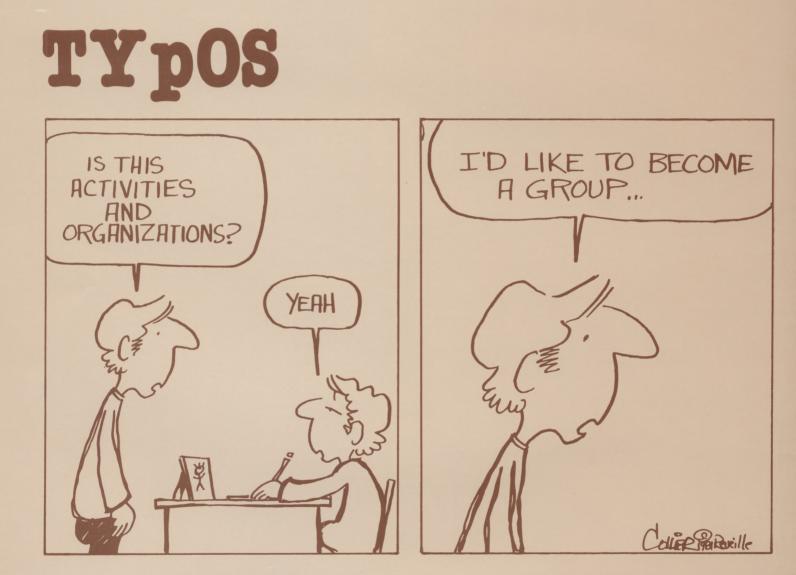

Sigma Phi Epsilon sponsored Fight Night, a crowd attracter. Photos by Donna Bagby.

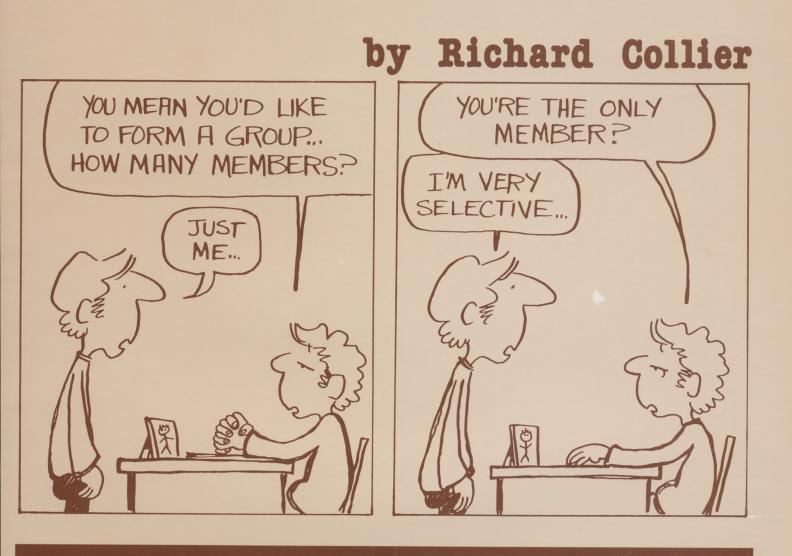

Ice and sweat combine to create the atmosphere of intramural sports. Above photo by Don Corzine. Left photo by Wade Gates.

Groups

The muck and mire of Greek fashioning

A mud-covered girl in a hot pink fashion sweatsuit screams as two of her sorority sisters wash her down with a hose.

At the end of a mud slide stand five young men dressed in shorts. One wears a yellow shower cap. They are built like football players and stand with arms crossed.

At the other end of the mud slide stand five photographers, cameras ready.

A name is yelled and one of the men begins running towards the mud. He jumps and slides head first. Mud splatters and shutters click simultaneously.

A cheer arises from fraternity brothers and their sorority sisters. Another yell from different Greeks comes for the next mudslider.

A demolished watermelon lays on the ground. Pieces of the emerald green shell are scattered, stepped upon. Dirt and ants are mixed with the once sweet red meat.

Whipped topping covers a picnic table, left over from a pie toss. Several girls sit cautiously at the end of the table, carefully avoiding the mess they've created.

Beer cans — Coors, Lite, Budweiser, Miller — lay crushed on the ground. A smiling male walks by carrying an open bottle of beer in one hand and a spare in the other.

Why wasn't I a Greek?

People and more people come down the staircase. With the chance of rain, the Greeks moved their Block Party to the Gulch. Within an hour, there is no space to move.

Beautiful girls in beautiful dresses, country girls in Wranglers, J.R. jeans, Dallas jeans. Fashion is everywhere, only the names are different.

And the guys — tailored with buttondown collared shirts and tightfitting jeans. Sleeves rolled up and gold watches flashing in the light. Their hair is so perfect, so clean, squeaky clean.

They laugh and they dance and they drink beer. There is such style in the way a beer is held. One hand holds the beer around the top of the glass, pulled close to the abdomen, the other hand is in a pants' pocket. It's comfortable, it's casual and if you don't look closely it's done without self-consciousness.

The air is filled with flashing smiles, platitudes and good-natured teasing. Earrings sparkling, high heels clicking, waists accented by a gold belt, legs exposed with a gliding walk.

And at the end of the bar stands a Dry Gulch employee wearing a blue Gulch work shirt. Lost in a world of beautiful people, she stands watching the movements and games, thinking of the long hours to come, the glasses to be collected at closing. God, why wasn't I a Greek?

The 25 Greek groups were divided into six teams for Greek Week competition. So many points were awarded for first, second, and third place.

Overall Greek Week winners:

First: Fijis, Phi Mus, Pi Kappa Phi, Kappa Alpha Psi;

Second: Pike's, Pi Kappa Alpha, Delta Zeta, Omega Psi Phi, Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Kappa Alpha;

Third: Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Phi Alpha;

Talent Show Winners: Pikes, Delta Zeta, Omega Psi Phi, Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Kappa Alpha;

Chili Cook-Off Winner: Delta Upsilon, Delta Delta Delta, Zeta Phi Beta, Kappa Alpha;

DU's Spring Festival Winners: Delta Upsilon, Delta Delta Delta, Zeta Phi Beta, Kappa Alpha;

Bowley and Wilson Concert (based on attendance): Fijis, Phi Mus, Pi Kappa Phi, Kappa Alpha Psi;

Brains' Bowl Winners: Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Phi Alpha;

Greek Week Queen: Kelly Moore. – Carla Adams

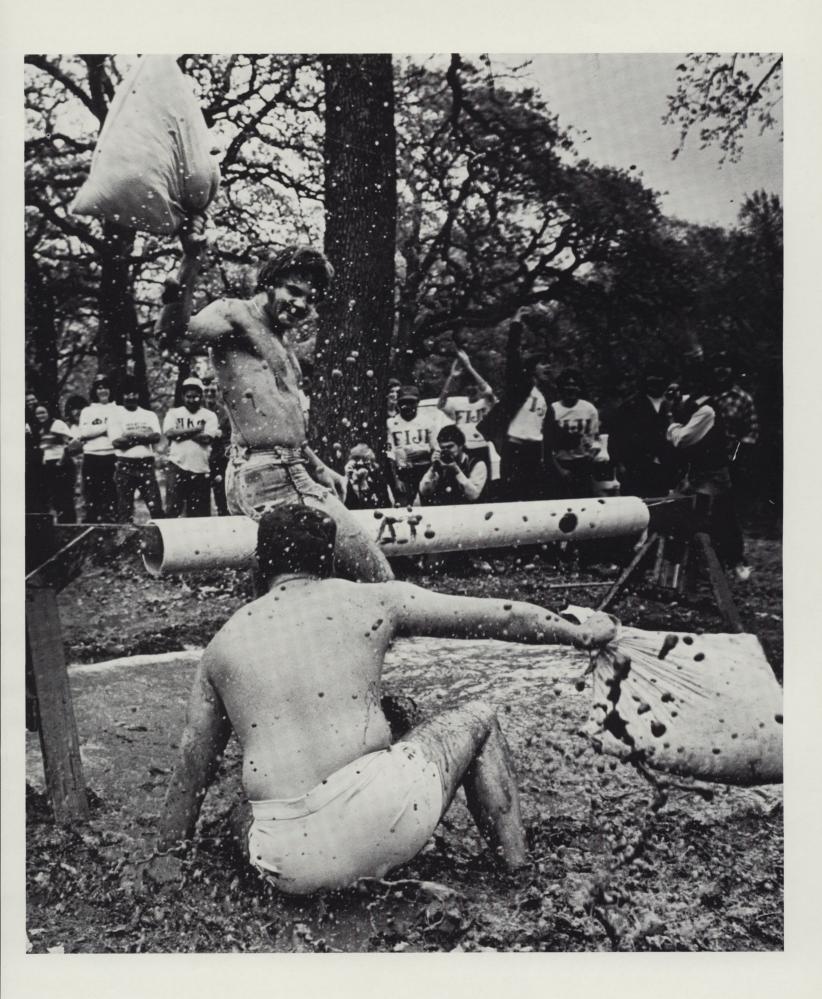

Opposite page and top: A tug of war proves that tension can be healthy. Photos by Wade Gates and Craig Fujii. Above: Kevin Reichenstein gained some clothing after the mannequin-dressing contest. Photo by Wade Gates. Left: Greek Week queen Kelly Moore. Photo by Craig Fujii.

Above and top: Kent Klepper charges for the pie and the prize. Photos by Wade Gates. Opposite page: In a glop of mud, the opponent is defeated. Photo by Craig Fujii.

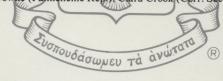

Above and right: After the eating is over, the wreckage is left behind. Photos by Wade Gates. Opposite page: Mud-sliding was another event during Greek Week. Photo by Craig Fujii

Social

Above: First row, Karya Wilson, Cindy Kuhlman, Tina Strain, Kathy Sampert, Dawne Poslik, Larissa Sandlin. Second row, Lisa Provost, Marla Cook, Donna Evans, Penny Shortridge, Tracy Frederick, Laura Bowers. Third row, Kathy Browne, Joy Sparks, Allyson Bradley, Stacy Burrs, Vicki Wingard, Teresa Wigley, Leslie Hyden. Fourth row, Ed Gray, Claire Kelly, Karen Olson, Ellen Brown, Connie Gilliland, Rosanna Sandlin, Lori Hutchinson, Guy Lissak. Right: First row, Suzanne Ivie (Pres.), Linda Caruthers (Song Leader). Second row, Joy Sparks (Soc. Chairman), Vicki Wingard. (Second Vice Pres.), Dawne Polsik (Treas.), Teresa Wigley (Scholarship), Leslie Hyden (Activities). Third row, Claire Kelly (First Vice Pres.), Rosanna Sandlin (Warden). Ellen Browne (Panhellenic Rep.), Clara Crook (Corr. Sec.).

The Alpha Chi Omega chapter had an eventful year highlighted by the opening of their new lodge. They participated in the Phi Delt Winter Olympics, the Delta Upsilon Spring Festival, and intramurals. They built a float for the homecoming parade with the Phi Delts, and threw a Fall Bash in October.

Above: First Row, Kellie Agan, Michelle Frenette, Suzanne Ivie, Melisa Robinson, Pam Key, Linda Caruthers, LaVonda Fuhrman. Second row, Larissa Sandlin, Cheryl Tucknies, Amanda Barmby, Lisa Roberts, Beth Gibson, Maria Gray, Joanne Bridges, Lisa Graffigna. Third row, Dave Hanson, Laura Cheatum, Kim Elinski, Dana Pryor, Patricia Glover, Cindy Murray, Andrea O'Flaherty, Janet Hill, Mary Leech, Clara Crook. Fourth row, Kent Marr, Janine Chaires, Dana Reynolds, Kelly Burns, Cindy Washburn, Margaret Barnhill, Diane Bezdek, Kelly Lehman, Hank Jacobs. Left: First row, Kellie Agan, Michelle Frenette, Tina Strain. Second row, Patricia Glover, Laura Bowers, Connie Gilliland, Leslie Hyden.

Alpha Chi Omega

Alpha Phi International Fraternity was active in all Greek activities and intramurals. Their philanthropy, the Heart Fund, benefitted greatly from their Valentine lollipop sale.

Above, First row, Patti Webb, Cathy Gordon, Laura Burnham, Vicki Fields, Donna O'Reiliy, Paula Allen. Second row, Allison MeHan, Lee Yankee, Rhonda Yancey, Teena Parsons, Pam Hughes, Misti Balke. Third row, Barbara Carter, Kim Werdman, Lisa Morchart, Donna Sulak, Vaterie Tressler, Kathy Kramer, Right: First row, Kari Waldrup (House Manager), Jean Bates (Public Relations), Carolyn Sees (Admin. Asst.), Monica Pohle (Chaplain). Second row, Rhonda Yancey (Social), Allison McHan (Philanthropy), Amanda McRaney (Guard), Paula Allen (Rush), Kay Tunstill (Pres.). Third row, Donna Sulak (Frat. Trainer), Carol Shear (Panhellenic), Valerie Tressler (Treas.), Kim Werdman (Sec.).

Above: First row, Suzann Harryman, Monica Pohle, Jean Bates, Carolyn Sees, Kit Howe. Second row, Zaneta Perry, Carol Shear, Suzanne Ashmore, Terry Edwards, Kay Tunstill, Lisa Roof. Third row, Susan Kubiak, Brenda Jo Claytor, Barbara Claytor, Cheryl Grefenstette, Kelly Snyder, Donna Ellenburg. Left: First row, Chuck Wagner, Greg Barbosa, Kevin Kenney. Second row, Steve Rackley, Reid Dickson, Bruce Fatheree, Mike Werdman, Doug Bourque.

Alpha Phi

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Inc. sponsored many projects this year on and off campus. The purpose of this sorority is to promote high scholastic and ethical standards, to maintain a progressive interest in college life, and to be a service to all mankind.

Above: First row, Shirley J. Alexander, Star Bagley, Lee Reynolds, Freda Smith. Second row, Annelle Brewster, Cynthia Smith, Paula A. Rhymes, Bonita G. Haynes, Debra Woolen. Not shown, Mary A. Moore, Catherine Smith, Vanessa A. Robinson, Carolyn K. Kelly, Wanda Holiday, Toni Hightower, Kimetra Lewis, Joyce Wilkes. Right: First row, Bonita Haynes (Vice Pres.), Elfreida Smith (Pres.). Second row, Annelle Brewster (Rec. Sec.), Star Bagley (Parl.). Not shown, Catherine Smith (Corr. Sec.), Carolyn Kelly (Treas.), Kimetra Lewis (Dean of Pledges), Mary A. Moore, Vanessa Robinson, Wanda Holiday, Toni Hightower, Joyce Wikes.

Alpha Kappa Alpha

Beta Theta Ri built a reputation of achievement, through leadership and involvement. The Betas also participated in off-campus activities by selling refreshments at Arlington Stadium. In memory of alumni member, Chuck Faulhaber, the group initiated a scholarship fund in his name.

Above: First row, Charles Farmer, Joe Phillips, Jim R. Sharp, Ed Langenderfer, Stephen Locke, Second row, Pat Norris, Mark Vokes, David McDonald, Steve Brown, Kevin Kennes, William Bond, Left: First row, June Bondurant, Marlinga Baker, Second row, Natalia Mueller, Cathy Bigel, Kathy Baker.

Beta Theta Pi

The Delta Delta Delta sorority has built an excellent reputation for achievement in all areas of campus life. Raising money for the National Philanthropy Cancer Research for Children, winning the Winter Olympics, and receiving the Sorority Scholarship Award, the Tri Delt's completed the year with many accomplishments. The year ended with a retreat to Glen Rose where the newly elected officers were trained.

Above First row, Judy McDonald, Lisa Cawthron, Barrie Howard, Lori Brainard, Tammy Agee. Second row, Sydney Barney, Susan Clutts, Susan Connell, Kathy Ziegler, Jane Dees, Karen Driskill, Lori Howell, Etaine Jarzamski. Third row, Kathy Dillon, Vicki Clements, Kristi Ziegler, Mary Carr, Kathy Reamer, Jerri Hutchison, Anita Eckholm, Nancy Engle, Pam Robinson. Fourth row, Chandler Pollard, Kathy Cranfill, Betsy Bell, Jeanette Kolesar, Greg Underwood (Big Brother), Lourdes Hudson, Julie Gustafson, Kim Hawley, Right: First row, Julie Odom (Marshal), Kim Hawley (House Pres.), Betsy Bell (Frat. Educ.) Second row, Kathy Hewitt (Hist.), Jerry Reynolds (Big Brother), Julie Hart (Recording Sec.), Third row, Alison Camp (Publicity).

Delta Delta Delta

Above: First row, Kay Kelley, Renee Taylor, Susan Andriseski, Lisa Lummus, Nancy Curton, Sherri Wicker, Mary Washington, Jessica Anderson (Chapter Advisor). Second row, Kim McQueen, Julie Cejka, Susan Mann, Elizabeth Toland, Kathy Hewitt, Debbie Gann, Michele Rastrehhi. Third row, Nancy Barnett, Molly Yates, Janie Hatt, Julie Hart, Grace Stephens, Cynthia Shobe, Julie Odom, Carolyn Mentesana. Left: First row, Judy McDonald (Rush Chairman), Kristi Ziegler (Pres.), Carolyn Mentesana (Pledge Trainer). Second row, Julie Cejka (Treas.), Anita Ekholm (Executive Vice Pres.), Grace Stephens (Chaplain).

Above: First row, Joel Walters, Bruce Hulsey, Brad Weaver. Second row, Greg Skoczlas, Ky Bishop, Steve Summers, Tom Chick, Unite row, Kyle Stockton, Ronnie Bantz, Jerry Schorder, Mike Varrichio, Darrel Wilson, Fourth row, Chuck Brack, Chris Arrington, Don Dungan, John Sledge, Gary Whitley, Tony White, Right: First row, Co. Esthel Stroube, Randy Beckham, (Chapter Advisers). Second row, Beaux Riley (Pres.), Ky Bishop (Rep. Sec.), Gary Smith (2nd Vice Pres.), Tom Chick (Vice Pres.), Bob Rubel (Asst. Treas.).

Delta Tau Delta sponsored a Jog-A-Thon for the Arthritis Foundation, and a statewide softball tournament. The Delts captured the intramural football championship.

Above: First row, Jeff Richard, Blake Seaton, Chris Bell, Brent Dodson, Raymond Spangler. Second row, Billy Rhodes, Mike Valentine, Gary Murphree, Kevin Reamer, Bob Wilbanks, J. R. McKnight. Third row, Craig Williams, Bob King, David McIntyre, Col. E. O. Stroube, Randy Beckham, Al Tarrant, Al Mitchell. Fourth row, Tony Lipscomb, Bobby Wright, Steve Matney, Jeff Morrison, Tom Reinhardt. Jeff Cross, Kevin Otto. Left: First row, Carol Rye, Shelby Sleeper, Tina Strain. Second row, Jan Pointer, Kristy Seay, Gary Smith, Kristi Watson.

Delta Tau Delta

One of the oldest social organizations, Delta Upsilon has acquired recognition both socially and athletically. In intramurals they achieved three first places in tennis, swimming, and broomball. They also supported all athletics by attending home and road games. The DU's sponsored a haunted house and the Delta Upsilon Spring festival benefitting cancer research.

Above: First row, Scott Harms, Mark Richards, Steve Gonzales, Jim Darwin, Jim Singleion, R. Scott Layman, Gilbert Jordan, Steve Harms, Second row, Greg Goombi, David Andrew, Brian Korbs, David Bragg, Tom Galbreath, Richard Hoofard, David Brouillard, Philip Rushing, Steve Sheperd, Third row, John Daniel, Paut Hegwer, Terry Moore, Ron Hass, Greg Adams, Glen Everhart, Brian Diddle, Bobby Stone, Fourth row, Dick Withers, Kevin Hampton, Mark Kopp, Bill Johnson, Kenth Miracle, Keith Olson, Doug Chandler, Wayne Wilson, Right: First row, Scott Layman, Bryan Riddle, Brian Korbs, Scott, Harms, Second "row," David Andrew, Greg Goombi. Third row, Glen Everhart, Greg Adams, Mark Kopp. Not pictured, Robert Dillon, Ed Garza, Frank Queen, Brad Suggs, David Miller, Craig Smith.

Above: First row, Philip Rushing, Mark Richards, Jim Singleton, Steve Harms, Steve Gonzales, Gilbert Jordan. Second row, Steve Sheperd, Rick Hoofard, Tom Galbreath, Jim Darwin, David Brouillard. Third row, David Bragg, Paul Hegwer, Ron Hass, Wayne Wilson, Bobby Stone. Fourth row, Keith Haswell, John Daniel, Keith Miracle, Keith Olson, Bill Johnson, Kevin Hampton, Doug Chandler. Left: First row, Jim Darwin (Sec.), Gilbert Jordan (Treas.). Second row, Tom Galbreath (Vice Pres.), Keith Miracle (Chapter Relations), Jim Singleton (Pres.).

Delta Upsilon

Delta Zeta sports a long list of accomplishments both nationally and locally. This makes the second year the UTA chapter has received the top award for all Delta Zeta chapters in Texas. Some of their campus accomplishments include First Place Greek Week and the All Sports trophy.

Above: First row, Cheryl Phillips, Kathy Vastine, Nancy Grunewald, Missy Harbers, Shannon Sinith, Kelli Welch, Second row, Tracy Booth, Sue Wardlow, Cindy Singletary, Keri Key, Rhonda Pullar. Third row, Kay Helzer, Kelly Eidson, Tracy Sims, Jamie Davis, Beth Taylor, Tammy Moore. Fourth row, Bonnie McMurrey, Tarri O'Luary, Pati Sanders, Annette Griffin, Jan Gibson, Maria Umana.

Below: First row, Tammy Trotter, Darla Parker, Tami McMullin, Lark Barker, Patti Valentine. Second row, Ellen Bothner, Louri O'Leary, Suzan Herskowitz, Cindy Brennan, Tammy Peacock, Shedera Bates, Connie Moorehead. Third row, Mindy Kunze, Karen Driggers, Lisa Hayden, Janna Tunnell, Stella Bennett, Linda Romanski, Melissa Simmons, Nell Huebner, Kathy McAlpin. Fourth row, Libby Pollard, Stacey Lyons, Lisa Moorehead, Stacy Harrisberger, Connie Wernli, Pat Brown, Cindy Maeckel, Natalie Mueller, Jennifer Cotten.

Delta Zeta

Delta Zeta

Above: Frist row, Connie Moorehead (Vice Pres. Pledge Trainer), Kathy McAlpin (Pres.), Karen Driggers (Vice Pres. — Rush Chairman). Second row, Ellen Bothner (Treas.), Shedera Bates (Rec. Sec.). Third row, Patti Balentine (Corr. Sec.).

The Homecoming spirit award was presented to the Kappa Alpha Order. During the year, they organized a Muscular Dystrophy Dance Marathon and an Old South Week to raise money for MD. On January 19, the KA's celebrated Convivum, the celebration of Robert K. Lee's birthday and the founding of the Order.

Above, First row, Rich Block, Gene Sanders, Reid Dickson, Tim Horak, Greg Barbosa, Eric Nedderman, Second row, Bill Trenshaw, Alan Bettram, Jim Spencer, Josh Abelson, Gene Brown, Raul Guerrero, Steve Lee, Steve Bavidson, Brian McDearmon, Scott Sansom, Third row, Mark Blacknon, D. Hunt Smith, Scott Hughes, James Kiraly, Douglas E. Colley, Mark Pearl, Gary Harnist, Fourth row, Brent Upchurch, Mike McGee, Jimmy Prince, Terrence I. Telligman Jr., Clarck Mitchell, Dale Dadley, Greg Jung, Martin Lisius, Left: First row, Vicki Fields, Robyn Reinhard, Lark Barker, Second row, Tina Moore, Elizabeth Toland, Third row, Cindy McCann.

Kappa Alpha

Putting forth a great effort for the Cook Children's Hospital and Means on Wheels, the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity gave the campus recognition in community affairs. Campus activities included the recruitment of potential voters to vote in national elections and the participation in intramurals.

Above: First row, Howard Inglehart, Phillip Jessie, Clifford Hoskins. Second row, Willie Thomas, Byron Holmes, Gary Baily, James Lawrence, Richard Beene. Third row Danny Williams, Marion Thompson, Darryl Lewis, Byron Williams, Prentice Harper. Right: First row, Howard Inglehart, Byron Holmes, Gary Bailey. Second row, Prentice Harper, Willie Thomas, Darryl Lewis, Byron Williams.

Kappa Alpha Psi

Delta Sigma Theta is a service organization concerned with academic excellence and public service. They were involved in many projects dealing with needy families. They also participated in a Black History program, Kidney Fund Drive and a Thanksgiving musical.

Above: First row, Wanda Rance, Gwen Briggs, Cynthia White, Second row, Denise Pendleton, Karen Jefferson, Gale Edwards, Priscilla Angton, Left: First row, Lotna, Hunter (Treas.), Cynthia, White (Fin. Sec.). Second row, Gail Edwards (V. Pres.), Karen Jefferson (Pres.).

Delta Sigma Theta

Zeta Phi Beta, a service organization, has made many contributions to both campus and community affairs. Putting forth an extra effort in helping the citizens of the community, the organization has been actively involved with a sentor citizens home and a children's hospital. The Zeta Phi Beta's also provided food baskets for the needy during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Above: First row, Kay Martindale, Lisa Rayson, Joyce McClenton, Valrie Sullivan, Second row, Konetta Davis, Yvette Hemphill, Gwendolyn Mays, Sharon Jones, Nedra Truesdale, Right: Joyce McClenton (Vice Pres.), Sharon Jones (Treas. and Sec.), Valrie Sullivan (Pres.)

Zeta Phi Beta

Above: First row, Robert Shaw, Toni Osei, David Carr, Marvin Mayberry, Larry Ladell Norris. Second row, Louis Porter II. Thomas Lewis, Anthony Renard Reed, Keith R. Johnson, Michael Brockman, Gregory Smith, Third row, Andre Langford, Ken Hollins, Darryle Bates, Ron Thomas, Sherman Canady, Clifton Jones, Left: First row, Thomas Lewis, Michael Brockman, Tony Reed. Second row, Ralph Holloway, Ken Hollis.

Phi Beta Sigma, nicknamed "Brothers of the Dove," sponsored a national service project with March of Dimes. They also helped the needy with Project SAD (Sigma Attacks Defects). Social events included the Blue and White formal ball, a voters' registration drive, and a celebration in honor of Martin Luther King's birthday.

ØBC

Phi Beta Sigma

Above: First row, Scott Nichols, Nick Stautzenberger, Marc Taddonio, Willie Dominguez, Jeff Swope. Second row, Gene Bough, Kurt Betzel, Steve Johnson, Steve Barber, Scott Smith, Third row, Marty Damskor, Ronnie Medaris, Dave Nikirk, Mickey Grasty, Charlie Fulkerson, Rory Saleh Greg Benson. Fourth row, Steve Hill, Tracy Mollenkopi Steve McDonald, Rick Smith, Steve Goss, Greg Horn, Mike Sauethage. Right: Julie Celka (Sweetheart).

As one of the largest fraternities on campus, Phi Delta Theta is a social and service organization. Their community service efforts include working with the Panther Boys Club of Dallas. Socially, the UTA chapter hosts the Tri-State Convention for all Phi Delts and the annual Winter Olympics. Other activities include participation in intramurals.

Above: First row, Eddie Bales, Mike Loughan, Brett Woody, Bruce Sorelle, Roy Anderson, Mike Stanley, Mark Lacourse, Chris Smith. Second row, Zach Scott, Greg Underwood, John Stoner, Greg Miller, Mike Hanson, Richard Parsley, Terry Williams. Third row, Micadale Brock, Mark Worthy, Greg Odom, Ken Bachelor, Mark Krantz, Scott Norris, Marc Allen. Fourth row, Dixon Holman, Andy Swartzfager, Kevin Adamson, Mike Bandy, John Otto, Randy Phillips, Doug Eberhart, Mike Cadena. Left: First row, Roy Anderson (Chapter Advisor), Mike Loughan (Pres.), Mike Stanley (Chaplain). Second row, Eddie Bales (Vice Pres.), Mike Cadena (Warden), Andy Swartzfager (House Manager), Charlie Fulkerson. Third row, Mark Krantz (Sec.), Randy Phillips (Pledge Trainer), Greg Horn (Treas.).

Phi Delta Theta

Pi Kappa Alpha held a golf tournament for their philanthropy, the National Big Brothers of America. They also participated in intramurals and the Thanksgiving Turkey Trot.

Above: First row, Bruce Summers, Joe Kelly, Dan Gardner, Stewart Campbell, Doug Meneley, Second row, Mike Near, Chip Purcell, Cam Anderson, Rob Quarles, Will Ross, Chuck Wilson, Steve Pyburn, Scott Ake, Third row, Broda McAllister, Ricky Neidham, Trip Marston, Mark Owens, Jim Thomas, David Greer, Russel Rabee. Fourth row, Andy Hudson, Ed Gray, Thomas Geyer, Richard McCarver, Chet Gray, Dave Cameron, Jerry Hector, Mark Johnson. Left: First row, Maria Gray, Laura Bowers, Cissy Elko, Lynda Rice. Second row, Jennifer Cotten, Peggy Finner, Brenda Garcis, Cathy Tabor. Third row, Trey Tibbets (Vice Pres.), Jeff Dempsy (Pres.), Kent Marr (Treas.), Paul Morinella (Sec. not pictured).

Phi Gamma Delta

Phi Gamma Delta members raised money for Muscular Dystrophy through a joint effort with Kappa Alpha fraternity. Other activities included a Cook's Childrens' Hospital Christmas party, Big Brothers golf tournament and YMCA fun run.

Above: First row, Mark Kiefer, Russ Hammonds, Pat Clark, Bret Messer, Tony Johnson, Brayn Popkins, Jeff Acus. Second row, Karl Zimmerman, Jason Ditto, Greg Mince, Mike Mannion, Jay Montya, Dan Ferraro, Rick Jeanes. Third row, Mark Tompkins, Dan Henke, Bruce Dolenz, Mark Smith, John Burnam, Jerry Reynolds, John Valentine, Right: First row, Elleen Moore, Mike Sweet, Cindy Ramzel, Robert Gudall, Chris Suges, Jimmy Lester. Second row, Derrick Korab, Billy Hunniout, Lem Davis, Steve Batche, Hugh Fraser. Third row, Kevin Manion, Robert Grosythe, Rick Galloway, Anthony Miculka.

Pi Kappa Alpha

Above: First row, Machelle McCauley, Jennifer Briggs, Nadine Morse, Laurie O'Dwyer, Elleen Moore, Chris Suggs. Second row, Marsha Fogle, Cindi Osterhout, Sally Wills, Melissa Eddy, Leslie Epperson, Linda Gibbons, Devona Cox. Third row, Betsy Berry, Donna Hawthorn, Brigid Dolenz, Teresa Vineyard, Marie Everlein, Nancy Devlin. Fourth row, Stephanie White, Arlene Berry, Sandy Potapous, Christy Ford, Tammy Johnson, Shelly Anderson, Michelle McLeod. Right First row, Lydia Trostel (Panhellenic Rep.), Susan Williams (Pres.), Tina Morton, (Corr. Sec.), Marsha Fogle (Membership Sec.). Second row, Brenda Garcia, (Phi Director), Kim Nelson (Treas.), Stephenne Webb (Rec. Sec.), Elizabeth Williams (Vice Pres.).

The Phi Mu's participated in activities such as a slave sale, Sigma Phi Epsilon Water Carnival, and the kidnapping of fraternity presidents. They also had a Carnation Ball and worked in the Phi Delta Theta Winter Olympics. Kelly Moore won an award for the most money collected for the KA's dance marathon.

Above: First row, Jerry Fitzik, Lydia Trostel, Ruth Wilson, Maxi Harrison, Rekha Rao, Loretta Montoya. Second row, Laura Gilbreath, Lynn Andrews, Tina Morton, Louise Reagan, Stephenne Webb, Kelly Moore. Third row, Rebecca Parker, Gina Morton, Diane Riell, Marlinda Baker, Kim Nelson, Jan Wnorski, Elizabeth Williams. Fourth row, Susan Williams, Brenda Garcia, Diana Otto, Donna Bice, Kathy Baker, Tracy Crossman, Cathy Eigel.

Above: First tow, Teena Parson, Debbie Husbands, Donna O'Reilly, Gina Mosiman, Jim Sharpton, Second row, George J Cooke, Bill Tedder, Third row, Aaron Beck, Raul Prince, Norry Niver, Str Dickey. Fourth row, Don Prince, Charles Johnson, Steve Hampton, Tom Bradley, Andy Barter, Right, First row Jeff Hale (Treas), Donald Agee (Sec.), Second row, Marty Buchanan (Vice Pres.), Alan Peische (Pres.), Bruce Fatheree (GFR),

Sigma Nu

This year' the members of Sigma Nu fraternity co-sponsored a project with the Arlington Big Brothers Association to take children to baseball games. Their national philanthropy is St. Jude Children's Hospital.

Above: First row, Jim Lewis, Julia Lang, Cheryl Stroope, Anne Holland, Steve Williams, Second row, Steve Vaughn, Tim Donovan, Mike Kinney, Mark Fin. Third row, Greg Voight, Mike Monroe, Joe Stinson, Bob Lewis, Greg Hunt. Fourth row, Robert Linnstaedt, Gary Smith, Andy Schaefer, Doug Arthur, Brian O'Donnell.

The brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon sponsored Sig Ep Fight Night this fall. In the spring, they sponsored the Sig Ep Water Carnival that benefitted McDonalds House, and the Tri State Softball Tourney that benefitted the American Heart Association.

Above: First row, Kevin Seydler, Steve Mokszycki, Joe Sacks, Chris Springer, Dave Lane, Ken Babcock. Second row, Bill Stephens, Will Boyd, Bob Scott, Lance Johnson, Greg DeGarmo, Tony McCoy, Chuck Wagner. Third row, Darrel Corry, Daniel McNeil, David Albone, Rick Leblanc, Bret Groom, Jim Taylor, Jim Taylor, Jim McCrieght, Steve Rackey. Right: First row, Angie Engfurtner, Louise Regan, Kelly Sprinkle. Second row, Rhonda Walsh, Liz Papgeorge, Thersa Wigley.

ΣΦΕ

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Above: First row, Pat Walsh, Jamie Bain, Mark Warren, Russell Rosenstein. Second row, Chuck Boone, Kevin Conley, Rick Morrow, Tim Flint, Mike Leith, Scott Castleberry. Third row, Keith Wilheim, Mark Brittan, Dub Nelson, Carl Pryor, Larry Stephens, Craig Stevenson.

Above: First row, Susan Dollar, Melanie Douglass, Terri Roberts, Carol Gentry, Karen Walker. Second row, Kathy Fisher, Tammy Gallion, Jean Sledge, Teresa Gendron, Christie Bible, Marta Bailey, Sharon Beane, Third row, Janet McClaron, Stasia Stebler, Carrie Lettie, Darla Havensite, Kristy Seay, Gayle, Harris, Marta McGarrah, Cathy McLean. Fourth row, Anne Messier, Dhelia McBrinn, Laura Watson, Melissa Winder, Susan Van Noy, Kelli Kidd, Jackie Wood. Right: First row, Carol Rye, Kristy Watson, Kristy Seay, Cathy Spirsy, Second row, George Fettinger, Laura Lively, Naney Malone, Jackie Gay, Amy McGlasson, Gary Smith, Third row, Steve Klosa, Jerry Schroeder, Gary Whitley, Tom Reinhardt, Chris Arrington.

Zeta Tau Alpha

The women of Zeta Tau Alpha participated in all intramural sports. They sponsored two fund raising projects for their national philanthropy, the Association of Retarded Citizens.

Above: First row, Susan Thompson, Cathy Tabor, Lynda Rice, Cissy Elko, Terry Crumpton, Kathy Keith, Shelly Jones. Second row, Rhonda Gumfory, Anne Cantrell, Debbie Cordell, Sharon Strickland, Deidra Jackson, Robin Choate, Cathy Brandon, Cindy Crawford. Third row, Shannon McHaney, Darla Havenstrite, Brenda Ypung, Jodee Sharp, Carol Snipes, Sheri Thomas, Lyn Henerson, Teresa Bergthold, Celeste McDeavitt.

Kappa Sigma

The height of the '80-'81 year for the Kappa Sigmas was their annual Green Party in Layfette, Louisiana. They sponsored a Charity Bash for the Heart Fund and a Southwest Texas State Softball Tournament.

Above: First row, Farrell Arceneaux, Robin Mince, Kay Compton, Cindy Brennan, Sandra Kittle, Doug Willis. Second row, Bob Mansfield, David Wallace, Rickey Bentley, Scott Brennan, James Askey, Terry Bridges. Third row, Chris Counts, Joe Morley, Vincent Malott, John Petrushka, Tommy Hughes, John Paton. Fourth row, Oscar Boca, Don Norton, Wesley McCullough, Mark Evans, Dale Payne, Thomas Bartosh, Scott Pierce, Glenn Hanner.

Intrafraternity council is the governing body of the social fraternities. Each group has a representative in this council. They sponsor Greek Week and Freewheelers.

Above: First row, Raoul Gonzales (Pi Kappa Phi), Brian Korbs (Delta Chi), Jay Findley (Sigma Phi Epsilon), Hank Jacobs (Sigma Phi Epsilon), Brad Weaver (Delta Tau Delta), Don Prince (Sigma Nu). Second row, Martin Lisius (Kappa Alpha), Steve DeVoy (Pi Kappa Phi), Ken Wiley (Omega Psi Phi), Brian Riddle (Delta Chi), Thomas Lusas (Beta Theta Pi), Jay Montya (Fiji), Kevin Hodges (Delta Tau Delta). Third row, Charilie Johnson (Sigma Nu), Greg Jung (Kappa Alpha), Melvin Ikner (Mega Psi Phi), Don Norton (Kappa Sigma), Mark Evans (Kappa Sigma), Kevin Manion (Fiji), Steve Brown (Beta Theta Pi), Gene Baugh (Phi Delta Theta), Left: First row, Chip Purcell (Treas.), Greg Barbosa (Pres.), Jim Darwin (Parl.). Second row, Darrayl Brewer (Sec.), Steve Rackley (Vice-Pres. Rush), Lorenzo Evans (Vice-Pres. Admin.).

Interfraternity Council

Panhellenic is composed of representatives of all the social sororities on campus. They sponsor Pledge Present and Sadie Hawkins Day Dance.

Above: First row, Annelle Brewster, Laura Gilbreath, Suzzette Chaires. Second row, Karen Driggers, Tarro O'Leary, Lydia Trostel, Jennifer Cotten, Suzanne Ashmore. Third row, Molly Yates, Wanda Holiday, Nadine Morse, Carol Shear, Yvette Hemphill, Kay Martindale. Right: First row, Annelle Brewster (Sec.), Laura Gilbreath (2nd Vice Pres.). Second row, Lydia Trostel (Pres.), Jennifer Cotten (1st Vice Pres.).

Panhellenic

Order of Omega

Order of Omega is an honorary society for Greek organizations. These people are chosen by their peers for their good scholarship and leadership abilities.

First row, Mindy Kunze, Vicki Fields, Lance Johnson, Laura Gilbreath, Jim R. Sharp, Amy McGlasson (Pres.), Philip Rushing. Second row, Danny Williams, Laura Lively, Laura Burnham, Mike Calvert, Paul Attansasio (Vice Pres.), Brenda Garcia, Ed Gray.

Beta Alpha Psi is an honorary accounting fraternity that has many activities. They take three field trips to accounting firms, they operate a student tax service and a student assistance service.

Above: First row, Connie Angelot, Lynne Beachum, Jane Frost, Suzy Welch, Bette Long, Glenda Haynes, Barbara Warner, Charlotte Riley, Valerie Rowe, Sarah Pattison. Second row, Wayland Keith, Christine Guarino, Ralph Giesler, Rhonda Fuessel, Nancy Green, Charla Bold, Nicky Lyn Lakey, Amy Culpepper. Third row, Chris Francis, Roger Harman, Brit Jennings, Joe Ewers, Bill West, Terry Wilson, Sherri Thomas, Shirley McGhee, Jeanette Schubert. Fourth row, Brian Flanner, Larry Tunnell, Jeff Roper, William Ledbetter, Doug Puckett, Gary McGill, Steve Hill, Steve Benoit. Right: Spring Officers, First row, Birta Deaton (Admin. Vice Pres.), Carolyn Gorrell (Treas.). Second row, Gary McGill (Exec. Vice Pres.), Bob McKinney (Pres.), Terry Wilson (Sec.).

Above: First row, Carolyn Gorrell, Peggy McMahon, Birta Deaton, Jim Snavely, Lonna Bryan, Tracy Reid, Karen Dougan, Renee Tidwell, Pat Eason. Second row, Frank Lewis, Mark Strunc, Pam Carroll, Darlene Kurtz, Susan Ciskowski, Debbie Foster, Jill Coble, Christie Vecchio, Kim Gaston, Patti Hoppe. Third row, Russell Chapman, Jim Fant, Pat Cupp, Ramiro Ortiz, Danny Brader, Debbie Todd, Sherry Barg, Debbie Childress, Tom Hodnett. Fourth row, Lee Weller, Richard Summerlin, John McMahon, Rick Moreno, Dennis Stowe, Don Woodall, Bob McKinney, Greg Sakowski, Mitch Hopwood, Bruce King, Don Handley. Left: Fall officers, First row, Birta Deaton (Pres.), Lonna Bryan, Patti Hoppe (Sec.). Second row, Tom Hodnett (Treas.), Russell Chapman (Vice Pres.), Greg Sakowski (Admin. Vice Pres.).

Beta Alpha Psi

Phi Eta Sigma

Phi Eta Sigma is a freshman honor society that is in the process of building a scholarship fund. They induct freshmen with a GPA of 3.5 or better every spring.

First row, Mark Burzlaff (Vice Pres. PR), Machelle McCauley (Hist.), Kim Landon (Exec. Vice Pres.). Second row, Jeff Roper (Pres.), Dr. Marion Moore (Advisor), Donivon R. Porterfield (2nd Vice Pres.), Ron Isbell (Vice Pres.), Yeonette Gilliam (Sec.).

Phi Sigma Iota meets once a year to initiate its new members who are chosen from the 20 or 30 highest ranking upper level students majoring in foreign languages or linguistics.

Above: First row, Bertie Acker, Alan Sparkman, Sue Latham. Second row, Jose G. Sanchez, Duane Adams, Ron Werth. Left: Alan Sparkman (Vice Pres.), Sue Latham (Pres.).

Phi Sigma Iota

Kappa Delta Pi, a national education honor society, is concerned with promoting professional excellence in education and aids this by hosting workshops and guest speakers. The UTA chapter, Xi Alpha, ranks the 5th largest in the nation.

Above: First row, Donna Chancey, Teresa Hodge (Treas.), Janet Jacob (Pres.), Sharon Davis (Vice Pres.), Wendy Lockwood (Sec.), Julie Cluck, Teri Melton (Hist.). Second row, D. D. Holdridge, Terry Crumpton, Carmen Gonzales, Jenny Montgomery, Jodi Hendon, Barbara J. Jones, Louanne McDowell, Kent Cluck. Third row, Marty Stuart, Linda Rodgers, Desiree Bruce, Pat Richter, Stacia Imhoff, Angela S. Planche, Richard Lay. Fourth row, Cindy Hester, Lu Ann Lombardo, Leonard Butler, Roxanne Clarkson, Phyllis Cusack, Pat Norris. Right: Eric Strickland (Co-Counselor), Gary Ryan (Counselor), Enrico V. Frataccia (Co-Counselor), O. L. Davis Jr. (National Pres.).

Kappa Delta Pi

Alpha Rho Chi is a professional society that promotes brotherhood in architecture by scheduling lectures and sponsoring parties. Their purpose is to help students into the professional world.

Above: First row, David Curry, Ghassan Hissen, Arnold Frederick Martinez, Martin Owens, James Brady McKinney. Second row, Eric R. Falt, Keith Hearn, Sherry Card, Linda Kenney, Kevin White. Third row, Ivan Oswald Walton III, James Douglas Hawkins Jr., Fred S. Marino, James Paul Edward Williams. Left: First row, Kevin White (Vice Pres.), Arnold Frederick Martinez (House Mgr.), James Douglas Hawkins (Sec.), Martin Owens (Pledge Master).

Alpha Rho Chi

The International fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi is a professional business society. This year they participated in several tours and sponsored speakers such as Senator Betty Andujar and State Representative Reby Cary.

Above: First row, Hoby Fleece, Kathy Brooks, Larry Ward, Angela Elam, Tamara Bonister, Art Stefarini, Juliet Brown. Second row, Kamil Ertan, Yvette Woods, Jerome Boozer, John Elliott, Wanda Jackson, Arnetta Clemons, Myra Jones. Third row, David Wolverton, Donna Good, John Pippins, Bill Blankenship, Marva Kelly, Nathaniel Lewis. Right: First row, Hoby Fleece (Chancellor), Yvette Woods (Vice Pres. Professional Activities), Cathy Brooks (CEI Chairman), John Elliott (Senior Vice Pres.), Larry Ward (Pres.), John Pippins (Treas.).

Delta Sigma Pi

Phi Gamma Nu

Phi Gamma Nu is designed to help foster the study of business and to promote a high standard of scholarship. The group participates in various activities and is ranked in the top 10 of the national chapters.

Above: First row, Julia Phlegm (Spring Treas.), Carol Chenault, Laura Weedon, Debbie Farrell (Spring Sr. Vice Pres.), Diann Whaley (Spring Pres.). Second row, Debby Robbins (Fall Pres.), Gita Velu, Mary Kamp, Amy Culpepper (Fall Treas.), Robin Harper (Spring Sec.), Darla Ross (Spring Historian). Third row, Sue Strickland (Faculty Advisor), Allison Bray (Spring Jr. Vice Pres.), Ginger Gordon, Deborah Elliott, Connie Buckholt, Carol Thomas, Julie Jung. Left: First row, Elizabeth McPherson, Cynthia Witherspoon, Paula Smith, Carol Chenault (Spring Editor). Second row, Mary Kamp (Spring Parl.), Deborah Elliott (Prof. Vice Pres.), Donna Neufeld, Connie Buckholt (Fall Jr. Vice Pres.). Not shown, Donna Davis (Fall Sec.), Nancy Groner (Fall Sr. Vice Pres.), Darla Rash (Fall Editor), Lisa Snyder, Meagan Thomas (Fall Hist.), Sharon Wynn (Fall Prof. Vice Pres.).

The American Institute of Industrial Engineers is a professional society and Alpha Phi Mu is the corresponding honor society. These groups participate in plant tours, annual paper contest, annual regional conferences and an engineering open house.

Above: First row, Elinor Pape, Mohammad Rezaei, Kevin Meier, Gloria Bender, Joseph E. Procter. Second row, K. M. Van Zandt, Scott MacLaren, Chris Perton, Gloria ladegari. Third row, Don Liles, Keith Cornwell, Monica Otradovec, Catherine Shannon, Gregg Brady. Right: First row, Gloria Bender (Sec.), Mark Burzlaff (Chapter Dev. Chmn.), Chris Perton (Vice Pres.). Second row, Gloria ladegari (Jt. Council Rep.), Mary Monica Otradovec (Pres.), Cassie Shannon (Publicity).

AIIE and Alpha Phi Mu

Above: First row, James Whatley, Joseph E. Procter, Kevin Meier, Chris Perton. Second row, Dr. France Meier, Lydia Zantout, Mary Monica Otradovec, Mark Burzlaff, Gloria Bender. Third row, Don Taylor, Gregg Brady, Catherine Shannon, David Holley, Javad Golkar-M. Left: First row, Joseph E. Procter (Sec.), Mark Burzlaff (Vice Pres.). Second row, Dr. France Meier (Sponsor), David Holley (Treas.), Chris Perton (Pres.).

IEEE

The Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineer's primary purpose is to expose students to the many areas of electrical and electronic engineering. They participated in a variety of in-plant tours and technical meetings. These tours and meetings allowed the students to explore the facets of engineering. First row, Carol Brown (Sec.), Norma Montgomery (Chmn.), Linda Cook (Vice-Chmn.), Margaret Carrico (Joint Council Rep.). Second row, Tom Loper (Treas.), John Hawkins (Joint Council Rep.), Dr. S. F. Crumb (Faculty Sponsor). Members: Betsy Coke, Stuart Carpenter, Thomas Jones, Vincent Herrera, James Norton, Tim Fitzgerald, Cheung Ming, William Weideman, John Huang, David Henry, Chan-En Li, D. L. McCaffrey, John Weber, William Cooley, Chao-Shun Chen, Rajesh Anin, Andrew Ponce, Gregory Lincks, Russell Rudduck, Dale Tolar, Robert Boyd, Michael Cole, Wong Yun Seng, Paul McLenore, Carlos Rojas-Negrete, Phillips Smith, Thaokay Saykaothao, Nimesh Parikh, Donald Nix, James Engle, Karyn Jones, Joseph Diehl, Marvin Benson, Richard Cromer Jr., Moris Gottlieb, James Goodnow, James Bavido, Hoa Dao, Philip Davis, Robert Fisher, David Streett, John Hutton Jr., Jark Crowson, Elaine Kjellquist, Ming-Ting Sun, Robert Bartinez, Penny Geiselbrecht, Hooshang Davoody, Robert Rodgers, Joe Reed, David Sun, I-Hsiang Yu, Johnnie Wilson, Terry Cotter, Gerald Garrison, Michael Scallan, Rebecca Loveless, Show-Kang Chang, Patti Hawkins, Hugene McMurtre, Joseph Tseng, Rebecca Huskey, William Manning, Norma Montgomery, Cajetan Akujuobi, John Reed, Lloyd Aikman, Guy Pegues, Diane Bowen, Margaret Chavera, Godson Chukwuma, Dennis Kallus, Michael Dorney, Jerry Sousares, Chee-Chun Wan, Russell Smith, Barry Cotter, Michael Dorian, Charles Thorp, Vaughn Oliver, Frederick Cleveland, Richard Kearley III, J. W. Dossey, Norman Cox, Donald Hicks, Thomas Zuiss, Ali Jalali, G. A. Truitt, Linus Ogbonna, Brenda Bishop-Jones, Christian Zacharia, Fred Hahn, Rusty Herod, Randall Drake, William Honea, Michael Sonntag, Timothy Mueck, Tyce Elkins, Linda Cook, Partha Ray, Terry Thornton, Robert Brown, Arne Dahl, Dino Papadopoulos, Shan Lee, Charles Dunn Jr., Gary Jenkins, Joseph Metni, Marshall Lajoie, Thomas Loper, Craig Larson, Ka-Lokj Li, Kambiz Heidarian, Diane Plummer, Ann Kelley, Wei Chang, Ti-Ying Gau, Bradford Walters, Kenneth Donohoo, David Crosby, Lens Walker Jr., Brenda Kilker, Kenneth Gibson, J. G. Bass, Florence Ma, Robert Nathan, Francis White, Joseph Braun, Richard Reis, Nguyen Duc, Gary Wilson, Arlet Boyer, Lin Yau-Chung, Rick Simants, Donald Friesen, Roderic Rice, Douglas Mathews, David McKenzie, Kang-Ling Ching, Hsi-Chi Wu, Vicki Parnell, Catherine Hill, William Buehler, Lynn Patterson, Clark Brown, Suzanne Kavli, Ashok Shah, Eric Little, Don Belvin, Josef Zeevi, Margo List, Scott McKechnie, Thomas White, Oscar Thompson, Karen Cartsunis, Mark Veteikis, Stanley Wood, Thuy Nguyen, Glenn Schedeen, Tuyet Mai, Hemabt Shah, Joseph Cheng.

The Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society is a professional society that provides speakers and tours for students majoring in chemistry.

Above: First row, Julie M. Smith, Carol Kirkpatrick, Nancy C. Massey. Second row, Richard Fulkerson, Mark A. Wilkins, Courtney R. Weiss, Donivon R. Porterfield. Third row, Mark Harrison, Rick McElvain. Left: First row, Richard Fulkerson (Treas.), Mark Harrison (Sec.). Second row, Courtney Weiss (Pres.), Donivon Porterfield (Vice Pres.).

American Chemical Society

The Law Society is a professional service organization for anyone interested in law. The society sponsored many guest speakers and offered a practice LSAT for prospective law students. This year they began publishing a UTA Law Review.

Above: First row, Laurie S. McCorcle, Carol Bradfute, Chris Schaeper, Rodolfo Palacios. Second row, Mike Kiesel, Coleen Banks, Jerome Boozer, Ingrid Asvaoi, Scott MacLaren. Third row, John Washington, Ken Jenkins, Tony Morgan, Merlin D. Chew. Right: First row, Laurie S. McCorcle (Ambassador), Chris Schaeper (Pres.). Second row, Jerome Boozer (Editor), Merlin D. Chew (Sec.), Scott MacLaren (Treas.). Third row, John Washington (Vice-Pres. Texas Pre-Law Society), Brad Zahn (LSAT Director), Ken Jenkins (Vice-Pres. Domestic), Tony Morgan (Vice-Pres. Foreign).

Law Society

Pi Sigma Epsilon is a professional business society. Their activities this year included a buyer preference study for the world trade center, a marketing seminar, a mum sale, and "The Mexican Standoff" survey for the food service.

Above: First row, Cindy Rasmussen, Debbie Brinick, Robert Caudillo, Scot Omar, Karen Kocurek, Elizabeth Chaver, Debbie Orban. Second row, Glenda Hobbs, Jimmy Hiler, Don Owen, David Brents, Teresa Lopez, Johanna Dennis, Martha Stitzell. Back row: Chuck Ballenger, Dale Burnham, Jeff Friday, Gary Clayton, Mark Jacobs, Tandy Bowen, Mark Russell. Left, First row: Johanna Dennis, (Hist.), Debbie Brinick (Pres.), Cindy Rasmussen (Vice-Pres. Marketing). Back row: David Brents (Vice-Pres.), Gary Clayton (Vice-Pres. Finance).

Pi Sigma Epilson

Physical Education Majors and Minors is an organization designed to supplement the learning process in physical education with social and professional experiences. They did this through speakers and symposiums. They also sponsored a toy assembly fund raiser and a Six Flags fund raiser.

Above: First row, Cynthia Morton, Diane Richey, Jill Leatherbee, Pusty Pippin. Second row, Suzanne Hy, Deann Darling, Roxanne Clarkson, Ronny Clayton. Third row, David Goodman, Mark Balthrop, Buddy Parker. Below: First row, Jill Leatherbee (Sec.), Rita Huerta (Vice Pres.). Second row, Richard Sutterfield (Reporter), Ronny Clafton (Pres.), Buddy Parker (Treas.).

The Society of Physics Students is a professional society and Sigma Pi Sigma is the honor society for that major. This year they awarded a scholarship, co-sponsored guest speakers, created a homecoming float, and opened a donut stand as a fund raising project.

Above: First row, Rene Holaday, Rebecca Mitchell, Nolen Massey, Cathy Chandler, Leslie Lowes. Second row, Lisa Holaday, Cecil Rickard, Chris Collins, John Smith, Richard Metz. Third row, Eric Juengerman, Don Larson, Dawn E. Burke, Rick La-Quey, Doug Cook, Anthony Clark, Bruce Howie. Left: First row, Rebecca Mitchell (Pres. Soc. Physics Students), Leslie Lowes (Pres. Sigma Pi Sigma, Vice-Pres. Soc. Physics Students). Second row, Anthony Clark (Treas. Sigma Pi Sigma and Soc. Physics Students), Doug Cook (Sec. Sigma Pi Sigma and Soc. of Physics Students), John Smith (Vice Pres. Sigma Pi Sigma).

Sigma Pi Sigma

The Society of Women Engineers sponsors activities which aid the engineering student in professional development. In the fall they sponsored a conference for high school women who have shown an engineering aptitude. They also sponsor a tutoring service for engineering students.

Above: First row, Diane Plummer, Carol Jones Brown, Lo Wah Yim. Second row, Ann von der Heide, Karen Cartsunis, Susan Pettit, Margret Caprico, Becky Loveless. Third row, Elinor Pape, Monica Otradovec, Gloria Iadegari, Linda McClellen, Mai Tuyet B., Betsy Coke. Fourth row, Melinda Evans, Paul McLemore, Charles Farmer, Helaine Hirezi, Debra Bessent, Pat Risley, Gloria Bender. Right: First row, Elinor Pape (faculty), Susan Pettit (Joint Council Rep.), Gloria Bender (Pres.). Second row, Linda McClellen (Joint Council Rep.), Karen Cartsunis (Sec.). Third row, Monica Otradovec (PR), Debra Bessent (VP).

Tau Beta Sigma

Tau Beta Sigma supports the band in various ways. They sponsored the Band Banquet and parties after the games. They also served as monitors for the Six Flags Music Festival.

Above: Ann Kissinger, Angie Claros, Jeanne Herber, Sharon Watson. Second row, Janet Koelle, Mandy Terrell, Karen Traynham, Sharon Chapman. Third row, Mary Schlotte, Terri Rodgers, Micki Hedric, Rita Ruiz, Stuart Carpenter (Beau). Left: First row, Ann Kisinger (Rec. Sec.), Angie Claros (Treas.), Sharon Watson (Historian). Second row, Mandy Terrell (Pres.). Karen Traynham (Vice Pres.), Rita Ruiz (Corr. Sec.), Stuart Carpenter (Beau).

In their first year as a campus organization, The Professional Black Women's League accomplished many goals. They sponsored "A Fashion Affair" to benefit Sickle Cell Anemia. They also threw a Student After Election Party and sponsored bake sales.

Above: First row, Marilyn McClanahan, Marilynn Mayse-Lundy, Angela Williams, Glynis Adams, Rhonda Moore, Arlecia LeGrand. Second row, Nedra Truesdale, Vicki Elliott, Thressia Willis, Lisa Rayson, Rita Ratliff. Right: First row, Thressia Willis (Pres.), Lisa Rayson (Sec.). Second row, Marilynn Mayse-Lundy (Vice Pres.), Nedra Truesdale (Mkt. Liaison). Not shown, Joan Rooters (Treas.).

PBWL

The Joint Council of Student Engineers sponsored an engineering freshman orientation picnic, an open house, and an annual awards banquet.

Above: First row, Diane Bowen, Brenda Bishop-Jones. Second row, Donald Friesen, Susan Pettit, Margaret Carrico, Mike Smith. Third row, Ann Kelley, Linda McCellen, Helaine Hirezi, Mark Burzlaff, Jon Mac-Laren. Left: First row, Diane Bowen (Pres.), Mark Burzlaff, Brenda Bishop-Jones, Jon MacLaren.

JCSE

This year, Student Congress sponsored guided tours, information booths, book referral services and a public notary. The student directory, campus maps and housing guide are publications designed to aid the students in daily living.

Above: First row, Gina Morton, Cathy Fisher, Susan Shaffer, Laura Bowers, Dr. Anguizola. Second row, Mike Chavez, Lourdes Hudson, Susan Clutts, Stacey Burris, Valerie Tresser, Bonnie Harding, Jodee Sharp. Third row, Mike Cadena, Greg Miller, Terry Bridges, Greg Underwood, Kent Gardner, Rusty Arnett. Right: First row, Pascale Bollenberg, Laura Gilbreath (Academic Affairs Chmn.). Second row, Chris Schaeper, Ed Gray (Student Affairs Chmn.), Randy Sexton.

Above: First row, Jeanette Kolesar, Laura Gilbreath, Tammy Agee, Kellie Agan, Lydia Trostel, Kelly Moore. Second row, Bob King, Ed Gray, Donna Quarles, Laura Watson, Connie Moorhead, Mindy Kunze. Third row, Blake Seaton, Ahsan Qayum, Darrell Dorsey, Terry Moore, Bruce Howie, Robert Scott, Thermon Jasper. Left: First row, Rusty Arnett (Treas.), Jodee Sharp (Vice-Pres.), Bruce Howie (Parl.). Second row, Greg Miller (Pres.), Mike Cadena (Recording Sec.), Terry Bumpkas (Director of Corr.), Kent Gardner (Advisor).

Student Congress

The Science Constituency Council represents the students of the College of Science. The council worked with their academic deans, published the "Micro-Gram," the College of Science newsletter, and presented the Science Teacher of the year award.

Above: First row, Marilyn Lewis, Rene Holaday, Terry W. Bridges. Second row, Jim Gottlich, Donivon R. Porterfield, Courtney R. Weiss, Bruce Howie. Right: First row, Bruce Howie (Pres.), Courtney Weiss (Vice Pres.), Terry Bridges (Treas.), Donivan Porterfield (Sec.).

Science Constituency Council

Business Constituency Council

The 30 member Business Constituency Council is funded from the Student Congress budget to work in the area of the Business College. The committee's main interest is to serve the students. The council published a pamphlet for freshmen and a newsletter for all business majors. The council also worked with the academic deans to establish better faculty-student relations.

Above: First row, Robert Caudillo, Tammy Allen, Debbie Farrell, Chris Schaeper, Cindy Rasmussen, Sarah Weigand. Second row, Dan Owen, Teresa Lopez, Tina Guarino, Carolyn Blacklock. Third row, Mindy Kunze, Patrick Parker, Robin Jackson, Yvette Woods. Fourth row, Tony Morgan, Richard Johnston, Barry Fox, Terry Moore, Brian Flanner. Left: First row, Robert Caudillo (Pres.), Sarah Wiegand (Sec.), Yvette Woods (Student Affairs Chmn.), Dan Owens (Research Evaluation Chmn.). Second row, Tony Morgan (Treas.), Sarah Ramsbottom (Comm. Affairs Chmn.), Terry Moore (Vice Pres.), Barry Fox (Parl.). Not shown: Tina Brittan, Michael Preiling, King Gillespie, Mary Ann Grisham, Steve Shepherd, Cynthia Reyes, Nita Russell.

Cultural

The Korean Student Association activities include an annual picnic and Christmas party. They participated in International Day, designed to promote understanding between the different cultures represented on campus.

Above: First row, Dong Young Lee, Susan S. Kim, Hyangmi Suk, Jason Paek, Young Suk Kang, Jennifer Ha. Second row, Young-Hack Ha, Dennis Nam, Ha Sun Park, Yong D., Hyumg K. Kim. Third row, Peter S, Sok, Danny Chung, James C. Chin, J. S. Moon, Suhun Kim, Jang Y. Cho. Right: First row, Susan S. Kim (Sec.), Jason Paek (Pres.). Second row, J. S. Moon (Advisor), Peter S. Sok (Treas.).

Korean Students Assoc.

The Association of Mexican-American Students participated in the homecoming parade and in the spring, they sponsored "Semana Chicana."

Above: First row, Gracie Cortez, Debra Garza, Melinda Salazar, Victoria Sapien, Mary Lou Barrientos. Second row, Hector Torres, Sam Cortez, Vincent Herrera, Sergio DeLa Garza, Jesus Barrientos, Crespin Cortez. Third row, Elizabeth Ordonez, Mike Santillan, Cynthia Aguirre, Debra Zamaripa, Sylvia Cisneros, Isaac Castillo, Jose G. Sanchez. Left: First row, Cynthia Aguirre (Corr. Sec.), Debra Zamaripa (Sec.), Sylvia Cisneros (Vice Pres.). Second row, Elizabeth Ordonez (Adv.), Mike Santillan (Pres.), Isaac Castillo (Treas.), Jose G. Sanchez (Adv.).

Service

Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity provides numerous service projects for both the campus and the community. Community projects included a carnival at Oakhaven Nursing Home and a Boy Scout Camporee. They also contributed their services to the Arlington Boy's Club. On campus the Alpha Phi Omega members ran all student elections.

Above: First row, David Kell (Adviser), Alicia Kell, Diana Doods, Barbara Farmer. Second row, Donny Huber (Adviser), Michael Belt, Margaret Seward, Barbara Carter, Carol-Tiger Jackson, Gerald Wester. Third row, Mary Echelberger, Kent Chiles, Nancy Nelle, Ruth Gragg, Herbert Alan Schup, Jack Gross. Fourth row, Richard Rowe, Roger Sanford (Adviser), Randy Clemons, Gary Baggett (Adviser). Right: Fall Semester Officers, First row, Lynn Wolff (Service Chairman), David Allbritton (Rush-Fellowship Chairman). Second row, Ricky Morningstar (Treas.), James Gross (Pres.), Sally Fleming (Sec.), David Ivory (Comm. Chairman).

Above: DiAnn Rice, Rae Ann Kerbow, David Allbritton, Debra Finan, Lynn Wolff, Judy Jepsen. Second row, Barbara Deckee, Andy De Stena, David Ivory, Danielle Brendle, Susan Canavon, Lisa Gardner. Third row, Sally Fleming, James Gross, Terry Cookston, David Cantrell, Randy Clemons, Mark Chiles, Ricky Morningstar. Left: Spring Semester Officers, First row, Lisa Gardner (Rush — Fellowship Chairman), Danielle Brendle (Pledge Trainer), Sally Fleming (Treas.). Second row, David Cantrell (Service Chairman), David Allbritton (Sec.), David Ivory (Pres.).

Alpha Phi Omega

Student Activities Board

Arts Council

First row, Millie Diaz, Laura McDonald, Krissa Johnson, Angle Hightower. Second row, Randy Sexton (Vice Pres.), Raymond Daniel (Pres.), Ronald Abram, Richard Hoofard, H. Rice Brewer, Rill Fentum. Arts Council: First row, Beth Hughes, Peter Raiman, Millie Diaz (Chairperson). Second row, Robert Vann, Ricky V. Morningstar Jones, Ozone, Marc Dunkelberg. Not shown, Allen Van Blarcun.

Dry Gulch Council

Excursions Council

Dry Gulch Council; First row, Carol-Tiger Jackson, Laura McDonald (Chairperson), Peter Raiman. Second row, Mike Horner, John Clizbe, Robert Young. Excursions Council; First row, Krissa Johnson (Chairperson), Charles Nickerson, Debra Bessent.

Fashions Council

Films Council

Fashion Council: First, Robert Caudillo, LaLoni Diggles, Debbie Gordon, Jenny Ragsdill. Second row, Angle Hightower (Chairperson), Rudy Palacios, Sherry Boyle, Jan Swaner, Cindy Murray, Jackie Doyle, Diana Ullmann, Pat Brown, Ken Bolton, Shelly Anderson, Connie Wernil. Films Council; First row, Charles Nickerson, Arnold Fredrick Martinez, Peter Raiman. Second row, Raymaond Daniel, Toufic Majdalani, Bill Fentum (Chairman), Dick Daniel.

Forums Council

Input/Output Council

Forums Council: First row, Abe Vega, Chris Schaeper, Ronald Abram (Chairman). Not shown; Emmitt Savannah Jr., Tom Anderson. Input/Output Council; First row, Martina Mastio, Sandy Seward, Suzan Herskowitz. Second row, Richard Hoofard (Chairman), Debbie Novak, Mary Elms, Dick Daniel.

Special Interest

Life is for Everyone is a special interest organization which participated in a three-day display seminar, co-sponsorship of a film, a ten mile March for Life, and in the Arlington July 4th parade, in which they won the grand prize trophy for the best float. Two representatives traveled to Washington for a seminar, and members wrote letters and ads to inform the public of their goals, for several newspapers. Their fund raising project for this year was singing telegrams on Valentines Day.

Above: First row, Ting Chen, Nancy Vecera, Janice Posey, Lori Barroga. Second row, Robert Boyce, Elsie Davis, Jimmy Vecera, Paul Smith, Mario Barroga. Third row, Jeff Verive, Greg Verive, Tom Wilson, Glenn Conner, Dr. Peter Girardot. Right: First row, Elsie Davis (Vice Pres.), Lori Barroga (Treas.). Second row: Jimmy Vecera (Pres.), Dr. Peter Girardot (Sponsor). Not shown: Jeanna Boyce (Sec.), Lou Tiernan, Jo Beth Tiernan, Mike Verive, Robert Hogue, Mike Maulsby, Debbie Putnam, Nancy Meadows, Becky Poss, Becky Tomanek, Teresa Vecera, Anne Vecera, Sandy Davis, Susie Davis, Brian Cobb, Michele Martinez, Mary Kent, Russell Tichenor.

Pro-L.I.F.E.

Theta Zeta Chi

Theta Zeta Chi was founded in November of 1978 to promote brotherhood and lasting friendships on the UTA campus. They participated in many activities throughout the year.

Above: First row, Dane Alsabrook, Lavonda Fuheman, Leslie White, Amy Wolf, Tim Hardin. Second row, Billy Wickham, Molly Yates, Rob Faber, John Dematteis, Shari Crumpler, Joel Weber. Third row, Tod Douglas, Kevin Key, Joel Howard. Left: First row, Joel Weber (Vice Pres.), Dane Alsabrook (Little Sister Coordinator), Kevin Key (Treas.). Second row, Kevin Crumpler (Pledge Trainer), Rob Faber (Pres.).

Fall Shorthorn

Spring Shorthorn

Top: First row, Miguel Cassanova, Cari Hyden, Bruce Davis, Donna Bagby. Second row, Eric Smith, John Dycus, Roxanne Gilson, Karen Rayl. Third row, Darrell Dunn, Dick Collier, Dave Clark, Russell Smith, Michael Phillips, Janet Neff. Fourth row, Mike Hashimoto, Jon Weist, Robert Cadwallader. Above: First row, Roxanne Gilson, Karen Rayl, Bruce Davis, Sue Pyle. Second row, Deena Taylor, Heidi Harris, Sharon Egiebor, Darrell Dunn, Eric Smith, Chris Moritz, Michael Phillips, Carla Adams. Third row, Robert Cadwallader, Mark England, Ben Hatch, Jon Weist, Rickie Windle, Dick Collier, Cari Hyden, Russell Smith.

Advertising

Production

Top: First row, Geetha Dhaima, Dan Owen, Terry Britton, Martie Hudson, Julie Stephens. Second row, Bill Fairly, April Gardiner, Barry Vacker, Frieda Davis, Jim Brown. Third row, Lauren Sharp, Joe Gally, Paul Nelson, Wanda Lindsy, Elizabeth Rhea. Above: First row, Connie Carver, Jake Del Rio, Lauria Burnham, Peter Bryne. Second row, Tammy Thimm, Marilyn Wooley, Angela Rolland, Scott Sircle.

Dry Heave Hefting Association

The Dry Heave Hefting Association meets informally in the "Heave" and drinks alot thereby promoting commeradery and a state of blindful intoxication. The Dry Heavers formed their organization on August 8, 1980 after a few hours of unsober deliberation. Their motto is "Tis a far, far better thing we do, to drink together than to drink alone." The group is not and has no intention of becoming an official campus organization. First row: Greg Knowles, Lisa Collins. Second row, Dick Collier (Vice Pres.), Sally Fleming (Treas.), "Maurice," Chris Key, Carla Adams. Third row, John Ross (Sec.), Glenn Martin (Pres.), Patricia Miles, Marc Dunkelberg, Darrell Dunn. Not shown: Andy Acciarito, Duane Smith, Tommy Johnson, Sergio Cambronero, Cliff Livingston, Randhi Tingle, Dan Ballard, Brad Mayes, Bill Tingle, C. J. Collidge, Jere Bromley, Rickie Windle, Susie Shirkey, Steve Shilling, David Praessyl, David Henderson, Debbie Hall, Joan Kappes, Steve Fleming, Karl Braun, Mark Szabo, Jon Weist, Eric Smith, Regina Moughalian, Tim Clevenger, Russell A. Rudduck, James C. Wright, Andy DeStena, Larry Bromley, Mary Ann Martin, Jim Collins, Al Gay, Stuart Crader, David P. Russell, David Kittelson, Steve Rowell, Simon Cornell, James Bayes, Kathleen King, Chad Draper, Evans Caglage.

Independent Declaration

hereby establish and consummate this noble order of the

DRY HEAVE HEFTING

on this, the 8th day of August, in the year of our Lord (or Allah, etc., depending on religious affilliation), MCMLXXX.

Tis a far, far better thing we do, to drink together than to drink alone!

Signators:

Lisz M. Collins Dick Collier Glenn Martin John Ross Sally Fleming David & Routes Carla D. Adams Duane Relmith andy accinents Tommy Johnson Technical Consultant: a. V. Brennan

The University Flying Club works to promote an interest in aviation, and to advance the knowledge and piloting skills of the members. They sponsor educational and safety meetings, and field trips to several aviation facilities. Many times they have placed in regional competition.

Above: First row, Roger Bales, Randy Speed, Susan Pettit, Bob Wilson. Second row, Aljaafari Khaldoun, Bill Ross, Tim Hunter. Third row, Norbert Cedler, Robert Pursell. Right: First row, Susan Pettit (Treas.), Randy Speed (Pres.). Second row, Robert Wilson (Vice Pres.). Not shown, Steve Erickson (Sec.).

Flying Club

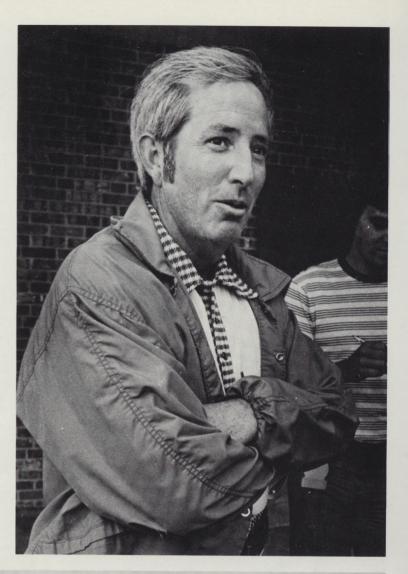

The Christian Science College Organization's service project for this year was a monitor booth set up in the SUB in October. They are planning many activities for the fall.

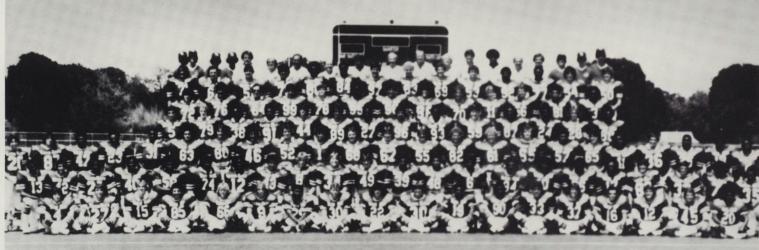

Above: First row, Betsi Tinsley, Roni Britton, Sandy Sheets, Shirley Sheets. Second row, Tom Cook, Richard Johnson, Jim Klenzendorf, Adlai Carstarphen, Roy Klenzendorf. Not show, Terry Britton, Mrs. Dorothy Walker (Advisor). Left: Sandy Sheets (President), Betsi Tinsley (Sec./Treas.), Shirley Sheets (Advisor).

Christian Science

Athletic

Right: Head football coach Bud Elliot. File photo.

Above: First row, David Hunt, Darin Furbush, John Wilson, Don DeLeo, Mike Shannon, Scott Logan, Sam Seward, Kyle Smith, Dane Clynch, Steve Hunter, Miguel Fuller, James Lawrence, Keith Hankins, Donnie Jones, Mel Maxfield, Hal Stewart, Travis Sanders, John Johnson. Second row, Michael Brown, Phil Fleming, P. T. Hawthorne, Gary Bailey, Earl McGinty, Robert Johnson, Derwin Pace, Tracy Bullard, Kraig Hopkins, Bob Howard, Randy Brock, Greg Jenkins, Prentice Harper, Danny Jackson, Mark Kitchin, Steve Young, Randy Johnson, Reggie Brooks, Wellon Kirby Brenner, Greg Wright, Gilbert Smith, Chaucer Colson. Third row, Mike Williams, Rueben Valdez, Ernest Davis, Anthony Price, Mike Brooks, Chuck Binge, John Skarda, Jack Bewley, David Clunk, Brian Happel, Brad Mohon, Roger Gwin, David York, John Wade, Bud McCluskey, Thom Mason, Raul Hinojosa, Dan Jones, Tony Felder, Rafe Wright, Darwin George, Ricky Pratt, Phillip Jessie. Fourth row, Noel Spraggins, Doug Mapel, George Holmes, Dan Carter, Keith Corrigan, Ken Barr, Monroe Nichols, Jim McKenzie, Arizona McGrew, Kirk Bruce, Byron Williams, Stacy Rayfield, Hunter Hayes, William Sells. Fifth row, Jorge Fernandez, Roy Hinojosa, Mark Hughes, David Dunn, Scott Dow, Horace Christmon, Donald White, Tim Alders, Kevin LeBlanc, Guy Lissak, John Jordan, Raymond Dukes, Reginald Davis. Sixth row, Sean Harvey, Cliff Hahne, Mike Horn, Keith Pressley, Darryl Lewis, Gary Lewis, Marc Talbott, Ben Young, Bruce Collie, Tom Frost, Ray Webb, Marion Thompson, Marc Griffin, Marc Cannon. Seventh row, Dwayne Warren (mgr.), Kyle Hearne (mgr.), Powell Hearne (mgr.), Barry Ford (mgr.), Charles Gaggens (coach), Ben Dodson (coach), Fred Matthews (coach), Bob Noblitt (coach), Jim Lindholm (coach), Bud Elliott (head coach), Larry Donaldson (coach), Steve Kloza (coach), Bill McClusky (coach), Danny Williams (coach), Charlie Key (coach), Randy Porter (head mgr.), Tom Kloza (mgr.), Mike Cottrell (mgr.), Keith Hopkins (mgr.).

Football

Above: Mark Kitchin (94), Keith Pressley (75), Prentice Harper (48) and James Lawrence (90). Photo by Craig Fujii.

Men's Basketball

First row: Bob Wilbanks, manager, Barry Ford, manager, Robert Jenkins, Andre Langford, Jeffery Stewart, Doug Struthers, trainer. Second row: Bob "Snake" LeGrand, head coach, Joe Cravens, assistant coach, Don Williams, Ralph McPherson, Albert Culton, Melvin Polk, Danny Witteaker. Third row: Danny Johnson, Chris DeSimone, Charles Harris, Ricky Davis, Rickey Leggett.

Women's Basketball

First row: Linda Clark, Libby Garcia, manager, Vesta Scott, Michelle Moore, trainer, Linda Wright. Second row: Genoveva Diaz, Melanie McCartney, assistant coach, Darcy Haxton. Third row: Allison Gray, Kathy Shea, Theresa White, Connie Kelch, head coach, Carolyn Smith, Evonne Sandas, Julie Coleman.

Men's Baseball

Above; First row, Randy Thorpe, Gary Walker (Asst. Coach), Jorge Villalba, Greg Sutphin, Jeff Swope, Tim McJilton, Chuck Barns. Second row, Mike Davis (Mgr.), Ken Rose, Randy McDonald, Curt Culbertson, Duane Mitchell, Keith Coover, David Abernathy, Tom Patterson, Jeff Rodgers (Trainer). Third row, Tripp Marston, Fred Wilburn, John Ford, Curtis Kouba, Steve Dearman, Ricky Trussell, Vic Toro, Mark Farrar. Fourth row, Butch McBroom (Coach), David Allen, Don Gaither, Paul Robinson, Charly Everett, Danny Smith, Stan Brewer, Craig Happel, Mark Medina (Asst. Coach).

Women's Softball

First row: Kris Huitt, Tami Martens, Rose Parks, Janet Bowen, Cindy Spradling. Second row: Debbie Brown, Cynthia Martin, Jenny O'Donnell, Randy Porter, coach. Third row: Tara Brennan, Edwina Wright, Tracy Haynie, Janelle Robinson, Shelly Bulin, Katy Hermann.

Men's Tennis

Above: First row, David Beason, Margie Presley, Bert Brown. Second row, Bob Rubel, Al Mitchell, Darrell McCullum. Not pictured, Steve Franklin (Capt.).

Women's Tennis

Above: First row, Patricia Miles, Margie Presley, Laurie White. Second row, Bonnye Blevins, Tracy Fredorick, Melissa Rosario.

Women's Volleyball

First row: Terry Bagley, Kim Hudson-Nieman, Carleen Abrams, Lou Dunn. Second row: Stacey Youngblood, Theresa Noggler, Julie LaRue, Susan McDonald. Third row: Teresa Smith, Coach Mary Ridgway, Elise Adams, Nancy Williamson.

Freewheelers

Above: Jim Hayes, assistant coach, Glenn Williamson, Russ Howard, Jimmy Strader, Brian Welnack, Chris Cooper, Eddie Bland, David Russell, Ron La Bar.

Men's Track

Above: First row, Joe Worley, Eric Ritenour, Mike Maciel, Jeff Smith, Brad Robertson, Ron Isabell, Tom Hornsby, Sammy Montalvo, Larry Boatman. Second row, Steve Elwonger, Ron Morain, John Love, Mike Johnson, Byron Holmes, Mike Langley, Russell Ellis, Gilbert Smith, James Heimann, Duncan Thompson. Third row, Mike Slabbaert, Harry White, Monrow Nichols, Kevin Kennard, Reggie Davis, Chris H. Nyvold, Bob Howard, Brian Gower, Carl Sheffield. Fourth row, Gregg Ewing, Kyle Stephens, Jimmy Harris, James Abbee, Doug Scott, Don Taylor, Scott Oliver, Matt Wiggins. Fifth row, Steve Wright (Asst. Coach), Tim Carlisle (Asst. Coach), Harold Perkins (Head Coach), Kerry Frasier (Mgr.), John Lumley (Asst. Coach). Not shown Anthony Goudlsby, Casey Kindle, Rodney Mueller, Ernie Stull (Asst. Coach), Scott Fletcher (Trainer).

Fencing

Above: First row, Nancy George, Robbie Hernandez, Helen Hitchell, Marcie Lester. Second row, Richard Lahman, Jim Collins, Jon Krystinik, Steve Vandenburg (Coach). Third row, R. D. Andrews, Shawn Rampy. Not Shown: Lisa Collins, Brad Beckham, Brian Lewis, Dave Fulton, Richard Honeycut.

Saddle and Spurs, a spirit organization, promoted spirit in all athletic events. They also participated in the Homecoming parade for which they received the most spirited and participative award.

Above: First row, Terrence I. Telligman Jr., Robbie Echols. Second row, Cindy Hart, Laurie O'Dwyer, Suzette Chaires, Gene Brown, Kelly Eidson, Lynne Andrews. Third row, Alson Camp, Peggy Fenner, Nell Heubner, Stephenee Webb, Renee Merolla. Fourth row, Kay Compton, Teressa Starkey, Janine Charies, Brad Weaver, Lori Hutchison, Hank Jacobs, Joe Stinson. Right: First row, Gene Brown (Sgt.-at-Arms), Robbie Echols (Vice Pres.). Second row, Terrence I. Telligman (Pres.). Not Shown, Mark Smith (Treas.), Kelly Moore (Sec.), Steve Vaughn (Sgt.-at-Arms).

Saddle and Spurs

Cheerleaders

Sitting: Cindy Crawford (4th year). First row, Mark Owens (1st year), Debbie Mayo (1st year), Doug Roberts (alternate 1st year). Second row, Louri O'Leary (alternate 2nd year), Julie Hyden (1st year), Pam Keye (1st year), Third row, Greg Boggan (alternate 1st year), David McKean (2nd year), Mark Link (2nd year). Not shown, Maurice Thomas (1st year), Kellie Agan (alternate 1st year).

As members of the oldest dorm council, on campus, the Brazos House staff endeavors to provide social as well as educational activities to benefit its residents.

Above: First row, Dianna Dodds, Russ Howard. Second row, Danny Corbitt, Greg Richards (Dorm Director), Wade Gates, Theresa Gagnon. Third row, Terry Cook, Lorna Southan (RA), Jeff Carroll, Lisa Collins. Fourth row, Ted Kellam (RA), Shea Pressley, Randy Sexton (RA), Glen Wilkinson (RA), Raul Gonzales, Benny Risner, Mike Moncada, Ken DuMenil, Jim Thomason, Jil Goode, Right: Dorm Director Greg Richards, Lorna Southan, Ted Kellam, Glen Wilkinson.

Brazos Dorm Council

Brazos Residents

Atkins, Karen E. Baker, Cindy Brown, Pat M. Brunn, Mark A. Clemons, Randy

Collins, Jim M. Cook, Terry S. Ferguson, Elise N. Figueroa, George E. Gagnon, Theresa A.

Gates, Charles W. Jacks, Jana K. McGary, Karen Michl, Mary L. Moncada, Michael

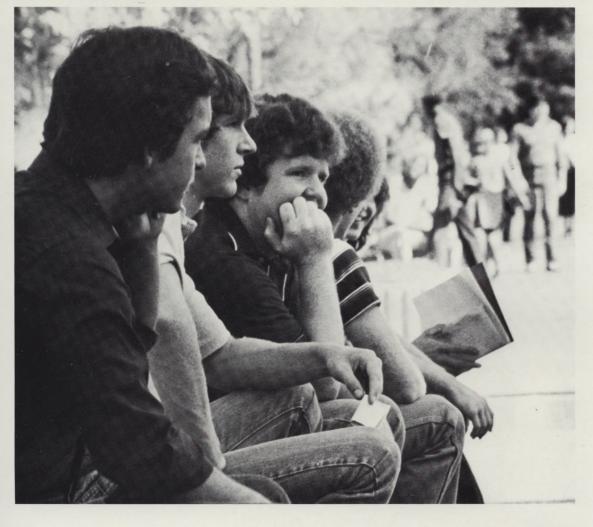

Photo by Craig Fujii

Brazos Residents

Nicholas, Loren D. Risner, Benny J. Sexton, William Southan, Brent S. Wilkinson, Glen A.

Photo by Bruce Davis

Trinity Dorm Council

The primary function of the Trinity Dorm Council is to promote fellowship and create a learning environment through social and educational activities. Trinity Hall is an on-campus dormitory for men.

Above: First row, Lester Cox, James Walker, Thai Quoc Pho, Willie T. Jefferson, Don Ferguson. Second row, David Mossburg, John Stortz, Jerome Boozer, Joel Hummel, Scott Hummel, M. Roy Harisingh, John Katyn. Third row, Geert Aerts, Richard Meek. Jim Holder, Thomas A. Terrell, Mark Petzinger. Left: First row, Joel Hummel (Treas.), David Mossburg (Social), James Walker (Sec.), Don Ferguson (Pres.). Second row, Jerome Boozer (RA), Jim Holder (Hall Director), Scott Hummel (RA).

Trinity Residents

Beltran, Alan R.

Boozer, Jerome A.

Davis, Bruce G.

Dworak, David D.

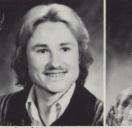

Ferguson, Cale

Friday, Jeffrey S.

Photo by Wade Gates

Trinity Residents

Fuller, Bruce A. Garner, David C. Grabliauskas, Edward J. Hamilton, Thomas R. Harisingh, Roy M.

Jackson, Scott J. Jackson, Thomas T. Kennedy, Stephen L. Kleiber, Steven F. Knox, Steve J.

Mach, Richard J. Medina, John A. Mossburg, David B. Naugher, Mike B. Petzinger, Mark R.

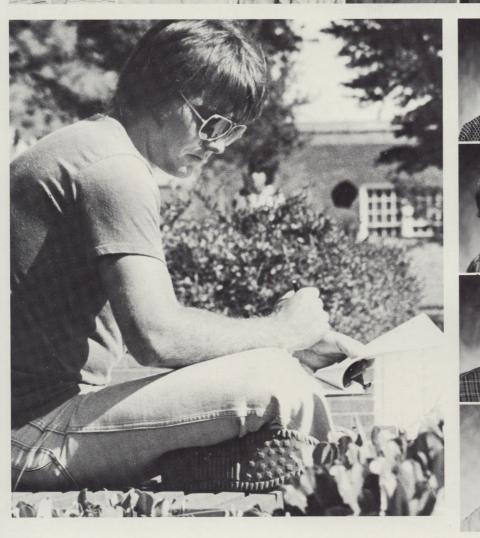

Photo by Craig Fujii

Stevenson, Paul S.

Smith, Stephen R.

Twilighten, Sern M.

Wesson, Jeffery L.

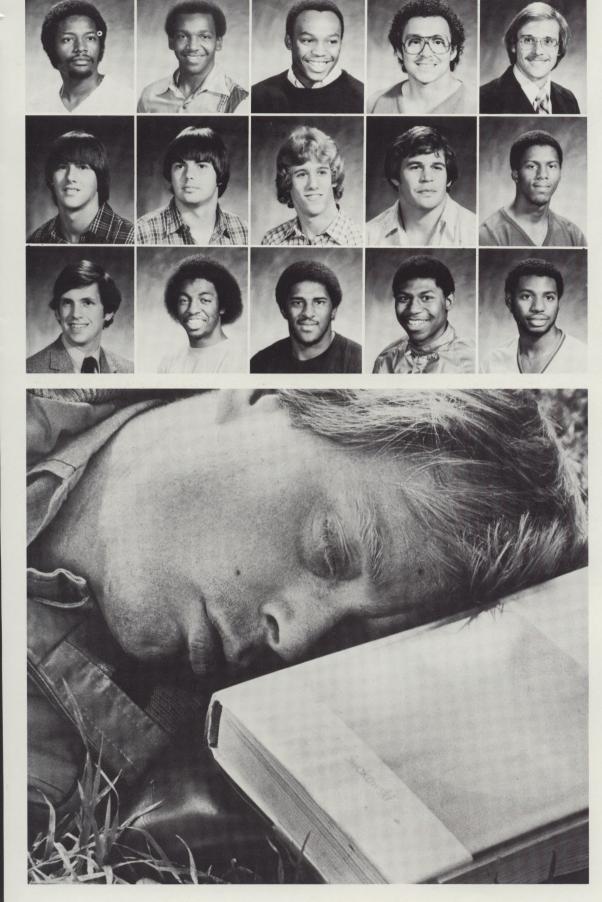

The staff of the Pachl Hall mens' Dorm Council work toward creating a suitable educational and social atmosphere for its residents.

Above: First row, Scott W. Minnerly (3rd floor RA), Timmis Bonner (Dorm Director), Byron Holmes (1st floor RA), Bruce Fatheree (2nd floor RA). Right: Timmis Bonner (Dorm Director), Steven M. Voelker (Treas.), Scott W. Minnerly (Vice Pres.).

Pachl Dorm Council

Pachl Residents

Bonner, Timmis P. Burnes, Charles Colson, Chaucer E. Doblado, Frederick Fatheree, Bruce A.

Hearne, Jeffrey K. Hearne, Powell W. Hopkins, Kraig Kahlig, David W. Kennard, Leonard K.

Minnerly, Scott W. Pace, Derwin B. Sells, William C. Seward, Samuel E. Jr. Sheffield, Carl L.

Lipscomb is a dorm for women. Its residents worked to make the dorm appear more like home through improvements and various activities. They participated in pot luck dinners, an all-dorm day at Six Flags, and the sponsoring of dances.

Above: First row, Becky Meynen (Vice Pres.), Mary Kajs, Sharon Watson (Sec.). Second row, Patt Kirby, Phyllis Swaim (Chairman), Melissa Reece, D'Ann Winters, Vivian Caro. Third row, Lisa Grice (Pres.), Tammie Perrin, Becky Lee, Debbie J. Dalby (Rep.), Susie Snider (Treas.). Right: First row, Debbie Dalby, Becky Lee, Priscilla Angton, Monica McCoy. Second row, Carmella Leone, Betsy McGuire (Director), Tammie Perrin.

Lipscomb Dorm Council

Lipscomb Residents

Adams, Carla D. Adams, Vickie R. Andrijeski, Susan M. Annedondo, Patricia Baird, Jennifer L.

Banister, Tamara Cameron, Lecia L. Card, Sherry A. Caro, Vivian Cartsunis, Karen H.

Chalfant, Emily Dalby, Debbie J. Davis, Lynda S. Dolezalek, Darlene A. Douglas, Deborah J.

Dunn, Laura S. Espinosa, Kathy M. Ethridge, Lydia L. Flanagan, Collette L. Ford, Fontaini

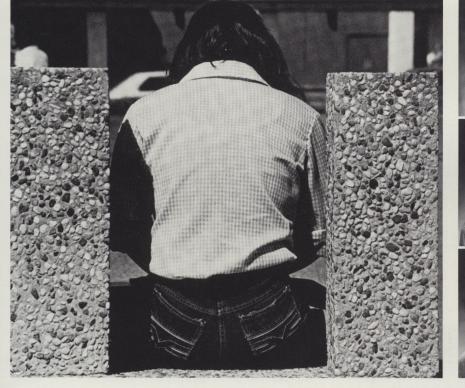

Photo by Craig Fujii

Forrester, Cynthia E.

Gage, Kathy L.

Gleason, Jo Ann

Lipscomb Residents

Grace, Melody T. Groner, Nancy A. Hailey, Joycelyn R. Hamilton, Laura C. Harvey, Yolanda

Henry, Lynn A. Lee, Becky I. Leone, Carmella Kissinger, Ann W. Kramer, Kathy

Madden, Georgette Martinez, Michele M. Mastio, Martina M. Meynen, Rebecca A. McIntire, Karen D.

McMillan, Sheryl J. McQueen, Kim D. Mureiko, Judy L. Newhouse, Nancy Ngian, Jenna P.

Nobles, Linda

Peacock, Tammy K.

Perrin, Tammie S.

Lipscomb Residents

Prunty, Teresa E. Reed, Gwendolyn Riddick, Robin M. Rinehart, Julia B. Ross, Darla F.

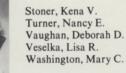

Ross, Karla K. Satarino, Molly A. Schievelbein, Gena M. Schroeder, Mary A. Seybold, Debbie L.

Sledge, Susan Smith, Shelia M. Snider, Susie S. Soch, Elizabeth Sorrells, Tamara D.

Webb, Barbara L.

Whitmire, Laura E.

Wright, Andrea L.

Corps Cadre

First row, LTC Raymond Andrae, SGM Joe Lopez. Second row, SFC Larry Johnson, CPT Charles Smith, CPT Tom Aplin, CPT Paul Pond. Third row, Ruth Boyd, Shirley Anderson. Fourth row, SLT Jimmy Culpepper, SSG Leon Pleasents, Tammy Young, CPT Britt Brewer. Fifth row, 2LT Philip Rushing, 2LT Tom Lane, Maj. Jim Brackenridge.

Corps of Cadets

Corps of Cadets Staff

Left: First row, C/CSM Rick Fibbs (Cadet Command Sergeant Major), C/LTC Bill Stephens (Cadet Battallion Commander), C/MAJ Norma Mantinez (Cadet Battalion Executive Officer). Second row, C/CPT Scott Nixon (Cadet S-5), C/CPT Carlo Pacot (Cadet S-4). C/CPT Chuck Brock (Cadet S-3 Operations), C/CPT Jesse Freen (Cadet S-3 Training), C/CPT Terry Hestilow (Cadet S-1). Below: First row, Guy Edmondson, David Devorak, James Walker, David Mossburg, David Irons, Tim Smith.

Color Guard

Headquarters Company

Bravo Company

Top: First row, C/CPT John Yim (HHC Commander). Second row, C/1LT Darrell Perez (HHC Exec. Officer), C/MJG David Irosn (Guideon). Third row, C/CPT Chuck Brock, C/CPT Jesse Green, C/CPT Carlo Palot. Fourth row, C/1LT Roger Nelson, C/2LT Joseph Enendu, C/CPT Terry Hestilow, C/2LT Stephen Jackson. Fifth row, C/1SG Guy Edmundson. Not shown, C/2LT William Goulsby. Above: First row, Dave Biggers, Scott Townsend. Second row, Jim Dryburgh, Cheri Ball, Bob Fogarty, Kyle Graves, Bill Barnett. Third row, Mike Williams, Jeff Cartwright, Russell Dobbins, Mike Jones. Fourth row, Rhonda Prokop, Larry Vates, Daniel McNiel, Teri Hatfield. Fifth row, Adam Wigfall, J. C. Stockton, David Irons, Tim Henry. Sixth row, Marvin Mayberry, Mike Walker. Seventh row, Randy Telford, Tom Long.

Alpha Company

Alpha Company

Top: First row, Robert Haddix, Rick Morrow. Second row, Glenn Truex, Andy Davis, Tony Robledo, Sherril Ellis. Third row, David Devorak, Willie Brewer, James Walker, Larry Hawke. Fourth row, Joseph Harlan, Anthony Martinez, Clinton Landry, Mike Calton. Fifth row, Patrick Manners, Larry Chaney, Roy Acosta, Eddie Drain. Above: First row, Gerald Hammond, David Mossburg. Second row, Randy Walker, Tim Smith, John Kane, Sammy Dunavant, Angie Harrison. Third row, Rob Frazier, Jack Bebbs, Perry Hill, Don Trask, James Dickson. Fourth row, Bermardino Sasa, Joel Wages, Kelvin Barfield, Earl Edgerly, Larry Bondes. Fifth row, Donald Willis, Robert Vaughn, Charles Parkhill, Tony Daskevick, Scot Smith.

Officer Christian Fellowship

Scabbard & Blade

Top: First row, Terry Hestilow C/Chaplain, Sherril Ellis, Kyle Graves, CPT Britt Brewer (Sponsor), 2LT Tom Lane, LTC Raymond Andrea. Second row, CPT Charles Smith (Sponsor), Donald Willis, Rober Vaughn, Jesse Green, J. C. Stockton, Stephen Jackson. Above: First row, John Yim, Carlo Pacot, Terry Hestilow, Rick Gibbs, Guy Edmondson, Stephen Jackson. Second row, Scott Nixon, Jesse Green, Bill Stephens, MAJ Brackenridge (Sponsor), Chuck Brock.

Insurgent Team

Rappelling Team

Top: First row, Rick Gibbs, Bob Fogarty. Second row, 2LT J. C. Culpepper (Coach), Tim Smith, Teri Hatfield, Kyle Graves, Jim Dryburgh. Third row, J. C. Stockton, Mike Williams, Mike Jones, David Biggers. Above: First row, 2LT Tom Lane, Anthony Daskevich, Scott Townsend, SGM Joe Lopez, (Sponsor), Tim Smith, 2LT Jimmy Culpepper. Second row, Perry Hill, Tom Long. Third row, Bill Barnett, Tony Robledo, Kyle Graves, David Dworak, John Kane. Fourth row, J. C. Stockton, Willie Brewer, Mike Williams, Robert Vaughn, Steve Smith, Rick Gibbs. Fifth row, Glen Golightly, Daniel McNeil, Andy Davis, Mike Walker, Patrick Manners.

Rifle Team

Pistol Team

Top: First row, Kevin Kenny, Alison McHan, Rhonda Prokop, Pat Mueck, Roger Swantek. Above: First row, Bill Barnett, Sherry Noll, David Linehan. Second row, Larry Hawke, Mike Jones, CPT Britt Brewer (Coach).

Orienteering

Martial Arts

Top: First row, Scott Townsend, Tim Henry, CPT Charles Smith (Coach), Sherril Ellis, Mark Dowdey. Second row, 2LT Tom Lane, Greg Matsko, Rick Gibbs, Tom Long, David Mossburg, James Walker. Above: First row, Rhonda Prokop, Jeff Carwright, Chris Heldman, Jeff Hornback, Jamie Alonzo, Brad Beckham, Richard Hartman, Chere Ball. Second row, David Yeans, Bill Barnett, Mark Kloster, John Mills, Nathan Brenner, Renaldo Stowers, Roger Nelson (Coach). Third row, Terry Telligman, Daniel McKneel, Michael Walker, Marvin Mayberry, Russell Dobbins, Bill Stephens.

Performing precision routines in parades, at banquets, and state-wide competition, the Sam Houston Rifles proudly represent the Corps of Cadets and College of Military Sciences.

Above: First row, Richard Closner, C/1st Sgt. Darrell F. Perez. Second row, Adam K. Wigfall, Anthony Martinez.

Above: First row, C/1LT Michael A. Saltarelli (Exec. Officer), C/CPT. Lester Simpson (Commander). Second row, Jonathan Bevill, Randy J. Threet, Larry D. Pink.

Sam Houston Rifles

I AM...

Students

Graduates

Adimah, John O. Akella, Krishna R. Ardry, Margaret L. Brown, Diane L. Calahan, Melanie M. Candillo, Robert

Cardenas, Clarita Coffman, Cynthia G. Countryman, W. Mark Elahi, Naser N. Gerloff, Rhonda R. Hastings, Pat

Hauser, Warren Hobbs, Dianne R. Launius, David C. Liu, Winston C. Martin, Glenn E. McGee, George H., Jr.

McMillen, Sandra K. Ravikumar, Narasimhan Nigianto, Julianto J. Oliver, Luther V. Patrick, Karen S. Phan, Anh B.

Pruett, Deborah K.

Puckett, Mark S.

Refoua, Albert

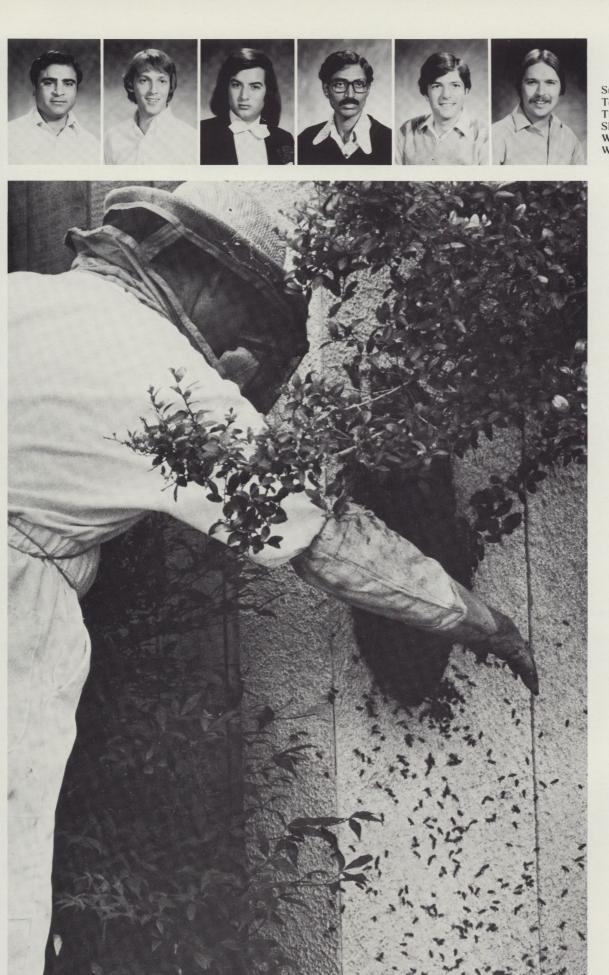

Photo by Don Corzine

Sumdani, Ghulam Torti, Russell G. Turner, Brent J. Shetty, Venugopal Wolff, Gary J. Workman, Ralph C.

Seniors

Agaranwa, Bernard O. Agwuna, Alex A. Akerman, Bonnie L. Allen, James R. Allen, Rebecca Allen, Tammy A.

Al-Ramadhan, Abdul J. Ammann, Mark L. Amon, Donald E. Angle, Matthew H. Anglin, Charlotte Y. Arbon, Marjorie A.

Armstrong, Robert P. Ater, Janet L. Athon, Mark A. Atkins, Karen E. Atkins, Steven D. Bagby, Donna J.

> Baker, Roy L. Banister, Tamara Barber, David L. Barclay, James L. Barnhart, Linda R. Bass, J. Greg

Beane, Lynette K. Beascoechza, Mary L. Behrouzy-Far, Hooshang Bell, Junell De. Bellamny, Claire Belvin, Don W.

Bender, Gloria L. Bird, Terry L. Bishop, James R. Bishop-Jones, Brenda J. Blocker, Pamela S. Blum, Cynthia L.

Bonin, Deborah S. Bonner, Timmis P. Bordelon, Kevin J. Bowen, Diane K. Bowles, Elizabeth Bradshaw, Gretchen J.

> Brady, James M. Bragg, Jack R. Branch, Curtis K. Brewer, Kathryn B. Bridges, Terry W. Briscoe, Brenda D.

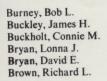

Brown, Juliet L. Brown, James W. Brown, Dennis Brown, Belinda Britton, Tina L. Cubine, Nancy C. B.

Crowson, Mark A.

Crenshaw, Billie S.

Craven, Sarah B.

Craig, Grant A.

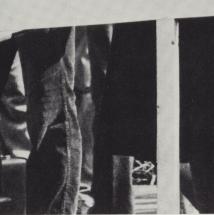

Crabaugh, Jeff P.

Cotter, Brian G.

FOR WORLD WAR III

Cadena, Deborah L. Cadwallader, Robert N. Caffey, Ronald E. Cahill, Gregory B. Caldwell, Kenneth S. Calvert, Paul A.

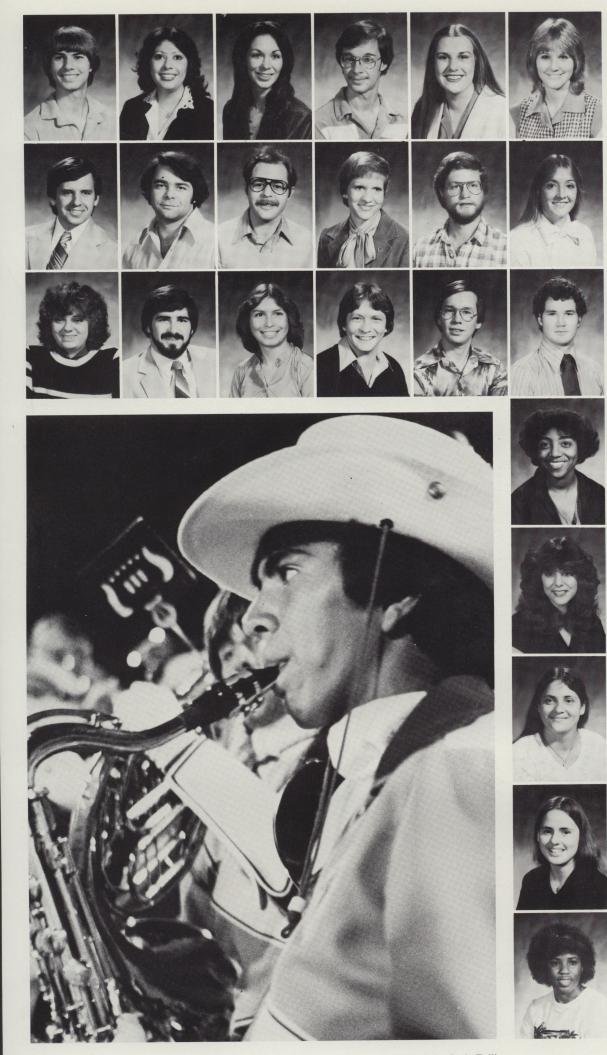

> Card, Sherry A. Cartsunis, Karen H. Cash, K. Paul Cashat, Robert D. Caylor, Katherine Chan, Sau-Mi P.

Chan, Wilson Childress, Jean E. Cisneros, Sylvia Clark, Alfred R. Clark, Elizabeth Clark, Stephen K.

Clayton, Gary D. Clemons, Randy Cobbinah, Rosemary K. Collier, Dick A. Compton, Kay L. Conly, Jeffrey A.

> Conner, Joe G. Cook, Douglas R. Cooper, Marcia A. Cope, William E. Corbett, George M. Corbin, Pamela K.

Corbitt, Daniel R. Cortez, Gracie B. Dalby, Debbie J. Davis, Bruce G. Davis, Donna J. Davis, Elsie A.

Davis, Paul A. Davis, Robert L. Day, Don W. Deaton, Birta M. Deering, Robert M. Dennis, Melody A.

Dodds, Diana S. Doyle, Louis M. Dujka, Patricia L. Dunn, Darrell S. Durda, Frank J., IV Eidson, Walter T.

Elam, Angela R.

Elias, Belinda J.

Elkins, Karen J.

Elkins, Karon J.

Elliott, Vickie J.

Elsner, Arthur J. Emery, William Emuh, Godwin C. English, Mark F. Estes, Latonia H. Fairley, William E.

Falt, Eric R. Farmer, Charles G. Fatheree, Bruce A. Fatheree, Kathryn E. Fields, Vicki L. Fitzek, Jerry E.

> Fitzek, Juleigh A. Flados, Paul A. Flamming, Doug Fleeman, Donna Flood, Dennis K. Flores, Carmen C.

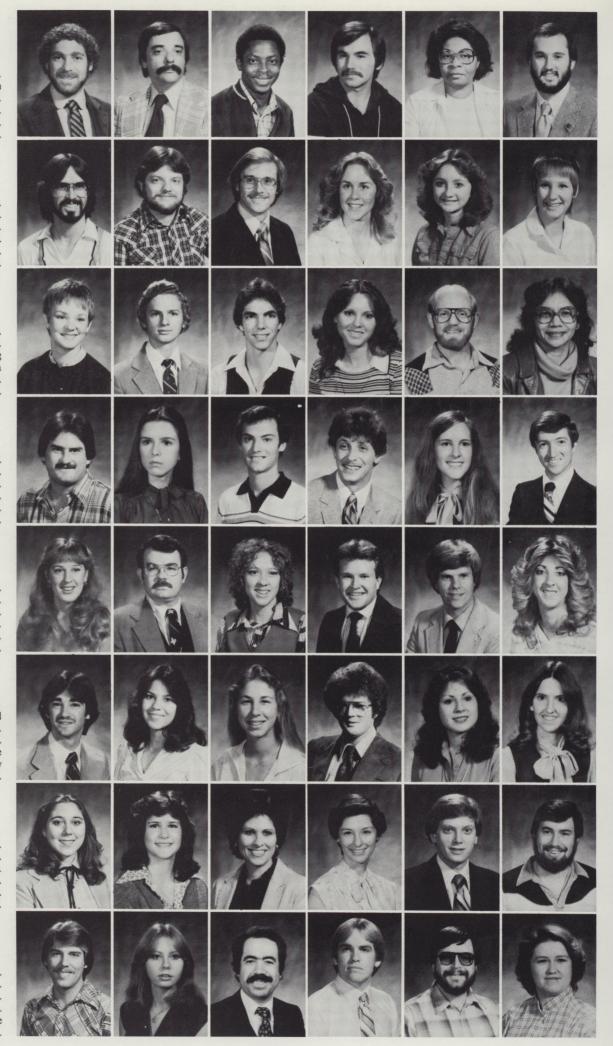

Follis, Jim D. Francis, Deborah J. Frasier, Kerry G. Friday, Jeffrey S. Fuessel, Rhonda S. Fuller, James W.

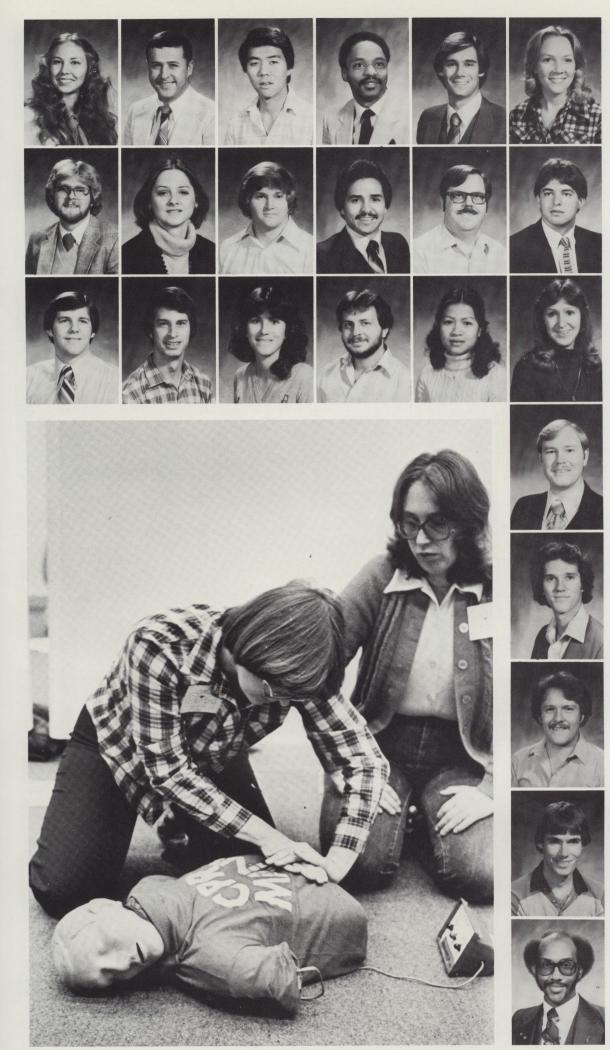

Funke, Kammy D. Gaines, David H. Gardiner, April D. Gentry, Jimmy G. Glassford, Glen P. Gober, Bayle L.

Gorman, Howard Govea, Linda D. Graham, Linda L. Green, Eddie Greenwood, Kimberly Gregory, Valerie W.

> Groner, Nancy A. Gruber, Denise E. Grupe, Janice D. Grygar, Eileen G. Haas, Melvin R. Hames, Jerry S.

Hammond, Carl B. Hamzeh, Barbara L. Hamzeh, Ryad M. Hanson, Rick D. Hardison, Cole Harrell, Barbara A.

Harrison, Max H. Hart, Norbert J. Hashimoto, Michael M. Haskins, Clifford L. Haswell, Keith A. Hatcher, BettyJean

Hayden, Rex A. Hays, Felecia Herod, Russell K. Herrera, Vincent R. Herring, Al G. Hiler, Jimmy D.

Hill, Keith E. Hill, Ken S. Hilton, Lisa A. Hissen, Ramsey J. Hoang, My Hodgkinson, Kathryn L.

Hodnett, Thomas E.

Holder, Daryl W.

Holland, Allan C.

Holt, Steven R.

Hornsby, Leonard M.

Photo by Ben Hatch

Hoskins, Clifford L. Howie, James B. Huerta, Rita Hulsey, Bruce R. Hunnicutt, William S. Hurlburt, Catherine

Huse, Cynthia A. Hyden, Cari L. Igwe-Onu, Moses O. Ivory, David W. Jackson, Wanda F. Jamison, Thomas S.

Jernigan, Steven S. Johnson, Benny E. Johnson, Harlan D. Johnson, John A. Johnson, Joye M. Johnston, Richard A.

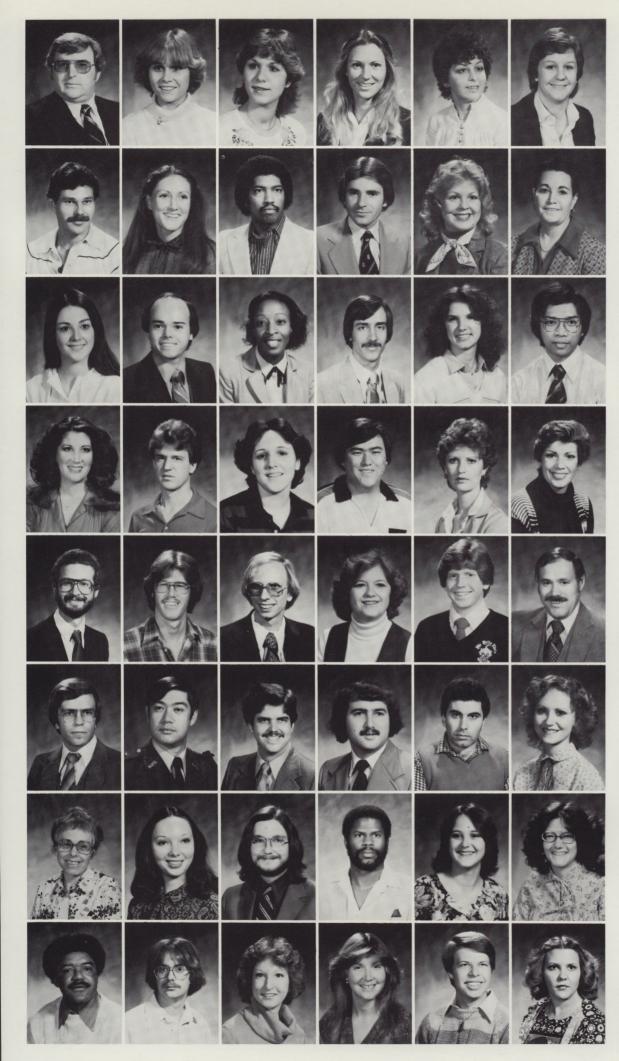

> Jones, Vicki J. Jordon, Louis M. Kelly, Margaret A. Kelly, Carolyn K. Kelly, Mary A. Kemper, Randy J.

Kennedy, Stephen L. Kim, Aeran King, John R. Kinkade, Paula G. Kirkland, Myra E. Kleiber, Steven F.

Photo by Allison Caldwell

Knight, Benny R. Koelle, Janet S. Koepp, Christine Koskelin, Dianne L. Kulik, Dorothy Kuykendall, Jaann

Lajoie, Marshall Lampkin, Era A. Lane, Luther T. Langenderfer, Edward L. Lawler, Jan L. Lawlis, Claudia M.

Lawlis, Michelle M. Lawrence, David F. Lawosn, Beulah F. Leach, Michael T. Lee, Becky I. Lee, Chauan S.

Lenhahan, Alice M. Leonard, John M. Lewis, Deborah J. Lewis, Franklin G., Jr. Lindsey, Wanda J. Linduff, Patricia K.

Linnstaedt, Robert B. Little, Lanny D. Loper, Thomas L. Lotspeich, Shirley J. Loughan, Mike F. Love, William P.

Lowrance, David A. Ludwig, Mikio E. Mackey, Michael L. Magee, Keith Majdalani, Toufic, N. Malak-Mahyari, Jean S.

Manning, Joy Massey, Nancy C. Mathews, Douglas J. Mayfield, Darryl L. Mays, Connie D. McAlpin, Patricia A.

McClure, Robert J. McDonald, Brian T. McFadin, Heidi L. McGill, Joni C. McKee, George S. McMahan, Liz A. McNulty, Patricia S. Medina, John A. Menasco, Karen R. Meredith, Leigh A. Michl, Mary L. Miller, Gary W.

Minnerly, Scott W. Mitchell, Rebecca Moffett, Mary B. Monfrini, Anita C. Montgomery, Norma W. Moon, David M.

Moore, Larry D. Moore, Larry T. Moore, Mark T. Moreno, Ricardo Motsko, Gregory W. Muller, John M.

Mundt, Larry B. Murphy, Susan M. Nelson, Judy A. Nobles, Linda Norris, George Pacot, Carlo

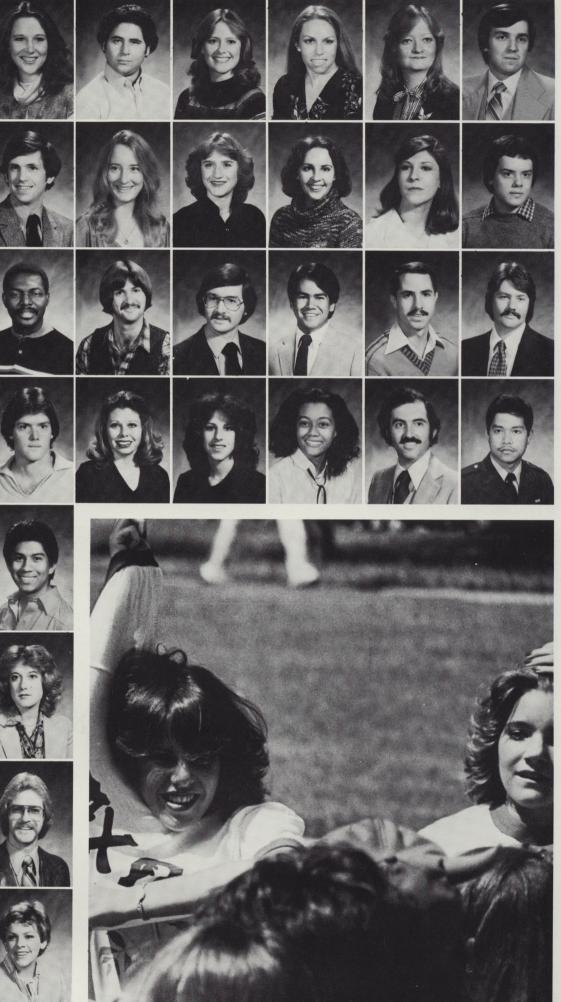

Palacios, Rodolfo R.

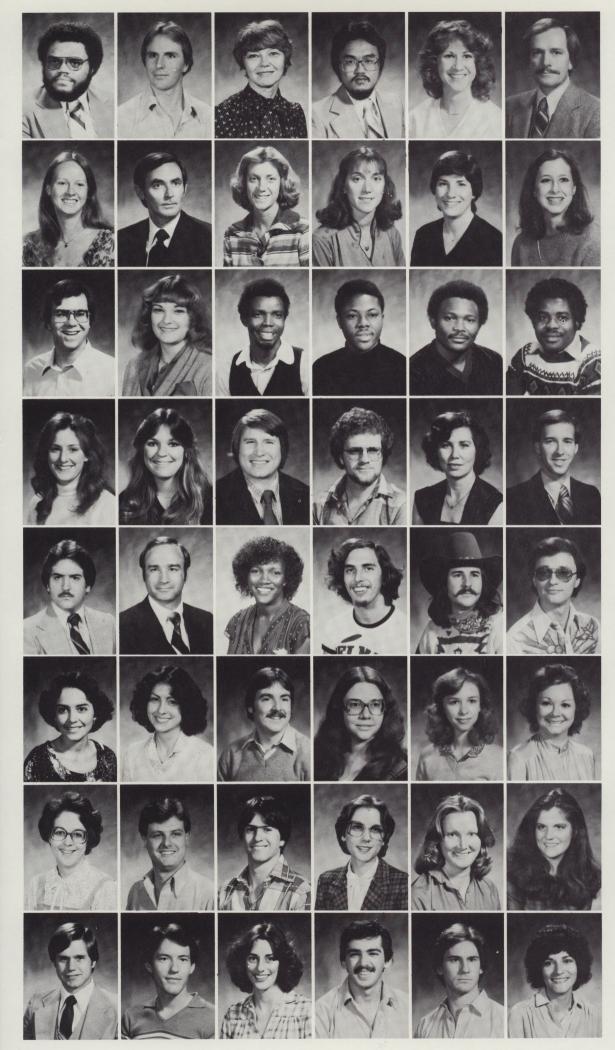

Parker, Darla J.

Parker, Fredric F.

Parsons, Neysa L.

Patterson, Charles R. Patterson, Dee P. Patterson, Shirley A. Patuwo, Isak H. Pecena, Marsha K. Peterson, Ronald R.

Phillips, Vicky A. Pierce, Norman D. Pilon, Dana E. Pilon, Dawn E. Pollard, Libby Pryor, Elizabeth

Odom, Joel L. Ohmes, Zoie M. Okate, John A. Omokaro, Valentine Onyeador, Chinedu S. Onyebuchi, Peter O.

Orr, Pamela J. Otto, Diana F. Otto, Walter L. Owen, Bryan E. Owen, Cynthia C. Owen, Dan G.

Owen, Jerry S. Owen, Jim D. Owusu-Ansah, Juliana Raiman, Peter L. Rainone, Gregory J. Raley, Randal A.

Ramirez, Maria C. Rangel, Josephine Reagan, Timothy M. Rice, Diann C. Rigdon, Karyn S. Riley, Charlotte

Rinewalt, Ruth A. Risendorph, Scott E. Robbins, David M. Robbins, Deborah L. Robbins, Junie D. Robbins, Pegeen

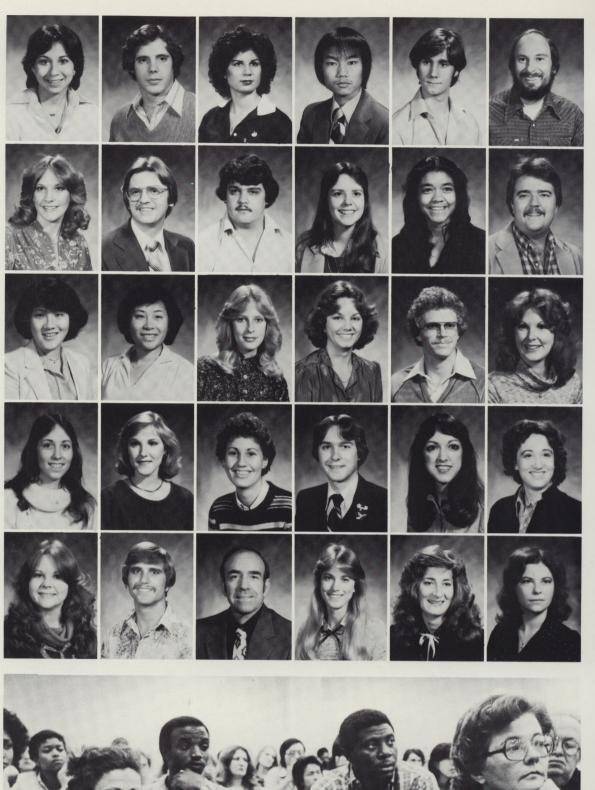

Ross, Billy D. Royall, Bob L. Royall, Deborah T. Sahba, Shahriar Sakowski, John D. Salazar, Donna L. Salazar, Laura M. Sanders, James F. Sandlin, Rosanna J. Saykaothao, Thaokay Schaeper, Chris Schedeen, Glenn J.

Schubert, Lynn D. Scoggins, Dan G. Sexton, William R. Shanks, Laurel A. Sheppard, Cecilia Shobert, Teddy B.

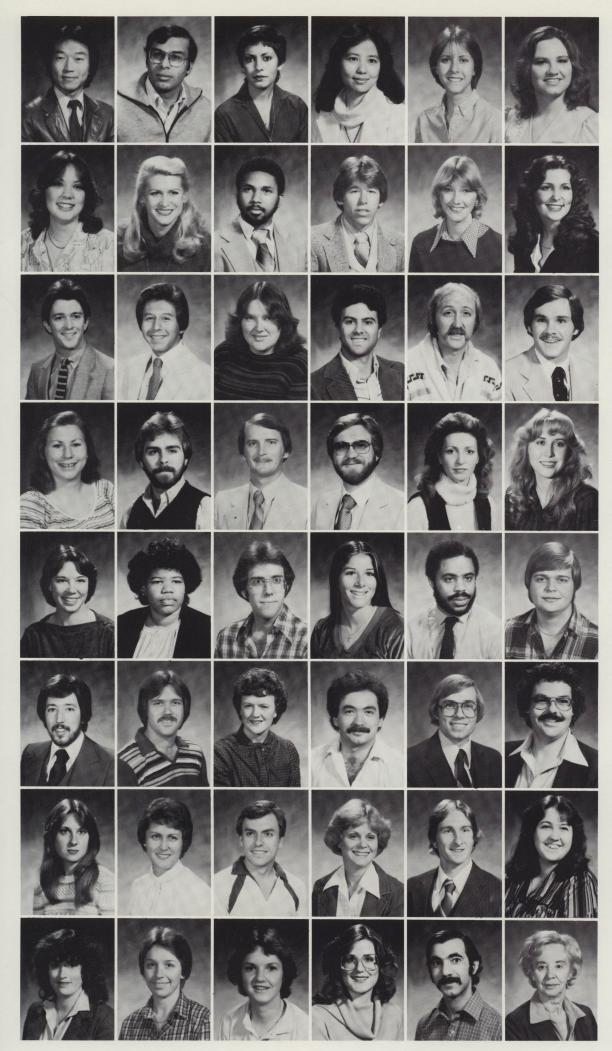

Shum, Alice H. Shum, Jane J. Shurbet, Janice L. Singleton, Joellen Smith, Billy R. Smith, Glinda A.

Smith, Mindy S. Smith, Mitzi G. Soch, Elizabeth Spence, David L. Starkey, Teressa Starnes, Renee

Steele, Debora A. Stephens, Thomas C. Stewart, Jack H., Jr. Story, Nora L. Stroman, Theresa L. Sulak, Lydia R.

Sze, Jack H. Tabani, Saquif A. Taeed, Shekoufeh Tanasaleh, Nany Tate, Kathleen J. Thedford, Shirley D.

Thomas, Megan A. Thomas, Theresa B. Thomas, Travis J. Tichenor, Russell E. Todd, Debra E. Tullos, Sherry L.

Vacker, Barry D. Vasquez, Manual D. Vigus, Rose A. Villalaba, Jorge E. Vinnes, Doug N. Ward, Larry R.

Weant, Susanne Weaver, Bradley L. Webb, William G. Welch, Kenneth Westfall, Diana C. Whaley, Diann M.

White, Louann Wilkes, Joyce A. Williams, Charles Williams, Deana A. Williams, Erskine A. Wilkins, Mark A.

Wilson, Charles L. Wilson, Glen D. Wilson, Kimberly K. Wilson, Mark Wilson, Terry Wincovitch, Evan F.

Wise, Margaret L. Wright, Peggy A. Wright, Tony L. Womack, Elsa B. Wood, Larry W. Wortham, Quale A.

Worthington, Susan B. Worley, Charlene K. Worley, Tobi L. Wynn, Sharon E. Zaindin, Abdulla S. Zucherman, Ester

Juniors

Adams, Feleçia A. Adams, Vickie R. Adamson, Kevin E. Adkins, Larry D. Alexander, James D. Anderson, Karen L.

Averheart, Vanessa A. Baker, Cindy Baker, Marlinda Bakhshmandi, Mojgan Barnes, Brenda A. Barnes, Craig W.

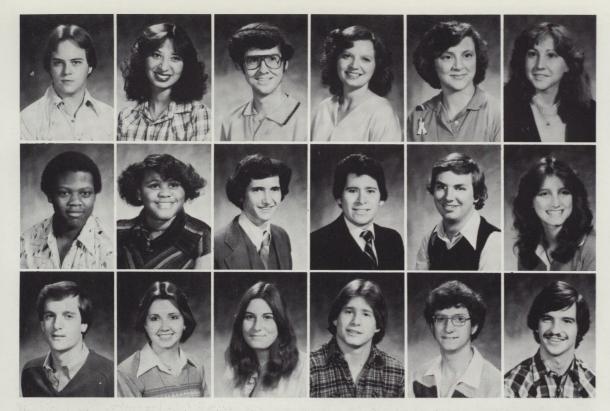

> Baugh, Gene Beene, Richard C. Bellomy, Melinda Bennett, Kyle S. Benson, Gregory A. Bernard, William

Bird, Kathy A. Bixby, Lon C. Blewett, Kelle A. Bonds, Roxanne Boozer, Jerome A. Bordon, Anny R.

Boyd, Robert M. Brecheen, Sandra L. Browne, Calvin A. Bullard, Tracy C. Buqais, Mohamed A. Busby, Ronald K.

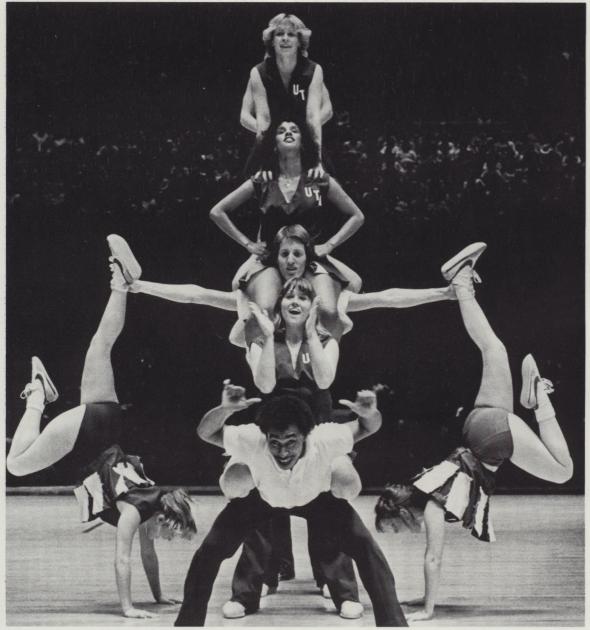

Campbell, Bruce S. Chaires, Janine Chapman, Charles E. Chavers, Elizabeth Clark, Elizabeth Collins, Lisa M.

Collins, Tim Cooper, Marilyn Cornwell, Ralph M. Cortez, Samuel Costlow, Kenneth W. Counts, Kimberly A.

Crotchfield, James J. Crowson, Terry L. Cummings, Lynda M. Cummings, Stuart A. Dagate, Lawrence N. Dahlgren, Billy R.

Daniel, Raymond E. Daniel, Richard A. Daniel, Gary W. Davis, Cheryl A. Davis, Ken L. Davis, Pamela S.

Davis, Philip H. Debesa, Maria E. Dodson, William E. Dolezalek, Darlene A. Dorsey, Darrell Doyle, Karen M.

> Driskell, Jerald W. Dulenz, Bruce J. Echols, Robbie L. Edwards, Terry L. Egiebor, Sharon E. Esparza, Alma Lou

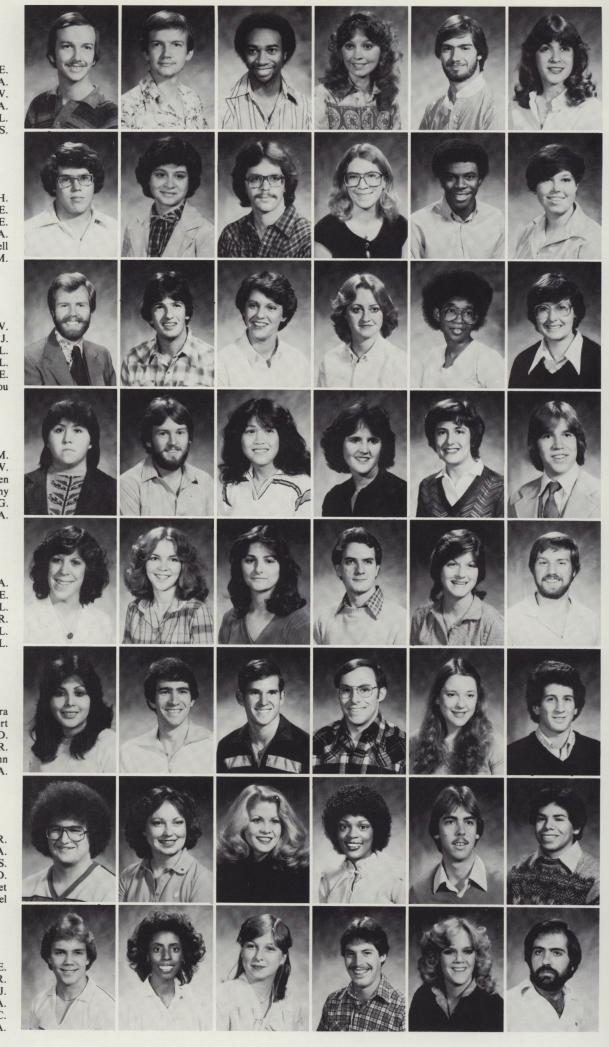

Espinosa, Kathy M. Everett, Gary W. Fang, Xue-Zhen Faris, Jenny Finan, Debra G. Fine, Mark A.

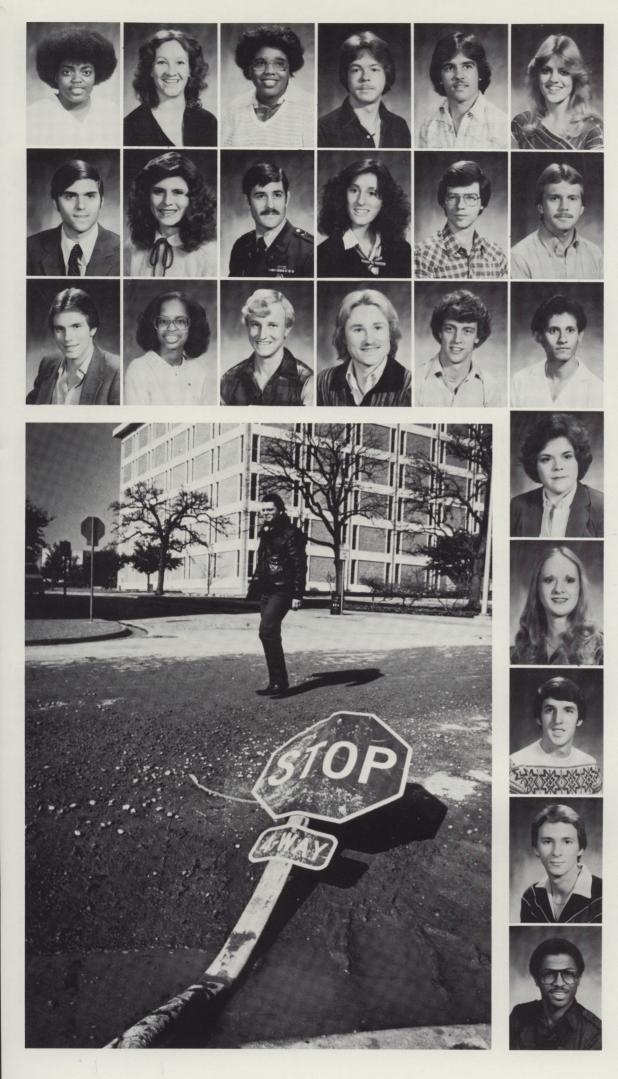

Fleming, Sally A. Forrester, Cynthia E. Freeman, Cheryl L. Fuchs, James R. Gage, Kathy L. Gant, Bryan L.

Garza, Barbara Gathright, Robert Gibbs, Rick D. Gisher, Ronald R. Gleason, Jo Ann Gonzales, Charles A.

> Goolsbey, Jeff R. Gragg, Ruth A. Graham, Vicki S. Greene, Stacey D. Groom, Bret Guzman, Daniel

Hahn, Rayburn E. Hailey, Joycelyn R. Hall, Mary J. Hames, Greg A. Hamilton, Laura C. Hamze, Akram A.

Handy, Lucretia R. Harris, Valorie D. Harrison, Jacqunetta Hartman, Richard G. Hatfield, Brian K. Hatley, Terri L.

Hawkins, James D. Hayden, Leah Hestilow, Terry M. Hewitt, Kathy R. Hill, John M. Hill, Steve W.

Holtry, Brett D. Hornbeak, Janetta J. Isbell, Ronald W. Jackson, Scott J. Jacobs, Harmon V. Hamsheer, Khalid Y.

Johnson, Janie L.

Johnson, Sue E.

Johnston, William K.

Jones, Matt B.

Jordan, Kirby L.

Kaarlele, Mitchell L. Kajs, Mary M. Kavanaugh, Rosemary Kay, Chris A. Kenney, Kevin K. Kerbow, Rae Ann

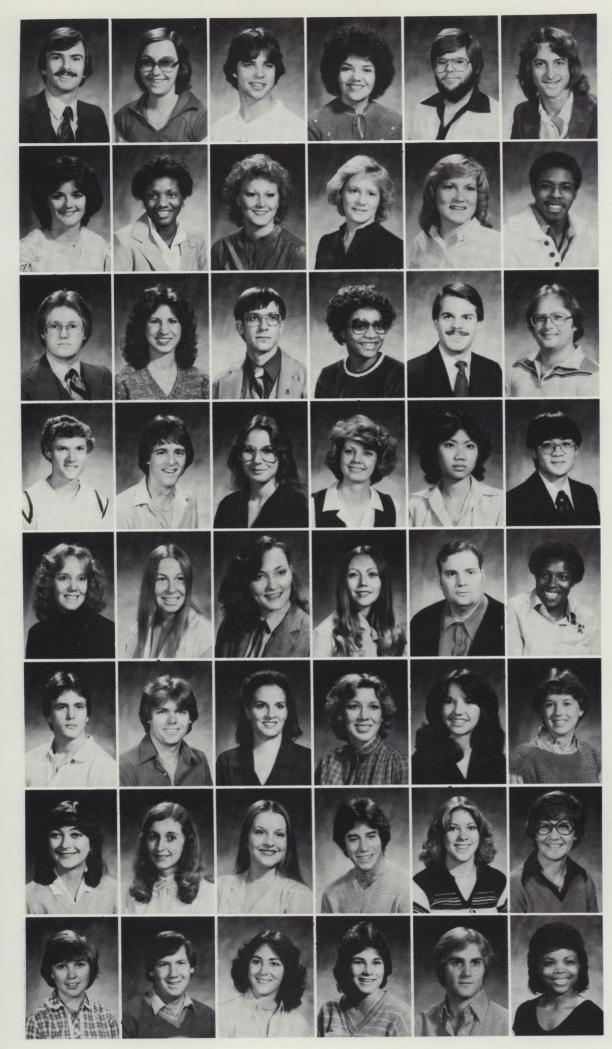

> Khatib, Hisham Y. Kim, Susan King, James L. King, Mark A. Knott, Gary Lackey, Rick S.

Lawlis, Denise Lee, David L. Lee, Gilbert K. Leone, Carmella Lewis, Gregory D. Logan, R. Lynne

Long, Gerald L. Lopez, Teresa R. Lynch, Chorlecia J. Maclaren, Jon M. Madu-Afokwa, Charlie C. Malcolm, Monroe B.

Mansfield, Thomas R. Manuel, Julie K. Manson, Frank S. McCauley, Machelle McCurry, Bill F. McLarry, Howard D.

Monk, Carla K. Moore, Tobiper A. Moorhead, Connie L. Morton, Gina M. Morton, Tina A. Moss, Edmond L.

Murdock, Allen R. Mureiko, Judy L. Murphy, Monte J. Nealy, Rogena D. Near, Michael Nelson, James D.

Nicholas, Loren D. Nicholson, Jeff Norris, Michelle A. Norris, Patsy, P. Oahn, Le Thi Ki Oei, Benjamin E.

Otradovec, Mary M. Orban, Debra A. Otterman, Paula D. Otts, Yvonne R. Parker, Michael P. Patterson, Angela M.

Patton, John R. Pearson, Doyle E. Peoples, Josephine D. Perrin, Tammie S. Pettit, Susan D. Plummer, Diane K.

Prachyl, Sharon L. Prunty, Teresa E. Pryor, Dana A. Quisenberry, John K. Reed, Sharon A. Reeves, Elaine C.

Reynolds, Cynthia L. Reynolds, Stan A. Rheudasil, Leslie E. Riddle, Leslie A. Risner, Benny J. Ritchie, Leah S. Roa, Rafael E. Roberson, Stephanie G. Rodgers, Donna J. Schup, Herbert A. Scott, Joan E. Scott, Zachary C.

Scroggins, Don R. Selman, Duane Shannon, Michael D. Sharma, Jivesh Shover, Cary L. Singer, Jerry M.

Smith, Dawn E.

Spradling, Cindy K.

Stanley, James M.

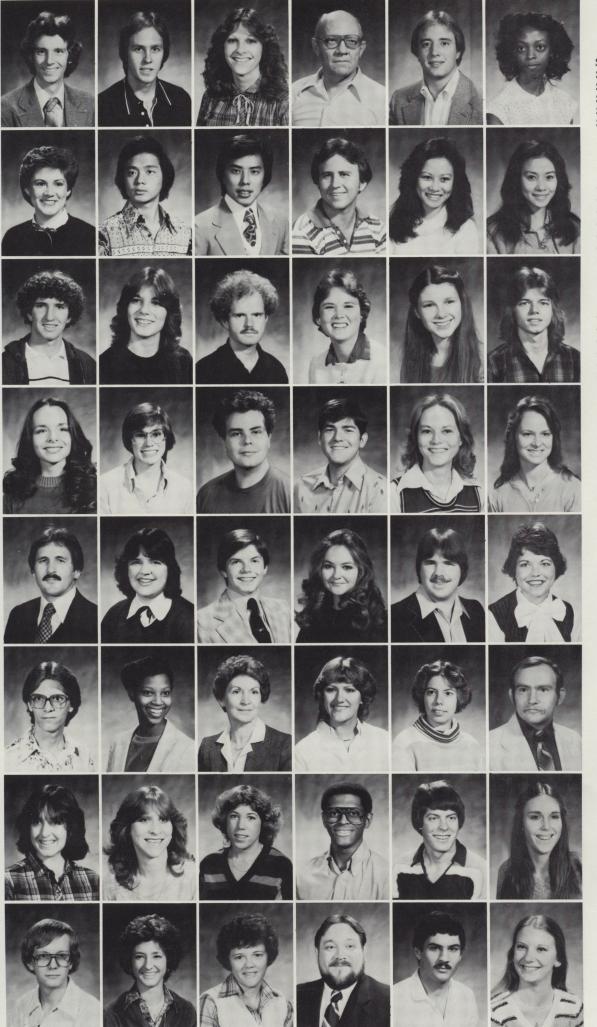

Stefanini, Art G.

Stevenson, Paul S.

Stucker, Robert G., II Sturgeon, Robert K. Sulak, Donna K. Swindle, Billy P. Swope, Jeff A. Sye, Cassandra J.

Tabor, Catherine L. Tanasaleh, Budhi S. Tanasaleh, Widyanto Taylor, William T. Teh, Po-Lin Teh, Po-Tan

Telligman, Terry I. Terrell, Ramanda M. Thomason, James C. Thompson, Janet G. Tillinghast, Engela B. Timofte, Daniel

Trotter, Tammy J. Turner, Nancy E. Vann, Robert D. Vickers, Darrell H. Vineyard, Nancy G. Walker, Sylven E.

Ward, Paterick D. Warnock, Lanette K. Wasson, David L. Webb, Shirley A. Weeks, David B. Wiegand, Sarah B.

Wilkinson, Glen A. Williams, Angela C. Williams, Eunice W. Williams, Susan M. Williams, Vickey R. Willis, Ken D.

Wilson, Ruth Wnorowski, Jan Woods, Beverly G. Woods, Thearsbomb Woolley, Charles K. Wright, Linda A.

Wyatt, Anthony L. Wynn, Shari A. Yates, Kay N. Yeilding, Aaron C. Zainal, Abdulmone Zubriski, Felicia

Sophomores

Accaiarito, Cathy J. Acevedo, Hector Ackermann, Tammy L. Adams, Carla D. Akbar, Jalal D. Albright, Paula D.

> Alders, Timothy J. Andres, Nancy P. Andrews, Nancy S. Annedondo, Patricia Arnott, Jennifer L. Askey, James D.

Attiya, Hakim Ayers, R. Duane Barnett, Melissa A. Barnett, William D. Barter, Andy J. Bass, Mary E.

Bauman, Kay L.

Bergthold, Teresa E.

Bishop, Kim

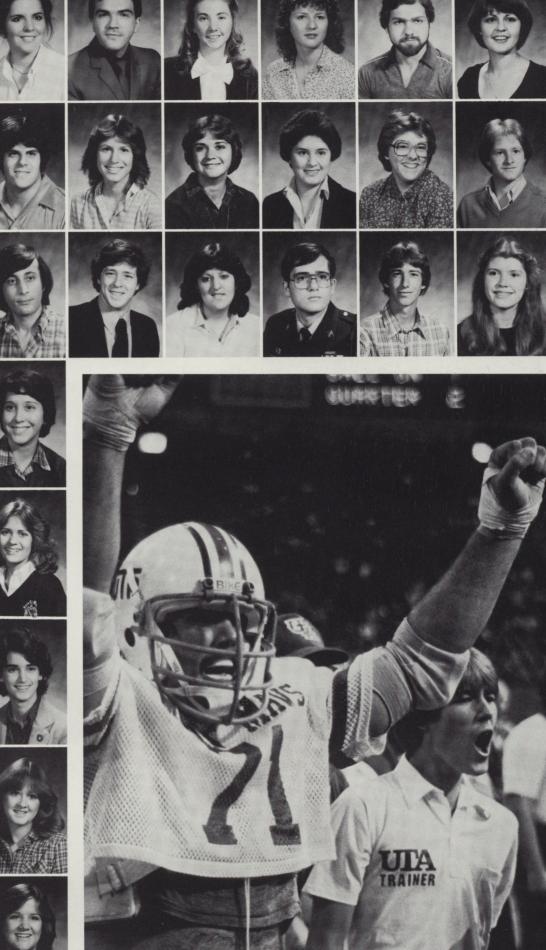

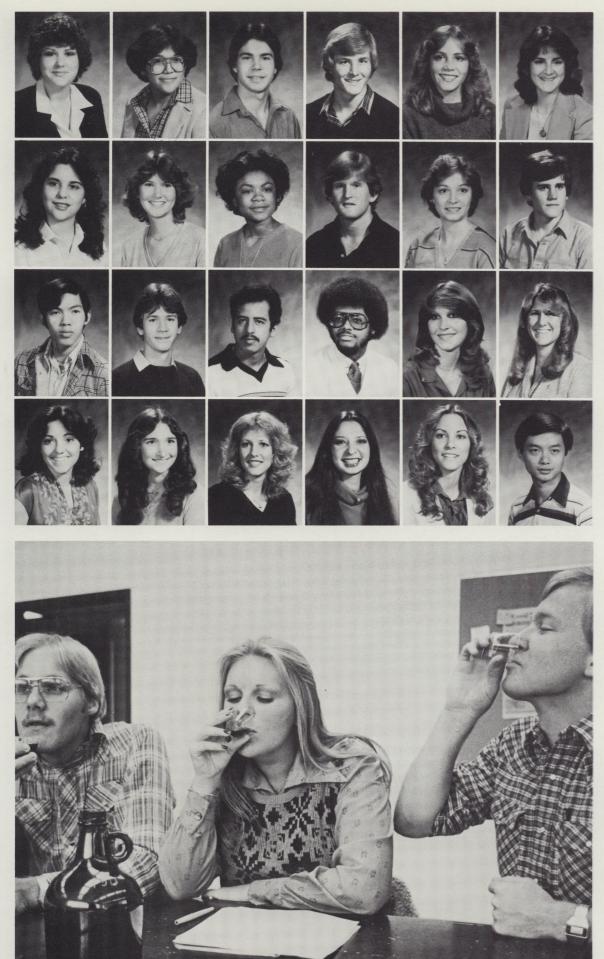

Photo by Ron Kneebone

Bond, Suzanne Borbon, Anna M. Boyd, Thomas R. Braack, David A. Brewer, Glenda G. Bridges, MaryAnne

Brighwell, Sandra L. Brockenbush, Diane L. Brown, Jacquelyn Brown, Pat M. Bruce, Janet E. Brunn, Mark A.

Bui, Hung D. Bumpass, Richard C. Calderon, Manuel A. Canady, Sherman R. Carter, Jeanie V. Caruthers, Linda M.

Cassingham, Jill A. Castle, Cathy L. Cejka, Julie D. Chaires, Suzette Chalfant, Emily Chang, Anthony C. Charanza, Henrietta Chau, Hung To H. Chavez, Michael L. Chiles, Mark A. Cho, Seok, B Christopher, Laurie L.

> Claros, Angie M. Clizbe, John P. Clutz, Frederick Collins, Nancy C. Conner, Linda J. Copus, Cynthia

Cornell, Karen T. Crawford, Johnny L. Crow, Robert E. Dao, Nghia T. Davis, Donna J. Davis, Frieda K.

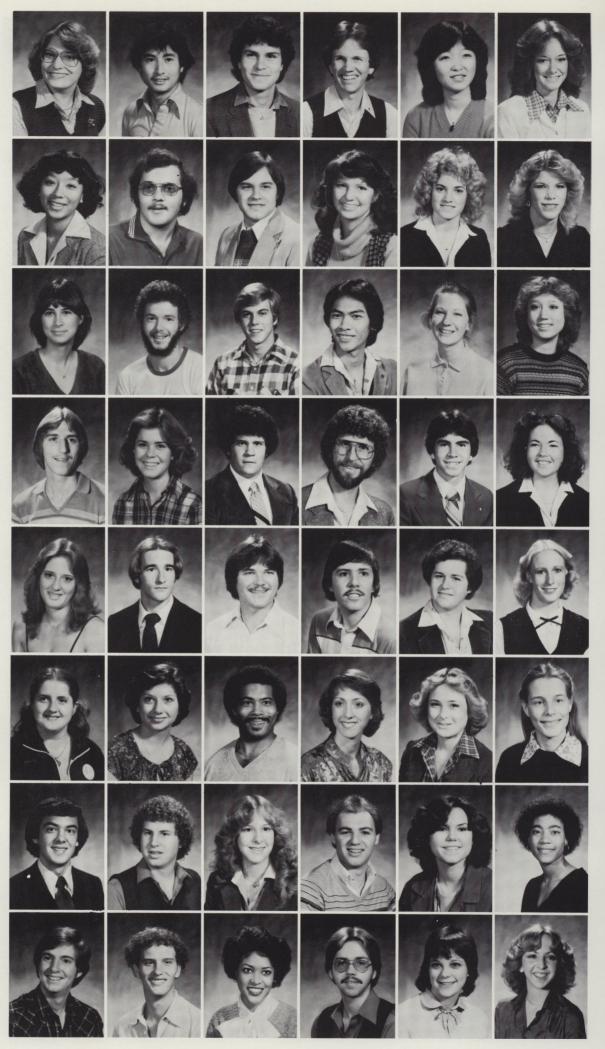

Davis, James W. Davis, Lynda S. Decker, Michael E. Degel, Kenneth L. Del Rio, Jake C. Dennis, Johanna

Deordio, Jeanne E. Dixson, Bryan D. Doublin, Lowell W. Drerup, Doug M. Dulworth, Joe D. Echelberger, Mary F.

Elkins, Kristina Elko, Mary E. Elliott, Lester Ethridge, Lydia L. Evans, Donna J. Fallon, Virginia M.

Fentum, William E. Ferguson, Cale T. Ferguson, Elise N. Ferro, Benny Fleeman, Rhonda Ford, Fontaini

Ford, John C. Forester, Warren W. Foster, Shelia K. Franklin, Paul D. Fuller, Jamie H. Gagnon, Theresa A.

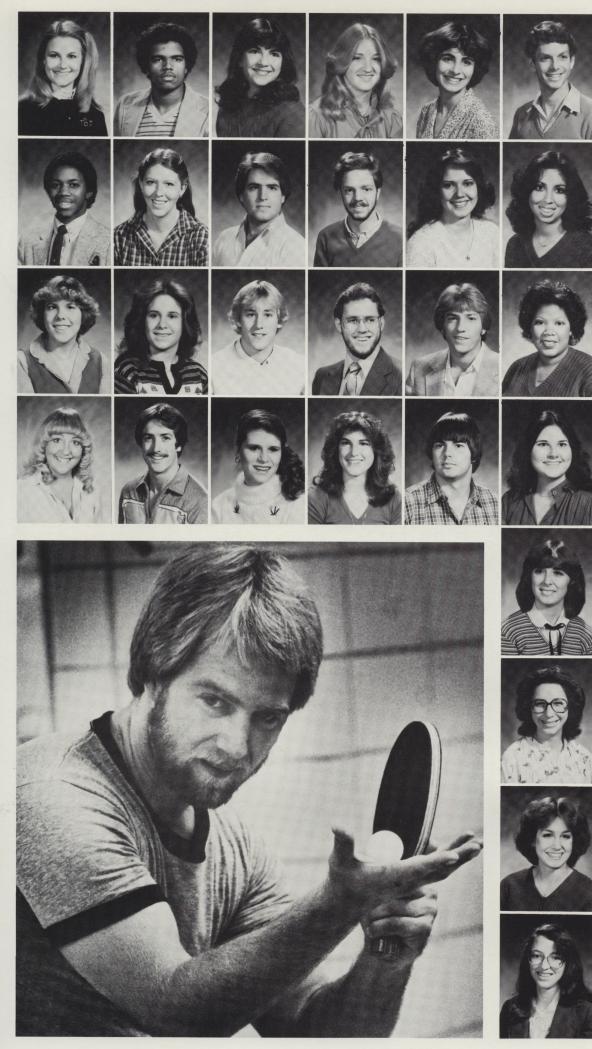

Photo by Donna Bagby

Gallion, Tammy J. Garner, David C. Gendron, Teresa E. Gilliam, Yeonette P. Gillian, Eugenia S. Gottlich, James H.

Grace, Timothy R. Graves, Jalynn Gray, John M. Gremillion, Charles V. Grice, Lisa A. Griffin, Annette

Grimes, Margaret M. Gruenwald, Nancy J. Gudat, James C. Hall, Gregory N. Haney, Mark A. Harvey, Yolanda

Hatfield, Teri E. Hawkins, Michael W. Hayden, Lisa Haynie, Tracy J. Hearne, Powell W. Henry, Ginger K.

Henry, Lynn A.

Hogue, Dorothy J.

Holland, Karen E.

Holloway, Fara A.

Holloway, Regina J. Holloway, Regina J. Hull, Mitchell L. Ip, Wai C. Jackson, Beverly K. Jackson, Thomas T.

Jacobs, Mark F. James, John W., Jr. Jenkins, Don L. Johnson, Robert M. Kelldorf, Michael E. Key, Pamela D.

Kirby, Patricia Kirk, Carol A. Kissinger, Ann W. Klaviter, Kim Kose, Penny D. Knowles, David G.

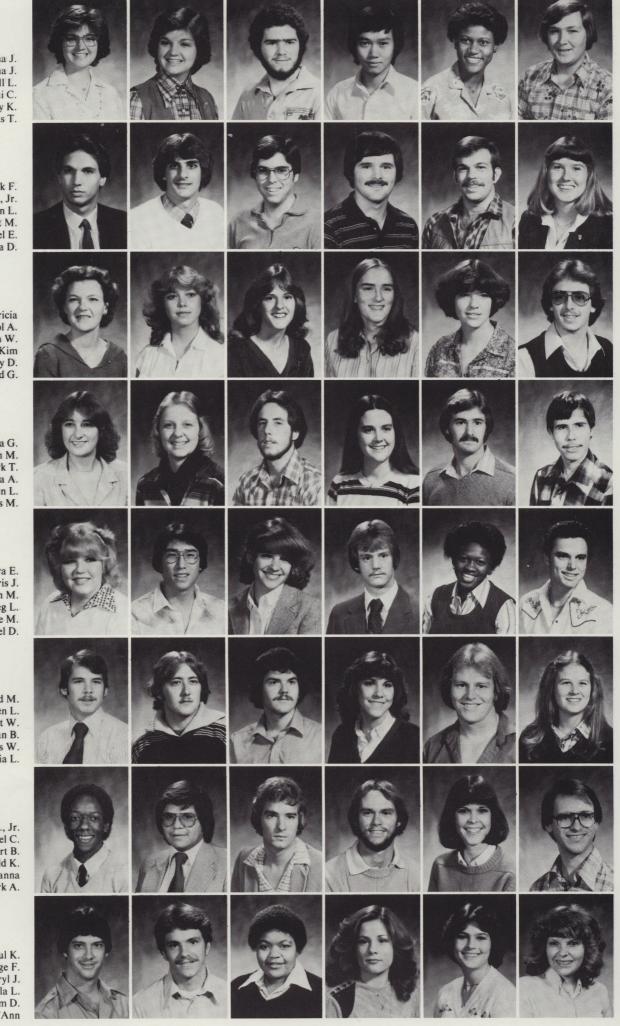

Kost, Donna G. Kubiak, Susan M. LaCourse, Mark T. Laferney, Cynthia A. Landers, Stephen L. Latta, James M.

> Lee, Tamara E. Lewis, Chris J. Lewis, Kathryn M. Lindsey, Greg L. Lofton, Deanne M. Long, Michael D.

Lovas, Donald M. Mackey, Steven L. MacLaren, Scott W. Mann, Susan B. Mapel, Douglas W. Martin, Cynthia L.

Martin, Willie L., Jr. Martinez, Gabriel C. McClung, Robert B. McGee, Ronald K. McHaney, Shanna McKelvey, Mark A.

McKinney, Paul K. McMann, George F. McMillan, Sheryl J. McMullin, Tamila L. McQueen, Kim D. Meador, D'Ann

Mentesana, Ernest Meredith, Gaye D. Meynen, Rebecca A. Moore, Christina E. Moore, Tamera A. Moorhead, Lisa D.

Morgan, Harold A. Mulholland, Sammie A. Murray, Cindy R. Musselman, William J. Nedderman, Eric E. Nelle, Nancy C.

Nelson, Donna K. New, Lisa K. Newhouse, Nancy C. Nichols, Curtis D. Nix, Jane M. Norcross, Thomas M.

Norris, Linda J. Nyaku, Albert D. O'Leary, Louri M. Oliver, Janiece M. Olson, Karen A. Pace, Stephanie R.

Palmer, Kathy D. Payne, Jay J. Payne, Larry D. Peacock, Tammy K. Pearson, Donna B. Peckham, Brian S.

Perry, John E. Pickens, Jan R. Pistole, Roger L. Porter, Celia M. Porterfield, Donivan R. Prokop, Rhonda J.

Query, William R. Rackley, Steve Redding, Donald R. Reed, Gwendolyn Rice, Lynda L. Rickett, Rhonda K.

Riell, Seane P. Rinehart, Julia B. Romero, Charlotte A. Rosario, Melissa Ross, Darla F. Ross, Karla K.

Rushing, Philip S.

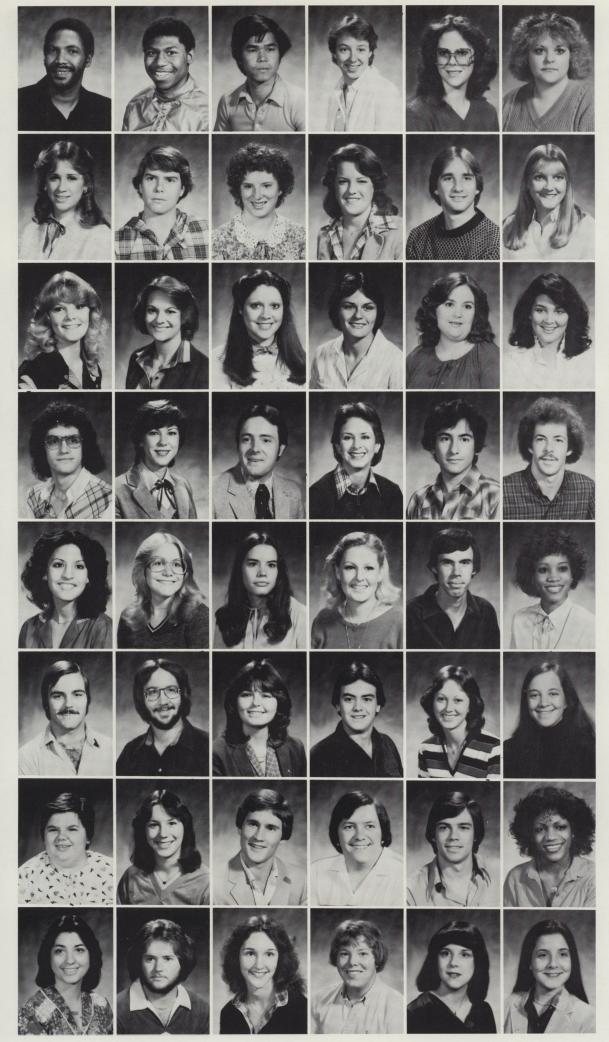

Saifi, Shaheen

Schaefers, Stephen P.

Seamster, James L. Seward, Samuel E., Jr. Sham, Teng-Sing Sharpe, Susan J. Shaw, Tammi J. Shores, Susan L.

Shortridge, Penny B. Sims, John M. Smith, Kathy J. Smith, Marci A. Smith, Stephen R. Snipes, Carol E.

Snyder, Kelly R. Sorrells, Tamara D. Sosa, Raquel P. Spradling, Cindy K. Stewart, Rita B. Stibbens, Nancy S.

Sutter, Mark A. Swaner, Janet L. Taylor, Richard T. Timpson, Pamela Torrez, Hector L. Twilighten, Sevn M.

Vina, Lori A. Yancey, Lisa K. Yosten, Suzy J. Young, Brenda J. Young, Robert B. Walker, Lovell

Walkup, Mark E. Walton, Sidney L. Washburn, Cynthia D. Webster, Madison R. Wesson, Marilyn A. Whitemire, Laura E.

Whitton, Rebecca A. Whitty, Therese F. Wieder, Marty B. Williams, James P. Williams, Mark A. Williams, Tokola U.

Winklosky, Donna L. Woodard, Steve R. Wright, Andrea L. Wright, Roger Xiques, Angelica Xiques, Daisy

Freshmen

Abdollahi, Harnid R. Abernathy, David W. Abernathy, Gregory B. Abraham, Zenophon A. Abrahamson, Michael W. Adams, Bryan D.

> Adams, Martha J. Aerts, Geert H. Afseth, Laif W. Agbahiwe, Sylvester Aguirre, Cynthia I. Ahlsted, Tommy P.

Alapic, Karen L. Alexander, Gary D. Allen, Catherine Allen, David D. Allison, Jo A. Amsler, Debra M.

Andrijeski, Susan M.

Appleton, Betsey C.

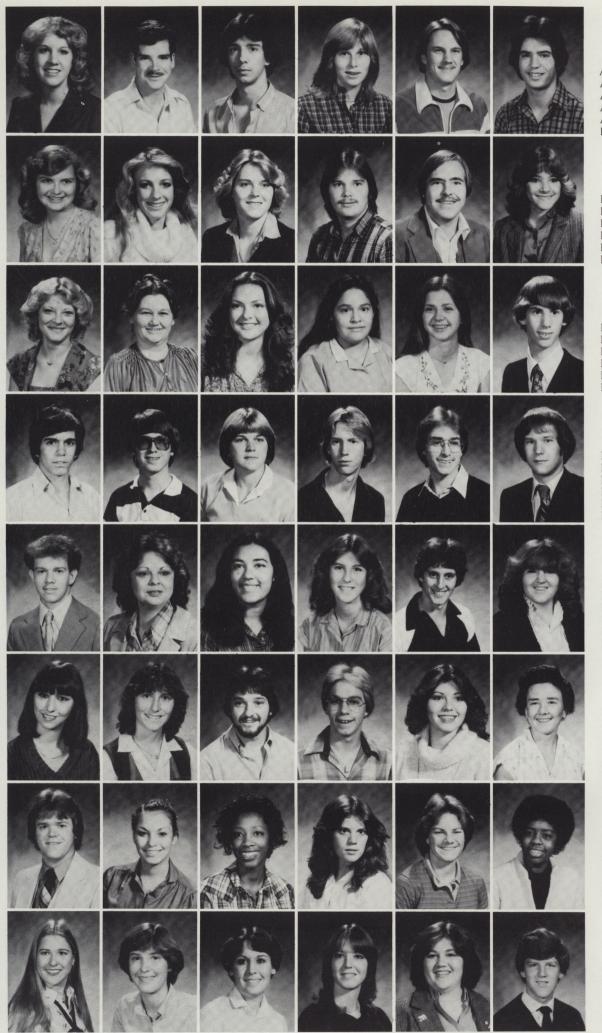

Arechiga, Francisco J.

Armstrong, William J.

Arnott, Susan L. Ashton, John H. Astalas, Daniel Augle, Melissa A. Avary, James C. Badgett, Didiers, E.

Bailey, Martha D. Bailey, Veronica L. Baire, Jennifer L. Balentine, Michale R. Ball, Darrell M. Barmby, Amanda J.

Barnes, Barbara A. Barnes, Bonnie M. Barnett, Nancy L. Barron, Guadalupe Barton, Karen M. Bassett, James J.

Baum, Stephen L. Bean, Donald O. Beckelman, Dana A. Beckham, Brad R. Beltran, Alan R. Bendorf, Coye E.

Benefield, Gary G. Bergmann, Martha J. Berry, Arlene A. Berry, Holly G. Berry, Mark R. Bitner, Felest D.

Blackmon, Barbara C. Blackwell, Amy L. Blaha, Mark A. Blair, Joe J. III Blevins, Teresa I. Boggs, Deanna L.

Bodiford, Ricky E. Bollenberg, Pascale M. Bonner, Karen A. Boudreau, Kathryn Bowen, Janet E. Bowman, Cernoria F.

Boyle, Sharon P. Bradshaw, Patricia A. Brainard, Lori L. Brannon, Cristie L. Branshaw, Margaret Brantferger, Kenneth M. Brennan, John S. Bretches, Jack A. Brooks, Cheri R. Brooks, Mary K. Brosh, Scott G. Brown, Kevin G.

Brown, Kimberly E. Brownfield, Jennifer L. Bruce, Greg L. Bruce, John W. Bulin, Shelley A. Bullard, Deborah S.

> Bullington, Lori S. Bullock, Erwin L. Burgess, Tommy M. Burnap, Danny D. Burnes, Charles B. Burns, Diane J.

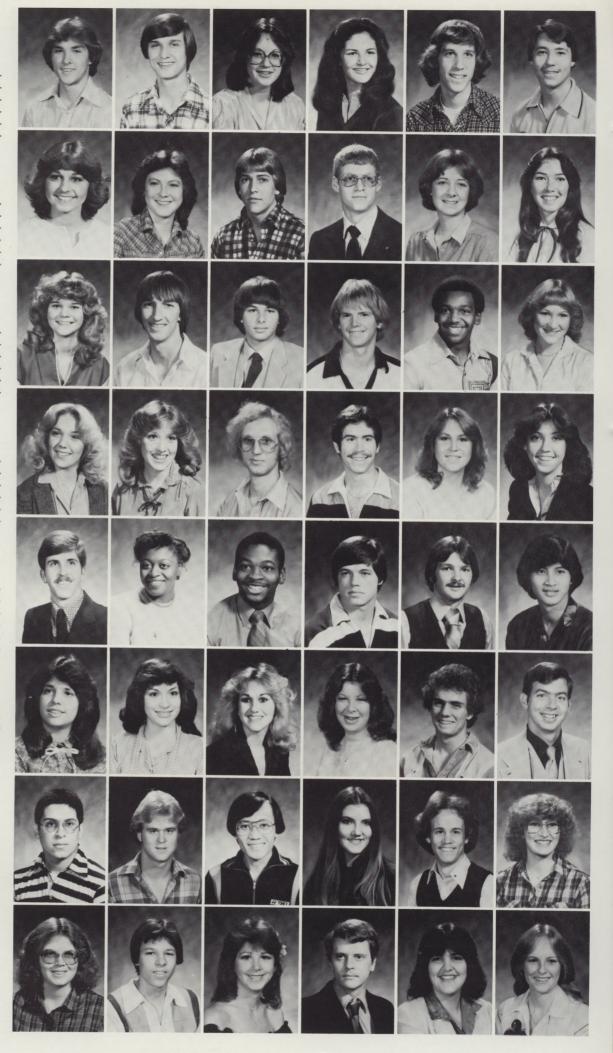

Burns, Kelly K. Burrow, Stephanie L. Bushee, Dean E. Byard, Steven L. Cable, Lori S. Calk, Ellen B.

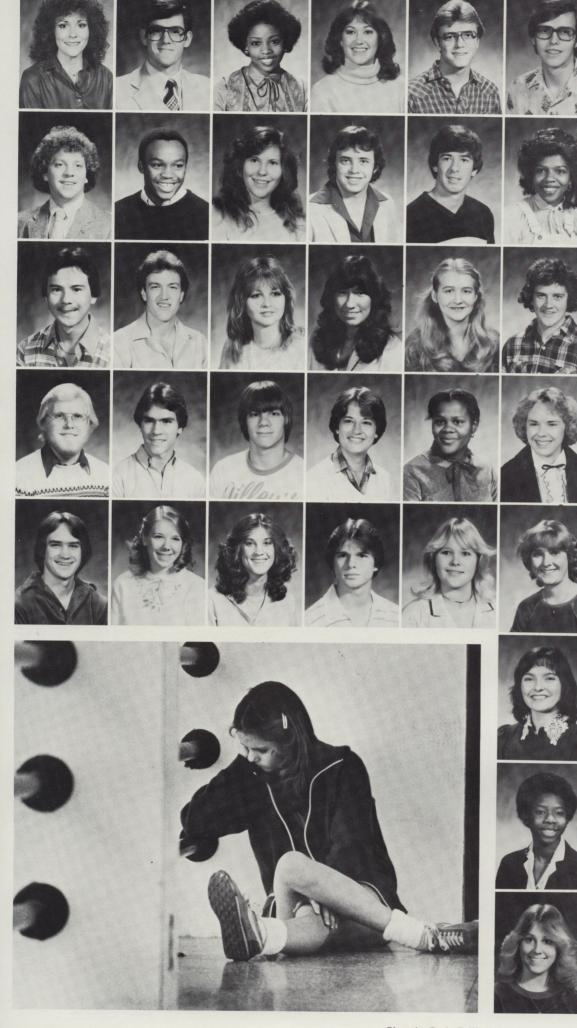

Callahan, David A. Cameron, Lecia L. Cannon, Harold L. Cannon, Mark M. Cantrell, Brad C. Capuli, Salvador A.

Carney, Debra L. Caro, Vivian Carter, Katrina G. Cearley, Kathy A. Chamberlain, John C. Chaney, Larry L.

Chapa, Adolfo Chessmore, Christoph L. Chew, Raphael Childress, Sherry M. Chiles, Kent E. Chipman, Linda K.

> Christensen, Ann D. Cipher, Terry J. Clark, Susan J. Clarke, Michael J. Clarke, Ranah S. Clifton, Kelly A.

Cobbs, Pam M. Cole, Lawrence Cole, Robin S. Coley, Carla L. Collier, Robert J. Collier, Wayne E.

Collins, Jim M. Colson, Chaucer E. Cone, Jackie A. Conner, Phillip L. Cook, Terry S. Copeland, Toneya E.

Corbitt, Robert M. Covington, Jeffrey S. Cramer, Paula L. Crites, Laura S. Crockett, Michele A. Crudgington, Graham J.

Cullum, Tracy E. Cunningham, Peter A. Cunningham, Stephen M. Curtis, Shari L. Cushingberry, Laurette Danehower, Jenny L.

Daniels, Eugene B. Danielson, Mary D. Davenport, Lee Ann A. Davidson, Douglas L. Davis, Denise L. Davis, Jamie K.

Davis, Lesia L.

Davis, Renee Y.

Deegan, Patricia L.

Photo by Craig Fujii

Dees, Jane C. Delaney, Miyoshi Delcambre, Pamela J. Deline, Todd A. Delue, Christine Denison, Pamela C.

Devlin, Nancy L. Doblado, Frederick Dodson, Brent Dodwell, Dawn Dolenz, Brigid J. Douglas, Deborah J.

Driscoll, Tamera A. Driskill, Karen L. Duffer, Carolyn K. Dunagan, Michael C. Duncan, Mark E. Dunn, David A.

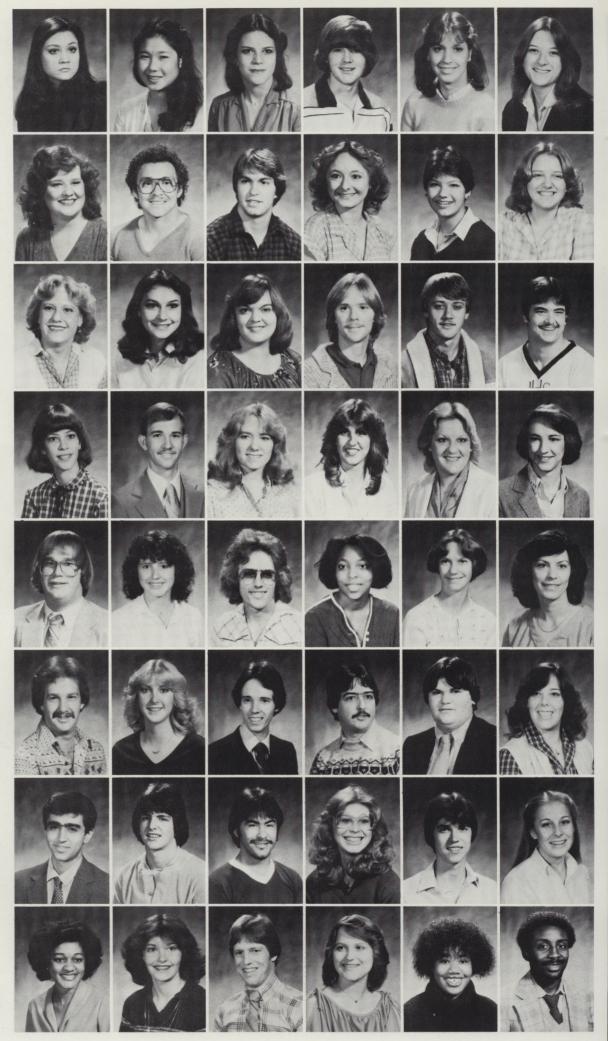

Dunn, Laura S. Dworak, David D. Eddy, Melissa K. Eidson, Kelly F. Ellenburg, Donna S. Elms, Mary A.

Elrod, Stephen M. Erwin, Athena R. Eskridge, Michael R. Estes, Lola M. Evans, Lisa A. Exley, Melba A.

Fadely, Kirt J. Fairchild, Allison E. Falbey, Francis B. Farmer, Glenn A. Fazio, Gerard T. Feris, Lisa D.

Fernandez, Marcos D. Fields, Greg L. Figueroa, George E. Findley, Lisa R. Fine, Bruce A. Fisher, Catherine E.

Flanagan, Collette L. Flatt, Tara A. Flynn, Tom P. Fodor, Annette Ford, Terri O. Foreman, Burleigh C.

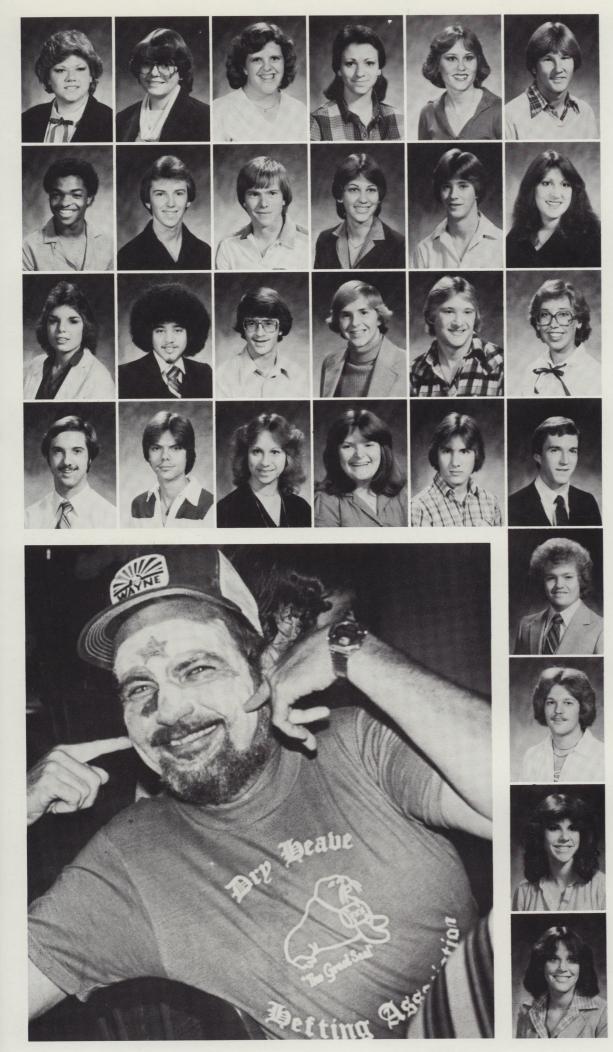

Photo by Craig Fujii

Fowler, Jeri M. Franz, Tracy Frazier, Jennifer N. Fritz, Irmgard R. Fry, Julie K. Frye, David B.

Fuller, Bruce A. Furra, Tommy L. Gabbert, Rodney L. Gallander, Dawn E. Gammill, Terry M. Gardner, Athina M.

Garrett, Kirby E. Garza, Anthony S. Garza, Fred Jr. Gates, Charles W. Gay, Ralph A. Gentry, Donna L.

Georgi, Allen T. Gerik, Freddie A. Gibbons, Linda S. Gideon, Verna K. Giles, Bryan L. Giles, Efton Jr.

Gilliland, Gary D.

Glass, Kirk O.

Glover, Patricia A.

Godwin, Dawn R.

Goeller, Kim K. Geons, Grant S. Gomez, Sara N. Gonzalez, Fernando Gordon, Catherine A. Gordon, Deborah L.

Grabber, Rebecca E. Grabliauskas, Edward J. Grace, Melody T. Granzin, Rodney D. Gray, Carrie L. Gray, Judy L.

> Green, Michael Griffin, Kurt Gulledge, Charles W. Hackbusch, Hanry C. Haggard, Robert M. Hale, Francina B.

Hall, Todd A.

Hall, Brian J.

Hamilton, Thomas T.

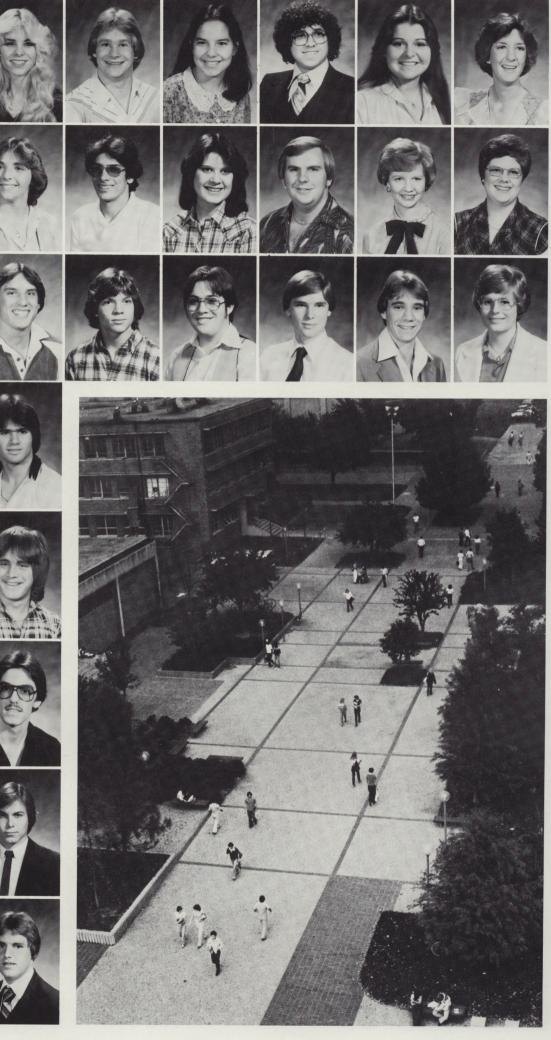

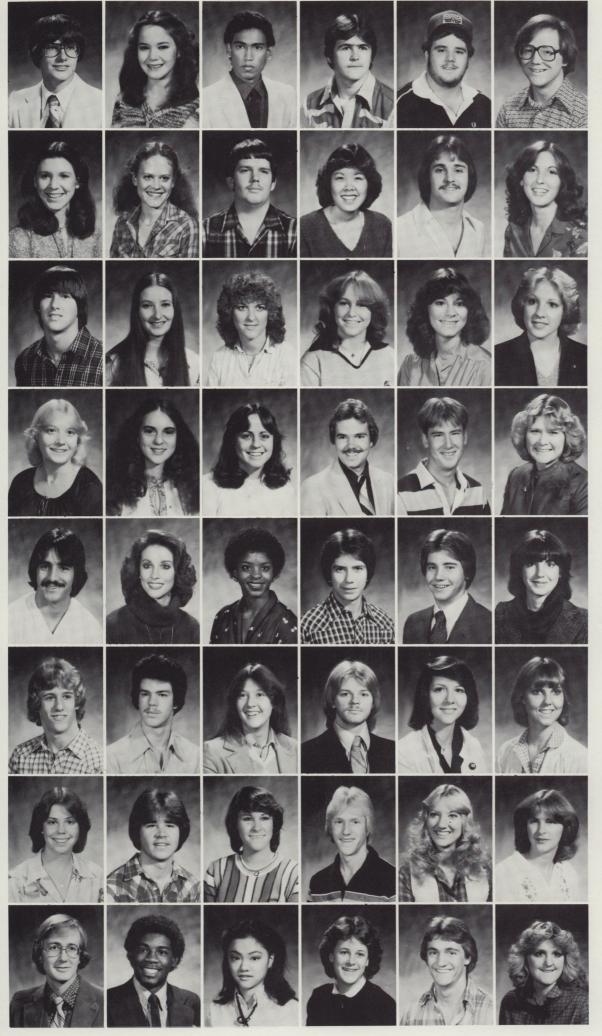

Photo by Craig Fujii

Hanson, Stuart Harbers, Missy R. Harisingh, Roy M. Harmon, Arthur L. Harms, Scott E. Harrison, Mark A.

Hart, Cynthia L. Hart, Julie A. Hartung, Raymond L. Hashimoto, Erin T. Hatcher, Randy R. Havlak, Julie A.

Hearne, Jeffrey K. Heath, Johnnie K. Hedric, Kathrin M. Heifner, Cynthia A. Henderson, Delia L. Henson, Diane K.

Herb, Christi E. Herber, Joanne Herman, Susan M. Hess, Jeffrey M. Heyser, Michael J. Hick, Tammie A.

Hickerson, Jeffrey D. Hightower, Angela D. Hill, Anita R. Hill, Ken C. Hogue, Robert G. Holcomb, Kimberley

Hopkins, Kraig Horn, Deverix A. Horn, Janna L. Howard, Donald L. Hudson, Margarette Hutchingson, Lori S.

Hyden, Beth A. Hykel, Mark T. Jacks, Jana K. Jackson, Lillard L. James, Jill L. James, Margaret

James, Randall L. Jefferson, Willie T. Jeng, Lilly I. Jenistra, Janet R. Jenkin, Jeff L. Johnson, Cynthia L. Johnson, Krissa D. Johnson, Mark N. Johnson, Patricia A. Johnston, Kevin J. Jones, David W. Jones, Kenneth R.

> Jones, Monty W. Jones, Scott J. Jones, Shelia Y. Jones, Von S. Jordon, Steve H. Judah, Johnny K.

Kahlig, David W. Kast, Dana S. Kaufman, Karen A. Kauth, Daniel J. Keith, Ty R. Keller, John T.

Kelley, Suzanne Kelso, Leslie C. Kennard, Leonard K. Kennedy, Kimberley A. Kenney, Kristine M. Kerr, James P.

> Kerr, Kerry W. Key, Keri W. Kilcrease, David L. Kim, Chong S. King, Charles W. King, Robin M.

> > Little, Sandra L.

Kiwney, Ronnie

Photo by Craig Fujii

Klenzendorf, Roy D. Klontz, Amy M. Knox, Reginald J. Knox, Steve J. Koch, Bruce L. Kocurek, Karen S.

Koenig, Christine Kok Kheong, Lau Koop, Kevin E. Korenek, Ken W. Korenek, Rebecca L. Kramer, Kathy

Krause, David A. Krotz, Lynne M. Kubiak, Karen A. Lacey, Kent S. Landreth, Dana S. Laney, Robert W.

Langle, Lori A. Langley, Michael E. Laubler, James A. Laukoter, Michael C. Lawry, Kenneth L. Layton, Leann

Le, Phuong K. Lee, Gail Lehman, Kelly C. Lewis, Kathy J. Li, Helen Line, John K.

Littleton, Joni J. Litton, James R. Liu, John Livingston, Anthony W. Long, Krista T. Lord, Tami R.

Lowe, Kimberly D. Lowe, Rebecca A. Lu, Chia-Ping Lucas, Thomas H. Lummus, Lisa D. Lyman, Nancy J.

Lyon, Cheryl L. Lyon, Jane L. Mach, Richard J. Madden, Georgette Malone, James D. Manduru, Sarada Mann, Sheri L. Mantooth, Robert D. Mar, Walter S. Markgraf, Karen R. Marston, John Martin, Richard L.

Martinez, Michele M. Mason, Kathleen A. Massey, Terri A. Mastio, Martina M. Matthews, Kathy D. May, Gerry L.

McCain, David C. McClain, Kay D. McCloud, Kevin L. McClung, Carl D. McCollough, Tommy W. McCown, James W.

McCoy, Wendi K. McCullough, James R. McDearmon, Brian McDonald, Bruce A. McDonald, Pamela N. McDonald, Susan A.

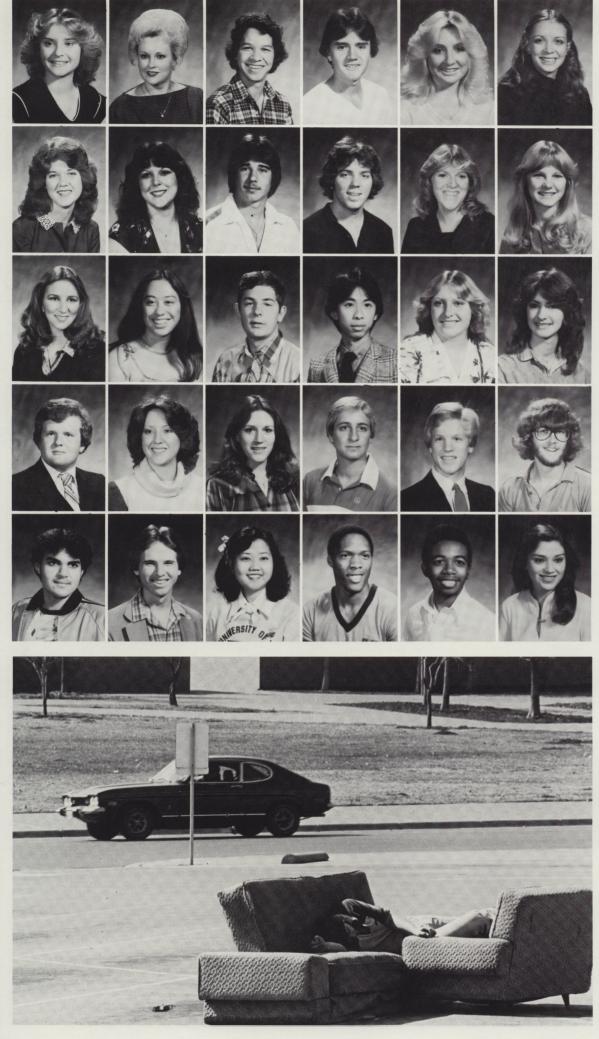

McDonald, Wynn P. McGary, Karen L. McGrath, Dennis M. McHaney, Shanna R. McIntire, Karen D. McKain, Timothy L.

McKay, Candace K. McKinney, Alberta McKinney, Donald T. McLeod, Audrey L. McMahen, Gene F. McMahon, Melinda L.

> McMillen, Paula L. Meister, Karen L. Mendenhall, Scott J. Mercer, Dannie R. Metcalf, Susan E. Metcalfe, Vandy A.

Meurer, Vera M. Miller, Lynne K. Miller, Pam A. Mills, Stan R. Mince, Robin C. Mitchell, Michael E.

Mock, Laura K. Moffett, Sandra F. Moncada, Michael Monreal, Anthony Q. Moody, Jean D. Moody, Rayne R.

Moore, Donna K. Moore, Michelle R. Morain, Ron Moreau, Michael P. Morgan, Mary E. Morgan, Michelle

Morris, Priscilla J. Morse, Nadine C. Mossburg, David B. Muliadi, Trisna Munroe, Stacey L. Musick, Kellie G.

Myers, Mark E. Narramore, Misty G. Nasche, Elizabeth Naugher, Mike B. Needham, Ricky L. Nelson, Dub

Newbold, Elliot M. Newland, Alan R. Ngian, Jenna P. Nichols, Monroe Nickerson, Charles Nolen, Pamela D.

Photo by Miguel Casanova

Noteboom, Buell J. Nowlin, Gary R. O'Dell, Jeff G. O'Donnell, Jeannie M. O'Neal, Robert F. Odor, Tina D.

民生

Oflaherty, Andrea L. Oleary, Tarri C. Olson, Carla K. Otto, Mark P. Outlaw, Jefre C. Pace, Derwin B.

Pack, Karen S. Park, Hee Sook Partain, Johnny D. Patzig, Mike K. Paul, Charles O. Paul, Kenneth D.

Payne, Jeffery B. Penton, Phillip L. Perreault, Denise M. Perry, Zaneta L. Peterson, Pamela S. Petzinger, Mark R.

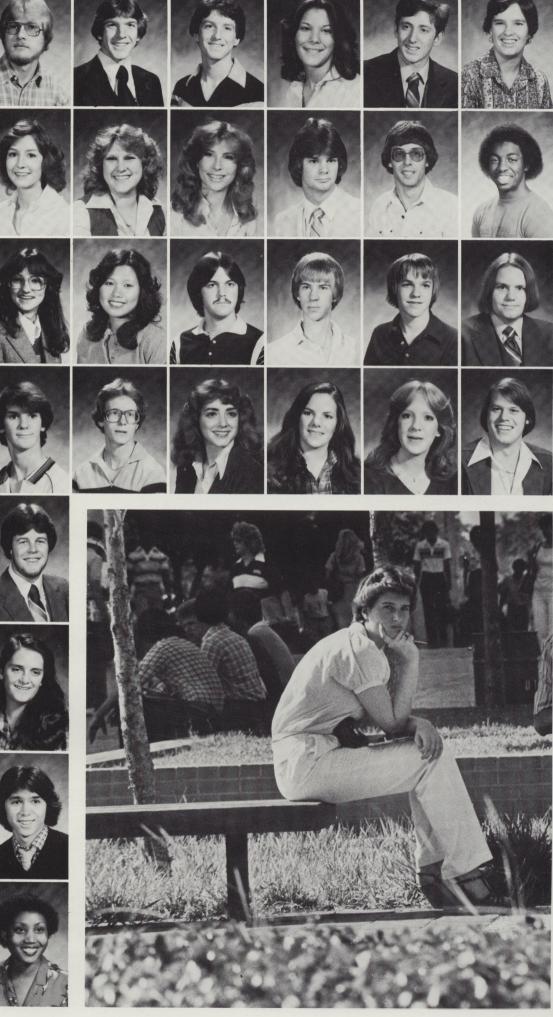

Phelps, Brent L.

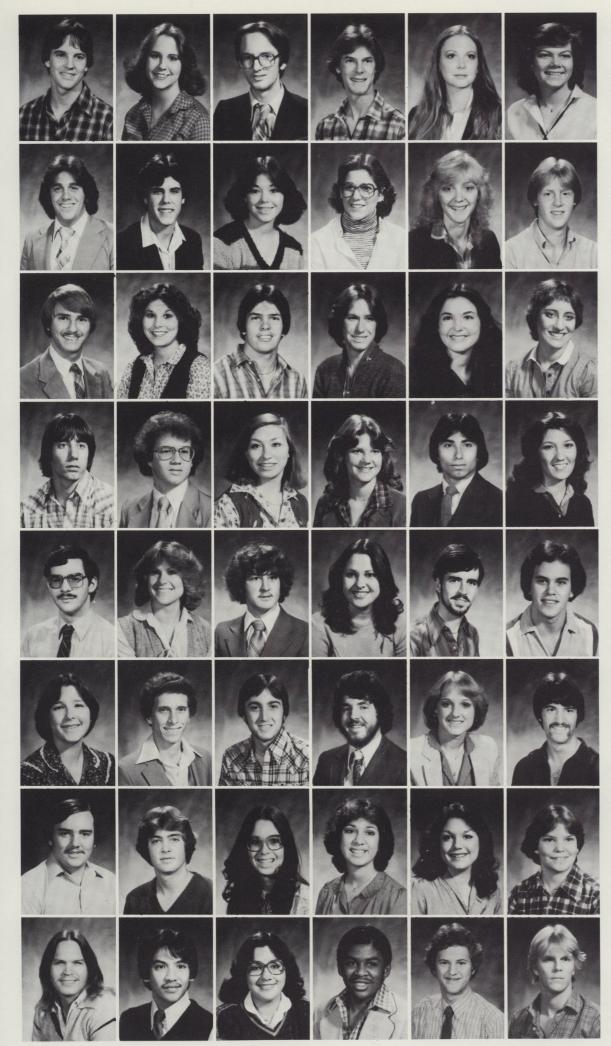

Phillips, Lou D.

Pitstick, James T. Pohle, Monica L. Poledna, James F. Pope, Brad C. Porcher, Annalisa Potapovs, Andrea S.

Pratt, Dennis W. Pressly, Greg A. Priddy, Grace E. Pugliese, Lenore Pullar, Ronda L. Raby, Russell A.

Racke, Michael C. Ragsdill, Jenny L. Raines, Larry J. Rascoe, Lori L. Rawleigh, Eleanor R. Reamer, Kathy L.

Reamer, Kevin L. Reed, David A. Reeve, Rachel M. Remus, Julie A. Reyes, Pedro M. Reynolds, Cristy D.

Rhodes, Matthew C. Richards, Dee Dee A. Rickard, Cecil C. Riddick, Robin M. Riibe, Kevin A. Ritter, Rudolph A., Jr.

Roach, Sonja A. Roark, James M. Roberts, Jay B. Roberts, Peter T. Roberts, Terri L. Roberts, James T.

Robertson, John B. Robinson, Kenneth W. Rodgers, Terri L. Romero, Jeanette Roof, Lisa D. Rose, Jerry D.

Rowlader, Gordon W., Jr. Ruiz, Jose R. Ruiz, Rita M. Rushing, Stanley E. Ryan, James A. Saffle, Mike K. Sakowski, Emily C. Salley, Herman C. Salser, Lowell S. Sanders, Duane P. Sanders, Patti J. Sanenz, Oscar

Satarino, Molly A. Satre, Dennis D. Saucedo, Vincent Saunders, Greg D. Schaefer, Rita M. Schaefers, Barbara A.

Schievelbei, Gena M. Schipper, Steven N. Schroeder, Mary A. Schwettmann, Brian W. Scott, Pamela S. Seaton, John B.

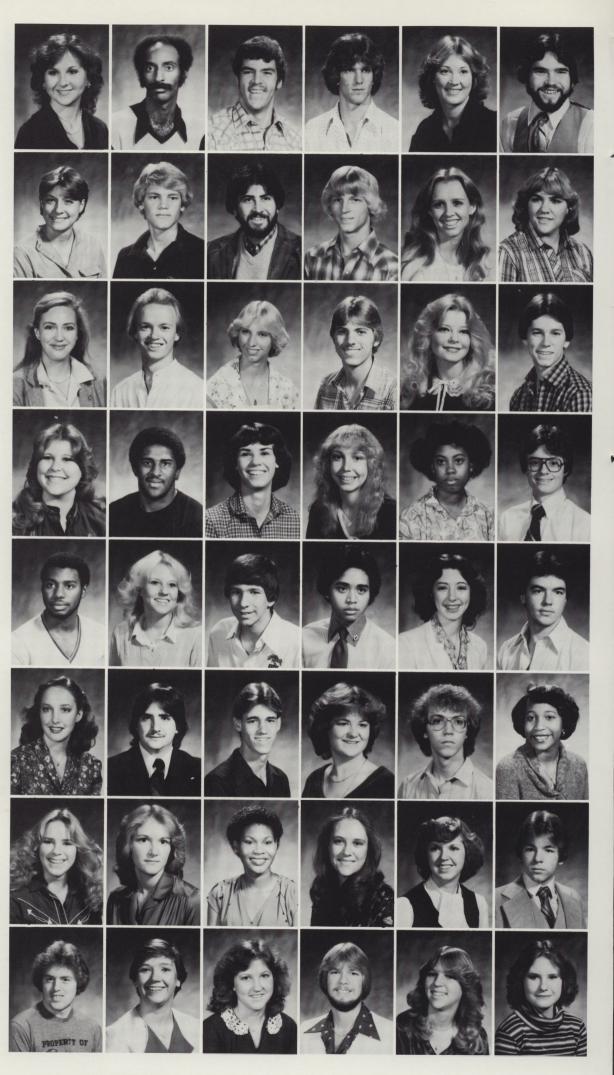

> Sees, Carolyn Sells, William C. Seybold, Debbie L. Sharp, Rosemary Sharp, Stacie D. Shaw, Steven P.

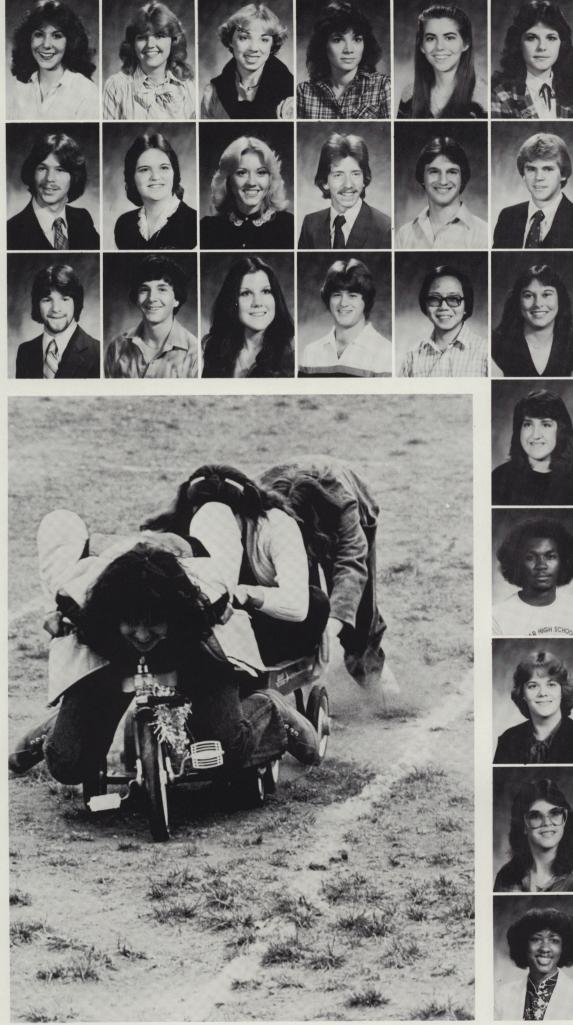

Sheffield, Carl L. Shuffitt, Terri G. Shuping, Raymond G. Silva, Apollo R. Simms, Nancy S. Slaten, C. Kent

> Sledge, Susan J. Small, Steven B. Smith, Dean Smith, Holly L. Smith, Hunt Smith, Lisa B.

Smith, Melissa A. Smith, Sabrina L. Smith, Shelia M. Smithey, Jessica K. Snider, Susie S. Snow, Terry E.

Southan, Brent S. Speed, Anita C. Spencer, Debbie K. Spofford, James H. St. Pierre, Sharon Stagner, Diana R.

Staman, Shannon L. Stebler, Stasia L. Stephens, Julia L. Stevens, Kelli R. Stewart, Karen A. Stewart, Phyliss A.

Stokes, Edward G. Stone, Connie L. Stoner, Kena V. Stout, David H. Sullivan, Matthew C. Sutphin, Gregory S.

Swaim, David H. Sweet, Michael W. Tackett, Shellie D. Talley, Gary D. Tan, Filemon K. Taylor, Elizabeth Taylor, Lisa L.

Taylor, Samuel

Taylor, Tina L.

Thimm, Tammy S.

Thomas, Carlene L.

Thomas, Michael A. Thomason, Jamalyn K. Thompson, Adrienne E. Thompson, Nancy R. Thompson, William T. Thorne, Cynthia E.

Threet, Randy J. Thurmond, Heidi L. Thurston, Timothy D. Toler, Philip S. Tong, Dale C. Tong, Lik-Fu L.

Tremmel, Ramona R. Tribble, David R. Trotter, J. Morgan Trotter, Lanette B. Tucker, Gary W. Turner, Guy W.

Tyler, Velma J. Vance, Barbara M.

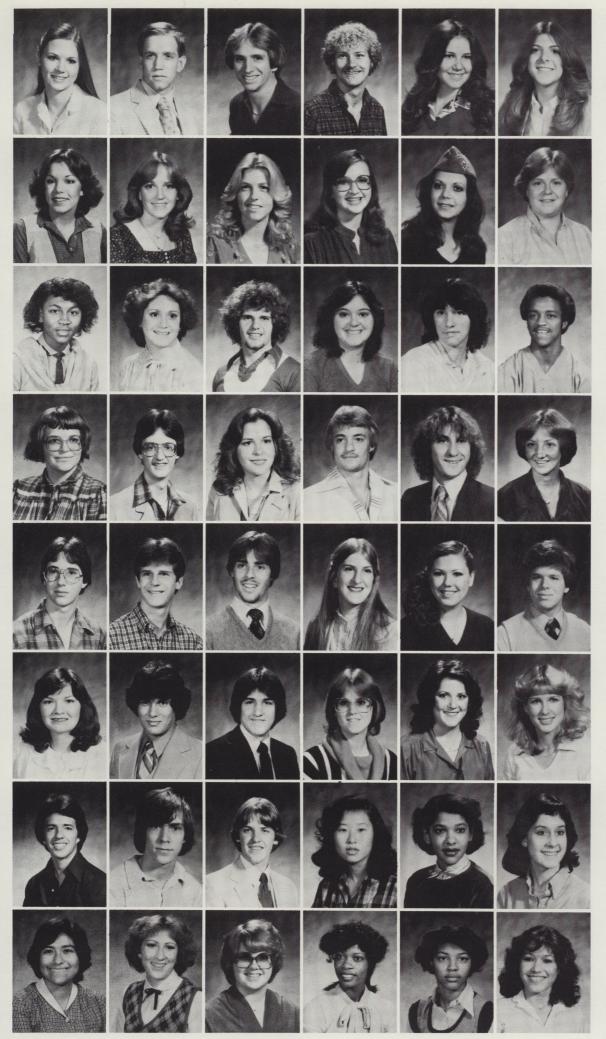

Vannoy, Susan N. Vaughan, Deborah D.

Vercera, Nancy E. Velez, Yvonne

Vernon, Eric O. Veselka, Lisa R.

Villalba, Ivan E. Volk, Linda J.

Vredenburg, Teresa A. Walker, James R. Wallace, Jim D. Wallis, Marc F. Wardlow, Sue Warren, Tisha L.

Washington, Mary C. Watkins, Diane G. Watson, Katherine L. Watts, Annette J. Wauken, K. Stanford Webb, Barbara L.

Webster, Derie G. Webster, Karin M. Welborn, Curtis R. Welborne, Laura M. Werdman, Kim Wesson, Jeffrey L.

West, Karen L. West, Randal W. Wetmore, Nancy A. White, Leslie B. Wierzbicki, Stanley J. Wiley, Robyn L.

Williams, Brent A. Williams, Craig Williams, Douglas G. Williams, Heather A. Williams, Karen M. Williamson, Robert C.

Witherspoon, Cynthia L. Woods, John K. Woods, Ken R. Wordinger, Susan E. Wright, Cynthia N. Wright, Julie C.

Wright, Robert L. Wyatt, James T. Wyatt, John B. Yank, Young S. Yarbrough, Portia N. Yates, Molly B.

Ybarra, Patricia A. Yeats, Lea Ann Young, Tammy L. Young, Teresa L. Young, Yolanda D. Zamaripa, Debra A.

A

Abbee, James 306 Abdollahi, Hamid 364 Abelson, Josh 235 Abernathey, David 113, 188, 191, 300, 364 Abernathy, Gregory 364 Abraham, Zenophon 364 Abrahamson, Michael 364 Abram, Ronald 284, 287 Abrams, Carleen 184, 304 A Cappella Choir 129 Acciarito, Andy 292 Acciarito, Cathy 356 Acevedo, Hector 356 Acker, Bertie 259 Ackermann, Tammy 356 Acosta, Roy 325 Acus, Jeff 242 Adams, Bryan 364 Adams, Carla 290, 292, 319, 356 Adams, Duane 259 Adams, Elise 304 Adams, Felicia 348 Adams, Glynis 274 Adams, Greg 230 Adams, Martha 364 Adams, Vickie 319, 348 Adamson, Kevin 241, 348 Adimah, John 334 Adkins, Larry 348 Advertising 291 Aerts, Geert 313, 364 Afseth, Laif 364 Agan, Kellie 161, 221, 277, 309 Agaranwa, Bernard 336 Agbahiwe, Sylvester 364 Agee, Donald 246 Agee, Tammy 226, 277 Aguirre, Cynthia 281, 364 Agwuna, Alex 336 Ahlested, Tommy 364 Aikman, Lloyd 266 Akbar, Jalal 356 Ake, Scott 243 Akella, Krishna 334 Akerman, Bonnie 336 Akujuboi, Cajetan 266 Alapic, Karen 364 Albone, David 248 Albright, Paula 356 Alder, Jac 81 Alders, Tim 170, 296, 356 Alexander, Gary 364 Alexander, James 348 Alexander, Shirley 224 Allbritton, David 282, 283 Allen, Catherine 364 Allen, David 300, 364 Allen, James 336 Allen, Marc 241 Allen, Paula 222 Allen, Rebecca 336 Allen, Tammy 279, 336 Allison, Jo 364 All Nite Fair 22, 23, 141 Alonzo, Jamie 329 Alpha Chi Omega 214, 220, 221 Alpha Kappa Alpha 214, 224 Alpha Phi 222 Alpha Phi Alpha 214 Alpha Phi Omega 282, 283 Alpha Rho Chi 261 Al-Ramadhan, Abdul 336 Alsabrook, Dane 289 American Institute of Industrial Engineers 264 Ammann, Mark 336 Amon, Donald 336 Amsler, Debra 364 Anderson, Cam 243 Anderson, Jessica 227 Anderson, Karen 348 Anderson, Roy 241 Anderson, Shelly 244, 286 Anderson, Shirley 322 Anderson, Tom 287 Andrae, Raymond 322, 326 Andres, Nancy 356 Andrew, David 230 Andrews, Lynn 245, 308 Andrews, Nancy 356 Andrews, R. D. 307

Andriseski, Susan 227, 319, 364 Angelot, Connie 256 Angle, Matthew 336 Anglin, Charlotte 336 Angton, Priscilla 318 Anguizola, Dr. 276 Anin, Rajesh 266 Annedondo, Patricia 319, 356 Aplin, Tom 322 Appleton, Betsey 364 Arbon, Marjorie 336 Arbuckle, Nan 364 Arceneaux, Farrell 252 Ardry, Margaret 334 Arechiga, Francisco 364 Armstrong, Robert 336 Armstrong, William 364 Arnett, Rusty 276 Arnott, Jennifer 356 Arnott, Susan 365 Arrington, Chris 228, 250 Arthur, Doug 247 Ashmore, Suzanne 223, 254 Ashton, John 365 Askey, James 252, 356 Astalas, Daniel 365 Asvaoi, Ingrid 268 Ater, Janet 336 Athon, Mark 336 Atkins, Karen 311, 336 Atkins, Steven 336 Attanasio, Paul 255 Attiya, Hakim 356 Augle, Melissa 365 Avary, James 365 Averheart, Vanessa 348 Avers, Duane 356 Ayyad, Abraham 84

B

Babcock, Ken 248 Bachelor, Ken 241 Badgett, Didieres 365 Bagby, Donna 290, 336 Baggett, Gary 282 Bagley, Star 224 Bagley, Terry 184, 186, 304 Bailey, Gary 296 Bailey, Marta 250 Bailey, Martha 360 Bailey, Veronica 365 Bailey, Gary 236 Baird, Jennifer 319, 365 Baker, Cindy 311, 348 Baker, Kathy 225, 245 Baker, Marlinda 225, 245, 348 Baker, Roy 336 Bakhshmandi, Mojgan 348 Balentine, Michael 365 Bales, Eddie 241 Bales, Roger 294 Balke, Misti 222 Ball, Cheri 324, 329 Ball, Darrell 365 Ballard, Dan 292 Ballenger, Chuck 269 Balthrop, Mark 270 Bandy, Mike 241 Banister, Tamera 262, 319, 336 Banks, Coleen 268 Bantz, Ronnie 228 Barber, David 336 Barber, Steve 240 Barbato, Lea 158 Barbosa, Greg 223, 235, 253 Barclay, James 336 Barfield, Kelvin 325 Barg, Sherry 257 Barker, Lark 233, 235 Barmby, Amanda 221, 365 Barn, Jamie 249 Barnes, Barbara 365 Barnes, Bonnie 365 Barnes, Brenda 348 Barnes, Craig 348 Barnett, Bill 324, 327, 328, 329 Barnett, Melissa 356 Barnett, Nancy 227, 365 Barnett, William 356 Barney, Sydney 226 Barnhart, Linda 336

Barnhill, Margaret 221 Barns, Chuck 300 Barr, Ken 296 Barrientos, Jesus 281 Barrientos, Mary 281 Barroga, Lori 288 Barroga, Mario 288 Barron, Guadalupe 365 Barter, Andy 246, 356 Barton, Karen 365 Bartosh, Thomas 252 Bass, J. G. 266, 336 Bass, Mary 356 Bassett, James 365 Batche, Steve 242 Bates, Darryle 239 Bates, Jean 222, 223 Bates, Shedera 233, 234 Baugh, Gene 253, 348 Baum, Stephen 365 Bauman, Kay 356 Bavido, James 266 Bayes, James 292 Beachum, Lynne 256 Bean, Donald 365 Beane, Lynette 336 Beane, Sharon 250 Beascoechza, Mary 336 Beasley, Rebecca 148 Beason, David 302 Bebbs, Jack 325 Beck, Aaron 246 Beckham, Brad 307, 329, 365 Beckham, Randy 228, 229 Beckleman, Dana 194, 195, 365 Beene, Richard 236, 348 Behrouzy-Far, Hooshang 336 Bell, Betsy 226 Bell, Chris 229 Bell, Junell 336 Bellamy, Claire 336 Bellomy, Melinda 348 Belt, Michael 282 Beltran, Alan 314, 365 Belvin, Don 266, 336 Bender, Gloria Gatlin 148, 264, 265, 272, 336 Bendorf, Coye 365 Benefield, Gary 365 Bennett, Charles 148 Bennett, Kyle 348 Bennett, Stella 233 Benoit, Steve 256 Benson, Greg 240, 348 Benson, Marvin 266 Bentley, Rickey 252 Bergmann, Martha 365 Bergthold, Teresa 251, 356 Bernard, William 314, 348 Berry, Arlene 244, 365 Berry, Betsy 244 Berry, Holly 365 Berry, Mark 365 Bertram, Donna 149 Bessent, Debra 272, 285, 356 Beta Alpha Psi 256 Beta Theta Pi 214, 225 Bettram, Alan 235 Betzel, Kurt 240 Bevill, Jonathan 331 Bewley, Jack 296 Bezdek, Diane 221 Bible, Christie 250 Bice, Donna 245 Biggers, Dave 324, 327 Binge, Chuck 296 Bird, Kathy 348 Bird, Terry 336 Bishop, James 336 Bishop, Kim 356 Bishop, Ky 228 Bishop-Jones, Brenda 266, 336 Bitner, Felest 365 Bitterman, Chester 144 Bixby, Lon 348 Black, John 289 Blackburn, Susan 356 Blackdog 49, 50, 51 Black History Month 119 Blacklock, Carolyn 279 Blackmon, Barbara 365 Blackmon, Mark 235 Black Student Organization 119, 130 Blackwell, Amy 365

Blaha, Mark 365 Blair, Joe 365 Blakenship, Bill 262 Bland, Eddie 305 Blevins, Bonnye 303 Blevins, Teresa 365 Blewett, Kelle 348 Block, Rich 235 Blocker, Pamela 336 Bloom, John 86 Blum, Cynthia 336 Boatman, Larry 194, 306 Boca, Oscar 252 Bodiford, Ricky 365 Boggan, Greg 309 Boggs, Deanna 365 Bold, Charla 256 Bollenberg, Pascale 123, 276, 365 Bolton, Ken 286 Bond, Suzanne 356 Bond, William 225 Bondes, Larry 325 Bonds, Roxanne 348 Bondurant, June 225 Bonin, Deborah 336 Bonner, Karen 365 Bonner, Timmis 316, 317, 336 Boone, Chuck 249 Booth, Tracey 232 Boozer, Jerome 262, 268, 313, 314, 348 Borbon, Anna 357 Bordelon, Kevin 336 Bordon, Anny 348 Bothner, Ellen 233, 234 Boudreau, Kathryn 365 Bough, Gene 240 Bourque, Doug 223 Bowen, Diane 266, 275, 336 Bowen, Janet 301, 365 Bowen, Tandy 269 Bowers, Laura 220, 221, 243, 276 Bowles Elizabeth 149 336 Bowman, Cernoria 365 Boyce, Jeanna 288 Boyce, Robert 288 Boyd, Robert 266, 348 Boyd, Ruth 322 Boyd, Thomas 356 Boyd, Will 248 Boyer, Arlet 266 Boyle, Sharon 365 Boyle, Sherry 286 Braack, David 356 Brackenridge, Jim 322, 326 Brader, Danny 257 Bradfute, Carol 268 Bradley, Allyson 220 Bradley, Tom 246 Bradshaw, Gretchen 336 Bradshaw, Patricia 365 Brady, Gregg 264, 265 Brady, James 336 Bragg, David 230, 231 Bragg, Jack 336 Brainard, Lori 226, 365 Bramley, Randy 158 Branch, Curtis 336 Brandon, Cathy 251 Brannon, Cristie 365 Branshaw, Margaret 365 Brantferger, Kenneth 365 Braun, Joseph 266 Braun, Karl 292 Bray, Allison 263 Brazos House 310 Brecheen, Sandra 348 Brendle, Danielle 283 Brennan, Cindy 233, 252 Brennan, John 366 Brennan, Joseph 114, 115 Brennan, Scott 252 Brennan, Tara 301 Brenner, Nathan 329 Brenner, Wellon Kirby 296 Brents, David 269 Bretches, Jack 366 Brewer, Britt 322, 326, 328 Brewer, Darrayl 253 Brewer, Glenda 356 Brewer, Kathryn 336 Brewer, Rice 284 Brewer, Stan 300 Brewer, Willie 325, 327 Brewster, Annelle 224, 254

Bridges, Joanne 221 Bridges, Mary Anne 356 Bridges, Terry 122, 123, 252, 276, 278, 336 Briggs, Jennifer 244 Brighwell, Sandra 356 Brinick, Debbie 269 Briscoe, Brenda 336 Brittan, Mark 249 Brittan, Tina 279 Britton, Roni 295 Britton, Teri 295 Britton, Terry 291 Britton, Tina 337 Brock, Chuck 228, 323, 324, 326 Brock, Micadale 241 Brock, Randy 296 Brockenbush, Diane 356 Brockman, Michael 239 Bromley, Jere 292 Bromley, Larry 292 Brooks, Cheri 366 Brooks, Gene 124, 125 Brooks, Kathy 262 Brooks, Mary 366 Brooks, Mike 169, 296 Brooks, Reggie 296 Brosh, Scott 366 Brouillard, David 230, 231 Brown, Belinda 337 Brown, Bert 302 Brown, Carol 266, 272 Brown, Clark 266 Brown, Cynthia 118, 119 Brown, Debbie 192, 301 Brown, Dennis 337 Brown, Diane 334 Brown, Ellen 220 Brown, Gene 235, 308 Brown, Jacquelyn 356 Brown, Jim 291, 337 Brown, Juliet 262, 337 Brown, Kevin 366 Brown, Kimberly 366

Brown, Michael 296 Brown, Pat 233, 286, 311, 356 Brown, Richard 337 Brown, Robert 266 Brown, Steve 225, 253 Browne, Calvin 348 Browne, Kathy 220 Brownfield, Jennifer 366 Bruce, Desiree 260 Bruce, Greg 366 Bruce, Janet 356 Bruce, John 366 Brunn, Mark 311, 356 Bryan, David 149, 337 Bryan, Lonna 257, 337 Byrnes, Pete 291 Buchanan, Marty 246 Buckholt, Connie 263, 337 Buckley, James 337 Buehler, William 266 Bui, Hung 357 Bulin, Shelly 301, 366 Bullard, Deborah 366 Bullard, Tracy 296, 348 Bullington, Lori 366 Bullock, Erwin 366 Bumpass, Richard 357 Bumpkas, Terry 277 Buqais, Mohamed 348 Burchfiel, Lois 109 Burgess, Tommy 366 Burke, Dawn 271 Burnam, John 242 Burnap, Danny 366 Burney, Bob 337 Burnham, Dale 269 Burnham, Laura 222, 255 Burnham, Lauria 291 Burns, Diane 366 Burns, Kelly 221, 366 Burris, Stacy 220, 276 Burrow, Stephanie 366

Burzlaff, Mark 150, 258, 264, 265, 275 Busby, Ronald 348 Bushee, Dean 366 Business Constituency Council 279 Butler, Leonard 260 Bvard, Steven 366

Cabaret 76, 77, 78, 79 Cable, Lori 366 Cadena, Deborah 338 Cadena, Mike 160, 241, 276 Cadwallader, Robert 290, 338 Caffey, Ronald 338 Caglage, Evans 292 Cahill, Gregory 338 Calahan, Melanie 334 Calderon, Manuel 357 Caldwell, Kenneth 338 Calk, Ellen 366 Callahan, David 366 Calton, Mike 325 Calvert, Mike 255 Calvert, Paul 338 Cambronero, Sergio 292 Cameron, Dave 243 Cameron, Lecia 319, 366 Camp, Allison 226, 308 Campbell, Bruce 349 Campbell, Stewart 243 Canady, Sherman 239, 357 Canavon, Susan 283 Candillo, Robert 334 Cannon, Harold 366 Cannon, Mark 296, 366 Cantrell, Anne 251 Cantrell, Brad 366 Cantrell, David 283 Caprico, Margret 272

Capuli, Salvador 366 Card, Sherry 261, 319, 338 Cardenas, Clarita 334 Carlisle, Tim 306 Carlson, Maurice 114, 115 Carney, Debra 366 Caro, Vivian 318, 319, 366 Carpenter, Stuart 266, 273 Carr, David 239 Carr, Mary 226 Carrico, Margaret 266, 275 Carroll, Jeff 310 Carroll, Pam 257 Carter, Barbara 222, 282 Carter, Dan 296 Carter, Jeanie 357 Carter, Katrina 366 Cartsunis, Karen 266, 272, 319, 336 Cartwright, Jeff 324, 329 Caruthers, Linda 220, 221, 357 Carver, Connie 291 Cash, Paul 338 Cashat, Robert 338 Casanova, Miguel 290 Cassingham, Jill 357 Castilla, Rene 126, 127 Castillo, Isaac 281 Castle, Cathy 357 Castleberry, Scott 249 Caudillo, Robert 150, 269, 279, 286 Cawthron, Lisa 226 Caylor, Katherine 338 Cearley, Kathy 366 Cedler, Norbert 294 Cejka, Julie 227, 240, 357 Chaires, Janine 221, 308, 349 Chaires, Suzette 160, 254, 308, 357 Chalfant, Emily 319, 357 Chamberlain, John 366 Chan, Sau-Mi 338 Chan, Wilson 338 Chancey, Donna 260 Chandler, Cathy 271

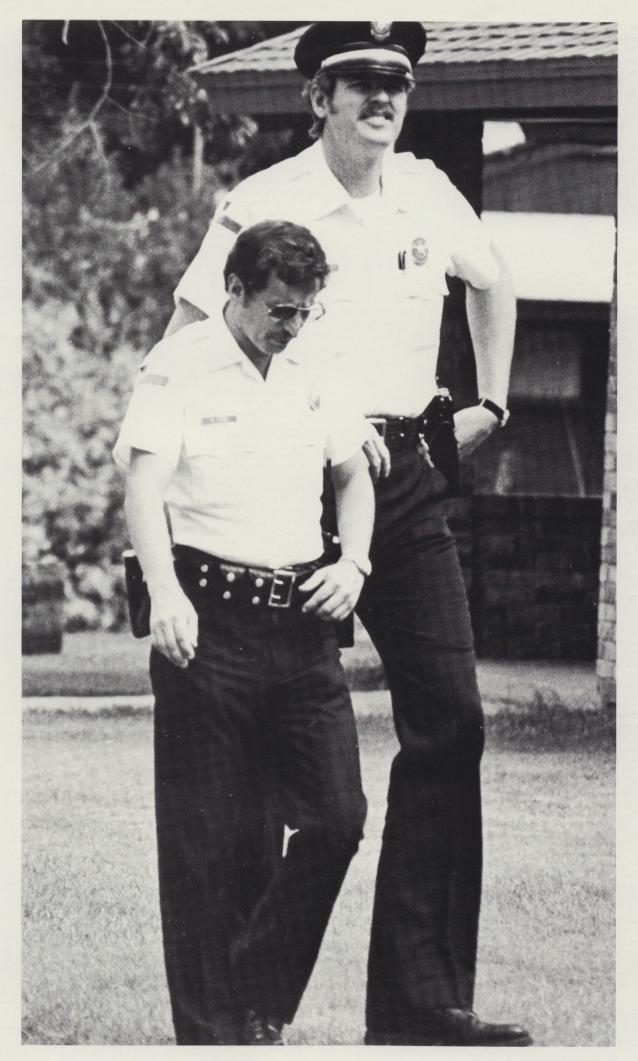

Chandler, Doug 230, 231 Chaney, Larry 325, 366 Chang, Anthony 357 Chang, Show-Kang 266 Chang, Wei 266 Chapa, Adolfo 366 Chapman, Charles 349 Chapman, Russell 257 Chapman, Sharon 273 Charanza, Henrietta 358 Chau, Hung To 358 Chavera, Margaret 266 Chavers, Elizabeth 269, 349 Chaves, Mike 276 Chavez, Michael 123, 358 Cheatum, Laura 221 Cheerleaders 309 Chemical Society 267 Chen, Chao-Shun 266 Chen, Ting 288 Chenault, Carol 263 Cheng, Joseph 266 Chessmore, Christoph 366 Chew, Merlin 268 Chew, Raphael 366 Chiarello, Barbara 31 Childress, Debbie 257 Childress, Jean 338 Childress, Sherry 366 Chiles, Kent 282, 366 Chiles, Mark 283, 358 Chin, James 280 Ching, Kang-Ling 266 Chipman, Linda 366 Cho, Jang 280 Cho, Seok 358 Choate, Robin 251 Christensen, Ann 366 Christian Science College Organization 295 Christmon, Horace 296 Christopher, Laurie 358 Chukwuma, Godson 266 Chung, Danny 280 Cipher, Terry 366 Ciskowski, Susan 257 Cisneros, Sylvia 281, 338 Clark, Alfred 338 Clark, Anthony 271 Clark, Dave 290 Clark, Elizabeth 338, 349 Clark, Linda 299 Clark, Pat 242 Clark, Stephen 338 Clark, Susan 366 Clarke, Michael 366 Clarke, Ranah 366 Clarkson, Roxanne 260, 270 Clarkson, Ruth 108, 109 Claros, Angie 273, 358 Clayton, Gary 269, 338 Clayton, Ronny 270 Claytor, Barbara 223 Claytor, Brenda Jo 223 Clements, Vicki 226 Clemons, Arnetta 262 Clemons, Lewis 68 Clemons, Randy 33, 282, 283, 311, 338 Cleveland, Frederick 266 Clevenger, Tim 292 Clifton, Kelly 366 Clizbe, John 285, 358 Closner, Richard 330 Cluck, Julie 260 Cluck, Kent 260 Clunck, David 296 Clutts, Susan 226, 276 Clutz, Frederick 358 Clynch, Dane 296 Cobb, Brian 288 Cobbinah, Rosemary 338 Cobbs. Pam 367 Coble, Jill 257 Coffman, Cynthia 334 Coke, Betsy 266, 272 Cole, Lawrence 367 Cole, Michael 266 Cole, Robin 367 Coleman, Dana 71 Coleman, Julie 180, 299 Coley, Carla 367 Colley, Douglas 235 Collie, Bruce 296 Collier, Dick 290, 292, 338 Collier, Robert 367

Collier, Wayne 367 Collins, Chris 271 Collins, Jeff 138, 139 Collins, Jim 292, 307, 311, 367 Collins, Lisa 15, 292, 307, 310, 349 Collins, Nancy 358 Collins, Tim 349 Colson, Chaucer 296, 317, 367 Commencement 144 Compton, Kay 252, 308, 338 Cone, Jackie 367 Conley, Kevin 249 Conly, Jeffrey 338 Connell, Susan 226 Conner, Glenn 288 Conner, James 68, 71 Conner, Linda 358 Conner, Phillip 367 Connie, Joe 338 Cook, Doug 271, 338 Cook, Linda 266 Cook, Marla 220 Cook, Terry 310, 311, 367 Cook, Tom 295 Cooke, George 246 Cookston, Terry 283 Cooley, William 266 Coolidge, C. J. 292 Cooper, Chris 305 Cooper, Marcia 338 Cooper, Marilyn 349 Coover, Keith 300 Cope, William 338 Copeland, Taneya 367 Copus, Cynthia 358 Corbett, George 338 Corbin, Pamela 338 Corbitt, Danny 339 Corbitt, Robert 367 Cordell, Debbie 251 Cornell, Karen 358 Cornell, Simon 14, 130, 292 Cornwell, Keith 264 Cornwell, Ralph 349 Corps of Cadets 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331 Color Guard 323 Company A 325 Company B 324 Headquarters 324 Insurgent 327 Martial Arts 329 Officers' Christian Fellowship 326 Orienteering 329 Pistol 328 Rappelling 327 Rifle 328 Sam Houston 330, 331 Scabbard and Blade 326 Staff 323 Corrigan, Keith 296 Corry, Darrel 248 Cortez, Crespin 281 Cortez, Gracie 281, 339 Cortez, Sam 281, 349 Costlow, Kenneth 349 Cotten, Jennifer 233, 243, 254 Cotter, Barry 266 Cotter, Brian 337 Cotter, Terry 266 Cottrell, Mike 296 Coulter, Mike 128 Countryman, Mark 334 Counts, Chris 252 Counts, Kimberly 349 Covington, Jeffrey 367 Cox, Devona 244 Cox, Gary 33 Cox, Lester 313 Cox, Norma 266 Crabaugh, Jeff 337 Crader, Stuart 292 Craig, Grant 337 Cramer, Paula 367 Cranfill, Kathy 226 Craven, Sarah 337 Cravens, Joe 172, 298 Crawford, Cindy 251, 309 Crawford, Johnny 358 Crenshaw, Billie 337 Crites, Laura 367 Crockett, Michele 367 Cromer, Richard 266

Crook, Clara 220, 221

Crosby, David 266 Cross, Jeff 229 Crossman, Tracy 245 Crotchfield, James 349 Crow, Mike 189 Crow, Robert 358 Crowson, Jark 266 Crowson, Mark 337 Crowson, Terry 349 Crudgington, Graham 367 Crumb, Dr. S. F. 266 Crumpler, Kevin 289 Crumpler, Shari 289 Crumpton, Terry 150, 251, 260 Cubine, Nancy 337 Culbertson, Curt 188, 300 Cullins, Mike 22 Cullum, Tracy 367 Culpepper, Amy 256, 263 Culpepper, Jimmy 322, 327 Culton, Albert 172, 173, 298 Cummings, Lynda 349 Cummings, Stuart 349 Cunningham, Clayton 69, 71 Cunningham, Peter 367 Cunningham, Stephen 367 Cupp, Pat 257 Curry, David 261 Curtis, Shari 367 Curton, Nancy 227 Cusack, Phyllis 260 Cushingberry, Laurette 367 Dadley, Dale 235 Dagate, Lawrence 349 Dahl, Arne 266 Dahlgren, Billy 349 Dalby, Debbie 318, 319, 339 Dale, Kip 137 Damskor, Marty 240 Danehower, Jenny 367 Daniel, Dick 286, 287 Daniel, Gary 350 Daniel, John 230, 231 Daniel, Raymond 284, 286, 350 Daniel, Richard 350 Daniels, Eugene 367 Danielson, Mary 367 Dao, Hoa 266 Dao, Nghia 358 Darling, Deann 270 Darwin, Jim 230, 253 Daskevich, Tony 325, 327 Davenport, Lee Ann 367 Davidson, Douglas 367 Davidson, Steve 235 Davis, Andy 325, 327 Davis, Bruce 290, 314, 339 Davis, Cheryl 350 Davis, Denise 367 Davis, Donna 263, 339, 358 Davis, Elsie 288, 339 Davis, Ernest 296 Davis, Frieda 291, 358 Davis, James 358 Davis, Jamie 232, 367 Davis, Ken 350 Davis, Konetta 238 Davis, Lem 242 Davis, Lesia 367 Davis, Lynda 319, 358 Davis, Mike 300 Davis, O. L. 260 Davis, Pamela 350 Davis, Paul 339 Davis, Philip 266, 350 Davis, Reginald 194, 296, 306 Davis, Renee 367 Davis, Ricky 298 Davis, Robert 339 Davis, Sandy 288 Davis, Sharon 260 Davis, Susie 288 Davoody, Hooshang 266 Day, Don 339 Dearman, Steve 300 Deaton, Birta 256, 257, 339 Debesa, Maria 350 Deckee, Barbara 283 Decker, Michael 358

Deegan, Patricia 367 Deering, Robert 339 Dees, Jane 226, 368 DeGarmo, Greg 248 Degel, Kenneth 358 De La Garza, Sergio 281 Delaney, Miyoshi 368 Delcambre, Pamela 368 Deleo, Don 296 Deline, Todd 368 Del Rio, Jake 291, 358 Delta Delta Delta 214, 226, 227 Delta Sigma Pi 262 Delta Sigma Theta 237 Delta Tau Delta 228, 229 Delta Upsilon 214, 230, 231 Delta Zeta 214, 232, 233, 234 Delue, Christine 368 Dematteis, John 289 Demonstrations 130 Dempsy, Jeff 243 Denison, Pamela 368 Dennis, Johanna 269, 358 Dennis, Melody 339 DeNolf, Tom 76 Deordio, Jeanne 358 De Simone, Chris 298 De Stena, Andy 283, 292 Devlin, Nancy 244, 368 Devorak, David 323, 325 DeVov. Steve 253 Dewalt, Roy 166 Dhaima, Geetha 291 Diaz, Genoveva 299 Diaz, Millie 284 Diaz, Oscar 68 Dickey, Steward 246 Dickson, James 325 Dickson, Reid 223, 235 Diddle, Brian 230 Diggles, LaLoni 286 Dillon, Kathy 226 Dillon, Robert 33, 230 Dishon, Dr. Neil 109 Ditto, Jason 242 Dixson, Bryan 358 Dobbins, Russell 324, 329 Doblado, Frederick 317, 368 Dodds, Diana 282, 310, 339 Dodson, Ben 296 Dodson, Brent 229 Dodson, William 350 Dodwell, Dawn 368 Dolenz, Brigid 244, 368 Dolenz, Bruce 242 Dolezalek, Darlene 319, 350 Dollar, Susan 250 Dolph, Jan 124 Dominguez, Willie 240 Donaldson, Larry 296 Donohoo, Kenneth 266 Donovan, Tim 247 Dorian, Michael 266 Dorney, Michael 266 Dorsey, Darrell 277, 350 Dossey, J. W. 266 Doublin, Lowell 358 Dougan, Karen 257 Douglas, Deborah 319, 368 Douglas, Tod 289 Douglass, Melanie 250 Dow, Scott 296 Dowdey, Mark 329 Doyle, Jackie 286 Doyle, Karen 350 Doyle, Louis 339 Dracula, Count 72, 73, 74, 75 Drain, Barbara 197 Drain, Eddie 325 Drake, Randall 266 Draper, Chad 292 Drerup, Doug 358 Driggers, Karen 233, 234, 254 Driscoll, Tamera 368 Driskell, Jerald 350 Driskill, Karen 226, 368 Dryburgh, Jim 324, 327 Dry Heave Hefting Association 292 Duffer, Carolyn 368 Dujka, Patricia 339 Duke, Amy Elizabeth 131 Duke, Dr. Wayne 124 Dukes, Raymond 296 Dulenz, Bruce 350

Dulworth, Joe 358 DuMenil, Ken 310 Dunagan, Michael 368 Dunavant, Sammy 325 Duncan, Mark 368 Dungan, Don 228 Dunkelberg, Marc 82, 83, 284, 292 Dunn, Charles 266 Dunn, Darrell 290, 292, 339 Dunn, David 296, 368 Dunn, Laura 319, 368 Dunn, Lou 184, 304 Durda, Frank 339 Dworak, David 314, 327, 368 Dycus, John 290

E

Eason, Pat 257 Ebensburg, Gary 128, 129 Eberhart, Doug 241 Echelberger, Mary 282, 358 Echols, Robbie 308, 350 Eckholm, Anita 226, 227 Eddy, Melissa 244, 368 Edgerly, Earl 325 Edmondson, Guy 323, 324, 326 Edwards, Terry 223, 350 Egiebor, Sharon 290, 350 Eidson, Kelly 232, 308, 368 Eidson, Walter 339 Eigel, Cathy 225, 245 Elahi, Naser 334 Elam, Angela 262, 339 Elections 161 Elias, Belinda 339 Elinski, Kim 221 Elkins, Jacy 128 Elkins, Karen 339 Elkins, Kristina 358 Elkins, Tyce 266 Elko, Cissy 243, 251 Elko, Mary 358 Ellenburg, Donna 223, 368 Elliott, Bud 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 296 Elliott, Deborah 263 Elliott, John 262 Elliott, Lester 358 Elliott, Vicki 274, 339 Ellis, Russell 306 Ellis, Sherril 325, 326, 329 Elms, Mary 287, 368 Elrod, Stephen 368 Elsner, Arthur 340 Elwonger, Steve 306 Emery, William 340 Emuh, Godwin 340 Enendu, Joseph 324 Engfurtner, Angel 248 England, Mark 290 Engle, James 266 Engle, Nancy 226 English, Mark 340 Epperson, Leslie 244 Erickson, Steve 294 Ertan, Kamil 262 Erwin, Athena 368 Eskridge, Michael 368 Esparza, Alma Lou 350 Espinosa, Kathy 319, 350 Estes, Latonia 340 Estes, Lola 368 Ethridge, Lydia 319, 358 Eubanks, John 110 Evans, Donna 220, 358 Evans, Lisa 368 Evans, Lorenzo 253 Evans, Mark 252, 253 Evans, Melinda 272 Everett, Charly 300 Everett, Gary 350 Everhart, Glen 230 Everlein, Marie 244 Ewers, Joe 256 Ewing, Gregg 306 Exley, Melba 368

Faber, Rob 289 Fadely, Kirt 368 Fagan, Mary 53 Fairchild, Allison 368 Fairley, Bill 291, 340 Falbey, Francis 368 Fallon, Virginia 358 Falt, Eric 261, 340 Fang, Xue-Zhen 350 Fant, Jim 257 Faris, Jenny 350 Farmer, Barbara 282 Farmer, Charles 225, 272, 340 Farmer, Glenn 368 Farrar, Mark 300 Farrell, Debbie 263, 279 Fatheree, Bruce 223, 246, 316, 317, 340 Fatheree, Kathryn 340 Faulhaber, Chuck 225 Fazio, Gerard 368 Felder, Tony 171, 296 Fencing 202 Fenner, Peggy 308 Fentum, Bill 284, 286, 358 Ferguson, Cale 314, 358 Ferguson, Don 313 Ferguson, Elise 311, 358 Feris, Lisa 368 Fernandez, Jorge 296 Fernandez, Marcos 368 Ferraro, Dan 242 Ferro, Benny 358 Fettinger, George 250 Fibbs, Rick 323 Fields, Greg 368 Fields, Vicki 222, 235, 255, 340 Figueroa, George 311, 368 Fin, Mark 247 Finan, Debra 283, 350 Findley, Jay 253 Findley, Lisa 368 Fine, Bruce 368 Fine, Mark 350 Finner, Peggy 243 Fish, Michael 151 Fisher, Catherine 368 Fisher, Kathy 250, 276 Fisher, Robert 266 Fitzek, Juleigh 340 Fitzgerald, Tim 266 Fitzik, Jerry 245, 340 Flados, Paul 340 Flamming, Doug 340 Flanagan, Collette 319, 368 Flanner, Brian 256, 279 Flatt, Tara 368 Fleece, Hoby 262 Fleeman, Donna 340 Fleeman, Rhonda 358 Fleming, Phil 296 Fleming, Sally 282, 283, 292, 350 Fleming, Steve 292 Fletcher, Scott 306 Flint, Tim 249 Flood, Dennis 340 Flores, Carmen 340 Flynn, Tom 368 Fodor, Annette 368 Fogarty, Bob 324, 327 Fogle, Marsha 244 Follis, Jim 340 Football 296, 297 Ford, Barry 296, 298 Ford, Christy 244 Ford, Fontaini 319, 358 Ford, Jeanne 30 Ford, John 189, 300, 358 Ford, Terri 368 Foreman, Burleigh 368 Forester, Warren 358 Forrester, Cynthia 319, 350 Forsythe, Robert 242 Foster, Debbie 256 Foster, Shelia 358 Fowler, Jeri 369 Fox, Barry 279 Francis, Chris 256 Francis, Deborah 340 Francis, Murray 170, 171 Franklin, Paul 358 Franklin, Steve 198 Franz, Tracy 369 Fraser, Hugh 242

Frasier, Kerry 306, 340

Frataccia, Enrico 260 Frazier, Jennifer 369 Frazier, Rob 325 Frederick, Tracy 220, 303 Freeman, Cheryl 350 Freewheelers 182, 183, 305 Frenette, Michelle 221 Friday, Jeff 269, 314, 340 Friesen, Donald 266, 275 Fritz, Irmgard 369 Fromholz, Steve 64, 65 Frost, Jane 256 Frost, Tom 296 Fry, Julie 369 Frye, David 369 Fuchs, James 350 Fuessel, Rhonda 256, 340 Fuhrman, LaVonda 221, 289 Fulkerson, Charlie 240, 241 Fulkerson, Richard 267 Fuller, Bruce 315, 369 Fuller, James 340 Fuller, Jamie 358 Fuller, Miguel 296 Fulton, Dave 307 Funke, Kammy 340 Furbush, Darin 296 Furra, Tommy 369 (т Gabbert, Rodney 369 Gage, Kathy 319, 350

Gaggens, Charles 296 Gagnon, Theresa 310, 311, 358 Gaines, David 340 Gaither, Don 300 Galbreath, Tom 230 Gallander, Dawn 369 Gallion, Tammy 250, 359 Galloway, Rick 242 Gally, Joe 291 Gammill, Terry 369 Gann, Debbie 227 Gant, Bryan 350 Garcia, Brenda 243, 244, 245, 255 Garcia, Libby 299 Gardiner, April 291, 340 Gardner, Athina 369 Gardner, Dan 243 Gardner, Kent 276, 277 Gardner, Lisa 283 Garner, David 315, 359 Garrett, Kirby 369 Garrison, Gerald 266 Garza, Anthony 369 Garza, Barbara 350 Garza, Debra 281 Garza, Ed 230 Garza, Fred 369 Gaston, Kim 257 Gates, Charles 310, 311, 369 Gathright, Robert 350 Gau, Ti-Ying 266 Gay, Al 292 Gay, Jackie 250 Gay, Ralph 369 Geiselbrecht, Penny 266 Gendron, Teresa 250, 359 Gentry, Carol 250 Gentry, Donna 369 Gentry, Jimmy 340 Geons, Grant 370 George, Darwin 296 George, Nancy 307 Georgi, Allen 369 Gerik, Freddie 369 Gerloff, Barbi 21 Gerloff, Rhonda 334 Gever, Thomas 243 Gibbons, Linda 244, 369 Gibbs, Rick 325, 327, 329, 350 Gibson, Beth 221 Gibson, Courtney 131 Gibson, Jan 232 Gibson, Kenneth 266 Giesler, Ralph 256 Gilbreath, Laura 245, 254, 255, 276, 277 Giles, Bryan 369 Giles, Efton 369 Gillespie, King 279 Gilliam, Yeonette 258, 359

Gilliland, Connie 220, 221 Gilliland, Gary 369 Gilson, Roxanne 290 Ginzburg, Alexander 87 Giovanni, Nikki 90, 119 Girardot, Dr. Peter 288 Gisher, Ronald 350 Glass, Kirk 369 Glassford, Glen 340 Gleason, Jo Ann 319, 350 Glover, Patricia 221, 369 Gober, Bayle 340 Godwin, Dawn 369 Goeller, Kim 370 Golightly, Glen 327 Golkar, Javad 265 Gomez, Sara 370 Gonzales, Carmen 260 Gonzales, Charles 350 Gonzales, Raoul 253, 310 Gonzales, Steve 230, 231 Gonzalez, Fernando 370 Good, Donna 262 Goode, Jil 310 Goodman, David 270 Goodnow, James 266 Goolsbey, Jeff 350 Goombi, Greg 230 Gordon, Cathy 222, 370 Gordon, Debbie 286, 370 Gordon, Ginger 263 Gorman, Howard 340 Gorrell, Carolyn 256, 257 Goss, Steve 240 Gottlich, James 278, 359 Gottlieb, Moris 266 Gouldsby, Anthony 194, 306 Goulsby, William 324 Govea, Linda 340 Gower, Brian 194, 306 Grabber, Rebecca 370 Grabliauskas, Edward 315, 370 Grace, Melody 320, 370 Grace, Timothy 359 Graffigna, Lisa 221 Gragg, Ruth 282, 350 Graham, Linda 340 Graham, Vicki 350 Granzin, Rodney 370 Grasty, Mickey 240 Graves, Jalynn 359

Η

Hall, Brian 370 Hall, Debbie 292 Hall, Doug 370 Hall, Gregory 359 Hall, Mary 350 Hall, Todd 370 Hallford, Andy 184 Hames, Greg 350 Hames, Jerry 340 Hamilton, Laura 15, 320, 350 Hamilton, Thomas 315, 370 Hammond, Carl 340 Hammond, Gerald 325 Hammonds, Russ 242 Hampton, Kevin 231 Hampton, Steve 230, 246 Hamze, Akram 350 Hamzeh, Barbara 340 Hamzeh, Ryad 340 Handley, Don 257 Handy, Lucretia 351 Haney, Mark 359 Hankins, Keith 296 Hanlan, Scott 184 Hanner, Glenn 252, 370 Hanson, Dave 221 Hanson, Mike 241 Hanson, Rick 340 Hanson, Stuart 371 Happel, Brian 296 Happel, Craig 300 Harbers, Missy 232, 371 Hardin, Tim 289 Harding, Bonnie 276 Hardison, Cole 340 Hardison, Dr. O. B. 89 Harisingh, Roy 313, 315, 371 Harlan, Joseph 325

Harman, Roger 256 Harmon, Arthur 371 Harms, Scott 22, 371 Harms, Steve 230, 231 Harnist, Gary 235 Harper, Prentice 236, 296, 297 Harper, Robin 263 Harrell, Barbara 340 Harris, Buddy 78 Harris, Charles 298 Harris, Gayle 250 Harris, Heidi 290 Harris, Jimmy 306 Harris, Valorie 351 Harrisberger, Stacy 233 Harrison, Angie 325 Harrison, Jacqunetta 351 Harrison, Mark 267, 371 Harrison, Maxi 245, 341 Harryman, Suzann 223 Hart, Cindy 308, 371 Hart, Joseph 151 Hart, Julie 226, 227, 371 Hart, Norbert 341 Hartman, Richard 329, 351 Hartung, Raymond 371 Harvey, Sean 296 Harvey, Yolanda 320, 359 Hashimoto, Erin 371 Hashimoto, Mike 290, 341 Haskins, Clifford 341 Hass, Ron 230, 231 Hassell, Allison 72, 73, 74, 75 Hastings, Pat 334 Hasty, Michael 81 Haswell, Keith 231, 341 Hatch, Ben 290 Hatcher, Betty Jean 341 Hatcher, Randy 371 Hatfield, Brian 351 Hatfield, Teri 324, 327, 359 Hatley, Terri 351 Hatt, Janie 227 Haung, John 266 Hauser, Warren 334 Havensite, Darla 250, 251 Havlak, Julie 371 Hawke, Larry 325, 328 Hawkins, James Douglas 261, 351 Hawkins, John 266 Hawkins, Michael 359 Hawkins, Patti 266 Hawley, Kim 226 Hawthorn, Donna 244 Hawthorne, P. T. 296 Haxton, Darcy 299 Hayden, Leah 351 Hayden, Lisa 233, 359 Hayden, Rex 341 Hayes, Hunter 296 Hayes, Jim 305 Haynes, Bonita 224 Haynes, Glenda 256 Haynie, Tracy 192, 301, 359 Hays, Felecia 341 Healy, James 76, 79 Hearn, Keith 261 Hearne, Jeffrey 317, 371 Hearne, Kyle 296 Hearne, Powell 296, 317, 359 Heath, Johnnie 371 Heaton, Jeff 68 Hector, Jerry 243 Hedric, Kathrin 371 Hedric, Micki 273 Hegwer, Paul 230, 231 Heidarian, Kambiz 266 Heifner, Cynthia 371 Heimann, James 152, 306 Heldman, Chris 329 Helzer, Kay 232 Hemphill, Yvette 238, 254 Henderson, David 292 Henderson, Delia 371 Henderson, Lyn 251 Hendon, Jodi 260 Henke, Dan 242 Henry, David 266 Henry, Ginger 359 Henry, Lynn 320, 359 Henry, Tim 324, 329 Henson, Diane 371 Herb, Christi 371 Herber, Jeanne 273

Herber, Joanne 371 Herman, Susan 37 Hermann, Katy 301 Hermann, Ulrich 116, 117 Hernandez, Juan 126 Hernandez, Robbie 307 Herod, Rusty 266, 341 Herrera, Vincent 266, 281, 341 Herring, Al 341 Herskowitz, Suzan 233, 287 Hess, Jeffrey 371 Hester, Cindy 260 Hestilow, Terry 323, 324, 326, 351 Hewitt, Kathy 226, 227, 351 Heyser, Michael 371 Hick, Tammie 371 Hickerson, Jeffrey 371 Hicks, Donald 266 Hicks, Mary Ellen 119 Hightower, Angela 284, 286, 371 Hightower, Toni 224 Hiler, Jimmy 269, 341 Hill, Anita 371 Hill, Catherine 266 Hill, Janet 221 Hill, John 351 Hill, Keith 341 Hill, Ken 341, 371 Hill, Perry 325, 327 Hill, Steve 240, 256, 351 Hilton, Lisa 341 Hinojosa, Raul 296 Hinojosa, Roy 296 Hirezi, Teresa 152, 272, 275 Hissen, Ghassan 261 Hissen, Ramsey 341 Hoang, My 341 Hobbs, Dianne 334 Hobbs, Glenda 269 Hodge, Teresa 152, 260 Hodges, Kevin 253 Hodgkinson, Kathryn 341 Hodnett, Tom 257, 341 Hoffman, Cynthia 153 Hogue, Dorothy 359 Hogue, Robert 288, 371 Holaday, Lisa 271 Holaday, Rene 271, 278 Holcomb, Kimberley 371 Holder, Daryl 341 Holder, Jim 313 Holdridge, D. D. 260 Holiday, Wanda 41, 224, 254 Holland, Allan 341 Holland, Anne 247 Holland, Karen 359 Holley, David 265 Hollins, Ken 239 Holloway, Fara 359 Holloway, Ralph 239 Holloway, Regina 360 Holman, Dixon 241 Holmes, Byron 236, 306, 316 Holmes, George 296 Holt, Steven 341 Holtry, Brett 351 Honea, William 266 Honeycut, Richard 307 Honors 158 Hoofard, Ken 143 Hoofard, Richard 250, 284, 287 Hopkins, Keith 296 Hopkins, Kraig 296, 317, 371 Hoppe, Patti 257 Hopwood, Mitch 257 Horak, Tim 235 Horn, Deverix 371 Horn, Greg 240, 241 Horn, Janna 371 Horn, Mike 296 Hornback, Jeff 329 Hornbeak, Janetta 351 Horner, Mike 285 Hornsby, Leonard 341 Hornsby, Tom 306 Hornstein, Daniel 68 Hoskins, Clifford 236, 342 Houston Symphony 58 Howard, Barrie 226 Howard, Bob 296, 306 Howard, Donald 371 Howard, Joel 289 Howard, Russ 303, 310 Howe, Kit 223

Howell, Lori 226 Howie, Bruce 271, 277, 278 Howie, James 342 Huber, Donny 282 Hudson, Andy 243 Hudson, Lourdes 158, 226, 276 Hudson, Margarette 371 Hudson, Martie 291 Huebner, Nell 233, 308 Huerta, Rita 270, 342 Huerta, Yolanda 80, 81 Hughes, Beth 284 Hughes, Mark 296 Hughes, Pam 222 Hughes, Scott 235 Hughes, Tommy 252 Huitt, Kris 192, 301 Hull, Mitchell 360 Hulsey, Bruce 228, 342 Hummel, Joel 313 Hummel, Scott 313 Hunnicut, Billy 242, 342 Hunt, David 296 Hunt, Greg 247 Hunter, Less 68 Hunter, Steve 296 Hunter, Tim 294 Hurlburt, Catherine 342 Husbands, Debbie 246 Huse, Cynthia 342 Huskeu, Rebecca 266 Hutchingson, Lori 371 Hutchinson, Jerri 226 Hutchinson, Lori 220, 308 Hutchison, George 116, 117 Hutton, John 266 Hy, Suzanne 270 Hyden, Beth 371 Hyden, Cari 153, 290, 342 Hyden, Julie 309 Hyden, Leslie 220, 221 Hykel, Mark 371

Ι

ladegari, Gloria 264, 272 IFC 253 Igwe-Onu, Moses 342 Ikner, Melvin 253 Imhoff, Stacia 260 Inglehart, Howard 236 Inglis, Rob 35 Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers 266 Insurgent 327 Intramurals 206-211 Ip, Wai 360 Iranian Student Association 130 Irons, David 323, 324 Isbell, Ron 258, 306, 351 Ivic, Suzanne 220, 221 Ivory, David 282, 283, 342

J

Jacks, Jana 311, 371 Jackson, Beverly 360 Jackson, Carol 282, 285 Jackson, Danny 296 Jackson, Deidra 251 Jackson, Lillard 371 Jackson, Robin 279 Jackson, Scott 315, 351 Jackson, Stephen 324, 326 Jackson, Thomas 315, 360 Jackson, Wanda 262, 342 Jacob, Janet 260 Jacobs, Hank 159, 221, 253, 308 Jacobs, Harmon 351 Jacobs, Mark 269, 360 Jalali, Ali 266 James, Jill 371 James, John 360 James, Margaret 371 James, Randall 371 Jamison, Thomas 342 Jamsheer, Khalid 351 Jarzamski, Elaine 226 Jasper, Thermon 277 Jeanes, Rick 242

Jefferson, Willie 313, 371 Jeng, Lilly 371 Jenista, Janet 371 Jenkin, Jeff 371 Jenkins, Don 360 Jenkins, Gary 266 Jenkins, Greg 296 Jenkins, Ken 268 Jenkins, Robert 298 Jepsen, Judy 283 Jernigan, Steven 342 Jessie, Phillip 170, 236, 296 Johnson, Benny 342 Johnson, Bill 230, 231 Johnson, Charles 246, 253 Johnson, Cynthia 371 Johnson, Danny 298 Johnson, Harlan 342 Johnson, Janie 351 Johnson, John 296, 342 Johnson, Joye 342 Johnson, Keith 239 Johnson, Krissa 284, 285, 372 Johnson, Lance 248, 255 Johnson, Larry 322 Johnson, Mark 243, 372 Johnson, Mike 306 Johnson, Patricia 372 Johnson, Randy 296 Johnson, Richard 279, 295 Johnson, Robert 296, 360 Johnson, Steve 240 Johnson, Sue 351 Johnson, Tammy 244 Johnson, Thavalia 119 Johnson, Tommy 292 Johnson, Tony 242 Johnson, William 351 Johnston, Kevin 372 Johnston, Richard 342 Joint Council of Student Engineers 275 Jones, Barbara 260 Jones, Brenda 275 Jones, Clifton 239 Jones, Dan 296 Jones, David 372 Jones, Donnie 296 Jones, Karyn 266 Jones, Kenneth 372 Jones, Matt 351 Jones, Mike 324, 327, 328 Jones, Monty 372 Jones, Myra 262 Jones, Scott 372 Jones, Sharon 238 Jones, Shelia 372 Jones, Shelly 251 Jones, Thomas 266 Jones, Vicki 342 Jones, Von 372 Jordan, John 296 Jordan, Kirby 351 Jordon, Gilbert 230, 231 Jordon, Louis 342 Jordon, Steve 372 Judah, Johnny 372 Juengerman, Eric 271 Jung, Greg 235, 253 Jung, Julie 263

K

Kaarlele, Mitchell 352 Kahlig, David 317, 372 Kajs, Mary 318, 352 Kallus, Dennis 154, 266 Kamp, Mary 263 Kane, John 325, 327 Kang, Young Suk 280 Kappa Alpha Order 214, 235, 242 Kappa Alpha Psi 214, 236 Kappa Delta Pi 260 Kappa Sigma 252 Kappes, Joan 292 Kast, Dana 372 Katyn, John 313 Kaufman, Karen 372 Kauth, Daniel 372 Kavanaugh, Rosemary 352 Kavli, Suzanne 266 Kay, Chris 352 Kearley, Richard 266

Keith, Kathy 251 Keith, Ty 372 Keith, Wayland 256 Kelch, Connie 181, 299 Kell, Alicia 282 Kell, David 282 Kellam, Ted 310 Kelldorf, Michael 360 Keller, John 372 Kelley, Ann 266, 275 Kelley, Kay 227 Kelley, Suzanne 372 Kelly, Carolyn 224, 342 Kelly, Claire 220 Kelly, Joe 243 Kelly, Margaret 342 Kelly, Marva 262 Kelly, Marva 342 Kelso, Leslie 372 Kemper, Randy 342 Kennard, Kevin 300 Kennard, Leonard 317, 372 Kennedy, Kimberley 372 Kennedy, Stephen 315, 342 Kenney, Kevin 223, 225, 328, 352 Kenney, Kristine 372 Kenney, Linda 261 Kent, Mary 288 Kerbow, Rae Ann 283, 352 Kerr, James 372 Kerr, Kerry 372 Key, Charlie 296 Key, Chris 292 Key, Keri 232, 372 Key, Kevin 289 Key, Pam 221, 309, 360 Khaldoun, Aljaafari 294 Khatib, Hisham 352 Kidd, Kelli 250 Kiefer, Mark 242 Kiellguist, Elaine 266 Kiesel, Mike 268 Kilcrease, David 372 Kilker, Brenda 266 Kim, Aeran 342 Kim, Chong 372 Kim, Suhun 280 Kim, Susan 280, 352 Kindle, Casey 306 King, Bob 161, 229, 277 King, Bruce 257 King, Charles 372

King, James 352 King, John 153, 342 King, Kathleen 292 King, Mark 352 King, Robin 372 Kinkade, Paula 342 Kinney, Mike 247 Kiraly, James 235 Kirby, Pat 318, 360 Kirk, Carol 360 Kirkland, Myra 342 Kirkpatrick, Carol 267 Kissinger, Ann 273, 320, 360 Kitchin, Mark 296, 297 Kittelson, David 292 Kittle, Sandra 252 Kiwney, Ronnie 372 Klaviter, Kim 360 Kleiber, Steven 315, 342 Klenzendorf, Jim 295, 372 Klenzendorf, Roy 373 Klepper, Kent 216 Klontz, Amy 373 Klosa, Steve 250, 296 Klose, Penny 360 Kloster, Mark 329 Kloza, Tom 296 Kneis, Kathrine 139 Knight, Benny 343 Knott, Gary 352 Knowles, David 360, 292 Knox, Reginald 373 Knox, Steve 315, 373 Koch, Bruce 373 Kocurek, Karen 269, 373 Koelle, Janet 273, 343 Koenig, Christine 373 Koepp, Christine 343 Kok Kheong, Lau 373 Kolesar, Jeanette 159, 226, 277 Kongevick, Joe 73, 76, 82 Koop, Kevin 373 Kopp, Mark 230 Korab, Derrick 242 Korbs, Brian 230, 253 Korean Student Association 280 Korenek, Ken 373 Korenek, Rebecca 373 Koskelin, Dianne 343 Kost, Donna 360 Kouba, Curtis 188, 300

Kramer, Kathy 222, 373 Krantz, Mark 241 Krause, David 373 Krotz, Lynne 373 Kruger, Robert 73, 74, 75 Krystinik, Jon 307 Kubiak, Karen 373 Kubiak, Susan 223, 360 Kuhlman, Cindy 220 Kulik, Dorothy 343 Kunze, Mindy 160, 233, 255, 277, 279 Kurtz, Darlene 257 Kuykendall, Doug 206 Kuykendall, Joann 343

L

La Bar, Ron 305 Lacey, Kent 373 Lackey, Rick 352 Lacourse, Mark 241, 360 Laferney, Cynthia 360 Lahman, Richard 307 Lajoie, Marshall 266, 343 Lakey, Nicky Lyn 256 Lampkin, Era 343 Landers, Stephen 360 Landon, Kim 258 Landreth, Dana 373 Landry, Clinton 325 Lane, Dave 248 Lane, Luther 343 Lane, Tom 322, 326, 327, 329 Laney, Robert 373 Lanford, Andre 239 Lang, Julia 247 Langenderfer, Ed 225, 343 Langford, Andre 298 Langle, Lori 373 Langley, Mike 306, 373 LaQuey, Rick 271 Larkin, Fran 71 Larson, Craig 266 Larson, Don 116, 271 LaRue, Julie 184, 304 Latham, Sue 259 Latta, James 360 Laubler, James 373 Laukoter, Michael 373

Launis, David 334 Lawler, Jan 343 Lawlis, Claudia 343 Lawlis, Denise 352 Lawlis, Michelle 343 Lawrence, David 343 Lawrence, James 236, 296, 297 Lawry, Kenneth 373 Law Society 268 Lawson, Beulah 343 Lay, Richard 260 Laymen, Scott 230 Layton, Leann 373 Leach, Michael 343 Leatherbee, Jill 270 LeBlanc, Kevin 296 LeBlanc, Rick 248 Ledbetter, William 256 Lee, Becky 318, 320, 343 Lee, Chauan 343 Lee, David 352 Lee, Dong Young 280 Lee, Gail 373 Lee, Gilbert 352 Lee, Shan 366 Lee, Steve 235 Lee, Tamara 360 Leech, Mary 221 Leggett, Rickey 298 LeGrand, Arlecia 274 LeGrand, "Snake" 172, 177, 298 Lehman, Kelly 221, 373 Leith, Mike 249 Lenhahan, Alice 343 Leonard, John 343 Leone, Carmella 318, 320, 352 Le, Phuong 373 Lester, Jimmy 242 Lester, Marcie 307 Lettie, Carrie 250 Lewis, Bob 247 Lewis, Brian 307 Lewis, Chris 360 Lewis, Darryl 236, 296 Lewis, Deborah 343 Lewis, Frank 257, 343 Lewis, Gary 170, 296 Lewis, Gregory 352 Lewis, Jim 247 Lewis, Kathryn 360 Lewis, Kathy 373

Lewis, Kimetra 224 Lewis, Marilyn 278 Lewis, Nathaniel 262 Lewis, Rodney 41 Lewis, Thomas 239 Li, Chan-En 266 Li, Helen 373 Li, Ka-Loki 266 Liles, Don 264 Lincks, Gregory 266 Lindholm, Jim 296 Lindsey, Greg 360 Lindsey, Wanda 291, 343 Linduff, Patricia 343 Line, John 373 Linehan, David 328 Link, Mark 309 Linnstaedt, Robert 247, 343 Lipscomb Dorm 318-321 Lipscomb, Tony 229 Lisins, Martin 235, 253 Lissak, Guy 220, 296 List, Margo 266 Little, Eric 266 Little, Lanny 343 Little, Sandra 372 Littleton, Joni 373 Litton, James 373 Liu, John 373 Liu, Winston 334 Lively, Laura 250, 255 Livingston, Anthony 373 Livingston, Cliff 292 Locke, Stephen 225 Lockwood, Wendy 260 Lofton, Deanne 360 Logan, Lynne 352 Logan, Scott 167, 296 Lombardo, LuAnn 260 Long, Bette 256 Long, Gerald 352 Long, Krista 373 Long, Michael 360 Long, Tom 324, 327, 329 Loper, Tom 266, 343 Lopez, Joe 322, 327 Lopez, Teresa 269, 279, 352 Lord, Tami 373 Lotspeich, Shirley 343 Loughan, Mike 241, 343 Lovas, Donald 360 Love, John 194, 306 Love, William 343 Loveless, Becky 272 Loveless, Rebecca 266 Lowe, Kimberly 373 Lowe, Rebecca 373 Lowes, Leslie 271 Lowrance, David 343 Lu, Chia-Ping 373 Lucas, Thomas 373 Ludwig, Mikio 343 Lumley, John 306 Lummus, Lisa 227, 373 Lusas, Thomas 253 Lyman, Nancy 373 Lynch, Chorlecia 352 Lyon, Cheryl 373 Lyon, Jane 373 Lyons, Stacey 233

M

Ma, Florence 266 Mach, Richard 315, 373 Maciel, Mike 306 Mackey, Michael 343 Mackey, Steven 360 MacLaren, Jon 275, 352 MacLaren, Scot 264, 268, 360 Madden, Georgette 320, 373 Madu-Afokwa, Charlie 352 Maeckel, Cindy 233 Magee, Keith 343 Mahand, Don 81 Mai, Tuyet 266 Majdalani, Toufic 286, 343 Malak-Mahyari, Jean 343 Malcolm, Monroe 352 Malone, James 373 Malone, Nancy 250

Malott, Vincent 252 Manduru, Sarada 373 Manion, Kevin 242, 253 Manion, Lynn 124 Mann, Sheri 374 Mann, Susan 227, 360 Manners, Patrick 325, 327 Manning, Joy 343 Manning, William 266 Mannion, Mike 242 Mansfield, Bob 252 Mansfield, Thomas 353 Manson, Frank 353 Mantooth, Robert 374 Manuel, Julie 353 Mapel, Doug 296, 360 Mar, Walter 374 Marino, Fred 261 Markgraf, Karen 374 Marr, Kent 221, 243 Marston, John 374 Marston, Trip 243, 300 Martens, Tami 301 Martial Arts 329 Martin, Cynthia 301, 360 Martin, Glenn 14, 292, 334 Martin, Mary Ann 292 Martin, Richard 374 Martin, Willie 360 Martindale, Kay 238, 254 Martinez, Anthony 325, 330 Martinez, Arnold 286 Martinez, Frederick Arnold 261 Martinez, Gabriel 360 Martinez, Michele 288, 320, 374 Martinez, Norma 323 Martinez, Robert 266 Mason, Kathleen 374 Mason, Thom 296 Massey, Marian 105 Massey, Nancy 267, 343 Massey, Nolen 271 Massey, Terri 374 Mastio, Martina 287, 320, 374 Mathews, Douglas 154, 266, 343 Matney, Steve 229 Matsko, Greg 329 Matthews, Fred 296 Matthews, Kathy 374 Maulsby, Mike 288 "Maurice" 292 Maxfield, Mel 166, 168, 296 May, Gerry 374 Mayberry, Marvin 239, 324, 329 Mayes, Brad 292 Mayfield, Darryl 343 Mayo, Debbie 309 Mays, Connie 343 Mays, Gwendolyn 238 Mayse-Lundy, Marilynn 154, 274 McAdams, Jeff 71 McAllister, Broda 243 McAlpin, Kathy 233, 234 McAlpin, Patricia 343 McBee, Linda 29 McBrinn, Dhelia 250 McBroom, Butch 188, 191, 300 McCaffrey, D. L. 266 McCain, David 374 McCann, Cindy 235 McCartney, Melanie 299 McCarver, Richard 243 McCauley, Machelle 244, 258, 353 McClain, Kay 374 McClanahan, Marilyn 274 McClaren, Janet 250 McClellen, Linda 272, 275 McClenton, Joyce 238 McCloud, Kevin 374 McClung, Carl 374 McClung, Robert 360 McClure, Robert 343 McClusky, Bill 296 McClusky, Bud 168, 170, 296 McCollough, Tommy 374 McCorcle, Laurie 268 McCown, James 374 McCoy, Monica 318 McCoy, Tony 248 McCoy, Wendi 374 McCullough, James 374 McCullough, Wesley 252 McCullum, Darrell 302 McCurry, Bill 353

McCrieght, Jim 248 McDearmon, Brian 235, 374 McDeavitt, Celeste 251 McDonald, Brian T. 343 McDonald, Bruce 374 McDonald, David 225 McDonald, Judy 226, 227 McDonald, Laura 284, 285 McDonald, Pamela 374 McDonald, Randy 300 McDonald, Steve 240 McDonald, Susan 304, 374 McDonald, Wynn 374 McDowell, Louanne 260 McElvain, Rick 267 McFadin, Heidi L. 343 McGarrah, Marla 250 McGary, Karen 311, 374 McGee, George Jr. 334 McGee, Mike 235 McGee, Ronald 360 McGhee, Shirley 256 McGill, Gary 256 McGill, Joni C. 343 McGinty, Earl 296 McGlasson, Amy 250, 255 McGrath, Dennis 374 McGrew, Arizona 296 McGuire, Betsy 318 McHan, Allison 222, 328 McHaney, Shanna 251, 360, 374 McIntire, Karen 320, 374 McIntyre, David 229 McJilton, Tim 300 McKain, Timothy 374 McKay, Candace 374 McKean, David 309 McKechnie, Scott 266 McKee, George 343 McKelvey, Mark Andrew 360 McKenzie, David 266 McKenzie, Jim 296 McKinney, Alberta 374 McKinney, Bob 256, 257 McKinney, Donald 374 McKinney, James 261 McKinney, Paul 360 McKinney, Robert 155 McKneel, Daniel 329 McKnight, J. R. 229 McLarry, Howard 353 McLean, Cathy 250 McLemore, Paul 266, 272 McLeod, Audrey 374 McLeod, Michelle 244 McMahan, Liz 343 McMahen, Gene 374 McMahon, John 257 McMahon, Melinda 374 McMahon, Peggy 257 McMann, George 200, 360 McMillan, Jeff 289 McMillan, Sheryl 320, 360 McMillen, Paula 374 McMillen, Sandra 334 McMullin, Tamila 233, 360 McMurrey, Bonnie 232 McMurtre, Hugene 266 McNeily, Daniel 248, 324, 327 McNulty, Patricia 344 McPherson, Elizabeth 263 McPherson, Ralph 172, 174, 177, 298 McQueen, Kim 227, 320, 360 McRaney, Amanda 222 Meador, D'Ann 360 Meadows, Nancy 288 Medaris, Ronnie 240 Medina, John A. 315, 344 Medina, Mark 300 Meek, Richard 313 Meier, France 265 Meier, Kevin 264, 265 Meister, Karen 374 Melton, Teri 260 Melville, Clyde 49, 50 Menasco, Karen 344 Mendenhall, Scott 374 Meneley, Doug 243 Men's Baseball 188-191, 300 Men's Basketball 172-177, 298 Mentesana, Carolyn 277 Mentsana, Ernest 361 Mercer, Dannie 374 Meredith, Gaye 361

Meredith, Leigh 344 Merolla, Rene 23, 308 Messer, Bret 242 Messier, Anne 250 Metcalf, Susan 374 Metcalfe, Vandy 374 Metni, Joseph 266 Metz, Richard 271 Meurer, Vera 374 Mexican-American Student Association 126 Mexican Ballet 62 Meynen, Rebecca 318, 320, 361 Michl, Mary 311, 344 Miculka, Anthony 242 Miles, Patricia 198, 292, 303 Miller, David 230 Miller, Gary 344 Miller, Greg 158, 165, 241, 276 Miller, Jackie Troup 78 Miller, Lynne 374 Miller, Pam 374 Mills, John 329 Mills, Stan 374 Mince, Greg 242 Mince, Robin 252, 374 Ming, Cheung 266 Minnerly, Scott 316, 317, 344 Miracle, Kieth 230, 231 Miss UTA 161 Mitchell, Al 229, 302 Mitchell, Clark 235 Mitchell, Duane 300 Mitchell, Helen 307 Mitchell, Father Irving 124 Mitchell, Michael 374 Mitchell, Rebecca 271, 344 Mock, Laura 375 Moffett, Mary 344 Moffett, Sandra 375 Mohammed, Buddy 129 Mohon, Brad 166, 296 Mokszycki, Steve 248 Mollenkopk, Tracy 240 Moncada, Michael 310, 311, 375 Monfrini, Anita 344 Monk, Carla 353 Monreal, Anthony 375 Monroe, Mike 247 Montalvo, Sammy 306 Montgomery, Jenny 260 Montgomery, Norma 155, 266, 344 Montoya, Loretta 245 Montya, Jay 242, 253 Moody, Jean 375 Moody, Rayne 375 Moon, David 344 Moon, J. S. 280 Moore, Christina 361 Moore, Donna 375 Moore, Eileen 242, 244 Moore, Kelly 123, 214, 215, 245, 277, 308 Moore, Larry D. 344 Moore, Larry T. 344 Moore, Dr. Marion 258 Moore, Mark 344 Moore, Mary 224 Moore, Michelle 299, 375 Moore, Pam 121 Moore, Rhonda 274 Moore, Tammy 232, 361 Moore, Terry 230, 277, 279 Moore, Tina 235 Moore, Tobiper 353 Moore, Tom 24 Moorehead, Connie 233, 277, 353 Moorehead, Lisa 233, 234, 353 Morain, Ron 375, 306 Moreau, Michael 375 Morehart, Lisa 222 Moreno, Gerarldo 127 Moreno, Rick 257, 344 Morgan, Harold 361 Morgan, Mary 375 Morgan, Michelle 375 Morgan, Tony 268, 279 Morinella, Paul 243 Moritz, Chris 290 Morley, Joe 252 Morningstar, Ricky 282, 283, 284 Morris, Priscilla 375 Morrison, Jeffrey 158, 229 Morrow, Rick 249, 325 Morse, Nadine 244, 254, 375 Morton, Cynthia 270

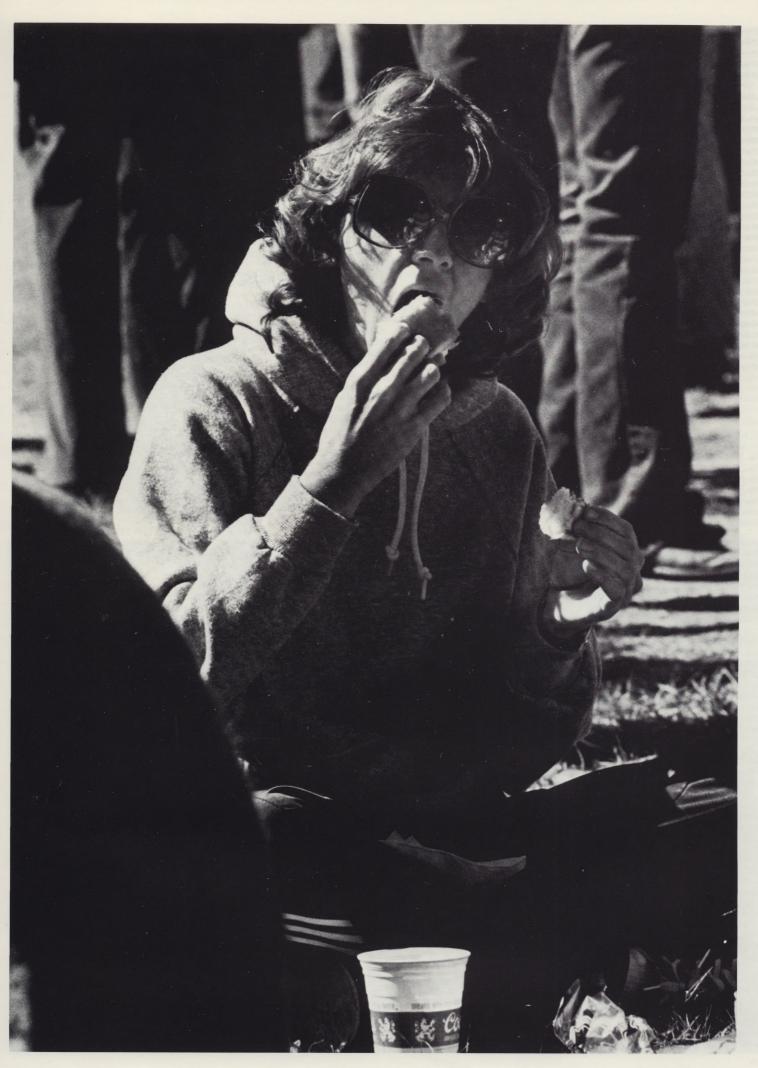

Photo by Marc Wallis

Morton, Gina 245, 276, 353 Morton, Tina 244, 245, 353 Mosiman, Gina 246 Moss, Edmond 353 Mossburg, David 313, 315, 323, 325, 329, 375 Motsko, Gregory 344 Moughalian, Regina 292 Mud Wrestling 214 Mueck, Pat 328 Mueck, Timothy 266 Mueller, Natalie 225, 233 Mueller, Rodney 306 Mulholland, Sammie 361 Muliadi Trisha 375 Muller, John 344 Mummenchanz 61 Mundt, Larry 344 Munroe, Stacey 375 Murdock, Allen 353 Mureiko, Judy 320, 353 Murphey, Michael 64, 65 Murphree, Gary 229 Murphy, Monte 353 Murphy, Susan 344 Murray, Cindy 221, 286, 361 Murray, Doyle 137 Musgrove, Lola 29 Music Department 129 Musick, Kellie 375 Musselman, William 361 Myers, Mark 375

N

Nam, Dennis 280 Narasimhan, Ravikumar 334 Narramore, Misty 375 Nasche, Elizabeth 375 Nathan, Robert 266 Naugher, Mike 315, 375 Nealy, Rogena 353 Near, Mike 243, 353 Nederman, Eric 235, 361

Nedderman, Pres. Wendell 24, 43, 130, 146, 165, 179 Needham, Ricky 375 Neff, Janet 290 Nelle, Nancy 282, 361 Nelson, Donna 361 Nelson, Dub 249, 375 Nelson, James 353 Nelson, Judy 344 Nelson, Kim 244, 245 Nelson, Paul 291 Nelson, Roger 324, 329 Neufeld, Donna 263 New, Lisa 361 Newbold, Elliot 375 Newhouse, Nancy 320, 361 Newland, Alan 375 Newton, Jon 144 Ngian, Jenna 320, 375 Nguyen, Duc 266 Nguyen, Thuy 266 Nicholas, Loren 312, 353 Nichols, Curtis 361 Nichols, Monroe 296, 306, 375 Nichols, Scott 240 Nicholson, Jeff 353 Nickerson, Charles 285, 286, 375 Nieman, Kim 184, 187, 304 Nigianto, Julian 334 Nikirk, Dave 240 Niven, Norry 246 Nix, Donald 266 Nix, Jane 361 Nixon, Scott 323, 326 Nobles, Linda 320, 344 Noblitt, Bob 296 Noggler, Theresa 184, 304 Nolen, Pamela 375 Noll, Sherry 328 Norcross, Thomas 361 Norris, George 344 Norris, Larry 239 Norris, Linda 361 Norris, Michelle 353 Norris, Pat 225, 260 Norris, Patsy 353

Norris, Scott 241 Norton, Dan 252, 253 Norton, James 266 Noteboom, Buell 376 Novak, Debbie 287 Nowlin, Gary 376 Nyaku, Albert 361 Nyvold, Chris 306

0

Oanh, Le Thi Ki 353 O'Dell, Jeff 376 Odom, Cliff 166 Odom, Greg 160, 241 Odom, Joel 345 Odom, Julia 155, 226, 227 O'Donnell, Brian 247 O'Donnell, Jeannie 192, 301, 376 Odor, Tina 376 O'Dwyer, Laurie 244, 308 Oei, Benjamin 353 OFC 326 O'Flaherty, Andrea 221, 376 Ogbonna, Linus 266 Ohmes, Zoie 345 Okate, John 345 Oklahoma 71 O'Leary, Louri 233, 309, 361 O'Leary, Tarri 232, 254, 376 Oliver, Janiece 361 Oliver, Luther 334 Oliver, Scott 306 Oliver, Vaughn 266 Olson, Carla 376 Olson, Karen 220, 361 Olson, Keith 230, 231 Omar, Scot 269 Omega Psi Phi 214 Omokaro, Valentine 345 O'Neal, Robert 376 Onyeador, Chinedu 345 Onyebuchi, Peter 345

Orban, Debra 269, 353 Order of Omega 255 Ordonez, Elizabeth 281 O'Reilly, Donna 222, 246 Orienteering 329 Orr, Pamela 345 Ortiz, Ramiro 257 Osei, Tony 239 Osterhout, Cindi 244 Otradovec, Mary 353 Otradovec, Monica 264, 265, 272 Otterman, Paul 353 Otto, Diana 245, 345 Otto, John 241 Otto, Kevin 229 Otto, Mark 376 Otto, Walter 345 Otts, Yvonne 353 Outlaw, Jefre 376 Owen, Cynthia 345 Owen, Dan 269, 279, 291 Owen, Jerry 345 Owen, Jim 345 Owens, Mark 243, 309 Owens, Martin 261 Owusu-Ansah, Juliana 345

P

Pace, Derwin 296, 317, 376 Pace, Stephanie 361 Pachl Hall Dorm Council 316 Pack, Karen 376 Pacot, Carlo 323, 326, 344 Pake, Jason 280 Palacios, Rodolfo 268, 344 Palacios, Rudy 286 Palestine Student Association 130 Palmer, Kathy 361 Palot, Carlo 324 Panhellenie 254 Papadopoulos, Dino 266 Pape, Elinor 264, 272

Papgeorge, Liz 248 Parikh, Nimesh 266 Park Hee Sook 376 Parker, Betty 108 Parker, Buddy 270 Parker, Darla 233, 344 Parker, Fredric 344 Parker, Michael 353 Parker, Patricia 279 Parker, Rebecca 245 Parkhill, Charles 325 Parks, Rose 301 Parsley, Richard 241 Parsons, Neysa 344 Parsons, Teena 222, 246 Partain, Johnny 376 Paton, John 252 Patrick, Karen 334 Patterson, Angela 353 Patterson, Charles 345 Patterson, Dee 345 Patterson, Lynn 266 Patterson, Shirley 345 Patterson, Tom 300 Pattison, Sarah 256 Patton, John 353 Patuwo, Isak 345 Patzig, Mike 376 Paul, Charles 376 Paul Kenneth 376 Payne, Dale 252 Payne, Jay 361 Payne, Jeffery 376 Peacock, Tammy 233, 320, 361 Pearl, Mark 235 Pearson, Donna 361 Pearson, Doyle 353 Pecena, Marsha 345 Peckham, Brian 361 PEMM 270 Penton, Phillip 376 Peoples, Josephine 353 Peppin, Louis 177 Peques, Guy 266 Percussion Ensemble 129 Perez, Darrell 324, 330 Perez, Romeo 161, 123 Perkins, Harold 306 Perreault, Denise 376 Perrin, Tammie 318, 320, 353 Perry, John 362 Perry, Zaneta 223, 376 Perton, Chris 264, 265 Peterson, Pamela 376 Peterson, Ronald 345 Petrushka, John 252 Petsche, Alan 246 Pettit, Susan 272, 275, 294, 353 Petzinger, Mark 313, 315, 376 Phan, Anh 334 Phelps, Brent 376 Phi Beta Sigma 239 Phi Delta Theta 214, 240, 241 Phi Eta Sigma 258 Phi Gamma Delta 214, 242 Phi Gamma Nu 263 Phillips, Cheryl 232, 376 Phillips, Jayson 76, 82 Phillips, Joe 225 Phillips, Lou 80, 81, 82, 376 Phillips, Michael 290 Phillips, Randy 241 Phillips, Valenda 376 Phillips, Vicky 345 Phi Mu 214, 244, 245 Phi Sigma Iota 259 Phlegm, Julia 263 Physician in Spite of Himself 81 Pickens, Jan 362 Pierce, Norman 345 Pierce, Scott 252 Pi Kappa Alpha 214, 243 Pi Kappa Phi 214 Pilon, Dana 345 Pilon, Dawn 345 Pink, Larry 331 Pippin, Rusty 270 Pippins, John 262 Pi Sigma Epsilon 269 Pistol 328 Pistole, Roger 362 Pistick, James 377 Planche, Angela 260 Pleasents, Leon 322

Plummer, Diane 266, 272, 353 Pohle, Monica 222, 223, 377 Pointer, Jan 229 Poledna, James 377 Polk, Melvin 172, 174, 298 Pollard, Chandler 22, 226 Pollard, Libby 233, 345 Ponce, Andrew 266 Pond, Paul 322 Ponder, Mike 108 Pope, Brad 377 Popkins, Bryan 242 Porcher, Annalisa 377 Porter, Celia 362 Porter, Kati 81 Porter, Louis 239 Porter, Randy 192, 296, 301 Porterfield, Donivon 258, 267, 278, 362 Posey, Janice 288 Poslik, Dawne 220 Poss, Becky 288 Potapous, Andrea 377 Potapous, Sandy 244 Prachyl, Sharon 353 Praessyl, David 292 Pratt, Dennis 377 Pratt, Ricky 296 Preiling, Michael 279 Presley, Margie 302, 303 Presley, Keith 296, 297 Pressley, Shea 310 Pressly, Greg 377 Price, Anthony 296 Price, Dr. Gloria 109 Price, Sara 68 Price, Vincent 59 Priddy, Grace 377 Prince, Don 23, 246, 253 Prince, Jimmy 235 Procter, Joseph 264, 265 Proctor, Charles 73, 82 Productions 291 Professional Black Women's League 274 Prokop, Rhonda 324, 328, 329, 362 Pro-L.I.F.E. 288 Provost, Lisa 220 Pruett, Deborah 334 Prunty, Teresa 321, 353 Pryor, Carl 249 Pryor, Dana 221, 353 Pryor, Elizabeth 345 Puckett, Doug 256 Puckett, Mark 334 Puente, Raul 246 Pugh, Greg 72, 73 Pugliese, Lenore 377 Pullar, Ronda 377, 232 Purcell, Chip 243, 253 Pursell, Robert 294 Putman, Debbie 288 Pyburn, Steve 243 Pyle, Sue 290

Q

Qayum, Ahsan 277 Quade, Ron 72, 73, 75 Quarles, Donna 277 Quarles, Rob 243 Queen, Frank 230 Query, William 362 Quiseberry, John 353 Quoc Pho, Thai 313

R

Rabee, Russel 243 Raby, Russell 377 Rachleff, Larry 129 Racke, Michael 377 Rackley, Steve 223, 248, 253, 362 Ragsdill, Jenny 286, 377 Raiman, Peter 284, 285, 286, 345 Raines, Larry 377 Rainone, Gregory 345 Raley, Randal 345 Rambeau, Bobby 66 Ramirez, Maria 345 Rampy, Shawn 307 Ramsbottom, Sarah 279 Ramzel, Cindy 242 Rangel, Josephine 345 Rao, Rekha 245 Rappelling 327 Rascoe, Lori 377 Rash, Darla 263 Rasmussen, Cindy 269, 279 Rastrehhi, Michele 227 Ratliff, Rita 274 Rawleigh, Eleanor 377 Ray, Partha 266 Rayfield, Stacy 296 Rayl, Karen 290 Rayson, Lisa 238, 274 Reagan, Louise 245 Reagan, Timothy 345 Reamer, Kathy 226, 377 Reamer, Kevin 229, 377 Redding, Donald 362 Reece, Melissa 318 Reed, Anthony 239 Reed, David 377 Reed, Gwendolyn 321, 362 Reed, Nancy 68, 69 Reed, Joe 266 Reed, John 266 Reed, Sharon 353 Reeve, Rachel 377 Reeves, Bill 170 Reeves, Elaine 353 Refoua, Albert 334 Regan, Louise 248 Reichenstein, Kevin 215 Reid, Tracy 257 Reinhard, Robyn 235 Reinhardt, Tom 229, 250 Reis, Richard 266 Remus, Julie 377 Reyes, Cynthia 279 Reyes, Pedro 377 Reynolds, Cristy 377 Reynolds, Cythia 353 Reynolds, Dana 221 Reynolds, Jerry 226, 242 Reynolds, Lee 224 Reynolds, Stan 353 Rezaei, Mohammed 264 Rhea, Elizabeth 291 Rheudasil, Leslie 353 Rhodes, Billy 229 Rhodes, Matthew 377 Rhymes, Paula 224 Rice, DiAnn 283, 345 Rice, Lynda 243, 251, 362 Rice, Roderic 266 Richard, Jeff 229 Richards, Dee Dee 377 Richards, Greg 310 Richards, Mark 230, 231 Richey, Diane 270 Richter, Pat 260 Rickard, Cecil 271, 377 Rickett, Rhonda 362 Riddick, Robin 321, 377 Riddle, Brian 230, 253 Riddle, Leslie 353 Ridgway, Mary 184, 304 Riell, Diane 245 Riell, Seane 362 Rifle 328 Rigdon, Karyn 345 Riibe, Kevin 377 Riley, Beaux 228 Riley, Charlotte 256, 345 Rimmer, Robert 91 Rinehart, Julia 321, 362 Rinewalt, Ruth 345 Risedorph, Scott 345 Risley, Pat 272 Risner, Benny 310, 312, 353 Ritchie, Leah 353 Ritcnour, Eric 306 Ritter, Rudolph 377 Roa, Rafael 354 Roach, Sonja 377 Roark, James 377 Robbins, David 345 Robbins, Debby 263, 345 Robbins, Junie 345 Robbins, Pegeen 345 Roberson, Stephanie 354 Roberts, Doug 309 Roberts, James 377 Roberts, Jay 377

Roberts, Lisa 221 Roberts, Peter 377 Roberts, Terri 250, 377 Robertson, Brad 306 Robertson, John 377 Robinson, Janelle 301 Robinson, Kenneth 377 Robinson, Melisa 156, 221 Robinson, Pam 226 Robinson, Paul 300 Robinson, Vanessa 118, 119, 224 Robledo, Tony 325, 327 Rockwood, Jerry 26 Rodgers, Donna 354 Rodgers, Jeff 300 Rodgers, Linda 260 Rodgers, Robert 266 Rodgers, Terri 273, 377 Rojas-Negrete, Carlos 266 Rolland, Angela 291 Romanski, Linda 233 Romero, Charlotte 362 Romero, Jeanette 377 Roof, Lisa 223, 377 Rooters, Joan 274 Roper, Jeff 256, 258 Rosario, Melissa 303, 362 Rose, Jerri 377 Rose, Ken 189, 300 Rosenstein, Russell 249 Ross, Bill 294, 345 Ross, Darla 263, 321, 362 Ross, John 292 Ross, Karla 321, 362 Ross, Will 243 Ross, Yajalene 362 Rowe, Richard 282 Rowe, Valerie 256 Rowell, Steve 292 Rowlader, Gordon 377 Royall, Bob 345 Royall, Deborah 345 Rubel, Bob 228, 302 Rudduck, Russell 266, 292 Ruiz, Jose 377 Ruiz, Rita 273, 377 Rushing, Phillip 230, 231, 255, 322, 362 Rushing, Stanley 37 Russell, David 292, 305 Russell, Mark 269 Russell, Nita 279 Ryan, Gary 260 Ryan, James 377 Rye, Carol 160, 229, 250

S

Sacks, Joe 248 Saddles and Spurs 308 Saffle, Mike 377 Sahba, Shahriar 345 Saifi, Shaheen 362 Sakowski, Emily 378 Sakowski, Greg 257 Sakowski, John 345 Salazar, Donna 345 Salazar, Laura 346 Salazar, Melinda 281 Salazar, Victor 127 Saleh, Rory 240 Salley, Herman 378 Saiser, Lowell 378 Saltarelli, Michael 331 Sam Houston Rifles 330 Sampert, Kathy 220 Sanchez, Jose 259, 281 Sandas, Evonne 299 Sanders, Duane 378 Sanders, Gene 235 Sanders, James 346 Sanders, Patti 232, 378 Sanders, Travis 296 Sandlin, Larissa 220, 221 Sandlin, Rosanna 220, 346 Sanenz, Oscar 378 Sanford, Roger 282 Sansom, Joy 28 Sansom, Scott 235 Santillan, Mike 281 Sapien, Victoria 281 Sasa, Bermardino 325 Satarino, Molly 321, 378

Photo by Allison Caldwell

Satre, Dennis 378 Saucedo, Vincent 378 Sauerhage, Mike 240 Saunders, Greg 378 Savannah, Emmitt Jr. 287 Saykaothao, Thaokay 346 Scabbard and Blade 326 Scallan, Michael 266 Schaefer, Andy 247 Schaefer, Rita 378 Schaefers, Barbara 378 Schaefers, Stephen 362 Schaeper, Chris 156, 268, 276, 278, 287, 346 Schedeen, Glenn 266, 346 Schickedanz, Tom 228 Schievelbein, Gena 321, 378 Schipper, Steven 378 Schkade, Paul 156 Schlotte, Mary 273, 362 Schorder, Jerry 228, 250 Schroeder, Mary 321, 378 Schubert, Jeanette 256 Schubert, Lynn 346 Schup, Herbert Alan 282, 354 Schwettmann, Brian 378 Science Constituency Council 278 Scoggins, Dan 346 Scoreboard 204, 205 Scott, Doug 306 Scott, Joan 354 Scott, Pamela 378 Scott, Robert 277 Scott, Vesta 299 Scott, Zachary 241, 354 Scroggins, Don 354 Seamster, James 363 Seaton, Blake 159, 229, 277 Seaton, John 378 Seay, Kristy 229, 250 Sees, Carolyn 222, 223, 378 Sells, William 296, 317, 378 Selman, Duane 354 Semana Chicana 62, 126 Seug, Yun Wong 266 Seward, Margaret 282 Seward, Sam 296, 317, 363 Seward, Sandy 287 Seydler, Kevin 248 Sexton, Randy 276, 284, 310 Sexton, William 312, 346 Seyboid, Debbie 378 Shaffer, Susan 276 Shah, Ashok 266 Shah, Hemabt 266 Sham, Teng-Sing 363 Shanks, Laurel 346 Shanon, Catherine 264, 265 Shanon, Michael 296, 354 Sharma, Jivesh 354 Sharp, Jim 225, 255 Sharp, Jodee 122, 158, 161, 251, 276 Sharp, Lauren 291 Sharp, Rosemary 378 Sharp, Stacie 378 Sharpe, Susan 363 Sharpton, Jim 246 Shaw, Robert 239 Shaw, Steven 378 Shaw, Tammi 363 Shea, Kathy 299 Shear, Carol 222, 223, 254 Sheets, Sandy 295 Sheets, Shirley 295 Sheffield, Carl 306, 317, 378 Sheperd, Steve 230, 231, 279 Sheppard, Cecilia 346 Shilling, Steve 292 Shirkey, Susie 292 Shobe, Cynthia 227 Shobert, Teddy 346 Shores, Susan 363 Shorthorn 290 Shortridge, Penny 220, 363 Shover, Cary 354 Shuffitt, Terri 378 Shum, Alice 346 Shum, Jane 346 Shuping, Raymond 378 Shurbet, Janice 346 Sigma Nu 246, 247 Sigma Phi Epsilon 248, 249 Silva, Apollo 378 Simants, Rick 266 Simmons, Melissa 233

Simms, Nancy 378 Simpson, Lester 331 Sims, John 363 Sims, Tracy 232 Singer, Jerry 354 Singletary, Cindy 232 Singleton, Jim 22, 230, 231 Singleton, Joellen 346 Sircle, Scott 291 Skarda, John 296 Skoczlas, Greg 228 Slabbaert, Mike 306 Slaten, Kent 378 Sledge, Jean 250 Sledge, John 228 Sledge, Susan 321, 378 Sleeper, Shelby 229 Small, Steve 378 Smith, Bennett 125 Smith, Billy 346 Smith, Carolyn 299 Smith, Catherine 224 Smith, Charles 322, 326, 329 Smith, Chris 241 Smith, Craig 230 Smith, Cynthia 224 Smith, Danny 188, 300 Smith, Dawn 354 Smith, Dean 378 Smith, Duane 292 Smith, Eric 290, 292 Smith, Freda 224 Smith, Gary 228, 229, 247, 250 Smith, Gilbert 194, 296, 306 Smith, Glinda 346 Smith, Gregory 239 Smith, Holly 378 Smith, Hunt 235, 378 Smith, Jeff 306 Smith, John 271 Smith, Julie 267 Smith, Kathy 363 Smith, Kyle 296 Smith, Lisa 378 Smith, Marci 363 Smith, Mark 242, 308 Smith, Melissa 378 Smith, Mike 275 Smith, Mindy 346 Smith, Mitzi 346 Smith, Paul 288 Smith, Paula 263 Smith, Phillips 266 Smith, Rick 240 Smith, Russell 266, 290 Smith, Sabrina 378 Smith, Scot 325 Smith, Scott 240 Smith, Shannon 232 Smith, Shelia 321, 378 Smith, Stephen 315, 327, 363 Smith, Teresa 184, 194, 304 Smith, Tim 323, 325, 327 Smith, Zabrina 125 Smithey, Jessica 378 Snavely, Jim 257 Snellings, Eugene 130 Snider, Susie 318, 321, 378 Snipes, Carol 251, 363 Snow, Terry 378 Snyder, Kelly 223, 363 Snyder, Lisa 263 Soch, Elizabeth 321, 346 Society of Physics Students 271 Society of Women Engineers 272 Sok, Peter 280 Sonntag, Michael 266 Sorelle, Bruce 241 Sorrells, Tamara 321, 363 Sosa, Raquel 363 Sousaves, Jerry 266 Southan, Brent 312, 378 Southan, Lorna 310 Spangler, Raymond 229 Sparkman, Alan 259 Sparks, Joy 220 Speed, Anita 378 Speed, Randy 294 Speer, Connie 76, 77, 79 Spence, David 346 Spencer, Ava Graham 72, 73, 76 Spencer, Jim 235 Spencer, Debbie 378 Spivy, Cathy 250

Spofford, James 378 Spradling, Cindy 192, 301, 354, 363 Spraggins, Noel 296 Springer, Chris 248 Sprinkle, Kelly 248 Srinivasan, Ramanujam 334 Stagner, Diana 378 Staman, Shannon 381 Stampley, Guy 130 Stanley, James 354 Stanley, Mike 241 Starkey, Teressa 308, 346 Starnes, Renee 346 Stautzenberger, Nick 240 Stead, Shane 54, 55 Stebler, Stasia 250, 381 Steele, Debora 346 Stefarini, Art 262, 354 Stephens, Bill 248, 323, 326, 329 Stephens, Grace 227 Stephens, Julia 381 Stephens, Julie 291 Stephens, Kyle 306 Stephens, Larry 249 Stephens, Thomas 346 Stevens, Kelli 381 Stevens, Stella 28, 30 Stevenson, Craig 249 Stevenson, Paul 315, 354 Stewart, Hal 296 Stewart, Jack 346 Stewart, Jeffery 172, 173, 174, 298 Stewart, Karen 381 Stewart, Phyliss 381 Stewart, Rita 363 Stibbens, Nancy 363 Stinson, Joe 247, 308 Stitzell, Martha 269 Stockton, J. C. 324, 326, 327 Stockton, Kyle 228 Stokes, Edward 381 Stone, Bobby 230, 231 Stone, Connie 381 Stoner, John 241 Stoner, Kena 321, 381 Stortz, John 313 Story, Nora 346 Stout, Danny 170 Stout, David 381 Stowe, Donna 354 Stowe, Dennis 257 T-3 Stowers, Renaldo 329 St. Pierre, Sharon 378 Strader, Jimmy 183, 305 Strain, Tina 220, 221, 229 Streett, David 266 Strickland, Eric 260 Strickland, Sharon 251 Strickland, Sue 263 Stroman, Theresa 346 Stroope, Cheryl 247 Stroube, Esthel 228, 229 Strunc, Mark 257 Struthers, Doug 298 Stuart, Marty 260 Stucker, Robert 355 Student Activities Board 284-287 Student Congress 276 Students for a Libertarian Society 130 Stull, Ernie 306 Sturgeon, Robert 355 Suggs, Brad 230 Suggs, Chris 242, 244 Suk, Hyangmi 280 Sulak, Donna 222, 355 Sulak, Lydia 346 Sullivan, Matthew 381 Sullivan, Valrie 238 Sumdani, Ghulam 335 Summerlin, Richard 257 Summers, Bruce 243 Summers, Steve 228 Sun, David 266 Sun, Ming-Ting 266 Sutphin, Greg 300 Sutter, Mark 363 Sutterfield, Richard 270 Swaim, David 381 Swaim, Phyllis 318 Swaner, Jan 286, 363 Swantek, Roger 328 Swartzfager, Andy 241 Sweet, Mike 242, 381 Swindle, Billy 355

Swope, Jeff 191, 240, 300, 355 Sye, Cassandra 355 Szabo, Mark 292 Sze, Jack 346

T

Tabani, Saquif 347 Tabor, Cathy 160, 243, 251, 355 Tackett, Shellie 381 Taddonio, Marc 240 Taeed, Shekoufeh 347 Talbott, Marc 296 Talley, Gary 381 Tan, Filemon 381 Tanasaleh, Budhi 355 Tanasaleh, Nany 347 Tanasaleh, Widyanto 355 Tarrant, Al 229 Tate, Kathleen 347 Tau Beta Sigma 273 Taylor, Beth 232 Taylor, Deena 290 Taylor, Don 194, 265, 306 Taylor, Elizabeth 381 Taylor, Jim 248 Taylor, Lisa 381 Taylor, Renee 227 Taylor, Richard 363 Taylor, Samuel 381 Taylor, Tina 381 Taylor, William 355 Teahouse of the August Moon 82 Tedder, Bill 246 Teh, Po-Lin 355 Teh, Po-Tan 355 Telford, Randy 324 Telligman, Terrence 235, 308, 329, 355 Tennis 198, 199 Ternay, Andrew 116 Terrell, Mandy 273, 355 Terrell, Thomas 313 Thedford, Shirley 347 Theta Zeta Chi 289 Thiem, Dolly 29 Thimm, Tammy 291, 381 Thomas, Carlene 381 Thomas, Carol 263 Thomas, Jim 243 Thomas, Maurice 309 Thomas, Meagan 263, 347 Thomas, Michael 381 Thomas, Ron 239 Thomas, Sheri 251, 256 Thomas, Theresa 347 Thomas, Travis 347 Thomas, Willie 166, 236 Thomason, Jamalyn 381 Thomason, Jim 310, 355 Thompson, Adrienne 381 Thompson, B. C. 117 Thompson, Duncan 306 Thompson, Janet 355 Thompson, Marion 236, 296 Thompson, Nancy 381 Thompson, Oscar 266 Thompson, Susan 251 Thompson, William 381 Thorne, Cynthia 381 Thornton, Terry 266 Thorp, Charles 266 Thorpe, Randy 188, 300 Threet, Randy 331, 381 Thurmond, Heidi 381 Thurston, Timothy 381 Tibbets, Trey 243 Tichenor, Russell 288, 347 Tichenor, Russell 288, 347 Tidwell, Renee 257 Tiernan, Jo Beth 288 Tiernan, Lou 288 Tillinghast, Engela 355 Timofte, Daniel 355 Timpson, Pamela 363 Tingle, Bill 292 Tingle, Randhi 292 Tinsley, Betsi 295 Todd, Debbie 257, 347 Toland, Elizabeth 227, 235 Tolar, Dale 266 Toler, Philip 381 Tomanek, Becky 288 Tompkins, Mark 242

Tong, Dale 381 Tong, Lik-Fu 381 Toro, Vic 300 Torrez, Hector 281, 363 Torti, Russell 335 Townsend, Scott 324, 327, 329 Track Cross Country 194-197, 306 Trask, Don 325 Trautman, Michael Lane 14 Traynham, Karen 273 Trembley, Marshall 137 Tremmel, Ramona 381 Trenshaw, Bill 235 Tressler, Valerie 222, 276 Tribble, David 381 Trinity Dorm Council 313 Trostel, Lydia 157, 244, 245, 254, 277 Trotter, Lanette 381 Trotter, Morgan 381 Trotter, Tammy 233, 255 Truesdale, Nedra 238, 274 Truex, Glenn 325 Truitt, G. A. 266 Trussell, Ricky 300 Tseng, Joseph 266 Tucker, Gary 381 Tucknies, Chervl 221 Tullos, Sherry 347 Tunnell, Janna 233 Tunnell, Larry 256 Tunstill, Kay 222, 223 Turner, Brent 335 Turner, Guy 381 Turner, Nancy 321, 355 Tuyet, Mai 272 Twilighten, Sevn 315, 363 Tyler, Velma 381

U

Ullmann, Shelly 286 Umana, Maria 232 Underwood, Greg 154, 226, 241, 276 University Flying Club 294 Upchurch, Brent 235 Urbina, Ed 200 V

Vacker, Barry 291, 347 Vaden, Rusty 42 Valdez, Irma 127 Valentine, John 242 Valentine, Mike 229 Valentine, Patti 233, 234 Van, John 184 Van Blarcun, Allen 284 Vance, Barbara 381 Vandenburg, Steve 202, 307 Vann, Robert 284, 355 Van Noy, Susan 250, 381 Van Zandt, K. M. 264 Varner, Miles 73, 74, 75 Varrichio, Mike 228 Vasquez, Manual 347 Vastine, Kathy 232 Vates, Larry 324 Vaughan, Deborah 321, 381 Vaughn, Robert 325, 326, 327 Vaughn, Steve 247, 308 Vecchio, Christie 257 Vecera, Anne 288 Vecera, Jimmy 288 Vecera, Nancy 288 Vecera, Teresa 288 Vega, Abe 287 Velez, Yvonne 381 Velu, Gita 263 Venugopal, Shetty 335 Vercera, Nancy 381 Verive, Greg 288 Verive, Mike 288 Vernon, Eric 381 Veselka, Lisa 321, 381 Vickers, Darrell 355 Vigus, Rose 347 Villalba, Iran 381 Villalba, Jorge 300, 347 Vina, Lori 363 Vineyard, Nancy 355 Vineyard, Teresa 244 Vinnes, Doug 347 Voelker, Steven 316 Voight, Greg 247 Vokes, Mark 225 Volk, Linda 381

Von Der Heide, Ann 272 Vredenburg, Teresa 381

W

Wade, John 296 Wages, Joel 325 Wagner, Chuck 160, 223, 248 Waldrup, Kari 222 Walker, Dorothy 295 Walker, Gary 300 Walker, James 313, 323, 325, 327, 381 Walker, Jerry Jeff 66 Walker, Karen 250 Walker, Lens 266 Walker, Lovell 363 Walker, Mike 324, 327, 329 Walker, Randy 325 Walker, Sylven 355 Walkup, Mark 363 Wallace, David 252 Wallace, Jim 381 Wallis, Marc 381 Walsh, Pat 249 Walsh, Rhonda 248 Walters, Bradford 266 Walters, Joel 228 Walton, Ivan Oswald 261 Walton, Sidney 363 Wan, Chee-Chun 266 Ward, Larry 262, 347 Ward, Patrick 355 Wardlow, Sue 381, 232 Warner, Barbara 256 Warnock, Lanette 355 Warren, Dwayne 296 Warren, Mark 249 Warren, Tisha 381 Washburn, Cindy 221, 363 Washington, John 268 Washington, Mary 227, 321, 381 Wasson, David 355 Watkins, Diane 381 Watson, Katherine 381 Watson, Kristi 229, 250 Watson, Laura 159, 250, 277 Watson, Sharon 273, 318 Watts, Annette 381

Wauken, Sanford 381 Weant, Susanne 347 Weaver, Brad 228, 253, 308, 347 Webb, Barbara 321, 381 Webb, Patti 222 Webb, Ray 296 Webb, Shirley 355 Webb, Stephenne 244, 245, 308 Webb, William 347 Weber, Joel 289 Weber, John 266 Webster, Derie 381 Webster, Karin 381 Webster, Madison 363 Weedon, Laura 263 Weeks, David 355 Weideman, William 266 Weigand, Sarah 279 Weiss, Courtney 267, 278 Weist, Jon 290, 292 Welborn, Curtis 381 Welborne, Laura 381 Welch, Kelli 232 Welch, Kenneth 347 Welch, Suzy 256 Weldon, Richard 158 Weller, Lee 257 Welnack, Brian 305 Werdman, Kim 222, 381 Werdman, Mike 223 Wernli, Connie 233, 286 Werth, Ron 259 Wesson, Jeffrey 315, 381 Wesson, Marilyn 363 West, Bill 256 West, Karen 381 West, Randal 381 Wester, Gerald 282 Westfall, Diana 347 Westover, Lana 113 Wetmore, Nancy 381 Whaley, Diann 263, 347 Whatley, James 265 White, Donald 296 White, Floyce 130 White, Francis 266 White, Harry 306 White, Kevin 261 White, Laurie 303 White, Leslie 289, 381

White, Louann 347 White, Stephanie 244 White, Theresa 299 White, Thomas 266 White, Tony 228 Whitley, Gary 228, 250 Whitmire, Laura 321, 363 Whitton, Rebecca 363 Whitty, Therese 363 Whorton, David 68 Who's Who 148 Wicker, Sherri 227 Wickham, Billy 289 Wieder, Marty 363 Wiegand, Sarah 355 Wierzbicki, Stanley 381 Wigfall, Adam 324, 330 Wiggins, Matt 306 Wigley, Teresa 220, 248 Wilbanks, Bob 229, 298 Wilburn, Fred 188, 300 Wilcox, Dale 73, 74, 75 Wiley, Ken 253 Wiley, Robyn 381 Wilheim, Keith 249 Wilkes, Joyce 224, 347 Wilkins, Mark 267, 347 Wilkinson, Glenn 310, 312, 355 Williams, Angela 274, 355 Williams, Brent 381 Williams, Byron 236, 296 Williams, Charles 347 Williams, Craig 229, 381 Williams, Danny 236, 255, 296 Williams, Deana 347 Williams, Don 298 Williams, Douglas 381 Williams, Elizabeth 244, 245 Williams, Erskine 347 Williams, Eunice 355 Williams, Heather 381 Williams, James Paul Edward 261, 363 Williams, Karen 381 Williams, Mark 363 Williams, Mike 296, 324, 327 Williams, Steve 247 Williams, Susan 244, 245, 355 Williams, Terry 241 Williams, Tokola 363 Williams, Vickey 355 Williams, Wendell 71

Williamson, Glenn 305 Williamson, Nancy 304 Williamson, Robert 381 Willis, Donald 325, 326 Willis, Doug 252 Willis, Ken 355 Willis, Thressia 274 Wills, Sally 244 Wilson, Bob 294 Wilson, Charles 347 Wilson, Chuck 243 Wilson, Darrel 228 Wilson, Gary 266 Wilson, Glen 347 Wilson, John 296 Wilson, Johnnie 266 Wilson, Karyn 220 Wilson, Kimberly 347 Wilson, Mark 347 Wilson, Ruth 245, 355 Wilson, Terry 256, 347 Wilson, Tom 288 Wilson, Wayne 230, 231 Wincovitch, Evan 347 Winder, Melissa 250 Windle, Rickie 292 Wingard, Vicki 220 Winklosky, Donna 363 Winters, D'Ann 318 Wise, Margaret 347 Withers, Dick 230 Witherspoon, Cynthia 263, 381 Witt, Thomas 26 Witteaker, Danny 298 Wnorski, Jan 245, 355 Wolf, Amy 289 Wolff, Gary 335 Wolff, Lynn 282, 283 Wolverton, David 262 Womack, Elsa 347 Womble, Persis 78 Women's Basketball 180, 181, 299 Women's Fair 28, 29, 30 Women's Softball 192, 193, 301 Women's Volleyball 304 Wood, Beverly 355 Wood, Jackie 250 Wood, Larry 347 Wood, Stanley 266 Woodall, Don 257 Woodard, Morgan 40 Woodard, Steve 363

Woods, John 381 Woods, Ken 381 Woods, Neel 157 Woods, Thearsbomh 355 Woods, Yvette 262, 279 Woody, Brett 241 Woolen, Debra 224 Wooley, Marilyn 291 Woolley, Charles 355 Wordinger, Susan 381 Workman, Ralph 335 Worley, Charlene 347 Worley, Joe 306 Worley, Tobi 347 Wortham, Quale 347 Worthington, Susan 347 Worthy, Mark 241 Woy, Bucky 88 Wright, Andrea 321, 363 Wright, Bobby 229 Wright, Cynthia 381 Wright, Edwina 301 Wright, Greg 170, 296 Wright, James 292 Wright, Jim 85 Wright, Julie 381 Wright, Linda 180, 181, 195, 299, 355 Wright, Peggy 347 Wright, Rafe 296 Wright, Robert 381 Wright, Roger 363 Wright, Steve 306 Wright, Tony 347 Wu, Hsi-Chi 266 Wyatt, Anthony 355 Wyatt, James 381 Wynn, Shari 355 Wynn, Sharon 263, 347

X

Xiques, Angelica 363 Xiques, Daisey 363

Yancey, Rhonda 222

Photo by Don Corzine

Yancy, Lisa 363 Yank, Young 381 Yankee, Lee 222 Yarbrough, Portia 381 Yates, Kay 355 Yates, Molly 227, 254, 289, 381 Yau-Chung, Lin 266 Ybarra, Patricia 381 Yeans, David 329 Yeats, Lea Ann 381 Yentzen, Monika 76 Yielding, Aaron 355 Yim, John 324, 326 Yim, Lo Wah 272 Yong, Ha Sun Park 280 York, David 296 Yosten, Suzy 363 Young, Ben 296 Young, Brenda 251, 363 Young, Robert 285, 363 Young Socialists Alliance 130 Young, Steve 296 Young, Tammy 322, 381 Young, Teresa 381 Young, Yolanda 381 Youngblood, Stacey 184, 304 Yu, I-Hsiang 266

Ζ

Zacharia, Christian 266 Zahn, Brad 268 Zainal, Abulmone 355 Zaindin, Abdulla 347 Zamaripa, Debra 281, 381 Zantout, Lydia 265 Zeevi, Josef 266 Zeta Phi Beta 214, 238 Zeta Tau Alpha 250, 251 Ziegler, Kathy 226, 227 Ziegler, Kristi 226 Zimmerman, Karl 242 Zubriski, Felicia 355 Zucherman, Ester 347 Zuiss, Thomas 266

IN MEMORY OF

The other day I felt a memory It went tripping softly 'cross my mind And it made me smile Just for a while It was one of the mellow kind

Love, it seems, just comes and goes Like dew on a morning flower It comes along And then it's gone Leaving memories behind

The other day I felt a memory I held it gently in my hands And I had to cry When I wondered why It had to be a memory at all.

> — "Memories" by Andrew Schlee

Memories, the stuff of yearbooks. Born of endings, memories visit us in moments of solitude, in times of loneliness. Loss breathes life into the past and it returns for a little while letting us measure value and worth.

The passing of things cherished, of things loved, hated, feared — everything has a point of completion. An ending. Jobs, college, relationships, Life.

Death. It's perhaps the single greatest creator of memories that we will ever know. When it hurls itself into our lives, we grasp at the past to hold on to the person who's been taken from us. And while it may see a macabre ending for a yearbook, there's an important irony in death that we seldom realize. Simply put, it's in our loss that we are able to measure our progress. A "sinner" dies and the world seems better for it. A "saint" dies and the world, in its grief, is made aware of how much it had progressed because of that person.

It works that way on a more personal level, too. And just because the whole world never heard of someone named Helen Jenkins doesn't mean that it wasn't bettered by her having lived in it.

In the past year we lost sinners and saints alike, and many who fell somewhere in between:

— Chester Bitterman III, UTA student working on his MA in linguistics. Kidnapped and killed by terrorists in Colombia.

— Anastasio Somoza Debayle, President of Nicaragua, assassinated in exile.

— William O. Douglas, former Supreme Court Justice.

- H. A. D. Dunsworth, professor emeritus, former UTA math professor.

— Jimmy Durante, actor.

Frank Erwin, former UT regent.
Don Freiwald, UTA management professor.

- Martin Hall, UTA history professor, murdered.

- Alfred Hitchcock, master of suspense.

- Helen Jenkins, retired UTA switchboard operator.

- Thomas Kennerly, UTA biology pro-

And each one there had one thing shared. They had sweated beneath the same sun, Looked up in wonder at the same moon, And wept when it was all done For being done too soon, Being done too soon.

— "Done too Soon"

by Neil Diamond

fessor.

- Aleksei Kosygin, Soviet prime minister.

- Allard Lowenstein, former liberal congressman, murdered.

— John Lennon, musician/poet, murdered.

- Steve McQueen, actor.

- George Meany, president AFL-CIO.

— Jesse Owens, olympian.

— Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, twice Shah of Iran

— Judd Ramsey, former UTA assistant football coach.

- C. D. "Rattlesnake" Richards, former UTA history professor.

- Jean-Paul Sartre, philospher.

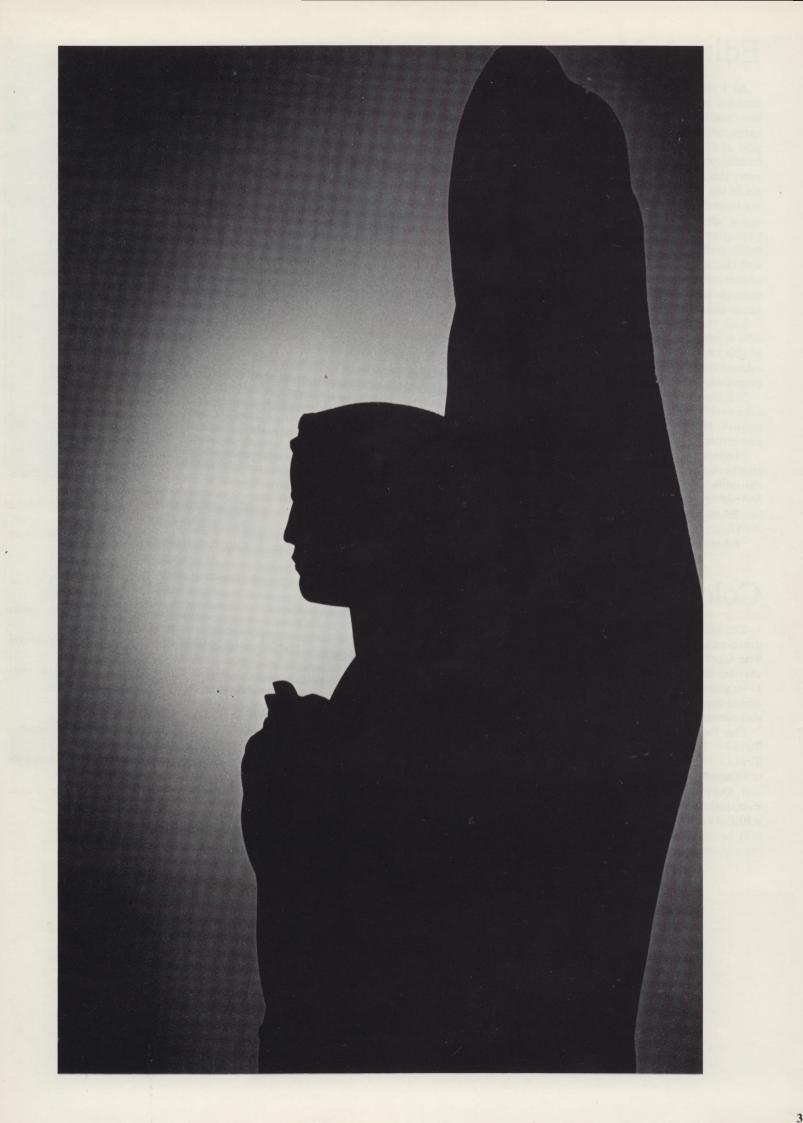

- Peter Sellers, actor.

- Richard Slaughter, professor emeritus, former UTA drama professor.

- Willie "the actor" Sutton, bank robber.

— Josip Broz Tito, President of Yugoslavia.

- Mae West, blond bombshell.

Editor's Note

As I reflect on my past four years as a member of the Reveille staff. I can recall the deadlines, layouts, thousands of pictures, articles, interviews and much more that at the time seemed like too much to handle, yet not enough to work with. However, the staff always pulled together and made the book more special and outstanding than the year before. It is only fitting to say a special thanks to all the staff and photographers who spent endless hours making this book unique. To Debbie Hall and Dorothy Estes, thanks so much for the opportunity to experiment and grow throughout my four years and for the never-ending support you gave.

Like the past yearbooks, the 1981 Reveille is just a reflection of the life and time of this campus — its students, faculty and administration in trying to deal with the progression of a busy yet chaotic world.

We, the 1981 Reveille staff, have tried to take careful measures in avoiding spelling, picture placement, identification, etc. If any errors do exist, we apologize.

I hope as you read and look through this yearbook, you will realize that through all the activities, we as a body grew and learned more about ourselves and about our fellow man.

 Diann M. Whaley Editor

Colophon

The 1981 Reveille is printed on 80 pound dull-coated enamel stock, 9x12 format. The binding is rounded back and Smyth stitched on a standard stock vinyl material.

Headline, body copy and captions are Times Roman and division page, title page and contents are Lublin type.

The Reveille is printed and bound by Taylor Publishing Company, Dallas, Texas.

©Copyrighted by Debra Hall, adviser, and Dorothy Estes, Director of Student Publications. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED. No part of this publication may be reproduced in any manner without the express consent of the above named.

Editor — Diann Whaley Layout editor — Steve Kennedy Organizations editor — Kim Counts Photo advisers - Evans Caglage, Mike Smith Copy, layout adviser — Debbie Hall Photo coordinators — Ron Kneebone, Patricia Miles Writers - Dick Collier, Carla Adams, Jon Weist, Rickie Windle. Contributing writers - Michael Phillips, Mike Hashimoto, Brent Southen, John Moritz. Photogrpahers — Craig Fujii, Wade Gates, Don Corzine, Marc Wallis. Contributing photographers - Sue Pyle, Donna Bagby, Bruce Davis, Miguel Casanova, Ben Hatch, Marian Massey, Steve Ellis, Steve Dunning. Assistants - Benny Ferro, Cindy Johnson, Jere Bromley, Sue Johnson, Tammy Thimm. Production and graphics - Connie Carver, Erwin Sherman, Marilyn Wooley.

