PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS
OF

NORTH TEXAS
AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

ARLINGTON,
TEXAS

Dedication

To George L. Dickey, a man of dignity, culture, and lofty ideals whose active interest in the advancement of North Texas Agricultural College has endeared him in the hearts of the student body . . . to him with high esteem and affection this, the thirteenth edition of the Junior Aggie, is dedicated.

Reveille

We have endeavored in this volume to embody some of the finer achievements, ideals, and activities of the college year 1934-1935 at the North Texas Agricultural College . . . an accomplishment that we hope will reveal some of the personality and beauty of our campus life.

T. O. WALTON

President of A. & M. System

The student leaving college today will enter a social and economic world where uneasiness, uncertainty, and insecurity prevail. The values we have known have been largely discounted and the old order is either passing or is passing through a stage of change, readjustment, and reorganization. The new way is uncharted. New economic and social values have not been appraised, nor the order established. These factors have resulted in throwing the most thoughtful of our citizens into a state of confusion but they constitute a challenge to clear thinking, and clear thinking is possible only for men and women who have trained and disciplined minds; therefore, it becomes imperative for young men and women to make all necessary sacrifices in order to provide themselves with opportunities for physical and mental growth and culture of the highest quality.

T. O. WALTON

Dean of College

Punctuality is written into the divine order. The sun and the moon rise and set promptly on schedule time—never a second too early or too late. Punctuality has all the force of a natural law and he who transgresses its rules can not escape the penalties. Without punctuality success is doomed and failure becomes supreme. Punctuality should be the most emphatic word in all the rules of self-discipline. There is much virtue in the prompt response to reveille and retreat. Habits of promptness in meeting one's business, social, and moral duties are among the chief rewards for those who profit most from military regimentation.

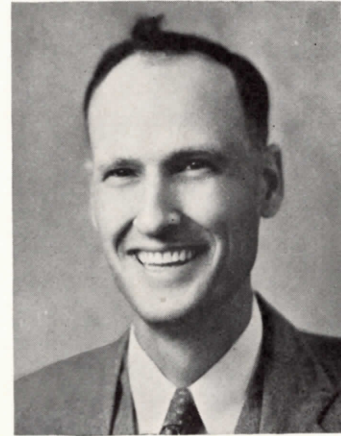

E. E. DAVIS

There are two good reasons why every boy who has the opportunity should take military training. (1) The physical, mental, and social discipline obtained give him a distinct advantage in dealing with his fellow man throughout life. His physical appearance and bearing, his mental alertness to receiving instructions and giving orders, and his knowledge of organizing and leading men set him apart from the common herd. (2) In case of war—and we wish all nations were ready to practice the Golden Rule—the man who has had some military training has every advantage. He knows better how to take care of himself. He fills the places of leadership and greatest service. Finally, he gets the plaudits of his fellow man after the conflict is over which accrues to his advantage in business and professional life.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Davis, E. E., Chairman; Dickey, George L.; Bickel, D. A.; Hudspeth, J. E.; Lipscomb, Ina; Dayton, Julian; Hughes, W. L.; Lynch, S. A.; Ransom, W. A.; Stone, M. C.

INA LIPSCOMB
Dean of Women

The North Texas Agricultural College is an institution with many departments, and these functioning together, harmoniously, make the unified whole.

One of the very effective and essential units of our College is its fine Cadet Corps whose work continuously reflects credit on itself and its leaders. Another equally important part of the institution is the very fine group of young women who rank along with the cadets in scholarship, loyalty, and efficiency.

Ina Lipscomb.

COMMANDANT

CAPTAIN JULIAN DAYTON
Commandant of Cadets

The outstanding loyalty and support given to me by the officers and cadets of this corps will always be remembered with appreciation and pleasure. Should I ever have occasion to participate in war, I hope that my companions will be of as fine a quality of American manhood.

JULIAN DAYTON

REGIMENTAL STAFF

After a military unit becomes so large that the commander cannot direct it through personal supervision, then there is a need for a staff to assist him.

A regimental commander's duties are primarily those of command and supervision of all activities of the Regiment. He is responsible for the theoretical and practical training of his Regiment. In all these requirements Colonel Strange has shown himself a capable commander, extracting the best from every member of the entire Regiment.

The cadet corps has gained much through the cooperation of each member of this staff.

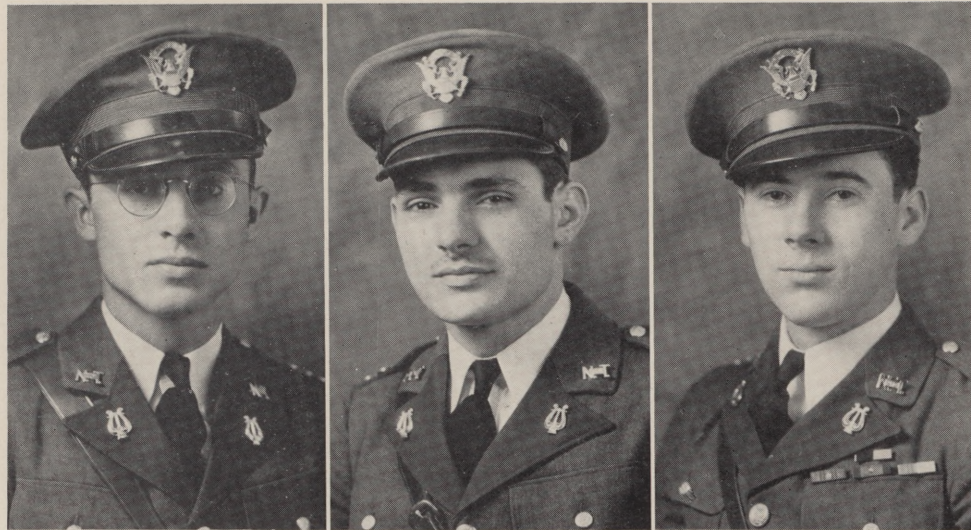

COLONEL JOHN STRANGE
N. T. A. C., R. O. T. C.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Hughes, W. L., Chairman; Lynch, S. A.; Eagleton, Ethie; Preston, Joe B.; Murchison, John T., a member, is not in the picture.

The Athletic Council is composed of five members of the teaching faculty, appointed each year by the Dean and Associate Dean of the college.

The duties of this council are to make such general regulations as are necessary, such recommendations to the faculty as they deem expedient, and to consider all recommendations submitted by the Athletic Director. The council has general supervision of all athletics at the college during the school year.

This year the council under the able leadership of Mr. W. L. Hughes has performed in an admirable manner, and it is hoped that through their efforts the Athletic Department will continue to grow as in the past.

FOOTBALL

Head Coach

Last year was Coach Lambert's first at N. T. A. C. As head football coach, he succeeded in implanting in his team those traits which are necessary to a team of championship caliber. This year with a thorough knowledge of the game and of his players he turned out a team which went through the season undefeated in conference competition.

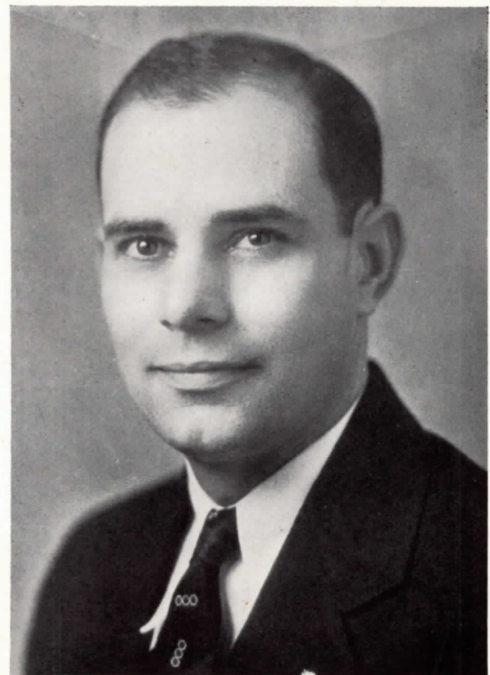

With his men he is patient and friendly but is ever firm, and he always demands the highest type of sportsmanship; it is through his leadership and example that the Aggies this year won such an enviable record for clean play and sportsmanship.

H. A. D. DUNSWORTH
Line Coach

As line coach Mr. Dunsworth is largely responsible for the football team's fine showing this year. The fundamentals in which he drilled the linemen served them in good stead and enabled them to finish the year with flying colors.

In addition to his aid in turning out a championship football team, he has full charge of N. T. A. C.'s track aspirants, and though it is not well known, the Aggies have a track team to be proud of. Two of its members hold conference records, and the team as a whole is always a fine one.

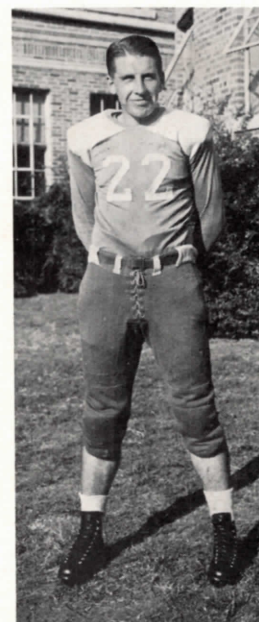

In 1929 the Junior Aggies won the Junior College football championship with wins against Wichita Falls, Paris, and Gainesville Junior Colleges. It was then a small conference. Since then the conference and N. T. A. C. have grown with the times, and in the season of 1934-35 we find that the Aggies again have annexed the crown. During the preceding season they drilled on fundamentals and perfected their team play so well that at the beginning of the current season they were already far superior to their conference opponents.

N. T. A. C. won the conference championship by virtue of victories over Weatherford, Decatur Baptist, and Ranger Junior Colleges. The season ended with the 0-0 tie played with John Tarleton, leaving N. T. A. C. a game ahead of her old rival.

To be the best in anything requires courage, ambition, skill, and the will to win. Our team this year had these traits and they and their coaches have our sincere congratulations.

N. T. A. C. opened the season with the Texas A. and I. Javelinas at Kingsville. The Javelinas, representing a senior college, beat the Hornets 7-6 in desperately contested game. Later in the season this team from Kingsville played Texas A. and M. to a 7-7 tie, thus showing what brand of football the Aggies played in going down to a 7-6 defeat.

WESLEY BOYER was the team's captain. As a halfback his play was outstanding. As a captain his leadership and personality were vital to the team's success. He was chosen on the All - Conference Second Team and is co-captain elect next year.

The following week Wesley College was taken into camp by the score of 25-12. After the Aggie starters gained a decisive lead, the second team was sent in so that all could have as much actual playing experience as possible before the conference season began. By this time the team was rapidly rounding into shape and was playing in mid-season form.

In their first conference game of the season, the N. T. A. C. Aggies opened their championship drive with a hard fought 6-0 victory over the Weatherford Junior College Coyotes at Weatherford. The Coyotes put up a stubborn defense and it was not until the third quarter that the Hornets were able to break through with the lone score of the game.

The Aggies entertained the Simmons Freshman team on the home field the following week. Prepping for the game with Paris Junior College, N. T. A. C. won handily from the Frosh by a score of 9-0.

LEONARD APPLETON, a tackle, was one of the most dependable men on the team. In a goal line stand or a last minute rally he could be counted on to put forth his best efforts to turn the tide.

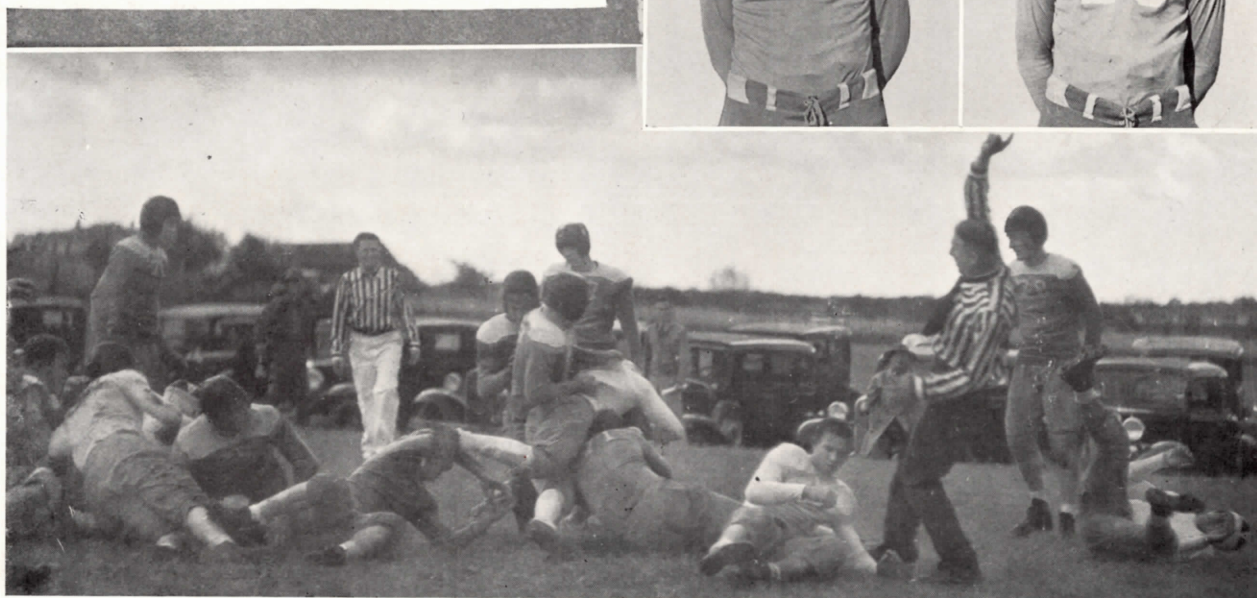

WALLY BEARDEN, a first year man whose vicious drives carried him into first choice as All-Central Texas Conference fullback. Many hopes are being pinned on him for next year.

CARROLL COUNTS, a squadman of last year whose fine defensive plan won him a berth at tackle on the All-Conference second team. He was aggressive and played his position admirably.

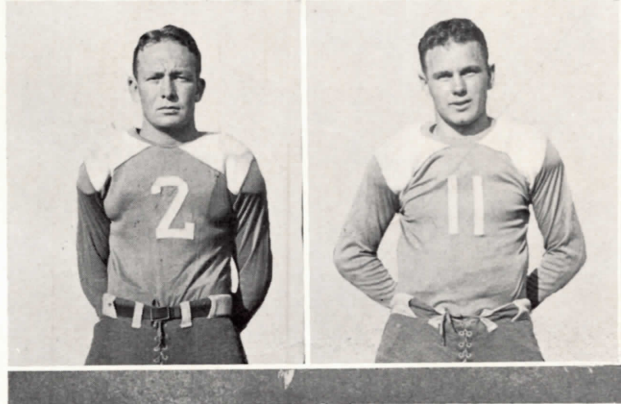

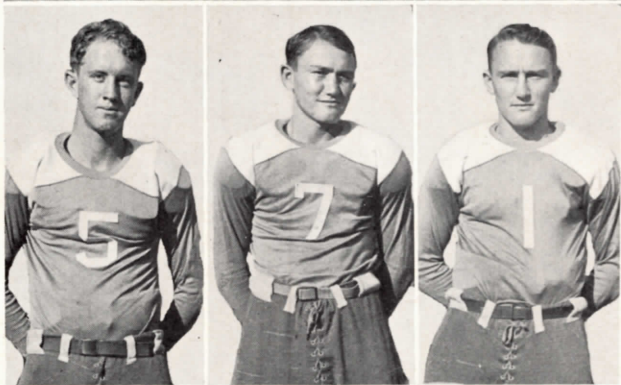

MADISON COUNTS was on the squad last year. This season he earned the reputation of playing most of the time in the enemy's backfield. He was outstanding as a defensive guard.

WILLIE CURIK, who was one of last year's outstanding tackles, this season lived up to his reputation and turned in an enviable record. After experiencing his ability, opposing quarterbacks concentrated on positions other than his.

Pope plunging across the goal line in the game with Wesley College.

Joe Elder on a touchdown jaunt against Decatur.

FRANK DELK, a first year man whose fine defensive play at end was greatly responsible for the team's fine showing. Always alert and ready to take advantage of the breaks, he was indispensable.

JAMES ELDER, a valuable reserve halfback last year, was even more valuable this season. More of an asset than a liability was his slight stature which, coupled with his speed, aided him in his long jaunts down the field.

JOE ELDER, another reserve halfback last season whose play was characterized by fine defensive work and a fighting spirit at all times.

EARL HUNTER played halfback last year, but this year was chosen for the difficult quarterback position. His excellent choice of plays and his educated toe were vital factors in the team's success.

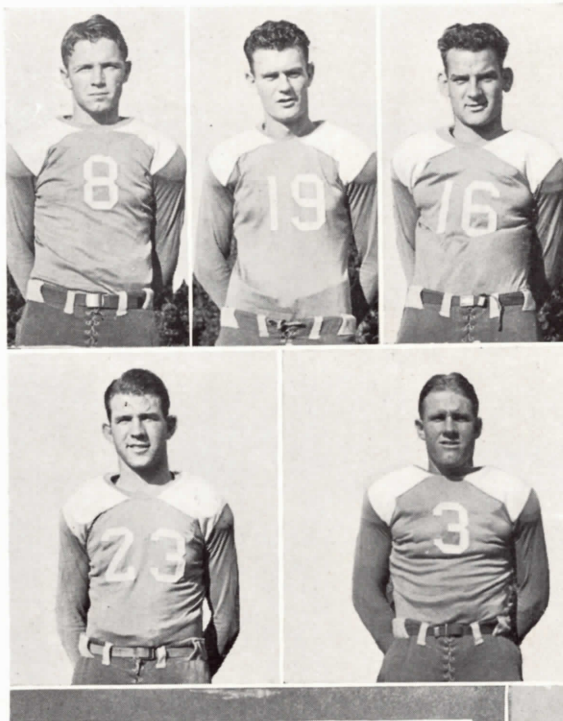

NOLAN JACKSON, an end last year, was converted into halfback and played a versatile game both offensively and defensively. He was a fine broken field runner and was extremely difficult to stop. On pass defense, he had no peer.

The Paris Junior College Dragons defeated the Hornets 9-7 at Paris, October 19th. A blocked kick resulted in 2 points and a safety for the Dragons. The Aggies relied on a trick injury play for their touchdown. With only three minutes left to play, Paris scored a touchdown, making the final score 9-7.

N. T. A. C. beat the Howard Payne Frosh by the score of 33-0. The Aggies appeared to be taking a much needed rest; consequently the game was slow and uninteresting.

The Texas University B team was the next to go down in defeat against the fighting Aggies. Winning by a score of 14-0, the Hornets defeated the Texas team on their own field, thus duplicating the beating N. T. A. C. gave them last year in Arlington.

L. T. LEWIS was last season's reserve center who this year took command of that position and turned in an excellent full season record. His consistent passing from center reduced fumbles in the backfield to a minimum and enabled the punters to get their kicks off in good time.

CURTIS MILLER lettered at end last season and was back stronger than ever this year. He was an excellent pass receiver and many touchdowns and rallies were inspired by his ability to "hold on to the ball."

C. H. MARTIN, a fullback who was noted for his line plunges and his powerful off-tackle drives. He could always be depended upon to give a good account of himself.

PHOEBE PHYTHIAN played offensive guard and backed up the line on defense. His ability in diagnosing plays, his superb defensive play, and his fighting spirit won him a place on the All-Central Texas Conference team. As a line-backer, he was the best in the conference.

WOODROW POPE, reserve full and half-back, played a consistent and well-rounded game. He was outstanding as a hard, fast runner, and was hard to stop once he got started.

James Elder making a nice gain

The following week Decatur was swamped to the tune of 51-0. Unable to score in the first quarter, N. T. A. C. began to click in the second and held a 21-0 lead at the end of the first half. This was the Aggies' second conference victory.

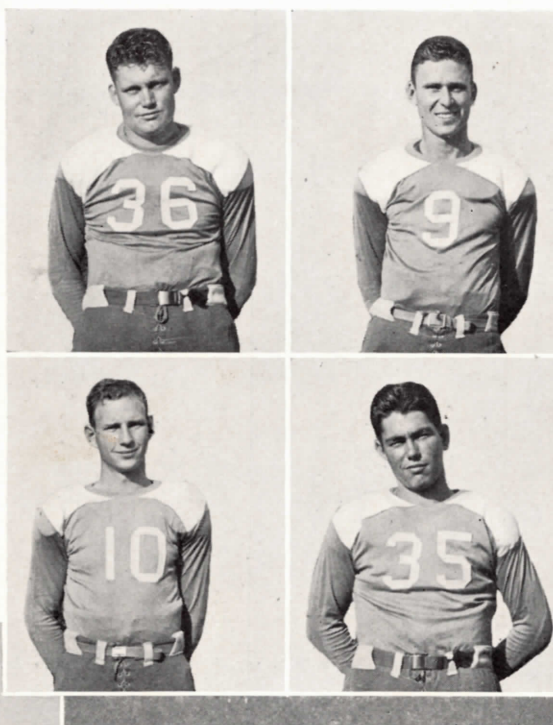

The Aggies plowed through mud as well as a fighting Ranger team November 17th, at Ranger, to win by a score of 39-6. The winning of this game, played on a rain-soaked and slippery field, placed the Hornets in sole possession of the top rung of the conference ladder. John Tarleton, their nearest rival, lost a game to Weatherford, so that even a tie with the Plowboys on Thanksgiving Day would result in a championship for N. T. A. C.

The Hornets took the Denton Teachers Frosh in their stride Wednesday, November 21st. Realizing that this was their last game before meeting Tarleton, the Aggies WOODROW STEPHENSON, the largest man on the squad, looked even larger to opposing ball carriers who tried to gain through his side of the line. Blockers found it impossible to take him out. He was in every play and his fine defensive work was a vital factor in the winning of many games.

TOM SVADLENAK, co-captain elect for next year, was so outstanding this season that he was chosen as one of the All-Central Texas Conference Second Team tackles. He was noted for his brilliant defensive play and fine offensive blocking.

in the Howard Payne Frosh game.

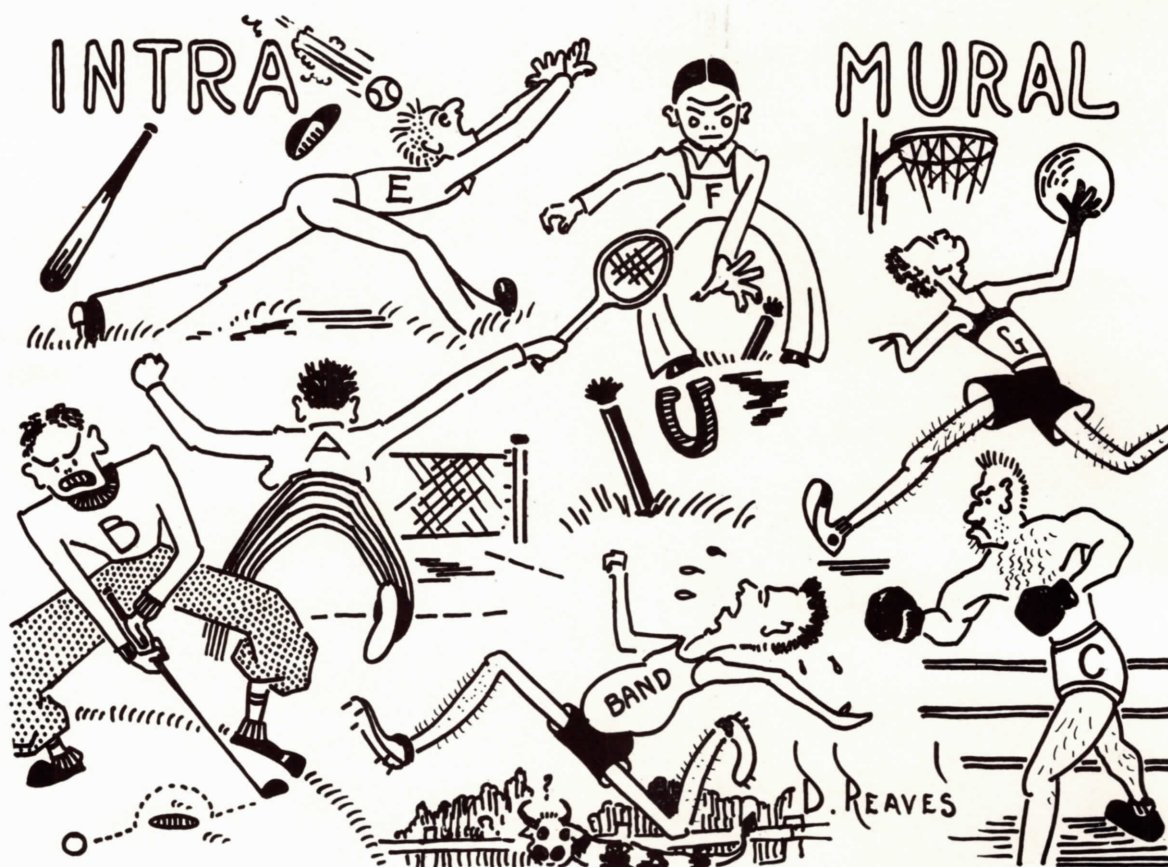

ROBERT VAUGHAN is a first year man who proved himself so well at end that he started many games and played in many more. He was famous for getting down on punts and nailing the receiver in his tracks.

WALLACE (WIMPY) WIMBISH was a first year man and one of the largest men on the squad. At tackle he was noted for his splendid defensive play. His ability in breaking through and stopping plays before they were well started was unsurpassable.

settled down to business and defeated the Freshmen 34-0. By this decisive victory they proved their readiness for that game of games with John Tarleton.

On Thanksgiving Day the Corps accompanied their team to Stephenville for the game which would decide whether or not N. T. A. C. should be undisputed champions. Unfortunately the day was rather cold and a light rain was falling. The field was muddy, and Tarleton with a heavier team held the advantage on the slippery field. For four quarters they battled up and down the field. Passing was too dangerous with the slippery ball, and the game resolved itself into a punting duel. The lighter Aggies soundly outplayed the Plowboys and deserved the championship which the 0-0 game with Tarleton brought them.

INTRA-MURAL SPORTS

Intra-mural sports are planned for recreation and exercise for boys who haven't time, ability, or inclination to participate in intercollegiate athletics. In addition to their recreational and health-building advantages, these sports teach on a large scale the sense of cooperation, loyalty, and teamwork which are so essential in our everyday lives. In addition they develop coordination and build healthy bodies to make us more competent and able to perform our daily tasks.

So numerous are the sports on the intra-mural program that any boy can find one which suits him. The list of intra-mural sports for this year includes playground ball, tennis, golf, horseshoes, cross country, basketball free throw, volleyball, boxing, wrestling, track, touch football, and basketball.

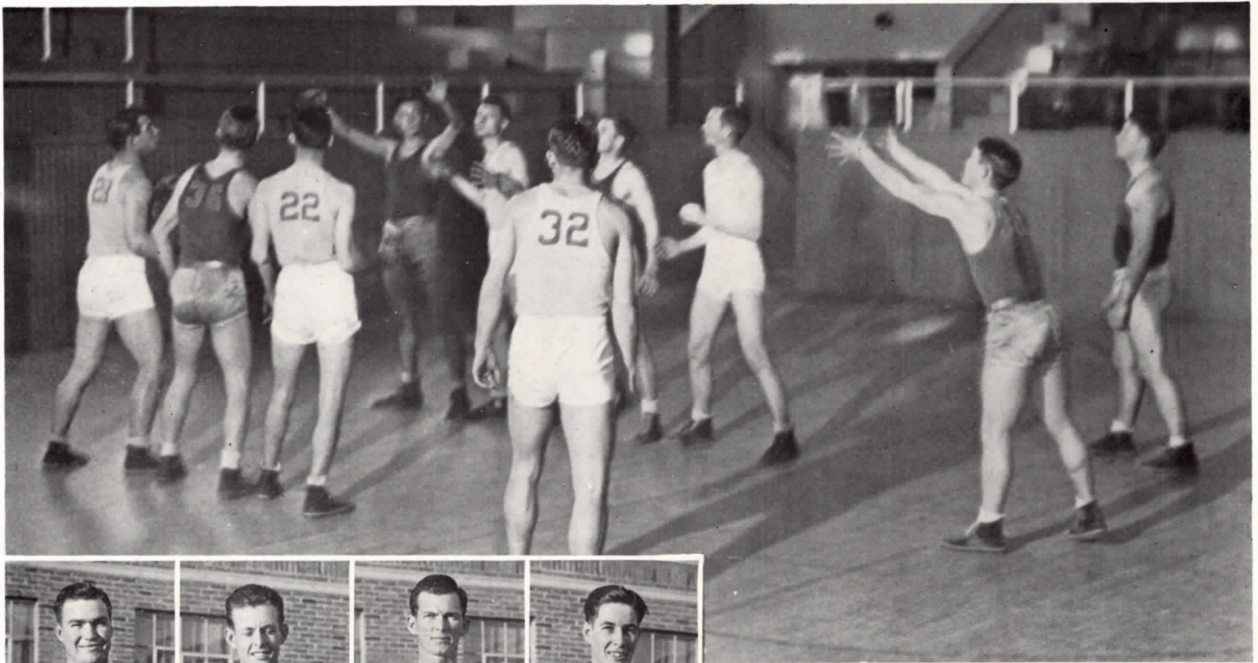

As an incentive to induce as many as possible to participate, the program is conducted on a point basis with prizes which are awarded to the individual and to the company with the greatest number of points at the end of the year. Each individual is given a stated number of points for entering each event as well as for placing in it. Companies are awarded points for each member entering in various events and for the places which the members might win.

Rivalry between the companies is keen, and the games are always hotly contested.

BASKETBALL

James Elder cashing in on a free throw.

WALLY BEARDEN, guard, was a first year man of no mean ability. He was a good defensive player and stayed with his man well.

BILLY CHILDS, another first year man, played exceptional basketball. He alternated at center and forward and was equally good at either position. A one-handed push shot was an outstanding feature of his game.

JOHN NABORS was a squad man last year. Rangy and fast, he was an excellent guard and his alertness and constant hustle made him indispensable.

MILTON COFFEY played a little last season, but this year at forward he made a place for himself through his ability in handling the ball and in the point-making department.

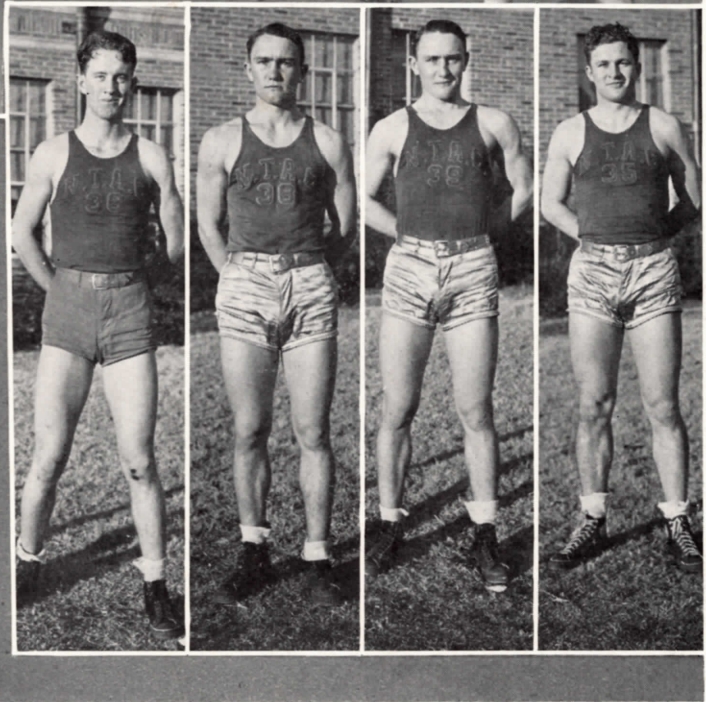

The Aggies opened their current season against the T. W. C. Greyhounds. Their lead was never seriously challenged as they won 43-22.

The following week N. T. A. C. entertained the strong Dr. Pepper team from Dallas. Both first and second teams were defeated, the second team by a score of 25-24, in two overtime sessions, and the first team by a score of 52-38.

On January 7, the Aggies went to Denton and played the Denton Teachers Frosh a double-header, winning the first game 40-17, and the second 37-30.

Later in the week N. T. A. C. engaged the Dr. Pepper cagers again, this time in Dallas. The Peppers won a hard-fought game 53-25.

Wally Bearden starting an offensive drive.

FRANK DELK, forward and center, this year played for the first time. The tallest man on the team, he was a fine center and was a good man under the basket.

JAMES ELDER, a squad man of last season, could play guard and forward equally well. He was a fine hustler, and his floor play was excellent.

JOE ELDER—What can be said of one Elder twin may be said of the other. This one also played both guard and forward, and his aggressiveness and spirit made him necessary to the team's success.

VICTOR NIXON, a first year man, was an outstanding forward. He has a thorough knowledge of the fundamentals and used them to the best advantage.

The Aggies next went to Arp, Texas, to play the Hunt Oilers, a semi-pro team. The Oilers proved too good for the Hornets and beat them by the score of 43-28.

Next, the Hunt Oilers journeyed to Arlington and administered another beating to the Aggie five, 53-24. The Oilers were superior in experience and had the game all their own way.

N. T. A. C. lost her first conference tilt of the season to the visiting Decatur Indians by a score of 36-21. The Aggies couldn't seem to get going, while Decatur's plays clicked and their shots counted more consistently.

For a breathing spell between conference tilts the Hornets took Sproles Transfer team of Fort Worth in their stride. The score was 50-34 in favor of the Aggies.

In their second conference game of the season the N. T. A. C. Hornets won from Hillsboro by a score of 28-22. The game was played in Hillsboro and was the first conference victory for the Aggies.

The next to fall beneath the Aggie five were the S. M. U. Frosh, who were defeated by a score of 39-31.

The John Tarleton Plowboys defeated the Hornets in a desperately contested game to the tune of 40-28. The game was much closer than the score indicates, and at one time the Hornets were within five points of the Plowboys.

N. T. A. C. was beaten 41-33 by the Decatur Indians in a sluggish game at Decatur, February 12. The first half was fairly evenly contested, but the Indians pulled ahead in the second and were never seriously threatened thereafter.

The Hornets beat the Denton Teachers Frosh 38-36 in a non-conference game played in the local gym February 13.

The Weatherford Junior College quintet beat the Hornets 45-33 in a fast game at Weatherford February 15. Though the Aggie five fought to the last, the Coyotes had too much luck with their shots.

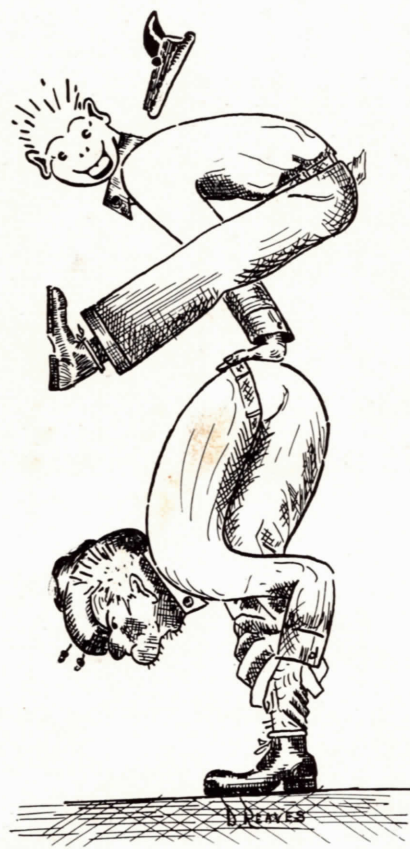

On Tuesday, February 19, Weatherford Junior College went down before an aggressive Aggie five to the score of 36-26. The game, which was played in the home gym, was hotly contested throughout.

In a non-conference tilt, the Hornets won from the T. C. U. Frosh by a score of 30-17 on Wednesday, February 20.

N. T. A. C. won a fast game from Hillsboro by the score of 45-35 Thursday night, February 21. This was the second conference win within a week for the Aggies.

In their final game of the season, N. T. A. C. lost to John Tarleton by a score of 49-29. Even though they were handicapped by a lack of height, the Hornets contested every point and were fighting at the final whistle.

TRACK

GEORGE CHEVES ran the 440 relay, the mile relay, and the 440 yard dash. He had a total of  $7\frac{1}{4}$  points at the end of the season.

DONALD WALKER, who ran the 440 yard dash and the mile relay, collected a total of  $18\frac{1}{4}$  points.

GEORGE SHANNON ran the 100 and 220 yard dashes, the sprint and medley relays, and had  $15\frac{3}{4}$  points to his credit.

E. D. MAYES threw the javelin and won 25 points. He took first place in every meet he entered and holds the Conference record of 170 feet and 10 inches.

C. H. MARTIN put the shot, and threw the javelin and discus. He ran the high hurdles and was a high jumper and pole vaulter as well. He was high point man of the squad with  $44\frac{1}{2}$  points.

LEONARD APPLETON put the shot and threw the discus. He collected 13 points in the six meets in which he participated.

TOM SVADLENAK threw the javelin and discus to win 14 points during the season.

TOM SHIELDS, captain-elect, ran the half mile, and the mile relay, and won  $19\frac{1}{4}$  points.

RICHARD FLIPPO ran the high and low hurdles to collect 7 points.

NOLAN JACKSON, broad jumper, won 23 points throughout the season. He holds the Conference broad jumping record of 22 feet 6.5 inches.

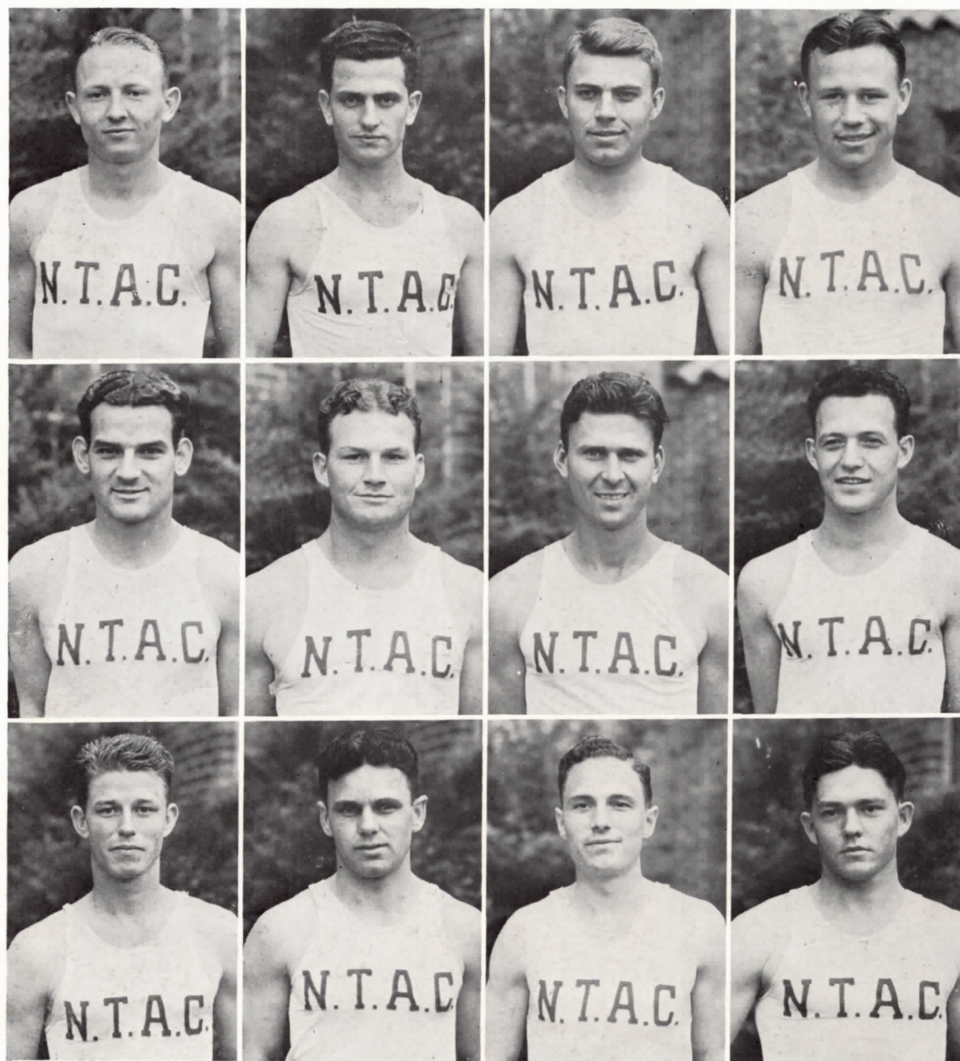

EDWIN HAMILTON ran the half mile, mile, and medley relay to win  $14\frac{3}{4}$  points.

LEE COPE ran the 100 and 220 yard dashes and the 440 relay, and was also a broad jumper. His wins totaled 17 points.

WILLIAM LOTT was a high jumper. He won 22 points during the season.

C. W. NORTON ran both high and low hurdles to collect a total of 24 points.

L. D. WILEY ran the 440, the mile, and the medley relays. He totaled 6 points during the season.

N. T. A. C.'s TRACK RECORD 1933-34

Of the six meets in which N. T. A. C. was entered, she won two. Those teams which beat her, however, were from senior colleges, and were forced to their best efforts to win.

In the Stock Show Meet N. T. A. C. won a total of 4 points.

In a triangle meet with the T. C. U. Freshmen and Weatherford Junior College she won with a total of 77 points to 57 for the Freshmen and 29 for Weatherford Junior College.

N. T. A. C. was beaten by the T. C. U. varsity by the score of 74 points to 60.

The Denton Freshmen were beaten by the score of 68 points to 58.

In a meet with Commerce State Teachers College, N. T. A. C. went down by the score of 85 to 41, the worst beating of the year.

At the Central Texas Conference meet, held in Hillsboro, N. T. A. C. took 54 points, finishing second only to John Tarleton.

TENNIS

N. T. A. C.'s tennis team won the conference singles championship last year, and it is expected to do better this season. In Laney and Marks, the number one doubles team, the Aggies have a pair which should be winners in both doubles and singles.

Below, in action shots, the team shows its wares. In order, from left to right are the Aggie tennis team posed with Coach Lambert. Marks and Laney, the number one doubles team, and Cotner and Floyd, the number two doubles team. Billy Childs, Pincham, and John Tuohy are shown in characteristic serving poses while Cotner returns a fast one on his forehand. Floyd aces his opponent and McNeese serves warning with his powerful forehand. Laney shows fine form in his backhand while Marks exhibits a consistent forehand.

BOXING

This year's boxing team enjoyed a very successful season with two victories over Texas Tech and one over Centenary. The two letter men from last year, Milton Coffey and James Elder, formed a nucleus for a fine team. To Coffey goes credit for coaching the team and training several new men who showed up well.

Below are Milton Coffey and Joe Elder in characteristic stances.

The process of producing a yearbook is quite a task for a staff—and it will drive two people “nuts”—namely, the editor and the business manager.

We are proud of this book. We, as a staff, believe that it is as fine a book as can be produced for the money. Probably that’s bragging. At any rate we were determined to produce a better book, and we hope we have done so.

If you have anyone to criticize because you do not like this book, you may take it out on the editor. He made the layouts, did some of the photography, and wrote nearly all of the copy. C. J. Foshee, Roger Turner, and Harvene Wells took care of the photography; Lady Baker Griffin and Mervyn Luttrell were club editors; Tom Laney, sports editor; Verschoyle Purnell, military editor; Dan Reaves, art editor; Louise Shillingburg, editor of the “Personality” section; Weldon Williams, humor editor. Mildred Journey and Frederick Mayes offered greatly appreciated service in doing anything that they could to make the annual better.

So—we have presented to you today an idea in the form of a yearbook. It was not intended for everyone to like this book. It was only the desire of the staff to please the greatest number.

The Shorthorn, official student newspaper at N. T. A. C., was organized in 1919 as a monthly magazine and converted into a weekly newspaper in 1922. At present it has a circulation of approximately one thousand copies weekly. The primary aim of the Shorthorn staff is to present all of the campus news with accuracy, fairness, and in accordance with the principles of good journalism.

For the first time, this year a one hour course in the fundamentals of journalism was offered under the supervision of the Shorthorn sponsor. This class served to promote efficiency and interest on the part of the staff.

The Phi Kappa Theta is an organization of N. T. A. C., whose purpose is to foster good scholarship. The membership consists of students taking a regular course of fifteen or more hours of college work, with high school graduation as a prerequisite. If the student meets the above qualifications and makes an average of more than 89 for one semester, he is eligible for membership. At the end of each semester invitations are sent out to eligible students, and those who wish to join are required to accept formally the invitation. This tends to make the entire membership active.

One method used in an attempt to accomplish the purpose for which the organization exists is to bring these students together in social activities, which are held at least once a month. Concessions are made to this organization with reference to socials that no other group on the campus enjoys. The society for 1934-35 is composed of fifty young ladies and men.

The Sans Souci Club, one of the oldest of the girls' social clubs, was organized in 1923 under the sponsorship of Miss Ima Culley. Since then it has taken a prominent part in the various activities of campus life.

Although organized for social reasons, as the name "Sans Souci," meaning "without care" would indicate, the club has for its purpose more than the mere having of a good time. It tends to foster cooperation and leadership as well as to promote the formation of lasting friendships among its members. The girls learn to recognize and to enjoy the responsibilities of social life.

The Avolonte Club, the first of the girl's social clubs at N. T. A. C., was organized in 1922 by Miss May Beth Goff of the Business Administration department. Miss Myrtle Rawls became a co-sponsor when she joined the faculty. Miss Martha Woodson, now Mrs. W. L. Hughes, was one of the first sponsors; then Miss Lena Belle Barber was also a sponsor at one time. Miss Minnie Geisecke and Miss Rawls are the present sponsors.

The club's motto is "Happiness For All," and the main purpose is to encourage development of all around girls. The name is a French idiom that means pleasure with direction.

The membership of the club this year is composed of fifty-three girls.

The Zangola Club, the last of the four social clubs for girls to be organized, met for the first time in the spring of 1933. While the main purpose of the club is to promote friendliness and good will within this very congenial group, yet the members also desire to strengthen the social ties of the college as a whole by giving informal and formal dances, bridge parties, and other entertainments. Some of the spirit of the club is expressed in the club's name "Zangola," a gypsy word which means "light of heart" or "carefree."

The outstanding social events for this year have been the formal tea for the pledges, the initiation for the new members at Swift's Camp at Lake Worth, the Christmas party, and informal sport dance, a party given by Mrs. Nix and Miss Bullock, and the formal spring dance given in May, which served as a fitting conclusion to a very successful social season.

The La Docena Club was organized in 1927 under the sponsorship of Miss Norma Chatham and is, therefore, one of the oldest social clubs for girls of N. T. A. C.

The name "La Docena" means "the dozen," and the membership has been limited to twelve until this year when it was increased to twenty-four.

The club exists for social purposes only and has lived up to its purpose in the past and present.

Within its social scope this year were teas, buffets, and dances; the most important was a kid-dance given in the gym.

The Engineering Society, which was founded in 1928, is one of the largest and fastest growing clubs on the campus. It is primarily an educational organization, and through its various activities strives to form personal contacts between the budding engineers and successful practicing engineers in the various fields. It is a student chapter of the Dallas Technical Society. This year, under the guidance of members of the engineering faculty, a balanced series of talks were given by leading Texas engineers at regular bi-monthly meetings.

On the night of March 23, the annual engineering dance was given as in the past. It proved to be one of the most colorful and successful dances of the season.

On Thursday night, April 26, the sixth annual Stag Banquet was held, to which approximately one hundred outstanding engineers were invited.

The Pre-Med Club of N. T. A. C. was organized in 1927 to further interest in the medical field and to render services to the pre-medical department. Later, the name of Pi Mu was adopted, in keeping with other pre-medical organizations throughout the country.

The Pi Mu Society, providing a ground of common interest for pre-medical students, has been one of the most successful professional clubs on the campus.

Varied activities have made up Pi Mu programs this year. The main event was a trip to Baylor Medical College in Dallas, followed by a tamale party at Marion Zercher's home. A dance was given in the gym at mid-term, sponsored by the club. On programs, there were such noted speakers as Dr. Hardy Kemp, bacteriologist, and Dr. Zack Bobo, practitioner.

The Agriculture Club, as the name signifies, is composed of those students enrolled in this department. Aside from being one of the oldest organizations on the campus, it is also one of the largest and most active. This year, however, its activities were greater under the able supervision of the student officers and the three sponsors, D. H. Kiber, M. B. Lebo, and E. H. Varnell.

The second semester's activities were enlarged on a scale in keeping with the rapidly growing Agriculture Department. Motion pictures were added as a regular feature of the bi-monthly meetings, and interesting speakers added to the program.

Not only is much credit due to the student officers and the sponsors, but also to the members who through their cooperation have contributed much toward the success of the Agriculture Club.

The "T" Association was organized in 1928. The purpose of this organization is to create a greater interest in the sports and to help N. T. A. C. produce athletes who will be clean sportsmen.

Men who have lettered in one of the five major sports sponsored by the college council are eligible for club membership. An athletic "Hall of Fame" has been placed in the gymnasium, and in this, there are pictures of all athletes since 1917.

Athletics for women occupies an important position in the curriculum at the North Texas Agricultural College. The course offered this year consisted of basketball, volley ball, golf, tennis, tap dancing, hiking, and bicycling. Girls are allowed to elect the field in which they are interested; consequently many excellent teams are formed to play against each other.

The purpose of this association is to promote moral, mental, and physical efficiency through interest in athletics, and its membership is open to all women enrolled in the college.

The Business Administration Club was organized in the fall of 1924 under the name of the Commercial Club. The name has since been changed, and Miss Zelda Ramsey and Mr. B. C. Barnes were elected co-sponsors.

It is an organization of the students of the school taking any of the courses offered in the Business Administration Department. The object of the club is the promotion of commercial interests among the students, the development of the individual's capacity, and the preparation for service in all branches of commercial work. Its function is to aid students who plan to enter upon a business career.

The Radio Club was formed only this year, but it has grown in size and activity until it is now fully established and is affiliated with the American Radio Relay League.

The purpose of this club is to create a more friendly feeling between licensed amateurs and students in the radio department, as well as between the club as a whole and other amateurs and clubs.

The club has in its possession, furnished by the school for its use, a one hundred watt transmitter which has established for its record several two way communications to Australia and New Zealand as well as other points the world over.

The Non-Commissioned Officers Club was organized November 13, 1934.

The purpose of this club is to promote a spirit of duty as well as leadership among non-commissioned officers.

The first social function of the club was held in the form of a dance during the month of January, 1935.

The Kampus Klub was organized in 1934 in Fish Hall. Its membership is composed entirely of students residing on the campus, and its members are known as Kampus Klub Kadets. The purpose of this club is to bring the campus students together and unite them in a close companionship. The club also purposes to gain better recognition of the activities of these students.

The club sponsors movements which will make life in the Hall more varied and interesting, and sponsors outside activities which will tend to establish a feeling of fellowship among the members.

The Pre-Law Club is one of the youngest student organizations at N. T. A. C. It was organized in 1933 for the purpose of promoting a feeling of cooperation and fellowship among the students interested in the study and practice of law. The policy of the club is that of constructive endeavor to pursue those things which contribute to the ultimate well-being of those interested in the profession of law. At the same time it avoids becoming too engrossed in technicalities by a well arranged program of recreation and diversion.

This club has successfully satisfied an obvious need of those students who desire a means of further expressing themselves in the field of their chosen profession of law.

The Officers' Club is a permanent organization. In it are vested the disciplinary powers necessary to maintain a military school of the finer type. Its members are chosen and appointed on the basis of scholarship, discipline, and military ability.

The purpose of the club is to promote cooperation and loyalty among the different cadet officers. Within its purpose there is also an element of social interests. Among its social activities are a number of dances and picnics. The best social of the year, however, was a formal dinner given the Captains and Field Officers by the Commandant and his wife, Captain and Mrs. Julian Dayton.

What's in a name? N. T. A. C. does not offer a course for bull-fighters, but a bull-fighter might think a moment before he would compete with a member of this Society—in conversation.

The Bull Pen Society was first organized in 1926 for the purpose of assisting the new students in adjusting themselves to their new surroundings. A meeting is held daily, and for this reason it holds the reputation of holding more successful meetings than any other organization.

The daily programs consist of yarn-swapping (members have been excluded for telling the truth), singing, board-testing, and speech-making. Although the main purpose is entertainment, it has been successful in promoting a wholesome school spirit.

The Girls' Chorus, which at the beginning of the second semester numbered ninety-two voices, has contributed largely to the musical and social life of the College. Making its first appearance in a joint program with the Singing Cadets and the Moslah Shrine Chanters at the Gymnasium early in the Fall, the Girls' Chorus gained added training and experience in the preparation and presentation of programs of standard choral music and again with the Singing Cadets in the presentation of parts of "The Messiah" at Christmas. The Chorus had its share of musical responsibility in the Coronation Ceremony of Her Majesty, Queen of the 1934-35 Student Body, as well as other student festivals and productions including the Easter oratorio, "The Crucifixion," a light opera, "The Mikado," The May Music Festival and the Commencement Exercises. The Spring Tour included nine engagements in West Texas with the addition of several individual appearances in Dallas and Fort Worth.

The Boys' Chorus, known now as the Singing Cadets, began its year with double-time rehearsals and an appearance at the Dallas Power and Light auditorium for the N. T. A. C. Parents' Association. Following this came a program at the Arlington High School, a joint program with the Girls' Chorus and Moslah Shrine Chanters at the Gym, the Queen's Coronation and the Christmas program of music from "The Messiah." The personnel increased to thirty-four members at the beginning of the second semester as a result of the new interest in choral music on the campus. The Spring Tour of West Texas gave the Cadets their best opportunity to prove their ability and it was reported they improved musically and vocally at every performance. Taking part in all the important musical events, including the Easter oratorio, the comic opera and other productions, as well as singing programs of all male chorus arrangements, the group climaxed its season by acting as host to the Texas Male Chorus Convention on May 4, bringing hundreds of high school and college singers to the campus for a gigantic festival and massed concert.

EDITOR'S LUCK

Now I'm right smart in some ways, but I never could learn some of this new stuff that they try to teach at this place. I knew that my chance to pass one of my courses was practically lost already, but I thought that if I went on to class I would have a better chance the next time I took the same thing. So even though I thought that the professor would never notice me I kept going to his class and spending the hour in sadness. He never asked me anything about the lesson and I was doing all right until one day when I was about half asleep he asked me what would happen if a dog bit a man. I told him that it depended upon the man and he did not think seem to like the answer because he turned around and asked me what if the man bit the dog. I didn't think that there was a chance to pass the course so I told him that that would be news. This was the best answer that I could think of as I was always hunting for news to go in the school paper that I'm supposed to edit.

Naturally the whole class had to laugh and I thought that it was "out" for the editor. I looked up and saw that the prof was not so mad. He talked awhile and then said, "The class is excused." I got up and was nearly to the door when I heard him say, "Wait a minute, please." I turned around and found out that he meant me.

When I went back to see what he wanted he asked me if I worked on the newspaper, and I said, "Yes." He said that he thought that I must because I was the only one since he had been teaching that course to say something other than the regular thing. He finally got to the point and told me that he would give me a "C" in the course. I was sort of glad that I had said what I had and turned to walk out.

When I had gone about half way to the door he called to me and said, "Say, can you tell me who the editor of the paper is at the present time? You know, I used to be the editor of this paper when I went here."

THE AERO'S LAST FLIGHT

It is two A. M. and young Al O'Conner is taking off on the longest non-stop flight in history.

Everywhere around him people are standing with paper and pen to get his autograph. His old Fish Hall friends are in a group at one side, having failed in their last attempt to persuade him to give up his noble venture. On the other side is an even larger group who are hastily shoving bills into his hands, while little Al seems calm and collected in the face of his great undertaking.

Now the mechanic, Jack Rouer, is starting the plane after seeing that everything that should be on is in its place.

Then amidst a great cloud of dust he is off. He flies for hours upon hours with only a couple of sandwiches and a bottle of hot liquid. He stays awake by his great will power and perseverance.

At last his goal is near and there is a strange feeling in his heart as he circles around his landing field. He is intending to gun his motor for the final salute when there is a loud crash and he is falling through space. It is only a second until he is still and someone is saying, "Get up and get back in bed, O'Connor!"

Hazing is merely back-slapping moved further down the line.

Don Taylor: "I'd like to kiss you until you yelled 'Stop!'"

Mary Frances Tidwell: "I'm afraid that you picked the wrong girl this time."

Don Taylor: "Why? You mean you won't let me kiss you?"

Mary Frances: "No! I won't yell stop."

He's the luckiest man in the world. He has a wife and a cigarette lighter and both of them work.

Jack Holmes—"Tell me you beautiful, gorgeous, divine, alluring creature, wouldn't you like to have me as a lover?"

Maurine Humphries—"No, but I'd like to have you as a press agent."

Geraldine Carter: "You seem very effeminate at times, but at other times you seem really manly. How does that happen?"

Van Barre: "I don't know unless it's heredity. You know one-half of my ancestors were men and the other half were women."

Billy Collins: "Have you ever been in love?"

Edna Schoolfield: "That's my business."

Billy: "Still in business?"

Old age never gets respect from some people—unless it's bottled.

Miss Eagleton: "What was the name of the general who said 'I die happy'?"

Jean Forbes: "General Wolfe."
Miss E.: "That's right. Now what battle was it in?"

Jean F.: "I don't know, but I think that it was his last."

Day Dreams of Any College Co-ed

Why, professor, you should know that I can't accept that paper. Don't you know that late work should not be given as much credit as work that is on time? Well, this paper should have been graded and returned at least a week ago. Oh, yes, I nearly forgot, about this grade. Now, I don't believe that you really tried to give me the right grade, because I'm sure that with a little study you might have given me an "A" instead of this "C." By the way, in case I'm late to class next week don't call the roll too soon; I've had too many tardy cuts already. Yes, I think that's all today.

Prof. Hughes: "What would you do if a person were eating poisonous mushrooms?"

J. K. Wiggins: "I'd recommend a change of diet."

Mrs. Howard: "The man I refused before I married you is rich."

Mr. Howard: "Yes, my dear, but he didn't marry you."

HEREDITY

"He says actors run in his family."

"Yes—several of them barely escaped the mobs."

"Yes, my boy, I'm a self made man."

"That's what I admire about you. You take the blame for everything."

Clerk: "I suppose the boss was annoyed when you told him I was leaving next week."

Cashier: "Yes. He thought it was this week."

Billy Childs: "The rapidly increasing divorce rate indicates that America is indeed becoming the land of the free."

Harold Helms: "Yes, but the continued marriage rate suggests that it is still the home of the brave."

"I beg your pardon, but what is your name?" asked the registrar.

"Don't you see it on the sheet?" replied the new student.

"Yes, I do. That's what aroused my curiosity."

"Mayn't I be a preacher when I grow up?" asked the small boy.

"Of course you may, my pet, if you want to," replied the mother.

"Yes, I think I do. I s'pose I've got to go to church all my life, anyway, and I think it will be a lot's harder to sit still than to stand up and hollar."

Pierce Woods (opening his eyes): "I had the right of way, didn't I?"

Doctor: "Yes, but the other fellow had the truck."

Ross C.: "Why do you call them clock stockings? I don't see any hands on them."

Louse S.: "No, and there aren't supposed to be any on them either!"

READING 'RITING and 'RITHMETIC REQUIRE GOOD LIGHT

Disregard of proper lighting results in 20 out of every 100 grade school children having impaired eyesight. And this percentage is increasing.

But impaired eyesight can be prevented to a large extent by the use of the correct quantity and quality of light for study and other close eye work.

Interview of Success

What? You want to interview me about my success with the coeds. Well, I'll tell you about my college girls. When I first came to this school I didn't know many girls. But one night I met a "honey." Her name was Sue and she was the daughter of a baker. Boy, she really took the cake then. I soon tired of her and about that time I met Betty. She was the daughter of a librarian, and I booked her steady. She was sort of queer, and we soon parted. Then came Grace, and she was just my type. You know, the daughter of the town printer. Then I started dating Rose. She had a brother who was florist, and did she bloom out into a beauty. About that time I saw Jane, and I really went for her. Her father pressed clothes, and she left me flat. I went with Liz for a while, but her father was a refrigerator salesman, and she chilled me through and through. Next came Mary, the daughter of an electric sweeper manufacturer, and she cleaned me good. I guess that's about all—but wait, I forgot Marie. Her dad drives a taxi. Boy, I can't describe her—Ycu should go with me to "meter."

Capt. Dayton: "Stand at attention, Dorsett."

Dorsett: "I am sir, it's the uniform that's at rest."

Marjory Popejoy: "I'm keeping my kisses until the right man comes along."

Verschoyle Purnell: "May I add a few to your collection?"

Edna Schoolfield: "You remind me of Venus de Milo."

Ross Carmichael: "Yes, but I have arms."

Edna: "Really?"

Sympathizer: "My good boy, you had better take the bus home."

"Cookie" Robertson: "S'no use; they wouldn't let me keep it."

Boys, always look under the sofa for her little brother, because it's the little things that tell.

The girls in this school claim that they can cook and serve two people as quickly as anyone can. This is news, for we thought that cannibalism was a past thing in this country.

Hugh Gordon: "What are you going to do next summer?"

Nat Pinkston: "I'm going to work in my father's office. And you?"

Hugh Gordon: "I'm going to loaf around too."

Dean Davis (in chapel): "And may we-uh-have clean hearts-uh-pure hearts-uh-sweet hearts—"

Students (all): "Yeah!"

Lady Baker Griffin: "I can't marry you, you're just a joke."

Richard Standifer: "Well, can't you take a joke?"

Clayton Sutherland: "If you laugh at me again, I'll knock your head off."

James Elder: "Ha, ha, you wouldn't even know what club to use."

S. D. Moore: "Three of those apples you sent me were rotten. I am bringing them back."

Storekeeper: "That's all right, sir, your word is just as good as the apples."

A fisherman spied a snake which had just caught a frog. Desiring the frog for bait, he tried unsuccessfully by prodding and other means to make the snake release its prey; finally he pulled out a flask and poured a little liquor in the snake's mouth. The snake dropped the frog and slithered away. Some time later, the fisherman felt a tug at his trousers, and found the snake, looking up expectantly—another frog in his mouth.

Sol Gilbert: "Do you know, old man, that's a swell looking nurse you've got?"

Pierce Wood (in hospital): "I hadn't noticed."

Sol G.: "Good Lord, I had no idea you were so sick."

Mrs. Dickey: "George, you weren't listening to what I said."

"Er—what makes you think that, my love?"

"I asked you if you could let me have seventy-five dollars and you smiled and said, 'Yes, dearest.'"

Tom Cotner: "What do you say to a little kiss?"

Susie Lee Wells: "I've never spoken to one."

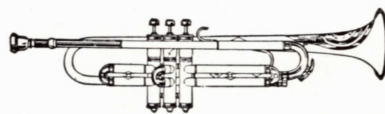

Lucille McAdams: "What kind of a party was it?"

Lady Baker: "Well, at about one-thirty the automatic fire sprinkler started to work."

Tell us this: "Does a doctor doctor a doctor according to the doctored doctor's doctrine of doctoring, or does the doctor doing the doctoring doctor the other doctor according to his own doctoring doctrine?"—Purple Parrot.

Where Jerry Carter gets her line
 Why so much Peroxide is used around N. T. A. C.
 Why James West is called
 'Pesky.'
 Why Gerald Bell likes C. I. A.,
 V-8's, and blond women.
 Why so many want to get out of Military.
 What Henry Rothell does with his mustache.
 Why so many people cut classes.
 Why dancing is not permitted

 mas?"

Herman Anderson: "No, but a pair of stockings would."

Popularity winner: "Congratulate me! I was elected."

Friend: "Honestly?"

P. W.: "Why bring that up?"

Professor Robinson (to class):
 "There's a young man in this class making a jackass of himself. When he is finished, I'll start."

Student: "How much will it cost to talk to Dallas?"

Operator: "$1.50 for three minutes."

Student: "$1.50? Why in Dallas I could talk to H— for $1.50."

Operator: "Yes, I know, sir, but isn't that in your city limits?"

Private of the guard: "Halt! Who comes there?"

Colonel: "Fool!"

P. of G.: "Advance, fool, and give

Louise Shillingburg: "How about a homing pigeon?"

The latest student of campusol-ogy gives the following advice—
 "Never leave your car parked on a lonely road without making sure the doors are locked; someone might swipe your other seat."

Mary Chambers: "What did you pucker up you lips for? I thought you were going to kiss me."

T. L. Shields: "No-er-just a piece of grit in my mouth."

Mary: "Swallow it—you need some."

Marion Bullock: "What's the idea of all the crowd down at the church?"

Marjory Popejoy: "There's a traveling salesman down there confessing his sins."

Mr. Preston: "Today's liquor laws are not perfect."

Fred Gauen: "That's O. K.
 neither is the liquor."

Paul Armstrong: "Love is like a kodak film."

Minnie Hemphill: "Why?"

Paul: "You develop it in the dark."

... "good gasoline" was a minor detail. But as those gasping little engines gave way to smooth, softly purring motors, powerful gasolines had to be born.

"TP" is the standby of today's motors. When Tomorrow's fine mechanisms are built—"TP" gasolines and motor oils will be in step. Then, as now, the best performances will be made with "TP".

Essie Ruth Moore: "Virginia Lynch said that last night she dreamed that she was dancing with you."

Tom Edwards: "Really?"

Essie Ruth: "Yes, someone was pounding her feet with a flatiron."

Father: "Did you give Marie that book of 'What every girl should know'?"

Mother: "Yes, and she's writing a letter to the editor suggesting the addition of three more chapters."

Lady Baker Griffin: "You've kept me waiting around here like an old fool for an hour."

Jarlath Edwards: "Well, Lady Baker, I may have kept you waiting for an hour but I certainly had nothing to do with how you waited."

Dean: "The human anatomy is a wonderful piece of mechanism."

Another dean: "Yes, pat a man on his back and his head will swell."

Mr. Robinson: "Give to the world the best you have in you and the best will come back to you."

Marie Hall: "Yes, that's the way it's been with every poem I've written so far."

Pat Thomas: "Do you go with chorus girls?"

Jack Edwards: "Yeah — the coarser the better."

In some countries it is illegal for a girl under eighteen to be out after 10 p. m. The police, however, are no doubt quite willing to wink at a little thing like that.

Bill B. (miles out in the country): "We're in a mud-hole and out of gas. What do you say?"

Scottie: "Turn off the motor."

"Man wants but little here below,"
Thus ran the ancient rule.
But the author was in ignorance
Of the teachers of this school.

George Mason: "Don't you think that talkative women are popular?"

Bill Burnett: "What other kind is there?"

Joe Elder: "You have a wonderful profile."

Winifred Hanna: "Yeah, but it doesn't come near to yours."

Alex Riddle: "How was the hunting?"

Mr. Stone: "Rotten. Every time I aimed at a deer another jumped in the way and ruined the shot."

IN LIEU OF TOMORROW

Where will it take you, friend so dear,
Tomorrow when we part from here?
That door that opens on tomorrow,
Will its gifts be joy or sorrow?
How can I bear to see you go?
Why, your very heart-beat seems to know
Just what mine is saying,
While I sit beside you praying
That your faith may vault the sky,
And your dreams may never die.

Oh, dear land of what's to be,
Receive this friend who's loved by me,
And watch him closely 'long the way,
For he parts with me today.
